prosecutor and director of planning and research.

For the past seven years, he has been in charge of recruiting and training.

As chief, Mullen will earn an annual salary of $66,793.

Mullen, who Sheets described as "fair, objective and tough," succeeds former Chief Francis X. Finn who retired in February, ending his 24-year reign.

"I think Frank Mullen possesses a deep inner strength and firmness. I think he's very congenial. He's a man dedicated to the city of Quincy, the police department and the concept of right and fairness all of which will be important.

"I think he's very dedicated to police work and people," Sheets added.

Capt. Paul Nestor, who was named acting chief after Finn announced his retirement, will return to his rank as captain.

With Mullen's appointment, the mayor said changes will be made in the department. Declining to be specific, Sheets said, "We're looking at extensive changes which are essential. We have a good police department.

"There's work that has to be done."

Mullen, a resident of Hingham, is a graduate of the FBI Training Academy. He holds a masters degree in criminal justice from Anna Marie College, bachelors and associate's degree from Northeastern University and an associate's degree from Boston University.

He has taught classes in law enforcement at Northeastern University and Quincy College.

Sheets made his appointment from a Civil Service list compiled after a state-wide chief's examination last fall. The first list showed Falco and John Ford, a former Westwood lieutenant who is now chief of police in Bourne, tied for first with 90. Mullen finished second with an 81.

Ford did not want to be considered for the Quincy chief job. As a result, the appointment was thought to be between Falco and Mullen.

However, after the state and city retirement boards okayed Finn's retirement a few weeks ago, a permanent Civil Service list was issued. That list showed a third candidate: Newton Police Lt. Gregory Wright of Framingham who also scored an 81.

The mayor's office asked Wright if he still wanted to be considered. He did and was interviewed last week, Sheets pointed out.

Raised in West Quincy, Mullen and his wife, Mary, have lived in Hingham for 20 years. They have three children: Gregory, 32, Elizabeth Holland, 28 and Michael, 24.

Historical Style Lighting Fixtures For Center Area to $50,000.

Anyone interested in purchasing and dedicating a light should contact the mayor at 773-1380.

Besides the new lights, phase one will include new tree plantings, grates and new sidewalks. The trees, grates and sidewalks should be in by mid-November, Sheets said.

Sheets said the new lighting project is part of his goal of putting downtown Quincy into a historical concept. "The centerpiece is the United First Parish Church and I think these lights will accent that," he said.

The mayor also said he is very pleased with the response thus far. The private sector buying lights "shows tremendous confidence and enthusiasm for the downtown," he added

The lighting project is part of the mayor's Downtown Development Committee's recommendations.

Sheets' Decision By Oct. 1 On Schools Repairs Bond Issue

Mayor James Sheets said Tuesday he will decide whether to float a bond issue to fund much-needed repairs to city schools and municipal buildings by Monday, Oct. 1.

With no money in the capital outlay budget and the potential devastating impact of further cuts in local aid due to mismanagement in state government, Sheets said his administration is "carefully weighing" the implications of a bond. Despite the somewhat bleak fiscal forecast, the mayor acknowledges some city buildings urgently need repairs.

"We have some needs that are absolutely urgent," he said, noting the Quincy Vocational-Technical School has some structural damage to the fifth floor beams. "It does pose a major problem."

The mayor also pointed out boilers in several city buildings must be replaced before the winter.

Sheets has met with Public Works Commissioner David Colton and School Supt. Robert Ricci regarding the bond issue. He also discussed it with Auditor Robert Foy.

"We are weighing the implications of the bond. With the potential impact of the CLT (Citizens for Limited Taxation) petition, I don't think anyone wants to pay for a bond issue by laying off teachers and firefighters."

"Any bond issue is going to have an impact on jobs and that's a very difficult decision to make and a very difficult decision for others to make," the mayor said.

If the CLT petition is approved by voters in the general election Nov. 6, Sheets claims the city would likely lose between $8 to $10 million in state aid over the next three years.

As a result, 90 to 100 city workers would probably be laid off each year over that three year period, the mayor claimed.

The CLT petition calls for the rollback of current state taxes and fees to 1988 levels.

Sheets, noting the petition is very complex, has instructed Foy to "unravel" the precise impact of the petition if it is approved. In the meantime, the mayor is beginning to prepare for the petition's impact by meeting with department heads.

This week, Sheets met with Fire Chief Paul O'Connell, Ricci and new Police Chief Francis Mullen. If the petition goes through, the mayor said cuts in the city's FY 91 budget could begin in December.

"We have to begin preparing now. I'm not quite sure what we're preparing for but we know (the petition) will have a tremendous impact on us. Besides layoffs, the mayor said some schools could be consolidated and at least one fire station closed."

Despite Lack Of Local Contests Heavy Vote Seen For Primaries

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

State-wide Democratic and Republican races, not local contests, will be the big draw for Quincy voters in the state primary elections Tuesday, Sept. 18.

In fact, with races for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general on both party ballots, City Clerk John Gillis predicts about 63 percent of the city's 46,748 registered voters will turn out.

Gillis, noting 60 percent "is extremely high for a primary," said, "both parties have a great fight for the major state offices for the first time in years."

"People are interested. You can tell by the number of absentee ballots (an estimated 400 as of last Friday) which is a lot for a primary. It's going to be an interesting primary, that's for sure."

Winners in the Democratic and Republican primaries will face one another in the final election Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Next Tuesday's primary will almost certainly eclipse Quincy's modern day turnout mark for a state primary. After researching city election records, Gillis said the highest voter turnout here during the last 30 years for a primary was 40 percent in 1984.

The big contest that year was the race to replace U.S. Senator Paul Tsongas who decided against re-election because of health concerns.

Sample Ballots

Running on the Republican side were Ray Shamie and Elliot Richardson. Among the four Democratic hopefuls were James Shannon and eventual winner John Kerry.

This year, Kerry faces no opposition on the Democratic ballot but there are two Republicans trying to unseat him: Daniel W. Daly of Hingham and Jim Rappaport of Concord. The GOP primary winner will face Kerry Nov. 6.

The race that has dominated the news in recent weeks is the governor's contest. There are four candidates vying to succeed outgoing Gov. Michael Dukakis who is not seeking re-election.

In the Democratic primary, former Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy will square off against Brookline resident John Silber, the president of Boston University who is on leave. Lt. Gov. Evelyn

New Historical Style Lights Fixtures Going Fast

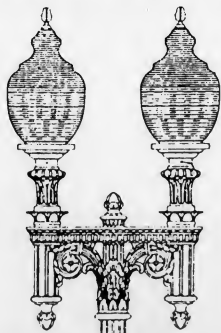

Time is running out for residents, businesses and civic groups to purchase the new cast iron historic-style light posts which will soon replace the aluminum cobra street lights in Quincy Center.

As of Tuesday, 27 of the 42 lights were accounted for, Mayor James Sheets said.

The mayor, who is asking the private sector to purchase a light for $2,500 as part of the revitalization project of Quincy Square, said he expects 35 lights will be taken by the end of the week.

He said he plans on having all 42 lights accounted for by Oct. 1.

The historical lighting fixtures will be comprised of a Madisonian Post with a Washington twin ornate cross arm with acorn globes. They will stand approximately 22 feet high. The 42 new historical light posts will be placed in the area from approximately Granite Street around the United First Parish Church, from the driveway at Quincy College up to Saville Avenue. Officials hope the lights will be up and operating by the Quincy Christmas Festival Parade on Sunday, Nov. 25 or Parade on Sunday, Nov. 25 or Dec. 15 at the latest.

The lights will be dedicated with a bronze plaque to be inscribed as indicated by the contributor.

Locations of the new lights in the area are given on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Any one wishing to purchase a light should contact the Mayor's office, 773-1380.

Coastsweep '90 Kick-Off At Wollaston Beach

COASTSWEEP '90, which is expected to draw thousands of volunteers to the Massachusetts shoreline, will kick-off Saturday, Sept. 15 at 10 a.m. at Wollaston Beach in Quincy.

Other cleanups will be held Saturday through Oct. 8. "Every person who has enjoyed the Massachusetts shoreline over the summer season now has the opportunity to protect this environmental treasure by participating in COASTSWEEP '90," said Environmental Affairs Secretary John DeVillars. "By cleaning our coast we make it safer for our wildlife, our children, our neighbors and ourselves."

Massachusetts Coastal Zone Management (CZM), the events' coordinating organization, hopes to increase the number of participants in 1990 and top the 1989 total of 3,000 volunteers. All cleanup participants receive bags, latex gloves, data cards and pencils. Their information gathering efforts will become part of a national marine debris database at the Center for Marine Conservation in Washington, D.C.

"If the public desires to return to a spotless waterfront next summer, Massachusetts needs a strong turnout for COASTSWEEP and continued individual efforts throughout the winter," said CZM Director Jeff Benoit. "While the public is not accountable for all the beach debris, we can help ensure a safer environment by 'thinking globally and acting locally,'" he added.

A stroll along any section of the Massachusetts shore will usually result in the discovery of fishing nets and lines discarded or lost from boats, tampon applicators released from combined sewer overflows, beach whistles, beer cans, plastic utensils and styrofoam deposited by uncaring beachgoers. The land and water based debris make beaches less appealing to tourists, makes the coast unsafe for human recreation and poses a threat to wildlife.

During COASTSWEEP '89, volunteers gathered more than 31 tons of plastic, metal, glass and paper items collected from over 200 miles of shoreline. While most debris were not recycled, CZM is encouraging greater efforts in this area, particularly for beverage cans and bottles.

Interest in COASTSWEEP '90 has been heightened by the publicity generated by Earth Day and other environmental news items. School groups of all ages throughout the state have expressed interest in preserving the shoreline.

Student involvement in projects such as COAST-SWEEP foster environmental responsibility at an early age. Other participating organizations include environmental associations, Boy and Girl Scouts, businesses, church groups, and civic associations.

In addition to land-side cleanup, volunteer recreational scuba divers will conduct water-side cleanups at several sites.

City Receives $645,465 For Sewers

The city has received two sewer rehabilitation grants totaling $645,465, Mayor James Sheets and Ward 4 Councillor Thomas Fabrizio announced.

The Department of Public Works received a $343,455 grant from the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection for the final phase of the existing sanitary sewer study in West Quincy. The work involved cleaning and internal inspection of 7,400 linear feet of sewer, the installation of groundwater gauges, nighttime flow gauging and a house-to-house survey of 8,000 homes.

Whitman & Howard, Inc., a consulting engineering firm, prepared a report for the city summarizing the work performed and identified portions of the existing sanitary system which required rehabilitation.

The work completes the final study phase of an overall $437,000 project consisting of the evaluation of 45,779 linear feet of sewer system and a house-to-house survey of 1,300 homes in the West Quincy area.

The study is companion to the West Quincy interceptor construction.

The DEP issued a prior approval for grant assistance in September, 1989. The work for this project was actually completed by the city in November, 1989. The report was submitted to DEP for approval in December 1989.

The second grant of $302,010 will be used to further study Quincy's sewer system to confirm the source(s) of leakage of clean stormwater and groundwater into it.

The project calls for:

- Smoke testing of 7,450 feet of sewer pipeline for inflow and to confirm that roof drains are connected to the sewers.

- Dye flooding and television inspection to locate inflow sources and leaking building connections.

- Flow isolation to isolate location of infiltration sources in nearly 19,000 feet of sewers.

- Physical condition survey of sewer manholes to determine deficiencies allowing entry of infiltration/inflow.

- Television inspection of 12,000 feet of sewers to isolate infiltration sources.

A report will be prepared, outlining the types of repairs necessary to correct the system's deficiencies and prevent clean water entering pipes causing overloading.

Next, the city will begin the design phase and then rehabilitate the sanitary system. Public Works Commissioner David Colton said the rehabilitation work is needed in these areas to prevent sewers from overloading.

The city has applied for similar grants for North Quincy, Quincy Center and Wollaston but has not received notification of award.

Auto Body Shop Complaints Placed On File

By JANE ARENA

The License Board Tuesday placed on file a hearing concerning complaints of excessive vehicles at Structural Auto Body & Trucks of Quincy, Holbrook Road and Safford Street, Montclair.

Board Chairman John Gillis noted that the site has been the location of an auto body shop for several years, although the current business has been there for only three years.

"In that type of business there is a lot of extra baggage," he said, "The nature of the business makes it difficult."

Atty. Dennis Harrington, representing Robert Mason, president of the auto body shop, told the board he also represents the Donovan Brothers who operate an auto repair shop out of the same garage on the site.

Harrington emphasized there is no major repair work done outside the building.

He explained to the board that there is no sidewalk at the garage and that the sidewalk area is delineated with painted lines. Because there is no actual sidewalk, he said, it is difficult to control parking and customers frequently park in the sidewalk area, blocking walking space.

Gillis noted that there are children walking to and from the Montclair School in the area and said the board is concerned about their safety.

Mason said he has contacted a sign company in Braintree to place signs to discourage people from parking in the sidewalk area, but added that the company has not yet come to the location.

He added he has done his best to control the parking at the garage.

"I have three children of my own," he said, "I am very aware of children walking in the area."

Harrington said the location has long been a site for parking problems but added that it has been "vastly improved" in the three years since Mason took over the location.

Building Inspector Matthias Mulvey said he understands that it is a difficult area, but suggested that Mason remind his employees to keep a careful watch on outside parking, especially during hours when children are walking to and from school.

Police Chief Francis Mullen said the Traffic Division will monitor the location.

Kolson Reminds Residents Of 15-Hour Rubbish Ordinance

In keeping with the city's Cleaner, Greener, and recycling programs, Ward I Councillor Peter Kolson reminds residents of rubbish ordinance prohibiting rubbish from being put out more than 15 hours in advance of actual pickup.

"It seems that a number of people have taken on the habit of putting out rubbish days before their scheduled pickup which creates not only an unsightly appearance but also contributes to a public health hazard and in some cases is actually dangerous to the children of the area," Kolson said.

"I would be most appreciative if residents would make every effort to comply with the city ordinance so that we can all work together to make Quincy the best community possible to live in and raise our families," he added.

Introduced by former Ward I Councillor Leo Kelly in 1974, the ordinance reads, "No person shall place or cause to be placed on the public sidewalk rubbish barrels or rubbish containers 15 hours before 7 a.m. on the date of collections."

Ayers Brothers will make available two specially equipped transporter vans.

Bruce Ayers, manager at Ayers Bros. and coordinator of this program said, "We believe a person's physical mobility should never interfere with his or her fundamental right to vote. We feel that all Quincy voters should have the opportunity to exercise their right to vote for whomever they choose to support, despite a voters physical limitations."

To request van service call Bruce at 328-0056.

INSURANCE BY ANY OTHER NAME (WOULD STILL BE COMPLICATED)

The insurance industry is undeniably huge. In 1982, its employees numbered nearly two million. As with any complex and specialized business, it's often difficult to figure out who does what under what title. Fitting the job description to the name can make dealing with industry representatives simpler.

Agents, of course, sell insurance, but only for one firm, while brokers are independent agents represent several companies. Actuaries actually set the insurance rates. Their province is statistics, probability theory, and trend analysis. The rates on your brand-new home or Mercedes are established by ratings clerks, while claims adjusters are the "clean-up crew." They inspect and report on the dangling fenders, burned carpets, and strained necks. Finally, if your insurance application has been turned down, you can blame it on the underwriter. They have the final say on applications. The greatest concentration of underwriters anywhere can be found at Lloyd's of London, the world's biggest, oldest, and most well-known insurer. Traditionally, these staid and very British risk-takers have approved some of the most imaginative - let's face it, even bizarre - schemes ever concocted.

We may not be as flamboyant as Lloyd's, but we offer years of experience and sound insurance advice.

Quiet On Local Front

There's not much to get excited about locally in next week's state primary elections.

Take away the state wide contests for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general and Quincy voters are left with just one Quincy contest.

And that one affects only a portion of the city - those living in the Third Norfolk District where Democrat Rep. Robert Cerasoli is running for re-election.

He is being challenged by David Peterson but it hasn't been much of a challenge as campaign time quickly winds down.

Peterson, who has been a candidate for office in the past, has been pretty much the invisible man this year. He has hardly been seen or heard from.

There is only one other local contest involving Quincy voters but it has no Quincy candidates.

Norfolk County Commissioner David Ahearn, a Democrat from Norwood, is opposed by former Selectman Richard Staiti of Canton. But Quincy voters get to cast ballots in this one.

There's no local Quincy action on the Republican ballot.

Perhaps the most active local campaigning has been done by a candidate who isn't on either ballot.

Rep. Steve Tobin, who did not file his nomination papers in time doesn't have his name on the Democrat ballot as a result.

He has been conducting a quiet, but energetic sticker campaign the past few weeks and there doesn't seem to be anyone out there trying to out-ticker him.

Tobin, seeking his second term, should get the nomination on stickers without a problem and apparently will have no Republican opposition in the final election in November.

Unless a Republican suddenly decides to do some stickering of his own to get on the ballot. No Republican took out nomination papers for the Second Norfolk District seat.

WELL, THE PEOPLE have spoken and Leo Kelly's mustache is a thing of the past. Kelly bowed to public opinion yesterday with shaving cream and razor.

We kidding asked readers a few weeks ago to let him know if they liked his mustache or not and tell him to "Keep It" or "Shave It" when they saw him.

Well, several hundred people told him what they thought.

Early opinions were pretty even with pro-mustache holding a slight lead.

"But the late returns tipped it anti-mustache," Kelly says.

Two of the final votes may have been the clincher. One person told him the mustache made him look older. Another said he was "much handsomer without it."

Kelly says he can't believe the response.

"It was unbelievable how many people commented one way or the other," he says. "Wherever I went, - in a bank, drugstore, supermarket or office - they either told me to keep it or shave it. People driving by would toot at me and give me either the thumbs up or thumbs down."

All of which would seem to re-affirm the fact he has a high city-wide recognition factor - a big plus for someone thinking of running for councillor-at-large.

MORE NEW KIDS: In the latest "New Kids On The Block" Book, author Jill Matthews quotes Donnie Wahlberg discussing his mother Alma's show business aspirations.

"She was always a bit of a ham and was usually first in line to sign up when the church would stage its annual show."

"After each rehearsal, she would come home, wake everybody up and make us line up and see the latest dance steps she had learned that night."

His mother picks up the story:

"I would tap dance around the kitchen while cooking supper and then, when the time came, I would make the kids come to the show to see their Mom strut her stuff and applaud her efforts loudly... they never thought I was doing anything special - it was just Mom doing something she loved."

Well, the dance steps she was talking about were taught her by Quincy's "new dance teacher on the block" - Maryanne Dennis - who has opened a new dance studio at 398A Hancock St., North Quincy.

Maryanne, incidentally, was formerly with the June Taylor Dancers and appeared regularly on the Jackie Gleason television show.

Then, away she went - from New York to Quincy.

A Merry Christmas And A Happy New Year

Editor, The Quincy Sun,
I came to Quincy in 1964 as an assistant to Msgr. Donovan at St. Mary's, West Quincy, and became pastor in 1968 - perhaps the happiest years of my life as I grew to know Quincy and its people and its ecumenical spirit. I still consider it my home away from home.

For about two or three years during the Christmas season there were banners at both ends of Hancock Street wishing all - coming and going - a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Then, suddenly, without dialog or discussion it was changed to "Happy Holidays." It irked me and others. I spoke off and on to the local politicians who were going to look into it.

Now after 20 years as "Happy Holidays," wouldn't it be nice and ecumenical to give us the original and fitting greetings? Couldn't we alternate the greetings each year? Or is it a one-way street? Praying you will have a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, I am

IT WAS A hairy issue and former City Councillor Leo Kelly finally bowed to public opinion. For a light change of pace from all the problems in the state and the world, readers were asked in the Sunbeams column to let Kelly know if they liked or didn't like his mustache. Many, many did and the "Shave It" vote topped the "Keep It" by a good margin. Here's Kelly with the mustache, taking the razor to it, and clean shaven once again. Doesn't he look better folks? (See Sunbeams column, Page 4.)

Snug Harbor Housing Planned

Executive Secretary Frank C. Hendry of the Quincy Housing Authority revealed tentative plans for development of Sailors Snug Harbor in Germantown as a housing project for veterans' families.

Hendry said house plans and layouts currently pending before the State Housing Board call for 78 four-family, 29 two-family and 30 one-family buildings on the site.

There was also the possibility, he said, of remodeling the present buildings to house a post office, a branch library, a super market and a drug store.

Easy Broccoli Quiche

On Labor Day, the day all our family gets together (I lost count) we had the usual cookout food. Members of the family also brought their favorite entrees. As a filler, I made a broccoli quiche just a bit different than usual. And I am also including a dessert recipe from my sister-in-law Anita.

5 eggs
1 Pkg frozen broccoli spears
 (or fresh equivalent)
1/2 cup grated romano cheese
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese about 5 large black olives fresh tomato slices
 (enough to cover edge of quiche)
1 cup flour
1 cup milk
salt & pepper to taste

Beat the eggs, add the flour and milk, grated cheese and half the shredded cheese, salt and pepper. Cook the broccoli, then add to the mixture. Top it with sliced black olives, the rest of the cheddar cheese and then the sliced tomatoes on the edge. Bake in a 325 degree oven for about 45 minutes (depending on your oven and the dish you use). Cool for a few minutes before serving. I made it a day ahead, and just heated it in a warming oven.

ANITA'S DUMP-IT CAKE

Grease a 9 x 13 pan. Dump one can of sweetened applesauce into it. Dump one can of crushed pineapple on top of that. Spread one package of dry yellow cake mix over that. Melt one cup of either butter or margarine and pour on top of the cake mix. Sprinkle one and a half cups chopped nuts over the butter. DO NOT STIR. Bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour. Top with whipped cream. It was delicious!

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Quincy College Offers Recognized Foodservice Management Program

Quincy College is offering the National Restaurant Association's Management Development Diploma Program.

The diploma program is the newest foodservice manager training program from the Education Foundation of the National Restaurant Association. The program is designed to continue the Educational Foundation's mission: to increase the level of professionalism of foodservice managers through education.

In the 90s the foodservice industry's need for professionally educated managers is accelerating, with demand continuing to outpace supply. "With the addition of the diploma program to our current curriculum, Quincy College will graduate people qualified to fill these positions," said Rick Ward, assistant director of Continuing Education.

The program is structured around a student completing a total of eight courses from five competency areas. The five areas identified in an independently conducted study, commissioned by the Educational Foundation, as the key areas integral to succeeding as a foodservice manager. Quincy College is offering two diploma options: a two (2) year Associate Degree program and a thirty (30) week accelerated Non-Credit program.

Students may also qualify to receive a scholarship for $750. Scholarship applications are available through the Educational Foundation to Full-time and part time diploma students.

In addition to the Associate or the Non-Credit accelerated program at Quincy College, a management development diploma will be awarded to those students successfully completing the program. These credentials affiliate the student's professional career with Quincy College, and the national reputation of The Educational Foundation and the National Restaurant Association.

Student's interested in further information on the Management Development Diploma program offered by Quincy College, should contact Scott Greenberg, director of the evening division, for the associate degree program at 617-984-1650 or Rick Ward for information on the Non-Credit accelerated program at 617-984-1655.

SECOND SHOT
Much to parents' surprise, many school systems are now requiring a second immunization against measles, mumps and rubella for children entering seventh grade. The original MMR shot is now generally given between the first and second birthday and seems to provide immunity through the early years. However, within the past two years, outbreaks of measles in many parts of the country have involved teenagers and college students who had proof of early vaccination. The immunity had worn off, most likely because the child received the vaccine too early. Because the measles can be accompanied by such complications as pneumonia, croup, and encephalitis, it is important for children to be protected. The MMR vaccine has few side effects, the most common being a slight fever, with or without a non-contagious rash, about a week after the inoculation.

P.S. The combined MMR vaccine is usually given rather than just measles immunization.

DID YOU EVER HEAR OF ANYONE WHO SWITCHED TO OIL HEAT?

Probably not.

And there are some very good reasons why most people convert to gas heat instead of oil heat.

Natural gas supplies are more dependable and controllable. Because they come from right here in North America. And many experts predict these supplies will last for years to come.

Natural gas prices are more stable. They don't fluctuate like oil prices do.

Gas is considerably cleaner. And that makes it better for the environment.

There's no bulky tank to contend with either. And no waiting for a truck to make fuel deliveries.

Gas heating equipment is exceptionally efficient, too. That's important because now more than ever, we all need to conserve energy as much as possible. Since gas equipment also requires very few moving parts, there's very little that can break down.

So if you're considering updating or replacing your heating equipment, contact Boston Gas and your local heating/plumbing contractor or one of those listed below. After all, there are millions of other people every year who wouldn't hear of anything else.

A NATIONAL SERVICE officer of the Disabled American Veterans and the DAV van will visit the DAV chapter home in North Quincy, 111 Newbury Ave., on Oct. 4 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The officer will help veterans and their families file new and reopened claims for the full range of veterans' benefits.

North Quincy Veterans To Get Free Help Oct. 4 From DAV On Benefit Changes

North Quincy veterans and their families aren't alone if they're concerned about the effects of Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) benefit changes on their lives.

But they'll get straight answers—free of charge—when a national service officer of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) visits North Quincy. The DAV van will be parked from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Chapter Home, 111 Newbury Ave., in North Quincy on Thursday, Oct. 4.

The DAV veteran's benefits expert on board is fully qualified to help veterans and their families file new and reopened claims for the full range of veterans' benefits. Veterans need not be DAV members to take advantage of the free services.

"For several years," said DAV National Service Director Arthur Wilson, "veterans have heard many news reports on changes in veterans' programs and services, cutbacks in veterans' health care, and proposals to slash disability compensation payments. Also causing concern are changes in Social Security disability programs."

"The DAV can explain what all these changes mean to disabled veterans in the North Quincy area," said Wilson. "We can explain the impact on veterans' families. If veterans are worried about their rights, they should be. That's why the DAV is coming to the North Quincy area soon. We're here to serve you."

The DAV has sent its vans, called field service units, to communities across America for 16 years now. To date, half a million veterans, dependents and survivors have used the free services offered by the highly trained DAV national service officers staffing these traveling offices. Their questions covered a broad range of programs, including disability and educational benefits. Social Security disability payments, VA medical care, military benefits, veterans' employment and training programs, and more.

"These veterans and their families came to the DAV because they know we're on their side, totally committed to making sure they get all the benefits their military service has earned," explained Wilson. "The DAV isn't a government agency. We're an association of one million disabled vets dedicated to helping our fellow veterans. We serve no master. That's why we've earned the trust of America's veterans and their families over the past 70 years. Veterans or family members visiting the DAV van should bring the veterans' VA claim number, if known, and Social Security number. These are needed in filing and reopening claims."

Morrissey Concerned Over Auto Insurance Hike

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) is concerned over the auto insurance industry's request for a 13.9% rate increase.

"The rate increase proposal is based on assumptions that are flawed," said Morrissey.

The auto insurance industry said the majority of its rate increase request is due to overestimated savings of $85 million dollars from the 1988 auto insurance reform law, and the insurers' attempt to recoup losses from previous years.

Morrissey said he disagrees with both arguments. He said that "some of the important cost saving measures adopted in the 1988 reform law are just beginning to take effect."

As examples Rep. Morrissey cited the reform of the auto insurance high risk pool, the new uninsured motorist law, the safe driver insurance plan, and the incentives for certain vehicles to obtain anti-theft devices.

All of these reforms will significantly improve our system, and are not being fully considered by this rate increase proposal" according to Rep. Morrissey.

Morrissey also predicts other reforms which he is co-sponsoring will be signed into law this year and provide drivers with even more savings next year. One reform is the establishment of an automobile insurance fraud bureau for the purpose of investigating and prosecuting fraudulent insurance claims.

The other reform is a toll-free tip line which will provide rewards to consumers who provide information to the Governors Auto Theft Strike Force and which result in the convictions of an individual for auto theft.

Morrissey criticized the auto insurance industry for attempting to recoup losses from past years in this year's rate increase proposal.

"The recoupment request is not only illegal it is unethical, he said. "Why should consumers pay for past mistakes of insurance companies and Insurance Commissioners?"

"A 13.9% increase is excessive and unjustified. The auto insurance industry knows that Governor Dukakis is not running for reelection and therefore is looking for a going away present to make up for losses in past years. The Insurance Commissioner should take the industry's rate request and place it in his circular file."

Quincy Rotarians Contribute Nearly $22,000 To Local Charities

Thirty local charities benefited over the past year from contributions by the Rotary Club of Quincy.

A total of $21,839 was donated by the 107 members of the service club, according to James L. Chicchino, president.

"This outstanding record is a direct result of the efforts of our immediate past president Thomas Feenan who was dedicated to making certain Quincy Rotary always set a good example of community commitment," Chicchino said.

Scholarships to graduating seniors from Quincy High School, North Quincy High School, and Quincy Vocational-Technical School were the largest single area of support.

"Young people from these three schools received $10,050 in scholarships," Chicchino said.

The first half of a $5,000 pledge was presented to the Quincy Police Department for D.A.R.E., its effective program for aiding elementary school age children in resisting drug abuse.

Donations were also made to D.O.V.E., the Salvation Army, Quincy Youth Hockey, Quincy After-School

Day Care, Quincy Crisis Center, and the Boy Scouts, as well as to other organizations.

"The Rotary Club of Quincy will continue to be sensitive to community needs and seek opportunities for making this a better place to live and work," said Chicchino, who is a vice president of Quincy Savings Bank.

Harshbarger Adamantly Opposed To Toxic Waste Incinerator Site

By JANE ARENA

Scott Harshbarger, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, is adamantly opposed to the siting of a Clean Harbors, Inc. hazardous waste incinerator in East Braintree, but says he's unsure as to how much can be done about the proposal at this point.

"I think that now there is a decision being made about site suitability," he says. "As Attorney General, I would assign an Assistant Attorney General to review every aspect of every part of the decision-making process that led to the siting here and see if there are any areas in which we can launch additional attacks."

"I hope that, prior to that time, the decision will be against the siting," he adds. "We shall see."

The problem, Harshbarger said during a recent campaign visit to The Quincy Sun, is that current Atty. Gen. James Shannon simply waited too long before he became involved with the issue.

"He's devoted two and a half years to Seabrook (nuclear power plant)," he said. "For three years he's ignored the requests from communities that he become involved (with the incinerator siting issue)."

What's more, Harshbarger says, Shannon's decision to become involved at this point, is due to "political pressure."

Harshbarger notes that he became publicly involved in May when he wrote a letter to the Coalition for a Safe Environment opposing the siting. Five days after that, he says, Shannon said that he was against it too.

"I am glad that he's decided to become involved in opposing that," Harshbarger said. "But it was clearly done in response to political pressure from communities... it was done after I made it a major issue. I felt that we have to deal with all environmental issues, not just Seabrook."

Harshbarger, currently serving his second term as District Attorney for Middlesex County, criticizes Shannon for his late stand on the incinerator and said that if elected, he would become involved in such issues from the beginning.

"The Attorney General is the chief lawyer for the Commonwealth," he said. "You have a role to play giving legal advice and policy guidance, and you should be involved from the beginning, overseeing the policy... but doing it as a lawyer... the Attorney General made this a political issue."

Not only does Harshbarger oppose siting the incinerator in East Braintree, but he says he's not fully convinced of the need for another hazardous waste facility in the state.

"I think that's still open to question," he said. "What should have been the initial question—do we need one? I think that, if we do, then we should be working together to find a community or communities where they may be more receptive to it, or where you've offered incentives that would be useful, or, at a minimum, where you don't have the cumulative impact that it would have here... we've got to site it in a place where it's not going to have a devastating environmental impact."

Environmental issues in general are high on the list of Harshbarger's priorities.

He favors implementing an "environmental trust fund" in which would be placed any fees or penalties extracted from environmental polluters. These monies would then be used to implement education and prevention programs for environmental problems.

In addition, he said, he supports an environmental forfeiture fund along the lines of the narcotics forfeiture fund already in place.

This, he said, would allow for the seizure of assets of the major polluters in either criminal or civil prosecutions. The money could then be dedicated to enforcement purposes, he said.

"We can't rely on the general appropriations process," he said. "We've learned that over the last 15 months... we've got to develop a reasonable system."

The priority, he believes, should be aggressive criminal and civil prosecution of major environmental polluters. The second step, after major offenders learn that they will be prosecuted, is to implement environmental education programs for industry.

"Business and industry are the leading advocates of an environmental policy," he said. "They want to know what the rules are."

Harshbarger has a similar stand on social crime, especially drug-related crime in urban areas. The key here, he said, is education and early intervention, and that is what the Attorney General should be trying to do, he said.

As District Attorney in Middlesex County, Harshbarger has implemented a program wherein law enforcement works with school systems in drug and alcohol abuse education programs and he believes such programs are "crucial" statewide.

"What we don't understand," he said, "is that, as much as we need enforcement, particularly in drug and alcohol areas, and that's an important matter, if we don't focus on the demand side and intervene early and try to prevent and change people's attitudes and behavior, we're going to fail absolutely. I see education as critical to public protection."

The resources for such statewide programs are already there, he adds, noting that many school systems already have a drug abuse education program in place. The job of the Attorney General, then, should be to coordinate the efforts and to work with communities and law enforcement agencies in making the programs work, he explained.

"Just to have a drug unit which deals with the same kind of drug trafficking and distribution cases that we (D.A.'s) have, I think is duplication," he said of Shannon's efforts on drugs.

"I, as Attorney General, would see the opportunity, freed from the day-to-day responsibilities of District Attorney... to not only deal with the major drug trafficking issues, but, more importantly, to support the educational process and the partnership with schools, with employers in the drugs in the workplace issue, and to involve community resources," he said.

Community involvement, Harshbarger said, is a critical factor in breaking the chain of drug-related crime.

"We need to mobilize the communities and understand that they are as responsible in addressing the social issue as we are," he said.

"We have to support them and make people understand that (drug education) programs can't be cut when budget cuts come up, that is a crucial piece of the entire problem... we have to lend the support of law enforcement to education... and understand that we're working on a common problem and that we have to work together."

Home Improvement Fraud

In the Hot Spots section you will notice that on Friday, Sept. 7 at 10:16 a.m. a caller reported that a contractor had just come to the door and offered to do some work on the caller's home.

The caller further stated that this contractor started his estimate at $40,000 (that's right, forty thousand dollars) and when he was told that the caller did not have that kind of money quickly lowered the price to around $7,000. Several other people in the North Quincy area also reported similar situations last week.

Home repairs and improvements can be costly. So watch out if somebody offers to do an expensive job for an unusually low price. Or if a firm offers to make a "free" inspection. Or if the contractor just "happened to be in the neighborhood."

These are all favorite tricks of dishonest home repair firms. Some offer a price you just can't resist. Once you sign the contract, you learn why: they never deliver the service. Others send door-to-door inspectors to do free roof, termite, or furnace inspections. You can bet these "free" inspections will turn up plenty of expensive repairs. Some fly-by-night companies will offer to do the work on the spot. When they leave, you may be left with a large bill and a faulty repair job.

To avoid home improvement and repair scams, try the following:

- Always get several estimates for every repair job, and compare prices and terms. Check to see if there is a charge for the estimate. Most legitimate contractors offer free estimates.
- Ask your friends for recommendations. Or ask the firm for references and check them.
- Check the identification of all "inspectors." If something or someone seems suspicious call the police immediately.
- Be suspicious of high-pressure sales tactics.
- Call the local Consumer Affairs Office or the Better Business Bureau to check the company's reputation BEFORE you authorize any work.
- Always pay by check. Arrange to make payments in installments - one third at the beginning of the job, one-third when the work is nearly completed, and one-third after the job is done.
- All door-to-door solicitors are required to register with the Quincy Police before going out into the City. If you have any suspicions about a door-to-door sales person contact the Quincy Police Detective Bureau to make sure they have registered with us.

REMEMBER: If the deal seems too good to be true, it probably is.

HAVE YOU HEARD

by Stephen Tobias

Board Certified Hearing Instrument Specialist

MUSIC TO A MOTHER

When it comes to hearing loss, apparently, women stand to lose more than men. This is due to the fact that, on average, a woman's sense of hearing is more sensitive than a man's. This information comes to us from researchers at the Taste and Smell Clinic at the Center for Molecular Nutrition and Sensory Disorders in Washington, D.C. In fact, a woman's hearing is a selective adaptation that enables mothers to better hear the cries of newborns. It is commonly known that the sound of an infant crying triggers the nursing mother's secretion of the hormone that governs milk production. A newborn's cry is all that is needed to fill its mother's breast with milk.

HINT: Studies also indicate that women have sharper senses in other areas besides hearing (taste, touch, vision and smell).

Call it a woman's intuition or sixth sense, but females seem to be more sensitive in every positive sense of the word. Perhaps when it comes to hearing women are more aware when they don't hear sounds as they did in the past. Having a hearing test is so vital to knowing what can be done to correct this situation. Come to STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER so you can be checked for any possible hearing loss. You will be tested by a professional who knows all about hearing problems as well as the instruments that will help achieve better hearing. We're at 488 Quincy Ave. Call 770-3395 for an appt. Continue to read our column for more interesting hearing topics in coming weeks.

Sheets, who is opposed to the petition, said it will probably be approved. He said he will not campaign against it.

"I think my responsibility as mayor is to prepare for it. I think it's going to pass by a wide-margin. I think the mood of the voter is to cut (taxes).

"As an elected official, you have to respect that. It's their money and its their government. My responsibility is to mitigate the negative impact of the services that the people receive."

As for the bond issue, the mayor has asked Colton and Ricci to give him a list of the building needs "which are absolutely necessary." Needs affecting public safety of children, city workers and residents will be given top priority, the mayor said.

Once he receives the list, Sheets said he will decide whether to float a bond issue. He will also determine what amount it will be for.

On Tuesday, the mayor declined to give an estimated amount, saying he wants to wait and see what needs are listed.

Sheets added he wants to inform the City Council of his decision by its Oct. 1 meeting.

One fiscal bright spot surrounding the bond issue is the fact that Quincy's credit rating is still one of the highest in the state.

As of Tuesday, the credit was rated an A-plus by Standard and Poors and A by Moody's. The higher the rating the less interest Quincy will be charged.

Democrats: Incumbent James Shannon of Lawrence and L. Scott Harshbarger of Cambridge, the district attorney for Middlesex County.

Republicans: Guy A. Carbone of Belmont and William C. Sawyer, a former selectman from Acton.

In addition, there are three Democratic hopefuls for state treasurer. They are: William Francis Galvin, a state representative from Boston, House Speaker George Keverian of Everett and State Senator Dick Kraus of Arlington.

The winner will likely face Joseph Malone of Watertown in the final election. Malone is unopposed in the Republican primary.

In the race for secretary of state, incumbent Michael Joseph Connolly is unopposed in the Democratic ballot. Paul McCarthy of Lynnfield is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

In the auditor's contest, incumbent A. Joseph DeNucci is unopposed on the Democratic ballot. Douglas J. Murray of Somerville is unopposed on the GOP ballot.

Congressman Brian Donnelly of Boston and Peter Elee y of Quincy, a member of the Governor's Council, are both unopposed on the Democratic ballot. There are no candidates for the two offices on the Republican ballot.

There is one local race and one county contest.

Representative Robert A. Cerasoli of 54 Russell Park, Quincy, is being challenged by David J. Peterson of 53 Curtis St., Quincy, in the Democratic primary for state representative in the Third Norfolk District.

In the Democratic primary for Norfolk County commissioner, David C. Ahearn of Norwood is running against Richard R. Staiti, a former selectman from Canton.

Local candidates unopposed in the Democratic primary are:

• State Senator Paul D. Harold, 66 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy.

• State Representative Michael W. Morrissey, 110 Lansdowne St., Quincy, candidate for renomination in the First Norfolk District.

• Norfolk County District Attorney William Delahunt, 168 Milton St., Quincy.

• Norfolk County Register of Probate, Thomas Patrick Hughes, 30 Cross St., Quincy.

• Norfolk County Treasurer Daniel G. Raymondi, 88 Elm St., Quincy.

Local candidates unopposed in the Republican primary are:

• Paul Van Schaick, 51 Princess Eve., Dr., Quincy, running for state senator.

• Susan Gallagher, 21 Willow St., Quincy, running for state representative in the First Norfolk District.

• Judith Balzano, 69 Edinboro Rd., Quincy, running for state representative in the Third Norfolk District.

• Robert D. Hall Jr., of Needham, running for Norfolk County treasurer.

• Bruce D. Olsen of Stoughton, a member of the town's Zoning Board, is running for Norfolk County commissioner.

Oddly, no candidate appears on either ballot for state representative in the Second Norfolk District. Incumbent Steve Tobin, a Democrat, failed to file his renomination papers before the deadline. Also, no Republican candidate filed papers for the seat.

As a result, voters in the Second Norfolk District which comprises all of Ward 1, Ward 3 Precinct 2, Ward 4 Precincts 1, 2, 4 and 5 and Ward 5 Precincts 1 and 3 will have to write-in or use a sticker to vote for Tobin or someone else.

Polls open in Quincy at 7 a.m. primary day and will close at 8 p.m.

Gillis said results should be known by 10:30 p.m.

Milton Off Schedule

Raiders Host Somerset In Opener Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN

For the past 16 years the North Quincy football team opened the season against neighborhood rival Milton and the North coaches had a good idea of what to expect every year.

However, North has moved from the now defunct Suburban League to the Old Colony League, Milton is off the schedule. The Red Raiders open against an unknown quantity when they host Somerset Friday at 7 p.m. in a non-league game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Milton was forced to drop North Quincy when Newton North and Brookline joined the Bay State League, making 11 teams and giving Milton a full league schedule.

field Friday night Mark Kelliher (180) will be the starting tight end backed up by Jason April (185).

Desmond Bellot (165), an excellent receiver, will start at wide receiver.

Pat Faherty (180) and Mark Zych (215) or Adam Strout (185) will be the tackles.

At guard will be Mike Oliva (165) and Chris McCallum (170).

Mark Swierk (210) is back at center backed up by Dave Raftery (215).

Mark Taylor (200), a transfer from Braintree, will open at quarterback, backed up by sophomore Liam Higgins (190).

Mark Cocuzzo (175) will start at tailback with Rich

"We were sorry to lose Milton, because we had built up a close rivalry through the years," said North coach Ken McPhee.

"I don't know what to expect from Somerset, but they have a veteran team and I understand they are huge."

Incidentally, North, the smallest school in the league, will make its OCL debut Friday night, Sept. 21 at Falmouth at 7 p.m.

The OCL is a member of the new Pilgrim Conference together with the Atlantic Coast League and the South Shore League. The Pilgrim and other conferences resulted from the long awaited realignment of the various leagues.

Somerset, a member of the Eastern Athletic Conference, was 3-6-1 a year ago but coach Bob Tavares has 11 returning starters and he expects to improve on that record.

North Quincy has scrimmaged Hanover, Braintree, Xaverian and Marshfield and McPhee has been pleased with the defense and the improvement shown by the offense in each scrimmage.

"We looked good at times, but have a lot of work to do with an inexperienced line," said offensive coach Peter Chrisom. "Our two quarterbacks are learning the system and once they learn it, they should do well."

When the Raiders take the Brooks (160) and Chris Murray (165) the wingbacks. Evan Kiley will be the starting fullback.

Among others who will play on offense are Donny Anderson, Jason Buckley, Scott Kohler, Pete Licciardi and Pat Shea.

"Taylor and Higgins both can pass and Kiley and Cocuzzo will spearhead our running game," Chrisom said. "Taylor will do the punting and Higgins is an outstanding place kicker who will do our kicking off, kick field goals and extra points."

On defense Kiley, Taylor and Mike Murray (190) will be the ends, Swierk and Strout tackles, Oliva, Zych and Faherty cornerbacks, Mike Christopherson (230), Brian Raftery, a 230-pound freshman, McCallum, Bill Miller (175), Brendan O'Connell (170) and Mike Picariello (160) linebackers and in the secondary will be Bellot, April, freshman Tony Licciardi and Brooks.

Shea, Willie O'Donnell, Chris Peek, Sean Herron, Keith Lentini and Kohler also will see action on defense.

"I wasn't disappointed at all in our scrimmages," said McPhee.

"Our offensive line is inexperienced but is improving all the time and the defense has looked good. We have a tough schedule ahead of us, but we'll be ready."

His touchdown receptions, giving him five for his career, came on 12 and five-yard tosses from quarterback Dave Goodwin.

Presidents Open At Marshfield Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

It will be a whole new ball game for the Quincy football team, which opens its season Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. game at Marshfield.

After three years of trying, the Presidents are in the Old Colony League and Marshfield, a former OCL member, now in the Atlantic Coast League, is one of two non-league opponents.

The OCL, ACL and South Shore League are part of the new Pilgrim Conference, one of several new conferences resulting from league realignments.

"We scrimmaged Marshfield last year and they were very strong," Quincy coach Jack Raymer said. "They have an awful lot of players back and I feel they will be as veteran Chris Walker (170) will start at wide receiver and he will be backed up by John Fahey (165), Dan Thackery (160) and sophomore Robby Kane (165).

The tight ends will be Mike Kavanaugh (225) and Dave Chapman (205).

The tackles will be Pat Neil (235) and Keith Norris (225).

The guards will be Graham Chevery (215) and Mike Tempesta (225).

Starting at center will be Scott Buckman (210).

Veteran Mike Flavin (175) will be the starting quarterback backed up by Joe Crespi (170) and Pat Gallagher (170).

Tailbacks will be Mark Bogan (180), who had a sensational season last fall, and Bill Reardon (170).

strong as most teams we will face this year."

The Rams were 7-2-1 a year ago and coach Lou Silva has 12 returning starters. They are expected to be strong contenders for the Atlantic Coast League championship.

Quincy's OCL debut will be Saturday, Sept. 22 at home against Bridgewater-Raynham.

Raymer was extremely pleased with Quincy's showings in scrimmages against Newton North and Don Bosco.

"I feel very good about our chances after those scrimmages," he said. "We gained about 900 yards in the two and neither team scored against us. We did very well both offensively and defensively."

"These kids have worked their heads off and we got a chance to look at a lot of them. We threw and ran equally well and I was really encouraged."

In Saturday's opener

Jason Anderson (210), who started off well before missing all but two games with an injury in 1989, will start at fullback and will give Bogan a lot of help running the ball. He will be backed up by Bob Crespi (200).

On defense the ends will be Gary Collins (205), Shawn Kennedy (190) and Chapman.

Buckmann, Tempesta and Dave Frye (255) will be the defensive tackles. Linebackers will be Kavanaugh, Bob Crespi, Gary Chevery, Anderson, Ally Sleiman (175) and Dave Chevery (175).

Defensive backs will be Walker, John O'Connor (170), Kane and Colin Kelly (170).

The safeties will be Bogan, Reardon, and Bob Stanton (175).

Bogan and Bob Crespi will do the punting and Collins and sophomore Noel Di Bona will kick off and kick extra points.

Cross Country

Over 60 Turn Out At North

Coach Jeff Hennessey welcomed 60 candidates for the start of the fall cross country season at North Quincy.

The boys and girls teams, each with 30 members, were scheduled to open the season against Plymouth Wednesday at the 2.35 mile Pageant Field course.

It will be the first Old Colony League meet for the Red Raiders.

The teams looked good in recent scrimmages and have been bolstered by the addition of 30 freshmen.

"The middle school program is paying off big dividends for us as well as a heavy recruitment program to bring this sport to the kids at both the middle and elementary school level," said Hennessey.

"This is not a glamour sport but it is the most successful program in the school over the past 15 years with 37 league, division and state championships in track and field. We are getting better every year."

The girls squad is paced by returning sophomore Suzanne Lewis who placed sixth in Division II last fall. Other returning State Meet participants include sophomore Ilana Cobban and senior captain Danielle Lewis. Several newcomers who should help are seniors Jennifer Flynn, Julie Tangney and AnnMarie Montgomery.

Junior Lindsey McGovern is trying a comeback after being injured for the last two years with a leg ailment. The only other returning veterans are senior Amanda Young and sophomores Karen Leary and Kerry Evans. Newcomers include junior Laurie Connolly, sophomores Miyon Park, Jennie Marks, Jessica Hoel and Patti Meighan and freshmen Kerrin O'Toole, Diane Hughes, Amy Shea, Chris Kabilian, Leah Lomond, Christine Herman, Melanie Gaziano, Erin Duggan, Erin O'Brien, Pam Francouer and Danielle Aliberti. Gaziano and Duggan look like potential varsity runners, said Hennessey.

The boys are led by four-year veteran Chris Ballum and juniors Greg Buck and Mike Yee. Four of the top seven runners from last year have graduated leaving Hennessey with an inexperienced squad.

Hennessey expects more candidates to join the team shortly. Freshman who could challenge for varsity spots include Torvi, Groom, Ahern, Morse and Duncan.

Hennessey will face a challenge trying to offset the loss of coach Dan Cuddy as the boys and girls programs were consolidated. North Quincy will also have to overcome the loss of talented graduates including Sherrin Quintiliani (running for U. Vermont), Janet Corrigan, Mary Tafalla, and Joanne Moriarity of the girls team and Andy Wohlrab, Peter Wildes and John Heany of the boys team.

Hennessey said he feels the Weymouth boys team and Taunton girls team will offer the biggest challenges.

"We're equal in one respect," Hennessey said. "We don't really know them, but they don't know us either."

Apaches, Panthers Tie, Manets Defeat Elks

The Quincy Youth Football League opened its 40th season Sunday night with the North Quincy Apaches and Quincy Point Panthers playing to an 8-8 tie at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the second game the Manets defeated the Elks.

There was no scoring until the fourth quarter in the Apache-Panther game. After the Apaches capitalized on a Panther fumble, Sean Ne scored to give NQ the lead. The Apaches added the two-point conversion.

There were only two minutes to play but the Panthers marched down the field on some fine passing by Jonathan Gangi who tossed to David Gungui to get into Apache territory and three plays later with 45 seconds to play, Gangi rolled into the end zone. Kevin Schneider took a pass to tie the score.

The Panthers came close in the second quarter driving to the two-yard line but the Apaches held.

Mike Caporale stood out on defense for the Panthers, while Derek Epps and Mike Koski played fine two-way games for North Quincy.

Sunday night the Elks will meet the Apaches at 6 and the Manets will face the Sailors at 7:30 at the stadium.

The league will hold its annual tag day the weekends of Sept. 21-22 and 29-30.

Council Commendation Highlights Morrisette Baseball Dinner

A commendation from the Quincy City Council highlighted the annual Morrisette Legion baseball dinner held at the post recently.

The commendation, congratulating the team for its outstanding season, was read and presented to manager Ray Cattaneo by Ray Dunn, longtime coach of the Quincy Firemen of the Babe Ruth League and brother-in-law of council president Ted DeCristofaro.

Cattaneo was master of ceremonies and introduced the head table guests, Commander Joseph Correnti, who congratulated the team and read a letter from past National Commander John "Jake" Comer, who is attending the national convention in Indianapolis; post chaplain Ed Boland, who gave the invocation; athletic officer Frank Osborne, former Morrisette player Dan Marini, the guest speaker; coach Dave Perdios, assistant coach Tom Malvesti, scorer-statistician Richard "Berger" Ryan and Tom Sullivan of the Quincy Sun.

Marini, who played for Morrisette in 1966, graduated from Penn. State University and played in the Boston Park League for 17 years.

Cattaneo introduced several post members, parents and other supporters of the team. A special guest was veteran umpire Jack Hennessy.

"Jack is the only umpire to throw me out of a game and he did it twice," said Cattaneo, who coached Morrisette for 17 years.

Perdios thanked the players for their dedication and said,

"This was the most enjoyable season of my coaching career."

"We are going to expand our alumni program and I urge you players who are graduating to come back and help out in this program," Perdios said.

"Our first alumni game was a big success and we plan to make it an annual event. We are also planning several other alumni events and I hope all of Morrisette's former players will join up."

The players, who posted a 23-6 record this year, tied for first place in Zone 6 and just missed making the state championship finals, were presented jackets and team photos.

Before about 1800, there were no separately designed shoes for right and left feet.

Theme At Realtors Rally:

Home Ownership More Affordable Now

In an effort to restore consumer confidence and raise consciousness of South Shore residents to the advantages of home ownership, several hundred realtors, business leaders and local officials rallied in front of City Hall last Friday.

Sponsored by the Plymouth County and Quincy-South Shore Board of Realtors, the rally was entitled, "Gateway to the South Shore—Bridge to Bridge."

The rally culminated the "Yes, You Can" campaign started by the realty boards in January. It also kicked off a South Shore Homebuyers Seminar to be held Nov. 17 at the Sheraton-Tara in Braintree.

The seminar is being co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Housing Partnership.

Realtors, many of them holding signs depicting homes for sale on the South Shore for under $150,000, chanted, "Rates are down, prices are right, bridge to bridge, just pick a town," and "Everyone should own a home, a simple place to call your own." Each chant was punctuated with a rousing "Yes, you can, yes you can."

Among the featured speakers were Mayor James Sheets, J. Thomas Marquis, president of the Massachusetts Association of Realtors; K. Prescott Low, publisher of the Patriot Ledger; Ronald Zoolek, executive director of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; and F. Lawrence Corcoran, president of the Massachusetts Association of Mortgage Brokers.

With a wide selection of homes throughout the South Shore combined with stable prices and mortgage rates, the speakers emphasized now is a good time for first-time buyers to enter the market and for current owners to "buy-up."

Despite a lagging economy, the realtors said market conditions are such that home ownership is more affordable now than in recent years.

"We went through for so long being a seller's market. Clearly, the real estate industry changed and we don't want to kid anyone about that," Marquis said. "But the fact is, there really is a silver lining."

"Now is the best time not only for first-time home buyers to get into the market, but also for buy-ups," he said, adding there is a "window of opportunity" for buyers because there are stable prices, stable mortgage rates and a wide selection of homes throughout the South Shore.

"Let's not miss that opportunity to get those people into the housing market now because those people who buy today will be part of the communities and these will be the people who will be able to buy up in the community in coming years making real estate so good for them," Marquis said.

The MAR president also said a healthy real estate market makes a healthy economy. He noted statistics show that 25 to 50 percent of the cost of a home is spent in a local community within the first 24 months.

The owners do business at such places as hardware, appliance and department stores.

"Make no mistake—a healthy real estate market makes a healthy economy," Marquis said.

Sheets said the mayors, selectmen and other elected officials throughout the South Shore have "an obligation to promote the positive aspects of their cities and towns in order to draw people in to buy and to live in those locations."

The mayor, who called Quincy one of the best communities in the state to live, declared, "I think it's time for all of us in elected office... to begin promoting the positive and begin selling the great attributes which exist on the South Shore.

"I applaud your efforts. I applaud your optimism. I applaud the fact that you are here because you believe in the future. I believe in the same future," Sheets told the realtors and business leaders adding he wants to make Quincy the most liveable city in the United States.

In fact, the mayor said Quincy has all the "ingredients essential to provide people a good way of life."

He noted Quincy's proximity to Boston, accessibility, two colleges, fine public school system and historical significance.

"We have to sell what we have because what we have is worth selling and we haven't done as well as we should and we're going to do it, yes we can," Sheets shouted.

The mayor said now is the time to make plans for the future. "These are the times that we have to make the plans for the future. These are the times that we must make the decisions to make our cities and our towns a better place to live, better than they are now."

MAYOR JAMES SHEETS told several hundred realtors and business leaders that elected officials throughout the South Shore have "an obligation to promote positive aspects of their cities and towns in order to draw people in and to live in those locations."

Re/Max Of South Shore Relocates Headquarters

In order to adequately handle the expanding real estate business, Re/Max of the South Shore Realtors has relocated to a larger headquarters at 585 Washington St. (Rte. 3A), Quincy.

The building was formerly known as the John Hancock Insurance Building.

After more than five years in Quincy Center, "larger quarters were needed to adequately handle the expanding real estate business," said Judy Hemingway, broker and owner of Re/Max of the South Shore.

Quincy Savings Bank helped finance the acquisition, Hemingway noted.

Staiti Calls For County Action Against Incinerator

Norfolk County Commissioner candidate Richard R. Staiti (D) has called for county involvement and action against the proposed Clean Harbors toxic waste incinerator at Fore River in East Braintree near the Quincy line.

Stating the site will burn over $5 million pounds per year of some of the most hazardous wastes and toxic chemicals known to man and these contaminants through emissions, can affect areas up to 40 miles away from the site, Staiti said this proposal is regional in nature and must be addressed by county officials.

"The proposed site not only will have a devastating effect on the people of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth, but will also have an impact on the quality of life on surrounding towns as well. Since the majority of these towns are in Norfolk County, I feel that the commissioner as the chief executive officer of the county should and must be involved in this proposal," Staiti said.

"The experience I gained as a selectman in Canton fighting the MWRA proposed sludge siting process, I am ready to utilize for the people of Norfolk County. While no one doubts the need for a facility of this type, we have serious misgivings about the safety of the citizens and the other related issues that will arise if this facility is built on this location," Staiti added.

sioner I would be involved with both local and state officials in this process. I will bring a new perspective to the office and most importantly in this area, to this problem. I am confident that given your support, we can demonstrate the problems with this proposal, the adverse regional effects it will have, and we can succeed in stopping its construction."

CERASOLI RECEIVES TAXPAYERS' ENDORSEMENT

The CLT Committee, the political arm of Citizens for Limited Taxation, has endorsed Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli for State Representative in the 3rd Norfolk District.

Rep. Cerasoli has worked hard to restore fiscal accountability to Massachusetts government. These are difficult times and we need elected officials like Bob, who displayed courage and ingenuity on behalf of the taxpayers.

There is nothing wrong with voting for an incumbent representative with a record of accomplishment and integrity.

As Chairman of the House Post Audit Committee, Rep. Cerasoli worked hard to identify areas of waste and abuse in state government. If his ideas for serious cuts and savings had been adopted, the commonwealth would be in better shape today.

After the House leadership rejected his creative ideas for saving taxpayers money, he was asked to vote for higher taxes or resign his chairmanship. He chose to resign.

For these reasons, Bob Cerasoli is one incumbent who deserves re-election. He understands the economy and knows where to look for better fiscal management, and the most important thing is that he tells the truth about what he sees.

A Record 57.3% Voter Turnout In Quincy

JOHN SILBER DEMOCRAT
GOVERNOR

WILLIAM F. WELD REPUBLICAN

Silber, Weld In Upset

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Democrat John Silber narrowly lost Quincy but won the state and Republican William Weld swept both the city and Massachusetts to win their respective gubernatorial nominations in Tuesday's primaries.

They will face each other in the final election Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Silber, the president of Boston University on leave, lost to former Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy by 379 votes here in the Democratic primary for governor. Silber received 9,740 votes or 48 percent while Bellotti polled 10,119 votes or 50 percent. Evelyn Murphy, who bowed out of the race last week, received 412 votes or two percent in Quincy.

However, Silber shocked Bellotti in other areas of the state in what many political observers consider to be one of the biggest political upsets in state history.

A political newcomer who had been behind in the polls in recent weeks, Silber surged ahead of Bellotti to win by a projected seven percent. Bellotti was endorsed at the State Democratic Convention.

With 42 percent of the state precincts reporting in at press time, Silber had 208,617 or 52 percent of the vote while Bellotti had 178,949 or 45 percent. Murphy had 11,909 or three percent.

In the GOP primary, Weld, a former U.S. Attorney who had closed the gap in the polls during the campaign's final days, easily turned back Rep. Steven Pierce of Westfield by a projected 15 percent.

With 47 percent of the precincts reporting at press time, Weld had 98,835 or 59 percent of the vote compared to Pierce who had 69,236 or 41 percent.

In Quincy, Weld received 3,284 or 57 percent of the vote, Pierce polled 2,551 or 43 percent.

City Clerk John Gillis said 27,325 voters or 57.3 percent turned out Tuesday. He said that is the highest turnout in Quincy for a state primary in history.

At press time, other projected winners for statewide office were Jim Rappaport, Marjorie Clapprood, A. Paul Cellucci, Scott Harshbarger, William Sawyer and William Galvin.

Locally, it appeared State Representatives Robert Cerasoli and Steve Tobin were on their way to winning the Democratic primary in their respective districts.

In the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, Clapprood was projected the winner over State Senator William Golden of Weymouth and Nicholas Paleologos of Woburn.

Clapprood will meet A. Paul Cellucci, a state senator from Hudson, in the final election. Cellucci, who ran as

First Phase Of Historic Lighting Fixtures Sold

By JANE ARENA

Residents, businesses and civic organizations have purchased all 42 of the historic lighting fixtures for the first phase of the downtown revitalization lighting program, according to Mayor James Sheets.

"We're thrilled," he said Monday. "We think the whole program has gone extraordinarily well."

A "sample light" will likely be available for display within ten days, he said.

The mayor asked the private sector to sponsor the cost of the lighting fixtures for the sum of $2,500 each.

Last week he expressed hopes that all 42 would be sponsored by Oct. 1. As of Monday, all of them had been accounted for.

for the first phase, who were expected to contact the mayor this week might need to sponsor a light for phase two of the project, he said.

Phase one of the project will include lighting from Granite Street, around the United First Parish Church, from the driveway at Quincy College, up to Saville Avenue.

The total cost for the lights, all of which has been pledged and some of which has already been received by the city, is $105,000. The mayor said the rest of the donated money is expected within the next couple of weeks.

The city will pay for the installation of the lights and for maintenance, he said. The city's cost for phase one of the project will be about $66,000, he said.

The City Council is expected to approve an appropriation of the sum at its next scheduled meeting.

Ten bids, which include the lights and the installation, have been received, he said. The bids are currently being reviewed and the Mayor expects to award the winning bid within ten days.

"They're all good bids," he said. "They are about where we thought they would be."

The lowest bid is for $171,690 and the highest is for $224,802.

At this rate, the mayor is confident that the first phase will be in place for the Christmas parade Nov. 25.

"The program has been a fantastic success," he said. "It's been a lot of hard work, but hard work that has paid off ... once people see the new lighting there will be a resurgence of enthusiasm of our historical heritage."

The License Board Tuesday continued for one week a hearing concerning delinquent personal property taxes, totaling $4,114.42, owed by Nicholas Devincentis, doing business as Mikes Auto Repair.

The taxes owed are from 1975 to 1986.

This is the second time the board has continued the matter. On Sept. 4 it was continued for two weeks and the board directed Devincentis to meet with City Treasurer Dana Childs to coordinate a six month payment plan to the city. The payments would be $685 per month.

On Tuesday Devincentis told the board he had not yet met with Childs because he "got lost in the communications." He said he thought Childs would contact him.

The Board said Devincentis has a responsibility to meet with Childs and make an effort to coordinate a payment plan.

Acting chairman, Fire Chief O'Connell said if no payment plan is planned by next week, the board will have to begin to "deal with the license."

He said the position of the board has to be that the taxes are paid or the Auto Repair license will be suspended.

Devincentis has owned the company since 1986 when the license was transferred to him from his father, Mike Devincentis. Mike Devincentis owned the business since 1942.

The board noted the payment of the taxes is the responsibility of the current holder of the license.

"The city renders services," Chief O'Connell said, "but there is a fee involved in the form of taxes. The taxes must be paid."

Devincentis acknowledged the responsibility is his, but explained he cannot pay the back taxes under a six month plan because he doesn't have the means for the monthly payments of $685.

Idea In 'Discussion Phase' Mayor Mulls Removing Downtown Parking Meters

By JANE ARENA

Mayor James Sheets was expected to discuss the possibility of removing all parking meters from Quincy Center at Wednesday's meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

The concept, designed to attract more shoppers to Quincy Center, would also eliminate the problem of "meter feeders" in the center, Sheets said.

However, removing the meters would pose a serious financial concern for the city.

The parking meter system brings in between $150,000 and $200,000 in annual revenue to the city, money which is used in the city's general fund and for employee salaries, the mayor said Monday.

"That's another hard part of the problem," he said. "That's a lot of money for the city."

The parking meter system would be replaced with another parking regulations, another parking regulation, he said, possibly the implementation of a one or two hour parking limit with meter maids chalking the tires of vehicles to keep track of the limit.

The mayor noted a new parking system would have to be in place to prevent people from parking in the center all day while they work.

"We have to make sure that a replacing system doesn't create the same kind of problems," he said. "We have to make sure that whatever we do is well thought out."

The concept is one of several steps designed to make Quincy Center more attractive to shoppers and tourists, the mayor said, and one which he expects merchants to support. However, he added, the idea is just in the discussion phase now.

At this point, Sheets said, he wants to let the merchants know that the concept is "something on the table that we're looking at."

According to David Kincom, traffic engineer for the Quincy Police Department, there are approximately 350 on-street parking meters in Quincy Center and another 50 meters on the lower level parking garage of Quincy Center Plaza.

The mayor also plans to discuss other short-term goals for the downtown revitalization project at Wednesday's meeting. Those topics include security in the downtown area, the beautification efforts and solutions to dealing with the litter problem downtown, the progress of the historical lighting project, and the general time frame in which the entire revitalization process will be completed.

"I hope to have an action plan ready by February which will spell out exactly what we hope to do with the downtown revitalization," he said.

The entire project, which the mayor expects could take anywhere from 5 to 9 years, is broken down into immediate short-term goals, intermediate goals and long term goals.

The topics he expected to discuss Wednesday, including the elimination of parking meters in the Center, are considered short-term goals.

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

We're Together

Henry Bosworth is on vacation this week. In his place, Mayor James A. Sheets has written the Sunbeam's column.

Standing at the window of my office, as I look at the First Parish Church, I am constantly reminded of our rich and beautiful history. Yet, while the majesty of the Church of Presidents gives a sense of permanence and continuity with history, all around it there is change.

The second building of President's Place is almost complete, and, soon, 300 workers of Harvard Community Health, Inc. will move into the building giving it new life. The traffic changes designed to control vehicular and pedestrian traffic, and to create a safer area, will soon be complete. New trees, tree grates, and historic lights, along with more grass and flowers, will enhance the beauty of our heritage.

Yet, within this panorama of change, one thing remains constant — it's the people. I watch them scurrying to work or to do their shopping — mothers pushing their baby carriages — senior citizens carrying bundles of newly-purchased items — two or three people gathering to watch a new section of sidewalk concrete being poured. I suspect in the days of John Adams and John Hancock that it was much the same.

Too often, those of us in elected office, and those who work for government, forget who it is we work for and who pays the bills. This great City and Country were built by the people, people who came here from every country in the world. Those of us who have been elected by them, or who work for them, whether they be a police officer, firefighter, school teacher or mayor, are privileged.

My first eight months as Mayor have taught me much. These have not been easy times, but they have been months when people have come together, and I want to say "Thank You."

You citizens have made the City cleaner and greener. Over 1,500 of you participated in the spring clean-up and over 45 groups and associations organized their members for the clean-up. It continues. Only yesterday I received a letter from Noreen Adukonis and her troop of six Brownie/Girl Scouts. They would like to adopt the small park on the top of South Central Avenue, to plant some tulips and keep the park clean. There will be more groups volunteering and more people helping.

There is no more striking example of the importance of people than recycling. Yes, volunteers, the Recycling Committee, Councillors Chretien and Kolson, Mayors Frank McCauley and Jim Sheets played a role, but it's the people who put the blue bins out each and every day.

Quincy has become a recycling model for other cities and towns to follow. They visit us from all over the State. On Friday, Selectman Paul Connors, from Randolph, rode with me on the recycling truck. He wanted to see how Quincy recycles. He did! It was the people putting out the blue bins. It was the businessman who, with a briefcase in one hand and a blue bin in the other, rushed out to the car to go to work. It was the working mother, hurrying out to take the kids to school, who suddenly realized she forgot to put the blue bin out, and went running back in the house to get it. It was the senior citizen who carefully arranged the newspapers and then washed out glass and plastic containers for the blue bin and carefully placed it out the night before the pick-up. It was the pre-schooler who jumped up and down at the window screaming "Mommy, Mommy, it's the recycle truck."

People ask me, "Mayor, why do you ride the recycling truck?" "Why do you insist on visiting each neighborhood?" I could tell them it's to emphasize the importance of recycling as a conservation measure and that would be true. I could tell them it was to save money and that would certainly be true. For each ton of recyclables we take out of the waste stream, we save $76.00 by not having to transport and bury it in the East Bridgewater Landfill. This fiscal year alone we could save well over $250,000.

But, the real reason I ride the truck one morning a week is to say "Thank You." When I look out the front window of the truck and view the stretch of blue bins I see more than blue plastic filled with plastic and glass bottles and yesterday's old newspapers. I see a City coming together. I feel the strength of Quincy, the strength of its people and I am grateful.

Comments Quincy For 'Happy Holidays' Banner

Editor, The Quincy Sun,
I would like to take issue with the letter printed in the Sept. 13 issue from Father John McMahon, re: the holiday banners in the City of Quincy.

I think Father McMahon has shown great insensitivity to those of us who do not celebrate Christmas. Since many people celebrate various holidays during that season of the year, it is only appropriate that the banners in the City of Presidents read

"Happy Holidays." Everyone, of course, can extend greetings in whatever fashion he or she wishes and I'm sure no one takes offense but appreciates the thought behind the greeting.

I would like to commend Quincy for caring enough about all of its citizens to have changed the banners to read "Happy Holidays."

INSURANCE - THE MYSTERY UNCOVERED
Insurance has been termed a social device whereby the insurer agrees to meet certain stated risks in return for a financial consideration paid by the insured.

Many years ago, insurance purchasers shopped for the cheapest premium playing one company against another. Gradually, the companies began to realize that co-operative efforts would be beneficial to all. Thus, rate-making entities or underwriters associations, as we know them today, became established. To ensure the fairness of the rate structure, state legislation has come into play with statutes being enacted requiring the supervision of rates, policies and underwriting practices by the state department and superintendents of insurance.

Rates are determined by the central association following the receipt of statistics covering the premium income and loss experience by different lines of insurance. Rates are then set on the basis of the total experience of the various member companies.

Increasing insurance rates are a problem for all of us but it is important to bear in mind that rate reductions depend almost entirely on the carefulness of the insured. It is indeed a given — when claims rise, so must premiums.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-8200 or stop by our office at 1080 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Tired All the Time?
Doctors used to dismiss it as psychosomatic ailment, but recent research has shown that chronic fatigue syndrome is an actual disease. It appears to be a complex illness involving a dysfunction in the immune system and specific abnormalities in the brain. Characterized by almost paralyzing fatigue and flu-like symptoms such as night sweats, joint and muscle pain, as well as memory loss and difficulty in concentration, the illness appears over the course of several weeks and may last for years. It is believed that a virus, specifically HHV-6, may be one of several triggers. Exposure to solvents or pesticides and physical or emotional trauma may also bring on the disease. For our upcoming columns Chronic Fatigue and Immune dysfunction to health care.

If you are suffering from any of the symptoms described in today's column, call your family doctor, or call COMPREHENSIVE CARDIAC CARE at 472-2550. Friends Coming To Aid He's Only 15 Months But Jon Has Been Through An Awful Lot

Jon Mezzetti is 15 months old and he's been through an awful lot for someone so young.

When he was just 8 months old, he began to suffer terrible headaches and earaches. He had trouble focusing his right eye. He would wake up crying in the middle of the night, holding his head on the right side.

His parents Stephen and Cheryl Mezzetti, who recently moved from Quincy to Weymouth, took him to the doctors but they were afraid to give the baby a brain scan at so young an age.

Some months later though, Jon's parents took him to Children's Hospital in Boston and had a brain scan done. Doctors there found a large tumor on the right side.

A subsequent operation found it to be partially cancerous.

The baby has undergone two operations and was in and out of the hospital for several weeks.

His two older brothers, Michael and Anthony, missed him but were later able to visit him at the hospital.

Today Jon undergoes chemotherapy treatment at the hospital every week. He is on medication to give him bulk. He's lost about 10 percent of his sight in his right eye, and he's been fitted with partially external apparatus which aids in draining fluid from his brain.

When he's older and better able to handle it, Jon will begin radiation treatment. Some doctors have said there's a 40 to 50 percent chance that he'll make it to then. Other doctors say his chances are 80 percent.

Today, Jon is home for most of the time and is a happy baby who smiles and laughs a lot, says his uncle, John Mezzetti, owner of O'Lindy's Bowling Alley.

Aside from scars on his head, the worst part are the baby's memories of the hospital. He doesn't like seeing anyone dressed in white, Uncle John says.

But it has been hard on the family, both emotionally and financially.

Stephen is an employee of Continental Cablevision in Quincy and was allowed substantial time off during his son's operation and hospital stay. The company has also been able to adjust his work schedule so that he can take Jon to his weekly chemotherapy visits.

"They've been really excellent about everything," John says. "It's helped a lot."

But, especially financially, the young family needs more help.

Both John and Stephen Mezzetti are longtime members of the Adams Heights Mens Club, well known and well liked.

When they found out about the baby's illness, a group of members organized a committee, began raising money, and are now looking forward to an auction/fundraiser which has taken shape beyond anyone's expectations.

JON MEZZETTI, shown with Mom, Cheryl, at the Adams Heights Men's Club Fourth of July Field Day at Faxon Park. Jon, who suffers from a brain tumor, will benefit from a fundraising auction-party to be held at the club Saturday, Sept. 22.

The event, to be held Saturday, Sept. 22 beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Adams Heights Men's Club, will be a combination dance, comedy show and auction.

A $2.50 admission price includes a chance to win an all expense paid weekend on Cape Cod which will be raffled off during the evening.

Some 230 items, all donated by either individuals or area merchants, will be up for bid as well.

Among the highlights: an autographed Celtics' basketball, donated by the team; a hockey stick signed by Ray Bourque and an official New Kids On The Block tour jacket signed by Donnie Wahlberg, donated by an anonymous donor.

Other items include an old-fashioned jukebox, complete with vintage records, a pool table, hand-made quilts, baseball cards, jewelry, antiques and weekend getaway vacations to Cape Cod.

The money will be used to offset some of Jon's medical costs for the operations, and to help pay for his chemotherapy and continued hospital visits. An account will also be established for any medical needs as he gets older.

"We don't have a goal set," John says. "We just want to raise as much as we can to help him."

Members at the Mens Club have already begun raising money, he adds. For example, two members, both lobstermen have been raffling off part of their catch at the club weekly. There is also a donation jar at the club every week.

Already over $4,000 has been raised for the Jon Mezzetti Fund. After the auction, the fund stands to grow even more.

When a child is ill, money should never be the main concern, and thanks to the efforts of Adams Heights Men's Club members and many others, for Stephen and Cheryl Mezzetti, it won't have to be.

Dennison Airport Marks 8th Year

Dennison Airport in North Quincy celebrated its eighth anniversary with 10 planes based at the field, five of them used to rookie air travelers on brief spins around Boston Harbor.

"We have really been missionaries for the airlines," said Manager Hal Martin.

"Persons who have never flown before come down here for a short hop and then when they want to make a trip of any distance," they turn to the airlines without the slightest hint of hesitation.

"It is not unusual for us to fly 1,000 persons over a weekend on short hops."

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Zucchini Sauce And Zucchini Stew

Two of our daughters called one day, and both had recipes for me which contained zucchini, but are quite different. Ann Marie made her recipe from vegetables in her garden. Suzie's recipe is for a zucchini stew.

ANN MARIE'S ZUCCHINI SAUCE

1 large zucchini (shredded)
2 large fresh tomatoes
2 cloves of garlic
olive oil for saute
1 Lb. spinach pasta
(she used Rotini) a spiral pasta
2 Tbsp fresh basil (or jarred equivalent) grated cheese (any kind)
salt & pepper to taste

Cut the fresh tomatoes in slices and saute the garlic, shredded zucchini and tomatoes in the hot olive oil. Add the salt and pepper and basil. It cooks so quickly you'll be pleased. Of course you can make the sauce while your pasta is cooking.

Then pour the sauce over the spinach pasta and the grated cheese. The color is superb and the taste the same!

SUE'S ZUCCHINI STEW

1 large zucchini
1 medium sized egg plant
1 can crushed tomatoes
2 cloves of garlic
1 medium onion (sliced)
1/2 Lb. large fresh mushrooms (cut in halves)
some fresh basil and parsley salt & pepper

Cut the eggplant and zucchini in squares (bite size). In hot oil, saute the garlic, onion and then add the rest of the ingredients gradually. It takes about 30 minutes or so. Sue pours this over white rice, but it can be served as a side dish with anything.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

LOOKS AS IF Moly Brierley and her brother, Tim, would like some of that cotton candy that Allison Downs and Kathryn Sarah MacRitchie are enjoying during Squantum School's recent Field Day. Proceeds will benefit construction of a new community playground.

Quincy Kiwanis Meets Needs Of Community

Quincy Kiwanis Club president Robert Bunstein recently announced that the Quincy chapter raised $27,000 to help Quincy organizations and individuals.

Kiwanis raised most of the money by sponsoring the International Youth Hockey Tournament in February and the Golf Tournament in June.

The Kiwanis International theme is "Service To Others." The club recently presented $10,000 to the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center in Boston.

About $4,950 was given to individuals and families. Their needs were brought to the attention of the club's Major Emphasis Committee by Quincy school counselors.

Other major contributions included $4,000 for scholarships, $3,500 for YMCA camperships, $1,500 to Quincy Youth Hockey.

Other recipients included, American Red Cross, Quincy Crisis Center, Father Bill's Place, Quincy Youth Junior Baseball, Quincy Teen Mothers, Quincy After School Day Care, Open Door For Teens, Handy Kids, Quincy Community Action, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army and the Quincy Adopt an Island program. The club adopted three traffic islands at Adams and Whitwell Sts. and beautified them with flowers.

New officers of the Quincy Kiwanis Club will be installed in a ceremony at the Neighborhood Club Thursday, Sept. 27. Installing officer will be the new Lt. Governor of Division 8, Stephen Culler of Hingham. New officers include: Harry Jones, president; Ralph Yobe, president-elect; Charles Simpson, vice president; Aldo Saluti, treasurer; Sylvia Jenkins, secretary; Board of Directors for two years:

James Nichols, Richard Coleman and Walter Martinson, Board of Director for one year, Ronald K. Hardy, Allan J. MacDonald, Dr. Gary Nankin and James F. Stearns, Jr.

The Kiwanis Club of Quincy is celebrating its 66th year, just nine years younger than Kiwanis International, established in 1915. The club meets Wednesdays at the Neighborhood Club at 12:15 p.m. Membership is open to men and women interested in assisting their community in meeting their needs.

DID YOU EVER HEAR OF ANYONE WHO SWITCHED TO OIL HEAT?

Probably not.

And there are some very good reasons why most people convert to gas heat instead of oil heat.

Natural gas supplies are more dependable and controllable. Because they come from right here in North America. And many experts predict these supplies will last for years to come.

Natural gas prices are more stable. They don't fluctuate like oil prices do.

Gas is considerably cleaner. And that makes it better for the environment.

There's no bulky tank to contend with either. And no waiting for a truck to make fuel deliveries.

Gas heating equipment is exceptionally efficient, too. That's important because now more than ever, we all need to conserve energy as much as possible. Since gas equipment also requires very few moving parts, there's very little that can break down.

So if you're considering updating or replacing your heating equipment, contact Boston Gas and your local heating/plumbing contractor or one of those listed below. After all, there are millions of other people every year who wouldn't hear of anything else.

Evelyn Seron Helped Catch Nazi Spy

A funeral Mass for Evelyn (Coyle) Seron of Quincy, who once helped capture a Nazi spy, was celebrated Tuesday at St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mrs. Seron died Sept. 13 of cancer at Quincy Hospital. She worked as an inspector at the Hood Rubber Co. in Watertown from 1941 to 1946. The plant was producing gas masks, aviator boots and parachutes for the military. She spotted a gas mask that appeared to have been tampered with and reported it to superiors.

The report led to the capture of a woman, A. Nazi spy, who was damaging products in an effort to hinder the U.S. war effort.

A talented artist, she studied privately and produced many pastels and watercolors for her own enjoyment and for her family. She did landscapes, portraits and figure studies.

She enjoyed dancing with her late husband, Stanley J. Seron. They spent a lot of time at the Lithuanian Club in Stoughton and at the Polish American Club for Dancing in South Boston. Mrs. Seron especially liked the polka.

Her dancing skills prompted an invitation from bandleader Guy Lombardo to join him at his table during one of his Boston tours. He saw the Serons moving across the dance floor and asked them to sit with him.

In the 1930s, she was active in a federally sponsored youth dance program in Dorchester designed to put artists, photographers and others to work.

Mrs. Seron was a volunteer for the United Service Organizations during World War II.

She enjoyed fishing, hiking and climbing hills.

Born in Arlington Heights, Mrs. Seron grew up in Dorchester. She was a 1937 graduate of Dorchester Girls High School and earned an associate degree at Harvard University Evening Business School.

She was a runner-up in the 1936 Miss Greater Boston Beauty Pageant.

After her marriage in 1946 she lived in Dorchester until moving to Quincy in 1953.

She is survived by two sons, Richard J. Seron of Boston and Steven J. Seron of Arlington; a brother, Eugene Coyle of Milton; and a sister, Helen Coyle-Maschino of Marshfield.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St.,

John Toland, 58 QHA Painting Foreman

JOHN TOLAND

A funeral Mass for John "Jack" Toland, 58, of Quincy, a painting foreman for the Quincy Housing Authority since 1986, will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mr. Toland died Sept. 15 at New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

He was the husband of Patricia M. (Nagle) Toland, a former School Committee member, an at-large councillor and chairman of the finance committee.

"We are very saddened about his death," said City Council President Ted DeCristofaro. "He was well liked and went with Pat to all the special functions the council attended in the past eight years. We always enjoyed his company."

Mayor James A. Sheets remembered Mr. Toland as a person who made it possible for his wife to give many hours of public service. "It's obviously a tremendous loss for the family. Jack was always so supportive of Pat's efforts on behalf of the people of the city and also on behalf of the different beautification projects that she's been involved in."

As a maintenance man, Sheets said Mr. Toland was very sensitive to people and their needs.

A native of Boston, Mr. Toland graduated from Trade High School in Somerville.

A Navy veteran of the Korean War, he served from 1952 to 1956.

He was also a certified underwriter for the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. for several years. Before working for the housing authority, he worked temporarily for the planning board under a community block grant development program administered by the board.

Mr. and Mrs. Toland moved to Quincy in 1964 from Randolph, where she had been a school teacher.

Mr. Toland was a member of the Quincy American Legion Post and the Painters Union District Council Local 35.

Toland, all of Quincy; two brothers, Albert Toland of Medford and Daniel Toland of Manchester, N.H.; three sisters, Lorraine Minichello of Medford, Dorothy Shaw of Atlanta and Bernadette Gerald of Somerville; 19 nieces and nephews and several grandchildren and grandnephews. He was the father of the late Gregory P. Toland who died in March 1989.

Contributions may be made to charity.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

D. Scott Deware

BE YOURSELF ... There are many people who go through life not knowing who they really are. They go through life imitating other people and never really live up to their own innate abilities and talents.

There is a story about advice Irving Berlin gave George Gershwin, when Gershwin was a struggling young composer in New York. Berlin offered Gershwin a job as his musical secretary. Yet in the next breath he said: "But don't take the job. If you do, you may develop into a second-rate Berlin. But if you insist on being yourself, someday you'll become a first-rate Gershwin." And we all know what happened to George Gershwin. He went on to become one of America's great composers of his generation ...

Dale Carnegie puts it another way ... "All art is autobiographical. You can sing only what you are. You can paint only what you are. You must be what your experiences your environment, and your heredity have made you. For better or for worse, you must cultivate your own little garden. For better or for worse, you must play your own little instrument in the orchestra of life." Good advice? We think so. Why not try it? Next week we will comment more on Being Yourself. Watch for it. You will find it interesting ...

Traditions Grow With Each Generation.

Back in 1931, Joe Sweeney joined his Uncle Dennis to help renovate the newly acquired funeral home on Elm Street. Originally a cabinetmaker by trade, Joe soon became the second-generation link in a family-owned tradition. One of instinctive and genuine concern for the city's bereaved families.

After the home's renovations were complete, Joe began assisting with services and went on to become a funeral director in 1941. When Dennis Sweeney died in 1948, it was to Joe that he entrusted the continuation of the Sweeney Tradition.

Well-liked in Quincy, Mr. Joseph Sweeney not only respected the customs of the large Catholic population, but also those of newcomers in the Protestant and Moslem communities. In 1962, he acquired the Elcock Estate, circa 1863, in West Quincy to better serve the residents in that growing area of the city.

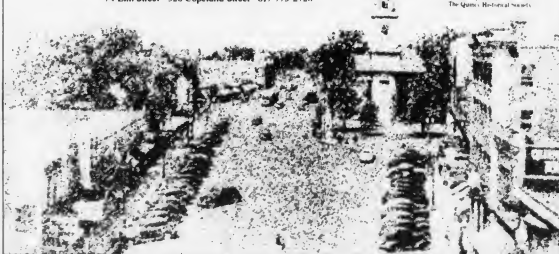

Since 1917, Sweeney Funeral Homes have been responding to the needs of South Shore residents — whatever they were. As early as 1940, we began offering pre-planning as a way for wise Quincy residents to plan their future.

Today, with funeral costs one of the top five major expenses for most families, pre-arrangements make better sense than ever before. Call Dennis Sweeney, our third-generation funeral director, at (617) 773-2728 for a free consultation. We've been helping South Shore residents with difficult decisions for over 70 years.

a team with Weld, defeated Peter G. Torkildsen in the GOP primary according to projections at press time.

In the Democratic primary for attorney general Middlesex County District Attorney Scott Harshbarger upset incumbent James Shannon.

In the Republican attorney general race, William Sawyer led Guy Carbone by a slim margin at press time. The winner will face Harshbarger in the final election.

In the three-way race for state treasurer in the Democratic primary, State Senator William Galvin of Boston defeated House Speaker George Keeverian of Everett and State Senator Dick Kraus of Arlington. With 55 percent of the precincts reporting, Galvin led a healthy lead with 243,154 or 50 percent of the vote.

Galvin will meet Republican Joseph Malone in the fall election. Malone ran unopposed in the GOP primary for treasurer.

In the Republican primary for U.S. Senate, Jim Rappaport was the projected winner over businessman Dan Daly of Hingham. With 50 percent of the precincts reporting, Rappaport had 110,020 votes or 66 percent. Daly had 56,392 or 34 percent.

With his win, Rappaport will face Incumbent John Kerry in the final election. Kerry ran unopposed in the Democratic primary.

After Bellotti phoned Silber and conceded at 11 p.m., Silber delivered his acceptance speech at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston before 1500 supporters.

"Frank offered his support and I'm glad to accept it. I am grateful for his support. He has a distinguished record of public service. He's a man whose voice will continue to be heard," Silber told his jubilant supporters.

"Together, we will win in November. For those who voted for me, today your voice was loud and clear."

Silber said.

Michael Rugenberg, Silber's press secretary, said the nominee's strong showing in last Tuesday's televised debate "absolutely helped him." He noted 900,000 viewers tuned in.

Rugenberg also said the large Independent vote figured in Silber's victory. "Overwhelming numbers were taking Democratic ballots, and not to vote for Bellotti."

Bellotti attributed his loss in part to the changing political climate in Massachusetts. "It's been a very, very hard campaign and losing is never easy," Bellotti told supporters.

Accepting the nomination, Weld said he and Cellucci offer a "responsible Republican alternative" to some "pretty deep changes that need to be made" in Massachusetts.

Weld, who lost the GOP state convention endorsement to Pierce last spring, said hard work and strong showings in television debates contributed to his win.

Weld also used his acceptance speech to launch his campaign against the Silber-Clapprood ticket. Saying he'll concentrate on public safety, education, the environment and needy, Weld stated, "We want a state government that thinks of private industry not as an enemy, but as a source of jobs."

Locally, Cerasoli, who represents parts of Quincy and Weymouth in the Third Norfolk District, easily turned away a challenge from David Peterson of Quincy. Cerasoli received 2,772 votes or 67 percent in Quincy while Peterson polled 909 or 22 percent. There were 448 or 10 percent blanks. There were 448 or 10 percent blanks.

With his win, Cerasoli will meet Judith Balzano of Quincy in the final election. Balzano, who ran unopposed in the GOP primary, received 921 votes. There were 416 blanks cast in that primary.

Tobin, who failed to get his name on the ballot because he missed the filing deadline, received 3,374 votes through a sticker campaign to easily win the Democratic primary in the Second Norfolk District. There were 4,848 blanks cast.

On an interesting note, Tobin and Denis Tardo waged a sticker campaign in the Republican primary. Tobin polled 268 votes while Tardo, a former City Council and state representative candidate, received 237 votes.

Election officials said early Wednesday morning that Tobin has two options: he can accept both nominations or only one of the nominations.

If he accepts both, the words Democrat-Republican would appear next to his name on the ballot. By accepting both, officials say Tardo would be left off the ballot.

However, if he chooses the Democrat or Republican label, Tardo could then ask the ward committee to meet and fill the vacancy on the other ballot by using his name.

Tardo said he would consider filing for a recount.

In the Democratic primary for Norfolk County Commissioner, David Ahearn received 9909 or 47 percent in Quincy. Challenger Richard Staiti polled 5641 or 26.7 percent. There were 5566 or 26.3 percent blanks.

Due to various recounts, Quincy's returns were not known until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. (Kimberly Keyes contributed to this story)

NORTH QUINCY'S Evan Kiley picks up yardage in win over Somerset as he eludes a would-be tackler.

Raiders Seek Second Win At Falmouth

Sun Sports

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team, fresh from an impressive 21-0 victory over Somerset, will make its debut in the Old Colony League Friday night at 7 p.m. at Falmouth.

After opening against Milton the last 16 years, the Raiders faced a new opening opponent last Friday at Veterans Memorial Stadium and defeated a huge Somerset team, thanks to the heroics of junior Desmond Bellot and a brilliant defensive performance.

Falmouth showed great speed in defeating Dennis-Varnmouth, 28-21. The touchdowns came on two runs of 60 yards, a 40-yard run and a 70-yard punt return.

"We saw them in a jambooree and they have a lot of speed," said happy North Quincy coach Ken McPhee. "They are not nearly as big as Somerset but are much faster."

"I was very happy at our defense as we were greatly outweighed and the offense continues to improve. Bellot was the shining light tonight, but give our offensive line a lot of credit. Somerset is as big a team as we will face (the line averages more than 230 pounds) and the kids did an outstanding job."

Bellot, who can break any game wide open, scored two touchdowns, one on a 39-yard pass from new quarterback Mark Taylor, the other on a 72-yard punt return. He also rushed for a two-point conversion and played outstanding defense.

"I was very pleased with the way Mark Taylor ran the team at quarterback," McPhee said. "He is still learning our system but is coming along well. And he was outstanding at defensive end."

Taylor, a transfer from Braintree, was 5-for-12 for 79 yards and a touchdown.

McPhee praised the work of Mike Oliva, Adam Strout, Pat Faherty, Jason April and Mark Kelleher.

"Kelleher was on the field throughout the game," the Raider coach said. He had nine tackles.

Chris McCallum was outstanding in the line and had one of three North Quincy fumble recoveries. April and Taylor also recovered a fumble and freshman Tony Licciardi intercepted a pass.

Chris Campbell was a standout filling in at center. North rushed for 135 yards with Chris Murray carrying six times for 54 yards, Evan Kiley seven times for 37 and Mark Cocuzzo five for 19.

North held Somerset's Blue Raiders, a member of the Eastern Athletic Conference, to 76 total yards, 35 rushing and 41 passing. Somerset got into North territory only once, reaching the 35 yard line.

North drove from its 35 late in the opening quarter and scored early in the second quarter on Taylor's pass to Bellot. Sophomore Liam Higgins kicked the extra point.

Bellot provided the game's most exciting play late in the half. After having trouble picking up the ball after a punt, he raced around the right side and went 72 yards for his second touchdown.

North drove from the opening kickoff of the second half for its final score. Murray went around the right side and raced 36 yards for a touchdown. On a fake kick, Bellot, the holder, rushed for the final two points of the game.

North held Somerset to three first downs and picked up nine of its own.

The Somerset Blue Raider band, one of the finest to appear in Quincy in several years, staged a dazzling halftime show.

Quincy 22, Marshfield 14

Presidents Battle B-R Here Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team will make its Old Colony League debut Saturday when it entertains Bridgewater-Raynham Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium after opening the season with a 22-14 victory last Saturday at Marshfield.

Bridgewater-Raynham, annually an OCL power, will be opening its season against Quincy. Veteran coach Frank Almeida has several starters back and the Trojans loom as a title contender.

"Overall I was pleased with our opening performance," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "This is a good, strong Marshfield team which I think will be one of the top teams in the Atlantic Coast League."

Marshfield was an OCL member until the league realignments.

Mark Bogan, who carried the offense last year and was a two-way standout, had another good game. Contained well in the first half, he had a fine second half, carrying 15 times for 95 yards. He was again a defensive stalwart with eight tackles and two assists.

Wide receiver Chris Walker had a fine day with four receptions for 91 yards and a touchdown. Defensively he had eight tackles and two assists.

Jason Anderson carried nine times for 29 yards and quarterback Mike Flavin had an excellent game, completing 10 of 15 passes for 159 yards and a score. Dave Chapman had two key receptions for 38 yards.

"The defense played good ball after their passer (Steve Ruisi) caught us by surprise early, filling the air with passes when we expected them to run from their wishbone offense," Raymer said.

Sophomore Robby Kane, sophomore Mike Kavanaugh, Anderson, Graham Chevy, Shaun Kennedy, Chapman, Bill Reardon, and Dave Frye were defensive standouts. "We had nine sacks," Raymer said.

"The offensive line played well with Kavanaugh, Chapman, Pat Neil, Keith Norris, Chevy, Mike Tempesta and Scott Buckman all doing a fine job," Raymer said.

Kane provided two of the most exciting plays as he intercepted a pass in the end zone on a conversion attempt after Marshfield's first score and returned it 102 yards for two points. He also intercepted another pass and returned it 50 yards to the Rams' 28 to set up the first Quincy touchdown.

Quincy gained 289 yards overall, 130 rushing and 159 passing. Marshfield had 14 first downs to Quincy's 10. Quincy received to open the game but was stopped cold. After a punt Ruisi immediately took to the air and completed six of his first eight passes. He completed 15 of 33 for 169 yards and two touchdowns for the game.

The Presidents were caught by surprise and it took them some time to adjust. Ruisi passed to Sean Bogni for a six-yard touchdown.

Kane then came up with his interception and 102-yard return which seemed to give the Presidents momentum.

The Rams recovered a fumble on Quincy's 44 but Kane came up with his second interception and the Presidents were in business.

Flavin hit Bogan for 17 yards and a 23-yarder to Walker, putting Quincy on the four. Anderson scored from the one but sophomore Noel DiBona's kick for the point was wide.

In the third quarter, a 50-

yard Marshfield punt put the Presidents on their 42. After Anderson gained two, Flavin threw the flat to Walker, who broke loose and raced 55 yards to complete a 58-yard scoring play. DiBona kicked the extra point.

Quincy drove from its 40 for its final touchdown, starting late in the third quarter. Bogan's 30-yard run put Quincy on the Ram 30, Marshfield was penalized 15 yards, Flavin hit Walker for 12 yards and Bogan scored from the two. DiBona again kicked the extra point.

Marshfield roared back and, with 4:51 left, scored on a 16-yard pass from Ruisi to Matt Griffith. Ruisi passed to Bogni for the two point conversion.

Quincy held the ball until there was only 1:08 remaining.

The Rams made two first downs but three passes fell incomplete as the game ended.

Quincy JV Football Completes Marshfield Sweep

The Quincy junior varsity football team, following the lead of the varsity and freshmen teams, completed a sweep over Marshfield Monday with a convincing 29-6 victory at Marshfield.

Quincy's jayvees will host Bridgewater-Raynham next Monday at 3:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium in its Old Colony League opener.

Quincy, led by junior quarterback Pat Gallagher, took a 14-0 halftime lead at Marshfield and put the game out of reach with 15 third quarter points.

Gallagher threw back-to-back TD passes to sophomore Robby Kane and also hit tight end Mike Malvesti with a TD pass in the third quarter. Junior quarterback Joe Crespi completed the scoring with a pass to junior David Cahill. Sophomore Noel DiBona kicked two extra points and Ally Sleiman and Gallagher added two-point conversions.

Quincy had 200 yards on the ground, led by Mark Zaborowski, with 75 yards on 10 carries. Sleiman, Jason Eluteri and DiBona also ran well. Gallagher finished the day with nine for 13 for 160 yards.

Quincy's defense shut down the Marshfield wishbone, giving up only a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Former QHS Wrestler Helps Policeman Escape Street Attack

A former Quincy High School wrestler came to the aid of an MDC police officer recently when the officer was attacked at Furnace Brook Parkway near Quarry Street.

The alleged assailant, Michael Grogan, 25, of 36 Grogan Ave., was reportedly encouraged by a pair of passing teenagers as he attacked patrolman Kevin Roberts.

"I was shocked and yelled at the kids to shut up, but I think they really got the suspect going," said Edward

Ryan, 27, of 42 Grogan Ave.

wrestler for three years (1979-

81) during the Presidents' championship years under coach Carmen Mariano, pushed the assailant to the ground and held him while Roberts cuffed him. Grogan is 6'4" and 230 pounds while Roberts weighs 150 pounds.

"My wrestling training helped me," said Ryan, who twice qualified for the state tournament and was selected to the Suburban League All-Star team for two years.

"I got concerned that someone might get killed," he said. "I knew mediating wouldn't work and said to myself that I couldn't watch this anymore."

Grogan, who was treated at Quincy City Hospital as was Roberts, was charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, a shoot foot; assault and battery on a police officer and disorderly conduct.

Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ryan of 113 Common St., was the bat boy for the Morrisette Legion baseball team from 1971 to 1978 and accompanied the team to the Legion World Series in Rapid City, North Dakota in 1975.

He is the owner and operator of the Ed Ryan Plastering Co.

Beechwood Center Receives $10,000 For Dance Project

The Beechwood Community Life Center has been awarded a total of $10,000 in grant money by the Massachusetts Cultural Council and the Quincy Arts Council.

The money is to be used in connection with Nikki Hu's latest dance project, "A Thousand Cranes."

"A Thousand Cranes" is based on a true story of a Japanese girl who survived Hiroshima but later developed leukemia. Because it is a Japanese belief that folding 1,000 paper cranes will confer health, longevity, and freedom from pain, the little girl embarks upon a folding mission while in the hospital. Although she succeeds in folding hundreds, she dies before reaching 1,000. Her effort is an inspiring and moving testament to the human spirit.

Nikki will develop choreography for Quincy Public School children, who will join her in three upcoming performances. Two of the performances will be in the schools for the children and one will be open to the public and performed at the Beechwood Community Center.

It's getting so that you need a road-map to chart your way through the advertising from the weight loss industry.

Newspapers, radio and television are full of ads for fast results, eat all you want, lose all you want by celebrities of varied degrees of fame. If it all seems too good to be true - it probably IS too good to be true.

Mis-leading advertising in the weight loss industry is a real cause for concern among professionals. Laws for honesty in advertising have helped a great deal but the unwary dieter can still be deceived. The device used is the simple asterisk. So when the wise reader sees, *it's time to "read the fine print." Here are a few of the most used and abused phrases:

*Cuisine not included or *Food additional.

This usually follows a remarkably inexpensive price for "all the weight you need to lose" and all it does mean is that the cost of the program's food is additional. What goes unsaid is the fact that the use of that food is required and very costly - often triple or quadruple that above-mentioned price.

It's easier than cooking and weight loss can be fast; unfortunately, the dieter who succeeds in losing on this diet hasn't learned how to shop, cook, or eat in a way that will keep the weight off.

*New members only.
This means that returning dieters or existing dieters don't get the benefit of the special price. Clear enough and fair enough, especially if you're not one of the returning or existing dieters.

*Group plan
This one means that all counseling, classes and weighing is done in a group, not privately. This, too, is clear enough and fair enough. If you don't like crowds, there are other programs.

*Full program
This usually follows a nice low price each week. All the possible weeks of dieting to lose your excess weight are added to several weeks of stabilizing at your goal weight and then added to many weeks of maintenance of that weight and THEN multiplied by that nice price per week. You don't quite need an advanced degree in math - it's really simple arithmetic but the total amount is many dollars and must be paid in full to start this diet. Sometimes, "a special case" is made and you're permitted to pay it in two parts. Now you have umpteen weeks paid for - and be aware that during half of them you're on the maintenance program and only come in once a month, not weekly or daily.

Thus, you begin to see that the asterisk is a disclaimer, a notice that this advertisement is not what it seems. Like the exception tacked onto airline specials and used car sales, the asterisk is the way these weight loss programs get the unwary dieter to sign up for more than weight loss. So, be aware and informed and watch out for the *.

Residents Petition For Safety Changes Along Sea St. Area

Some 50 Houghs Neck residents living on or near Sea Street have asked the Quincy Traffic Commission to make changes along that dangerous road which was the scene of a fatal accident several weeks ago.

At Monday's City Council meeting, Ward 1 Councillor Peter Kolson introduced a petition signed by some 50 Houghs Neck residents. The petition requests the Traffic Commission to meet as soon as possible to consider the following recommendations:

- Install at least two traffic signals on Sea Street between the intersections of Sea Street and Post Island Road and Sea Street and First Peterson Road, timed to require frequent stops.
- Rework the blinking traffic light at the intersection of Sea and Babcock streets to a working traffic signal.
- Paint the roadway at or before the beginning of First Peterson Road on the inside travel lane to indicate narrowing of the roadway.

- Install reflecting devices, bright paint or other indicators on utility poles on the curve in Sea Street at the 700 block.
- Install such signs or other warning signals as may be deemed necessary.

The Traffic Commission usually meets once a month. The Commission last met Sept. 19.

However, given the seriousness of the traffic hazards on Sea Street, Kolson has asked for an emergency meeting. City Solicitor Stephen McGrath said the commission is not legally bound to meeting just once a month. Therefore, it appears the commission will meet on the recommendations before its next scheduled meeting in October.

According to the petition, the following accidents have occurred near the 700 block of Sea Street in the past six years:

- Two deaths due to automobile accidents.
- Two accidents in which vehicles crossed the pedestrian walkway and climbed the retaining wall on Quincy Bay.
- Three incidents of owner or visitor vehicles destroyed while parked in driveways.
- Numerous incidents destroying other property such as fences, sign-posts, traffic signals and utility poles.
- Two incidents of residents hit by oncoming traffic while exiting blind driveways.

The petition also states the accidents were not due to inclement weather, poor road conditions, drunken driving or other extenuating circumstances. Also, frequent screeching of brakes and tire marks in the roadway indicate

City Receives $1 Million Water System Rehab Grant

The city has received a $1 million water system rehabilitation grant from the Department of Environmental Protection's Bureau of Municipal Facilities, announces Mayor James A. Sheets.

The grant will fund nearly half of the estimated $2,265,000 cost to replace 11,100 feet of water main in Quincy Ave. and Washington St. The mains were installed in 1912 and 1902 respectively and require replacement due to advanced age.

Sheets credited the city's Department of Public Works and Commissioner David Colton for pursuing the grant. The mayor noted "the replacement of these mains is crucial for maintaining sufficient water supply for fire fighting and drinking to the Quincy Point and Faxon Park neighborhoods."

Colton commended the mayor, City Council President Ted DeCristofaro and the other city councillors for having the foresight to approve bonding of the city's share of the project's cost in June.

The city plans to complete design work this fall and advertise the project bids over the winter. Construction could begin as early as next May.

Gorman Acting Chief

O'Connell Stepping Down As Fire Chief

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Fire Chief Paul O'Connell will step down and return to his former position as deputy chief Monday, Oct. 1, Mayor James Sheets announced Tuesday.

Deputy Chief Thomas Gorman, who served as acting chief from June 1988 to February, 1989, will again become acting chief after O'Connell steps down, the mayor said.

In making the announcement as The Sun went to press, Sheets said O'Connell, who is 40, was not happy as chief. He also said O'Connell had reservations about continuing eight or nine months ago.

"He simply was not happy. He felt he'd be happier as deputy. I understand that. (Paul) is a very intense young man. He really takes his job seriously."

"He's done a great job. With the Fire Department under Paul O'Connell, we thought the department would be set for the next 10 to 15 years. He has great leadership but was under a lot of pressure."

"He just felt he'd rather be deputy and spend more time with his family," Sheets said.

Asked if O'Connell's decision surprised him, Sheets replied, "It did and it didn't. I said I could, I felt lost up there. The time comes when you have to be concerned about yourself. I couldn't be just concerned with the Quincy Fire Department," he said.

PAUL O'CONNELL

O'Connell said he is stepping down because he has not been happy as chief the past 18 months. He also said he did not like being an administrator.

"I've been working at trying to make (the chief's) job work for me. The last year, I really wasn't happy with it. It was my goal to be deputy chief and I never considered being chief of the department."

"Regardless of whether I could do the job, and people

"I'm not an administrator. I'm action oriented. I love being on the fire ground. It's just my nature."

When O'Connell first took control of the department last February, he almost immediately encountered difficult financial times. With a shortfall in the budget, he was forced to sideline several pieces of equipment.

The budget worsened this

Revitalization Initial Stage Council Votes $175,000 For New Lights, Trees

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The City Council put its stamp of approval on the first phase of the Quincy Center revitalization effort and lighting program by appropriating $175,000 to cover the initial cost and installation of the first 42 historical-type fixtures.

Funding for the program was taken from the city's UDAG account. Of the $175,000 appropriated, $150,000 will go toward the lighting and $25,000 will fund new tree plantings throughout the city.

Residents, businesses and civic organizations purchased the last of the 42 historical cast-iron fixtures last week. Mayor James Sheets asked the private sector to sponsor the cost of the lighting fixtures for the sum of $2,500 each. The city will front the cost of the 42 fixtures which totals $105,000. The UDAG account will then be reimbursed with money paid by the light sponsors. After the appropriation, $492,000 remains in the account, Auditor Robert Foy said.

Phase one of the project will include lighting from Granite St., around the First Parish Church, from the driveway at Quincy College, up to Saville Ave.

According to City Planner Kevin Shea, the lights should be up and operating by mid-December.

The city sent out bids for the lighting installation. Tri-State Signal was the low bidder at $171,690. The high bidder was Caliacco Corp. which submitted a bid of $224,802.

Tri-State Signal will be responsible for buying, installing and painting the lights black, Shea said. The city will be responsible for maintaining them, he noted.

The 22-foot fixtures are Madisonian Posts with a Washington twin ornate cross arm with shatterproof acorn globes.

Councillors commended Sheets for his leadership in generating support from the private sector. They also said the new lights is the first step in making the downtown area more attractive and prosperous.

"It's going to be one of the best things that ever happened to the city. I think it's going to be the start of something big," Ward 1 Councillor Peter Kolson said.

Councillor At-Large Tim Cahill, who chaired the mayor's Downtown Revitalization Committee, called the lights "a great breakthrough for the mayor." The Committee recommended the new lights to Sheets.

Saying the downtown revitalization effort will "snowball" after the lights are installed, Cahill added, "I think it's going to be very successful."

Cahill also credited Tom Koch, the mayor's Executive Secretary, and Councillor-at-Large Patricia Toland. Toland was the chairman of the downtown Beautification Sub-Committee.

As for the trees, Park, Recreation and Cemetery Executive Director Ray Cattaneo said there have been nearly 200 requests for trees over the last two years.

He noted 217 trees were removed in 1989 and none were replaced. There is no money in the park budget this year to fund tree plantings, he said.

"The replacement is getting very critical," Cattaneo told councillors.

Three types of maples will be planted throughout the city, Cattaneo noted, including the London Plain which is one of the hardiest trees for this area.

He noted the trees cost between $150 and $200 each and come with a one-year guarantee.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan and Kolson called new trees a "quality of life issue." Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, noting Quincy's green space is vanishing due to development, added funding new trees is not a waste of government money.

Clean Harbors Defeat 'A Great Victory For The People'

By JANE ARENA

When state environmental officials last week said no to the proposal by Clean Harbors, Inc. to site a toxic waste incinerator in the Fore River Basin in East Braintree, a lot of people looked at it as a citizens' triumph.

Ward One councillor Peter Kolson called the defeat of Clean Harbors a classic lesson in democracy.

"It was a joint effort by everyone," he said. "Never in the history of the area was there a collective effort like this. It'll go down as a classical lesson in democracy and what a collective effort in a free country can do."

Mayor James Sheets agreed.

"I think it's a great victory for the people," he said. "It's good to win like this because it appears Clean Harbors won't fight it."

The South Shore Coalition for a Safe Environment, co-founded by Hingham residents Suzanne Anderson and Gini Kurtzman, and comprised of citizens from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Hingham, had fought a long, hard battle against the proposal. The Coalition organized protests, held regular meetings, even sponsored a seminar on civil disobedience.

When the state rejected the proposal last week, after nearly three and a half years of debate, the Coalition saw the fruits of its labor.

"I am thrilled that common sense and good judgement have finally prevailed," Anderson said. "But I am terribly disappointed that our state government might have ignored all the evidence against (the proposal) had the people not forced them to look at it."

Local government also played a role in the Clean Harbors defeat. Mayor Sheets said stopping the incinerator was one of his administrations' top priorities when he took office in January. He commended his Executive Assistant Bernice Mader and other city officials for their efforts in spearheading the city's opposition.

"We feel the city was a major factor in the defeat of Clean Harbors," he said. "We fought consistently hard, despite some setbacks."

Kolson commended former Mayor Francis X. McCauley and his Personnel Director David Smith for being key figures in the fight.

But overall it was perseverance and personal sacrifice by South Shore citizens which was instrumental in the defeat, Kolson said.

He himself has spent hundreds of hours on the fight, attending and organizing four major protests.

"We're taking these types of decisions back from someone who has no feeling for the neighborhood," he said.

Anderson noted that for the leaders of the Coalition and for many members who do not work fulltime, the fight against the incinerator meant "a major personal sacrifice."

"For the leaders and some members ... it was probably 8 hours a day for almost a year," she said.

What's more, the Coalition is not planning to dissolve after the Clean Harbors victory.

Anderson said the next task of the group may be tackling the proposed Edison power plant in the Fore River Basin.

"I think the Coalition is an organization that will go on," she said. "It's clear that the players will change ... there is ample leadership talent in the group, it's just a matter of who wants to do it."

But, she added, there will likely be a break in the organization's action.

"People made great personal sacrifices to win the CHI battle," she said. "I don't think anyone will be surprised if people sit back for a while. I think they've earned it."

Kolson said there is a celebration party being planned for residents in area town who aided the fight against the incinerator.

"We fought the odds," he said, "and we beat them simply because we were right."

PROTESTORS FROM South Shore towns, including Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and Hingham, recently held a day-long vigil at the entrance to Clean Harbors, Inc. on Quincy Ave. in Braintree. Protests like this and others proved successful as the license for the company's proposed toxic waste incinerator was denied by the state last week.

WHEN "EXCESS" IS BETTER!

A dictionary definition of the word "excess" is surplus, over and above what is really needed. However, nothing could be further from the truth in terms of low-cost "excess liability" insurance for all your personal activities. Now, you don't have to be a millionaire to require one million dollars worth of protection against personal accidents of any kind.

In today's litigious climate, whether or not you are responsible for injuries due to accidents on your property, you may be liable to law suits in the neighborhood of one million dollars. While your present homeowners policy may cover a portion of it, if the settlement requires you to pay more, where will this "excess" come from?

The Excess Liability Policy is designed to provide liability protection for most personal, non-business events/activities over and above your underlying coverage. Why not call your local agent today. He can show you how, for literally pennies a day, you can buy an Excess Liability Policy to work with your present insurance to provide greater liability protection.

For professional advice on all of your insurance needs please contact the experts at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Call us at 471-8200 or stop by our office at 1650 Hancock Street in Quincey.

Remo

If you could have only one real, true good friend in your lifetime, who would you pick?

That would be an easy choice for a lot of people: Remo DeNicola.

He was a genuine friend to many people. I was one of those lucky ones. Remo was a good family man and a warm hearted, down-to-earth person who would give you the shirt off his back -- literally and figuratively.

And, if it didn't happen to fit, he'd go out and buy one that did.

He couldn't say "no."

If anyone needed him, he was always there. Sometimes before they even realized they needed him.

Remo loved people and they loved him right back. He was one of those rare individuals who could have gone through life with just a first name. Mention Remo and everyone knew who you meant. You didn't have to say Remo DiNicola.

He didn't go to college. But he had the equivalent of a masters degree in native intelligence and good old common sense. And many a time he gave a little sound advice to Quincey business executives, professionals, politicians and would-be politicians.

Remo died last week after a long battle with cancer. He was 68.

Family and friends attended his funeral Mass at St. Thomas More Church in Braintree Monday.

Women -- and men -- wept. To them, Remo was someone very special.

The long funeral procession moving down Hancock St. toward Mount Wollaston Cemetery, passed the old South Shore Television & Appliance store which Remo and his brother, Pete, co-owned for many years.

No! On Proposition 3

Editor, The Quincey Sun:
It is unfortunate for the citizens of Massachusetts that we will have Proposition 3 (C.L.T.—Citizens for Limited Taxation petition) on the ballot in November.

If it passes, it will create chaos, not only for the incoming Governor and his administration but it will force Massachusetts to the brink of bankruptcy if not into it. How much smarter it would have been to give a new, incoming Governor the opportunity to straighten out the mess we are currently in, and everybody agrees we are in a mess.

If only the proponents would try to direct their efforts towards something constructive rather than creating hysteria among the voters, we would all be better off. For example:

1. Follow through on the integration of the various state police forces. The savings would be tremendous with one uniform, one administrative unit, greater purchasing power in quantity, etc.

2. Abolish the Governors Council and assign their duties to the various Senate committees. Such as approval of judgeships by the Judiciary Committee, approval of Warrants by the Committee on Administration, etc.

3. Transfer the highway activities of the Metropolitan District Commission to the Department of Public Works.

4. Eliminate County Government! Their functions could come under the umbrella of existing state agencies.

5. Amend the Constitution to permit a graduated income tax. Why should people in the $100,000 to $500,000 income bracket pay the same percentage of their income in taxes as those earning less than $30,000 and who need the money the most? This could eliminate a great deal of paper work and ultimately result in a real short form for reporting by just multiplying the Federal Tax (Already graduated) by a simple, flat percentage.

I am sure that the foregoing is only the beginning of an endless list of changes that can be made towards a more efficient and hence a more economical state government.

Whipping the electorate into a frenzy must be an ego trip for the leading proponents of C.L.T. because I have not heard them tell the public about the dire consequences of their brainless child. Or don't they care?

Criticism of government at any level is fine but without corrective and detailed programs for improvement, it is irresponsible in my opinion and Proposition 3 is just that.

Rolling back taxes without a plan is short sighted and the C.L.T. is losing sight of educating our children while the drop-out rate, crime an unemployment continues to escalate. It will be the means to further hurt people who are already suffering homeless, hungry or seriously ill.

I would like to see some organization, the League of Women Voters for example, explain to the electorate just what will happen if Prop. 3 passes. Inform the voters who are being deceived into believing that they will save money by voting for the C.L.T. petition. If they want fire and police protection, local streets repaired and a decent education for their children, then they must be prepared for higher property taxes to make up for the increased loss of state aid which is sure to come.

In conclusion, I urge all the voters of Massachusetts to vote NO on Proposition 3 in November!

Report Gives QHS, Vo-Tech High, Low Marks

The New England Association of Schools and Colleges recently released a 75-page evaluation report on Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational-Technical School.

The report was compiled after a four-day visit to the schools last March. It outlines and comments several aspects of the school, including the educational process, curriculum, faculty and staff, school facilities, student services and the relationship between the school and the community.

While noting several positive areas of the school's operations, including special education programs, the report also points discrepancies and deficiencies.

The most serious problem facing the school, the report states, is the immediate need for repair and maintenance to several areas of the facilities.

"Due to budgetary constraints," the report states, "needed maintenance and renovations to the high school is approaching a serious stage."

The report also notes a deficiency in handicapped accessibility in both buildings.

There is one elevator in the vocational school, it notes, but it is primarily a freight elevator. Another elevator in the high school is unusable for safety reasons.

However, even more pressing are the potential safety hazards in the facility.

"In general the school plants are poorly maintained inside and out. This poses potential health and safety problems related to lighting, ventilation, heating and cooling systems, water supply, and asbestos protection. All of these problems are beginning to effect the building occupants and, if not addressed very soon, will likely affect the overall learning process."

Aside from the physical limitations, the report cited several positive aspects of the school in terms of its educational process and special programs:

- The very positive and mutually respectful relationship which exists among the administration, faculty and students;

- The expansive number of alternative programs developed by the staff and community to reduce the drop-out rate and to keep students in school;

- The high level of interest and determination on the part of the staff to work with students and their parents to insure supportive learning opportunities are provided for each student; and,

- The commitment demonstrated by the school to mesh the academic programs of the high school with the practical skills training provided in the vocational-technical segment of the school into a comprehensive and appropriate balance for all students.

The Commission on Public Secondary Schools requires the evaluation report be available to the public.

The schools are also required to implement "valid recommendations by the visiting committee" to ensure continued accreditation in the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

North Quincy High School is currently beginning a period of self study in preparation for its evaluation scheduled for 1992. The preparation includes a community opinion inventory and a Parent Opinion Inventory. Quincy residents and parents of N.Q.H.S. students are encouraged to complete the opinion forms.

Forms are available in the school principal's office, the Mayor's Office at City Hall, and the North Quincy branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Della Chiesa Assails QTA As Political Group

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa charged athat the Quincy Taxpayers Association had become a "political organization" by endorsing candidates for the Plan E City Council.

"In the current issue of 'Taxes' the monthly publication of the association, the organization has in substance done nothing less than endorse a slate of candidates," he said.

"Seven candidates are mentioned in a favorable light and no mention is made of other 14 candidates seeking election to the City Council."

Della Chiesa was not one of those mentioned.

YACHT YARD GOES PRIVATE

Edward D. Whiting, president and general manager of the Quincy Adams Yacht yard, announced that the company will return to building pleasure craft after 15 years of primarily government work.

Whiting said the yard had contracts to build a 68-foot diesel twin-screw power boat and an 85-foot auxiliary schooner and was negotiating to build two more luxury yachts.

Value of the four contracts would be $750,000.

STUDY CITES CITY WORKERS

A study by the U.S. Census Bureau showed that Quincy had more municipal employees than most other cities in the over 10,000 population class.

The census figures showed that Quincy had 1,848 city workers, or 21.3 for every 1,000 population, compared to the average of 12.9 for a thousand other American big cities.

Home Rule Petition Would Base Fire Dept. Reductions On Seniority

A home-rule petition which would mandate any reduction in rank in the Quincy Fire Department be based on seniority in a given rank was referred to the Ordinance Committee by the City Council Monday night.

The ordinance was introduced by Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan. Phelan is chairman of the council's Public Safety Committee.

Under the present civil service law, reductions in seniority are based on the total number of years on the fire department, not on the number of years in a given rank.

If approved by the City Council, Mayor James Sheets and the state legislature, reduction in rank would be based on seniority in a given rank.

For example, a fire captain with 10 years experience at that rank and 15 years on the force would be given seniority over a captain with five years experience at that rank and 20 years on the force.

Fire Chief Paul O'Connell and fire union officials have "no problems" with the petition, Ward 1 Councillor Peter Kolson said.

many more accidents are often narrowly avoided.

In addition, the petition points out city school buses will not stop in or near this area; repair and other service vehicle operators are fearful to service residents of this area; and police cannot safely monitor vehicles in the area.

Besides their recommendations, the petitioners asked the commission for an open forum to review and discuss such proposals with the goal of providing safety for residents and visitors to the area.

Barbara's Fantastic Appetizer

The "club" as we called ourselves (10 of us), hadn't met for several years, but Barbara and Chap Comis got us all together one day at their home.

Barbara served a few appetizers and naturally today's recipe is for one of those fantastic ones, namely, stuffed mushroom caps with crab.

BARBARA'S FANTASTIC APPETIZER

Stuffed Mushrooms with Crab
One can of Crabmeat (8 oz. or so)
2 stalks of scallion minced
1/4 cup parmesan cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
12 jumbo mushroom caps washed and dried more parmesan cheese for topping

Drain the crabmeat. Mix the crab with the green onion (scallion), the quarter cup of parmesan and the mayonnaise. Blanch the mushrooms in boiling water for a minute. Stuff the caps with the crabmeat mixture. Place in a slightly greased shallow pan and bake in a 325 degree oven for 5 minutes. Then sprinkle each cap with parmesan cheese and broil for 3 minutes. Let cool for a couple of minutes. To cut down on calories, I used the light mayonnaise and blanched instead of sauteing the mushrooms.

However, none of us counted calories that night as we later dined out and blew all of our diets! But it was fun being together again!

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Eva Shea, Jodie Trafton Merit Scholarship Semifinalists

Eva Shea and Jodie Trafton, seniors at North Quincy High School, were named semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship program.

These academically talented semifinalists represent one half of one percent of each state's graduating seniors.

Those designated as semifinalists in each state are the top scorers of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) which served as an initial screen of the large volume of entrants into the National Merit Program.

To qualify as a finalist in the competition for a Merit Scholarship, a semifinalist must have an outstanding academic record, must be endorsed and recommended by the school principal, confirm PSAT/NMSQT performance on the SAT, and must complete a detailed self-evaluation.

What Is This Thing Called Acupuncture?

According to history, ancient Chinese warriors hit some sore body aches with their arrows and found that illnesses were relieved or cured.

Through 4,000 years of experience, the Chinese discovered over 800 acupuncture points on the body.

Acupuncture does not treat diseases but rather the cause of the disease. Chinese medicine believes it is important to treat the cause of disease because symptoms are signals of a deeper and the signals of a deeper problem. If only symptoms are treated, a patient will be diseased and the ailment will manifest itself in other ways as it further worsens the body. For example, western medicine treats skin problems with steroid creams. But ninety percent of people with bronchopulmonary failures, however, have had past skin problems. Is this coincidence or are we repressing symptoms without treating the cause?

Through pulse readings, we can measure the vital energy of meridians. If testing of a meridian reveals that its energy flow is excessive or deficient, it can be corrected. For example, if there is an excessive energy flow of the Heart meridian, there will be nervous tension, irritability, restlessness, impatience, difficulty in pronouncing words, fast heartbeat and insomnia. If there is a deficient energy flow, the reverse will be true. The person will be drowsy, sluggish, passive and have a decreased heartbeat.

Some persons suffer with fatigue and lack of zest. Pulse diagnosis often reveals a deficient energy flow of the kidney meridian. Acupuncture can repair this defect, transforming one's health to renewed vitality.

If an automobile engine is not functioning well, a tune-up is needed. Similarly, if there exists an imbalance in the flow of energy causing dysfunction of our organs, acupuncture can correct this with a "body tune-up."

People who receive acupuncture often experience a feeling of well being. They feel more energetic and cheerful, and more relaxed. But unlike the effects of drugs or alcohol, there is no impairment in judgement, power of concentration, or ability to drive.

Pre-sterilized, disposable equipment is used exclusively in our office. For more information, please call: Acupuncture Associates of the South Shore, 12 Dimmock St., Quincy, 471-5577.

Asthma: How Your Family Can Help

The love and concern of family members can help many with asthma breathe a little easier, doctors agree.

Increasingly, physicians believe that a chronic illness such as asthma must be treated as a concern of the entire family. Studies suggest that the attitudes of those closest to a chronically ill person can influence how well he or she copes with the disease, both physically and mentally. Because family involvement is important, four regional conferences for asthmatics and their families, sponsored by the American College of Allergy and Immunology (ACAI), will be held in 1990.

"One of the ways a family can help is by consulting with a physician to learn about the different types of asthma medications," says Dr. Dale B. Sparks, president of ACAI. "Then the family can remind or encourage patients to maintain the medical regimen, especially those medications that are taken on a preventive basis."

Family members can support asthma sufferers by:

- Going with the patient to doctor appointments.
 - Learning about the patient's medicine.
 - Getting rid of asthma triggers (like cigarette smoke) in the house.
 - Working out an emergency plan.
 - Reminding patients to take their daily medications.
- "The conferences will teach families about asthma, its treatment, and better ways for family members to support the asthma patient," says Dr. Sparks. "They will also provide information about support groups, counseling, and educational programs that help families cope with the presence of chronic illness."

The family plays a major role in the way an asthmatic responds to treatment, doctors now say.

The conferences, located in Washington, DC, Dallas, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, will be sponsored by Fisons Corporation, world leaders in respiratory care. For more information on the upcoming conferences, write: ACAI, 800 E. Northwest Hwy., Suite 1080, Palatine, IL 60067 or call 708-359-2800.

Chiropractic Update

by Mark C. Jaehnig D.C.

CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT MAY HELP YOUR HEADACHES

Headaches are a very common complaint among people in society today. Experts point to the fast-paced lifestyle of modern industrialized civilization as a prime factor causing headaches as it often leads to high levels of emotional and physical stress, poor dietary habits, and exposure to toxins and allergens in our environment.

In my office I treat patients suffering from many types of headaches, including migraine headaches, sinus-related head pain, and, especially, stress-related or tension headaches. The cause of these headaches can often times be traced to the neck or cervical spine and the related nerves and muscles that are found in this region. There may be a misaligned spinal bone or vertebra in the neck which pinches or presses the nerves, causing increased muscular tension and/or pain in the back of the neck which can radiate up to the back of the head. Patients in my office are pleasantly surprised to learn that their headaches can be relieved the natural, drugless, painless way — with chiropractic treatment.

If you have any questions or would like to make an appointment, please call Dr. Mark Jaehnig, a lifelong Quincy resident, at Quincy Chiropractic Office, 440 Hancock St., North Quincy, 773-4400.

Captain Nestor Commended By Council For Acting Chief Service

Police Captain Paul Nestor was commended by the City Council Monday for his stability and leadership as acting police chief for six months before Francis Mullen was named permanent chief, succeeding Francis Finn.

In presenting Nestor a handsome brass and wooden clock inscribed with the council's congratulations, and best wishes, Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan said, "You did one heck of an outstanding job."

Nestor, moved by the honor, hesitated and then replied, "It really comes as a tremendous surprise."

Nestor was appointed acting chief after Finn announced his retirement last March. He filled in until new Police Chief Francis Mullen was appointed by Mayor James Sheets earlier this month.

The council commended Nestor for his outstanding leadership, extraordinary diligence and for maintaining high standards as acting chief. With Nestor at the helm, Phelan said the city was able to conduct a thorough screening and interview process for Finn's replacement.

On hand to share the honor with Nestor at City Council Chambers were 10 members of his family, including his wife Marilyn and their children. The captain was joined at the rostrum by his grandson, Sean Sullivan.

McCauley, Speranzo To Participate In Jimmy Fund Walk

Former Quincy Mayor Frank McCauley, a walking enthusiast, is planning to walk in the second annual Boston Marathon Jimmy Fund Walk Saturday, Oct. 13th.

The Walkathon covers the exact route of the internationally famous Boston (B.A.A.) Marathon which is run each year in April on Patriots Day.

McCauley, along with Carolann Speranzo, a Quincy optician, completed the first walk last October covering the 26.2 mile course in seven hours. McCauley raised $2,100 for the Dana Farber Cancer Institute.

The institute conducts cancer research and provides care for children and adults with cancer. Over $200,000 was raised as a result of the first Walkathon held last year.

McCauley and Speranzo plan to step off at the Village Green in Hopkinton at 7 a.m. sharp. They hope to cross the finish line in Boston in less than six hours.

Anyone wishing to be a sponsor may call Frank McCauley at his office in Quincy at 479-5000 or his home at 479-6230. Speranzo may be reached at her office, 2nd Sight, in the Dimmock Building at 773-1178.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Last week we commented on some sage advice on "Being Yourself." We feel that this poem by the late Douglas Malloch sums it up beautifully.

"If you can't be a pine on the top of the hill,

Be a scrub in the valley - but be
The best little scrub by the side of the rill;
Be a bush, if you can't be a tree.
If you can't be a bush, be a bit of the grass,
And some highway happier make;
If you can't be a muskie, then just be a bass;
But the liveliest bass in the lake!
We can't all be captains, we've got to be crew,
There's something for all of us here,
There's big work to do, and there's lesser to do
And the task we must do is the near.
If you can't be a highway, then, just be a trail,
If you can't be the sun, be a star;
It isn't by size that you win or you fail -
Be the best of whatever you are!"

Remember that no two people have been or will ever be the same. Never before, since the beginning of time has there ever been anybody exactly like you and never will be again. So, let's be ourselves and find joy in it...

MEDICAL EVALUATION

Not only is it a good idea to submit to a medical evaluation by a licensed physician before purchasing a hearing aid, it is the law. Federal law now restricts the sale of hearing aids only to those persons who have obtained a medical evaluation no longer than six months prior to the sale of a hearing aid. This condition for the sale of a hearing aid was established by the Food and Drug Administration, and became effective on August 25, 1977. This assures a hearing impaired person that any medically treated condition is accurately identified, and treated, before he turns to the hearing aid dispenser. A medical evaluation also provides greater assurance that a hearing aid may be a safe and effective device for helping him to hear better.

HINT: Patients over the age of 18 may sign a waiver to dispense with the medical evaluation before buying a hearing aid. Medical evaluations for those under 18 are mandatory and cannot be waived.

Having a medical evaluation is a safeguard for you and for the hearing aid dispenser. Being tested prior to having an aid fitted assures you of the most precise instrument to help you. When you come to STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER we have professionals working with you to give you tests, fit you properly and finding the exact instrument that will best enhance your impairment. Let our staff fulfill your hearing needs at 488 Quincy Ave. Call 770-3395 for an appt. so we will be awaiting your visit.

Traditions Grow With Each Generation.

Back in 1931, Joe Sweeney joined his Uncle Dennis to help renovate the newly acquired funeral home on Elm Street. Originally a cabinetmaker by trade, Joe soon became the second-generation link in a family-owned tradition. One of instinctive and genuine concern for the city's bereaved families.

After the home's renovations were complete, Joe began assisting with services and went on to become a funeral director in 1941. When Dennis Sweeney died in 1948, it was to Joe that he entrusted the continuation of the Sweeney Tradition.

Well-liked in Quincy, M. Joseph Sweeney not only respected the customs of the large Catholic population, but also those of newcomers in the Protestant and Moslem communities. In 1962, he acquired the Elcock Estate, circa 1863, in West Quincy to better serve the residents in that growing area of the city.

Since 1917, Sweeney Funeral Homes have been responding to the needs of South Shore residents — whatever they were. As early as 1940, we began offering pre-planning as a way for wise Quincy residents to plan their future.

Today, with funeral costs one of the top five major expenses for most families, pre-arrangements make better sense than ever before. Call Dennis Sweeney, our third-generation funeral director, at (617) 773-2728 for a free consultation. We've been helping South Shore residents with difficult decisions for over 70 years.

Bicycle Information Is Important

Each year there are thousands of bicycles stolen across the country. In Quincy we receive hundreds of reports of stolen bikes each year. We also recover several hundred bikes each year which we never get back to the original owner.

At one time bicycles seemed to be stolen for transportation only. A bicycle would be stolen from point A and ridden to point B where it would be left for the police, or a resident to find. Lately we are finding more and more that bicycles are being stolen and re-sold or stripped for parts and the parts sold.

If your child's bicycle were stolen would you be able to identify it? Many parents tell us that "I can tell it is ours because of the color of the bike." Most manufacturers make thousands of bikes, in one model, the same color. It is almost impossible to identify a bicycle by the color. What we need is the Make, Model and Serial Number of the bicycle along with the type, 10 speed or BMX, and size, 26 inch. When the above information is provided the chances of recovering the bicycle are much greater.

To carry it one step further we suggest that each bicycle be engraved with the drivers license number of one of the parents. This is a national program known as Operation ID. The license number should be engraved on the bottom of the frame where the pedal crank goes through the frame. This is the first place most police departments look when a bicycle is recovered. Once the number is found it can be run through the police computer and the owners name and address will come up in a matter of seconds.

We also suggest that you buy a good bike lock and make sure that you use it. Many bicycles are recovered with the locks still around the seat. The lock was never used.

DRY MOUTH

In the beginning, before the invention of the toothbrush, Nature created saliva. It is an efficient defense against harmful bacteria and debris in the mouth. The salivary glands, which secrete saliva, may slow down or fail completely, often after long-term use of medication for high blood pressure, depression, or colds and flu.

Radiation therapy to the head or neck can also cause chronic dry mouth, as can alcoholism, depression and diabetes. Relief can be obtained by chewing on sugar-free gum or sucking sugar-free hard candies, or by using salt water rinses to stimulate any still-functioning salivary gland cells. Tooth decay is a serious problem for those with dry mouth, and fluoride rinses and toothpastes should be used daily.

P.S. Artificial saliva rinses and sprays are available, but of limited effectiveness.

If you are experiencing any of the symptoms discussed in today's column, we suggest that you contact the appropriate physician. If you want to discuss anything in today's column, feel free to call COMPREHENSIVE CARDIAC CARE at 742-2550. We are conveniently located at 101 Adams Street, Suite 24 in Quincy. Salvage Firm Violations Hearing Continued For Month

By JANE ARENA

Despite a call for a license suspension from Assistant City Solicitor James Timmons, the License Board Tuesday opted to continue for one month a hearing on zoning and license violations at Ernie's Salvage, 16-22 Isabella Rd.

If the owner of the junk salvage business does not make a concentrated effort to comply to License Board and zoning regulations and to make peace with the neighborhood within one month, the board will consider a license suspension, Chairman John Gillis said.

Timmons, who requested the hearing, told the board that Ernest Bettuchy's license should be suspended because he failed to comply with requirements set by the board in a May 15 hearing.

Referring to the minutes of that hearing, Timmons noted that Bettuchy had been asked and had agreed to put a sign declaring that he would not accept deliveries at the junk dealership. He was also asked to begin landscaping work on the property and to make an effort to decrease banging on his property to appease the neighbors.

Timmons said that none of those requirements have been met, accepted placing a sign which was finally done just three months ago.

However, he noted, the sign advising that no deliveries are accepted is placed on cinder blocks inside the building and not in an immediately visible location on the property.

Meanwhile, neighbors were present at the hearing and told the board that, although there has been some decrease in deliveries to the business, they are still being accepted. One of the neighbors told the board she has photographs of Bettuchy accepting deliveries.

Bettuchy, represented by Atty. Robert Flemming of Quincy, called it "unfair" of the board to consider putting a man out of business for a matter that has not yet been decided through the courts.

The matter has been before the Zoning Board of Appeals at least three times, he noted, and has been to Quincy District Court on three other occasions.

The matter is now about to be brought to Norfolk Superior Court on zoning violations, Atty. Flemming noted, and that is where the decision should be made, he said.

"It is terribly unfair of the license board of the city of Quincy to suspend this man's license based on something that hasn't even been decided through the courts," he said. "This matter should be left to the superior court, not to the Zoning Board of Appeals and not the License Board."

Timmons, however, was adamant in his request for a license suspension based solely on the fact that Bettuchy had failed to comply with the board's requirements made last May.

"I think it's very important," he said, "that the board give Mr. Bettuchy a message... let him know that he can't do business unless he does what city boards ask him to."

Timmons later said he would settle for a two week suspension during which time Bettuchy should be required to come up with a scheduling plan for landscaping, stop taking deliveries and move the sign to a more visible location. In two weeks, he said, the board could return the license if ample effort had been made.

Atty. Flemming told the board that such a two week suspension would be exactly like a permanent one because nothing will be resolved to satisfaction in two weeks.

The question of landscaping, he said, is almost impossible to resolve with because, in order to screen the property, landscaping would have to be done on city-owned property in front of Bettuchy's fence. Bettuchy had been told, Flemming said, that city snow plows could feasibly destroy any landscaping work during the winter months.

Bettuchy added that he was making an effort in all areas of the board's requirements but that financially it is very difficult.

"Economic conditions do not relieve you from complying with the law," Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey said.

Mulvey noted that Bettuchy does not even have a legal building permit to occupy the building on the property. There is some discrepancy, he noted, that the building is partially built on property that Bettuchy does not own.

Furthermore, Mulvey said, Bettuchy did not even get a permit for the sign he was required to put up.

Board Chairman John Gillis said that he did not agree with suspending the license even for two weeks, but told Bettuchy that some effort must be made to comply with city regulations and the wishes of the neighborhood.

"There are certain things you can do and certain things you can't do," he said.

Deputy Fire Chief Anthony Innella said that the board has a responsibility to citizens to protect their neighborhoods. He suggested continuing the matter for one month with the stipulation that some scheduling for landscaping must be made, deliveries should stop, the sign should be moved. If this not done within the month, he said, the board should hold a hearing to consider license suspension.

ENC Offering Degree Completion Option For Working Adults

Eastern Nazarene College announces the LEAD program - Leadership Education for Adults - a degree completion program for working adults offering a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (BSBA) degree in as few as 22 months. Classes meet one evening a week from 6-10 p.m. allowing the working student the ability to complete his or her degree without having to take time off from work.

Students who have approximately two years of prior college or an associate degree are eligible to enter into the program. Students with less than two years of college credit may obtain credit for prior learning experience.

The LEAD Program utilizes a non-traditional approach in the classroom. All assignments and curriculum are designed to relate to the workplace. Students bring actual work situations to the classroom environment by group discussions, case analysis and role playing. The information learned in class can be applied to the work environment the next day.

Wayne Dunlop, director of the program and professor at ENC the past 12 years acknowledges the traditional school format is not always the best learning environment for the adult student.

"Adults learn best when the material they learn is applicable to their work setting. The LEAD Program does just that."

Democrat-Republican Designation For Tobin On November Ballot

State Rep. Steve Tobin, who won both Democrat and Republican primaries in the Second Norfolk District last week, will have the designation "Democrat/Republican" next to his name on the Nov. 6 final election ballot.

Tobin, who was elected two years ago as a Democrat but was not listed on the Democratic ballot because he failed to file his re-nomination papers on time, waged successful sticker campaigns last week to win both primaries.

In the Democratic primary, he was the only candidate who ran a sticker campaign. Of the 8,212 votes cast in that primary, Tobin received 3,374 or 41 percent. There were 4,838 or 59 percent blank.

In the Republican primary, Tobin received 268 votes, edging Denis Tardo by 31 votes. Tardo, who has run unsuccessfully for state representative and city council, polled 237 votes.

Of the 2,255 votes cast in the GOP primary, Tobin received 11 percent, Tardo 10 percent and 1,750 ballots or 78 percent were left blank.

Tardo, who said he might consider filing for a recount after returns were known early last Wednesday morning, did not take out recount papers. The deadline to submit papers was Monday at 5 p.m., said Assistant City Clerk Thomas Burke.

In order to file for a recount, Tardo would have had to have collected 40 signatures from registered voters, 10 in each of the four wards the seat represents: Wards one, three, four and five.

With his two victories, Tobin was left to decide whether to take one or both party designations. There was some confusion as to what would happen if Tobin claimed only the Democrat label.

On election night, one city official said Tardo, as the second place finisher, could ask to be placed on the ballot as a Republican if Tobin claimed only the Democrat designation.

On Monday, Tobin said he had contacted the Secretary of State's office and officials there ruled only his name could be placed on the ballot since he was the winner in both primaries.

After some consultation with friends and supporters, Tobin said he has decided to use both designations on the Nov. 6 ballot. By using the Democrat and Republican labels, Tobin said he is thanking all the voters who helped his sticker campaign.

"This is the best way to show my appreciation to all of the voters who put my sticker on the primary ballot. I didn't want to appear ungrateful (for the Republican support). I'm touched by it. I'm just saying thanks," he explained.

Tobin said he and his supporters distributed 14,000 stickers. He said he did not actively seek Republican support.

"There was no effort on my part to go out after one voter or another," he said.

Apparently on his way to a second two-year term, Tobin said he will take his state representative seat in January as a Democrat.

"Fundamentally, I'm a Democrat. I'm not changing parties. I'm merely broadening my political affiliation to say thank you."

Tapping Sewer Fund For Flood Projects Backed By Sheets

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A home rule petition which would amend the city's sewer rehabilitation fund to include drainage and other flood-related projects has the support of Mayor James Sheets.

The account currently funds only sewer projects with revenue generated by a one percent fee on developers. At Monday's City Council meeting, Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien proposed amending the fund to include paying for drainage and flood-related projects.

After some discussion, Chretien referred the amendment to the Ordinance Committee. With councillors Michael Cheney and Patricia Toland absent, Chretien said he wants all nine councillors present before a vote is taken on the matter.

Sheets, who drafted the original petition creating the fund while Ward 4 councillor four years ago, said Tuesday he will sign the petition if the council approves it.

"I don't have a problem with the home rule petition itself," he said.

Originally, the fund was "tailored" to stop sewage backups in West Quincy and other sections of the city brought on by added construction.

Although he supports the change, Sheets cautioned that amending the fund could result in the legislature rescinding the law which created the fund.

He said he believes Quincy is the only community in the state which has a sewer rehabilitation account funded by private developers.

"I wouldn't want the state to say, 'why should Quincy have it and not everyone else. I wouldn't want them to rescind it."

"The reason why we didn't include drainage originally is because the legislature does not like to give individual cities and towns special authority to levy a one percent fee."

"They see that as a fractioning of the state's power to levy and control fees. We limited it to sewage because it involves public health and we thought the state would be able to accept that."

"If drainage were included, that might be too much. If you amend our bill, who knows what (the legislature) will do," Sheets said.

To avoid the rescission possibility, the mayor suggested a separate petition be filed.

"I have no problem supporting it. I think it's just a question of what strategy might work best. File a separate bill or amend the existing legislation," the mayor said, adding he has not spoken with Quincy's legislative delegation on the matter yet.

Chretien said he wants drainage projects to be covered by the fund because there are areas in his ward which experience recurrent flood problems. He noted some residents must absorb $2,000 to $3,000 in drainage problems to their homes every year.

"Many, many constituents in Ward 3 would benefit from it, he told his colleagues. "It's a rational approach to the problem."

With tough financial times here, Chretien said the fund would enable flood and drainage problems to be corrected.

Public Works Commissioner said the fund would never be able to fund large-scale sewer and drainage projects, such as the $7 million West Quincy interceptor.

As of Monday night, there was $704,000 in the fund, Auditor Robert Foy said.

Money from the fund cannot be appropriated without approval from the mayor and City Council.

Council President Ted DeCristofaro said he would support the amendment as long as there is a "strict accounting" of the fund.

Eaton Opposed To CLT Petition

Francis (Sandy) Eaton of Quincy, who is running as an Independent for state representative in the Third Norfolk District, says he is "absolutely and unconditionally opposed" to the Citizens for Limited Taxation's referendum question.

"What we need in Massachusetts is genuine tax reform that will relieve our working families of this heavy tax burden. What we definitely do not need is this sleazy corporate swindle," Eaton said.

Eaton, who is a nurse at Quincy Hospital along with his wife, said they agree working households are over-taxed in this state.

"Our state is aptly nicknamed 'Taxachusetts' as far as working families and small business people are concerned. But for the wealthy and their mammoth corporations, this state could just as easily be nicknamed

'the Bonanza State.'"

According to Eaton, 40,000 corporations paid less than $500 dollars in taxes last year.

"And now," Eaton continued, "these same corporations who have been ripping off the Massachusetts taxpayer for decades are getting ready to stick it to us again with this CLT petition. CLT doesn't care for one minute about the average Massachusetts taxpayer."

"They are trying to capitalize on the quite justifiable frustration of the people of our commonwealth to hoodwink them into voting for a referendum question that will be of great benefit to the high tech council and will leave the majority of our citizens without the basic services they depend on."

Eaton also charged that the petition contains "phony rhetoric" for ending government waste and Massachusetts taxpayer.

Furthermore, the candidate said the petition would be catastrophic if approved.

"As people examine the question more closely, they see what a catastrophe Question 3 would bring to our state. We know that when budgets are justly slashed the corrupt are the last to go."

"The way to fight waste and corruption is to fight waste and corruption. You don't do that by gutting vital services. We've had enough of that," he added.

"While many corporations are going for the quick buck by supporting Question 3, a lot of business people recognize what a disaster its passage would be for our state's already faltering economy. The danger of this question passing is far from over."

"But I don't think the people of Massachusetts will allow the wool to be pulled over their eyes," Eaton said.

Presidents Face Taunton Friday Night

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team, which staged a fine comeback to tie Bridgewater-Raynham, 14-14, at Veterans Memorial Stadium last Saturday in its Old Colony League bow, will visit Taunton Friday night for a 7 p.m. league game.

Taunton, after losing to New Bedford in its opener, upset Division 2 Super Bowl champion Plymouth last week in its OCL opener.

Quincy was outclassed in the first half last week as it couldn't stop B-R's wishbone attack and fell behind, 14-0. If it were not for two of B-R's four fumbles, the Presidents probably would have been trailing by more.

B-R rushed for 201 yards in the first half while holding Quincy to 76. However, the Presidents came back strong, held the ball for the first 8:26 of the third quarter and allowed B-R only 17 plays in the entire half.

Quincy's Mark Bogan and Jason Anderson each rushed for 85 yards and each had a touchdown called back.

"This was a game we easily could have won and penalties really hurt us, nullifying two touchdowns," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "But I am proud of the way the kids bounced back in the second half. The defense made a lot of mistakes in the first half and we couldn't stop their running game. But we made some adjustments at halftime and the defense really did its job in the second half."

The Presidents finished up with 167 yards rushing, while B-R had 227, having only 26 yards in the second half.

Quincy quarterback Mike Flavin had a fine day, hitting on 15 of 27 passes for 167 yards, two for touchdowns and had two intercepted. He passed to seven different receivers. Dave Chapman had three of the receptions, two for the Quincy touchdowns. Quincy had 18 first downs to 10 for B-R. B-R tried only three passes, all incomplete.

Quincy recovered four fumbles, two by Bill Reardon and one each by sophomores Robby Kane and Mike Kavanagh. One of Reardon's came in the end zone to stop a B-R touchdown and Kane and Kavanagh recovered fumbles to set up the two touchdowns.

"Bogan played his usual outstanding two-way game," Raymer said. "He had six tackles, two assists and caused the fumble recovered by Kavanagh that set up the tying score with a little more than a minute left. Reardon had eight tackles, three assists and two fumble recoveries and Kavanagh had seven tackles, two assists and a fumble recovery.

"Jason Anderson had a fine day running and the other teams are unable to key on Bogan as they have in the past," Raymer said. "Last year Jason missed all but two games due to an injury and Bogan was virtually our whole running game. But this year we are much more balanced with Anderson back."

Raymer had good words for Scott Buckmann, Mike Tempesta, Graham Chevy, Pat Neil, Keith Norris, Chapman, Kavanagh and Chris Walker in the offensive line.

On defense he praised Dave Frye, Tempesta, Bogan, Anderson, Kane and John O'Connor.

"Kane made some key defensive plays and he is going to be truly outstanding," Raymer said.

This was the first game for B-R and veteran coach Frank Almeida said a lot of the team's mistakes were opening day mistakes.

"But give Quincy credit, they took advantage of our mistakes," he said.

Quincy kicked off to open the game and B-R immediately drove for its first touchdown in just nine plays as Paul McCormack, who shared the ball carrying honors with Peter McLaughlin and Marc Harris, scored on a 24-yard run. Mike Donovan kicked the extra point.

A Quincy pass was intercepted on the third play following the kickoff but Reardon made the first of his two fumble recoveries in the end zone as McCormack fumbled just as it appeared he would score. Quincy took over on its 20.

Early in the second quarter B-R reached the Quincy 11 but Reardon made the second of his fumble recoveries at the six.

Quincy drove to B-R's 37.

With fourth and nine it appeared that Flavin's pass to John Fahey was good for a first down but the officials ruled it was inches short and B-R had the ball on its 30.

McCormack broke loose for 36 yards to Quincy's 34 and three plays later raced 27 yards for his and the team's second score. Donovan again kicked the extra point.

It was a far different story in the second half. Quincy took the kickoff and clicked off three first downs but a series of penalties foiled the Presidents. Anderson, on a reverse, apparently scored from the 10 but a clipping penalty nullified it. Then came a holding penalty and an offensive pass interference call.

Mike Malvesti's punt was fumbled and Kane recovered on B-R's 15. Flavin hit Walker for 13 yards. Anderson made six and, following a two-yard loss, Flavin hit Chapman for 16 yards and a touchdown. A pass for the two-point conversion was intercepted.

Quincy continued to dominate but a pass was intercepted on the B-R 35 to stop one drive and another, following five first downs, was stopped on the Trojan 12.

With time running out, Bogan forced a fumble and Kavanagh recovered on the B-R 10. Bogan apparently scored but a penalty nullified it.

Following a second penalty, Flavin hit Chapman over the middle for a 13-yard touchdown with 1:11 remaining and Flavin, on a bootleg, scored the important two points to give Quincy the tie.

A long B-R pass was knocked out of the receiver's hands on a great play by Kane. Quincy got one last chance following a B-R punt. Flavin hit Bogan for 22 yards, Bogan almost going all the way. Three plays later the game ended.

Quincy Freshmen Take B-R 14-8

The Quincy freshman football team defeated Bridgewater-Raynham, 14-8, last week to improve its record to 2-0.

The young Presidents will host Taunton today (Thursday). Quincy received to open the game and drove to its first touchdown. Jason Sova and Mike Elder sparked the drive which was capped when Walter Spadorcia passed to Mike Aupperlee. Quincy got the ball back thanks to some fine defensive work by Ashley Davis and Mike Kane. Elder scored on a sweep shortly after B-R had scored its lone touchdown.

Raiders Host Powerful Plymouth Friday

The North Quincy football team will try to even its first Old Colony League record to 1-1 Friday night when it hosts Div. 2 Super Bowl champion Plymouth at 7 o'clock at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders, following an impressive non-league win over Somerset, lost their first OCL game, 16-6, last Friday night at Falmouth.

Plymouth, which lost 22 players from its Super Bowl team, is 0-2, having lost to league rivals Barnstable and Taunton, but North Quincy coach Ken McPhee expects plenty of trouble Friday night.

"Don't let Plymouth's record fool you, they have a fine team and the losses to Barnstable and Taunton, I feel, just showed how balanced this league is," said McPhee. "There are some pretty tough teams in this league."

North's ground game was shut down by Falmouth as it rushed for only 93 yards.

Most of the Raiders' yardage came through the air as quarterback Mark Taylor was 14 for 31 for 153 yards and North's only touchdown.

His favorite target was wide receiver Desmond Bellot, who had several receptions, including a fine leaning catch for the lone North score.

Taylor was 5 for 12 for 57 yards in the first half, all to Bellot.

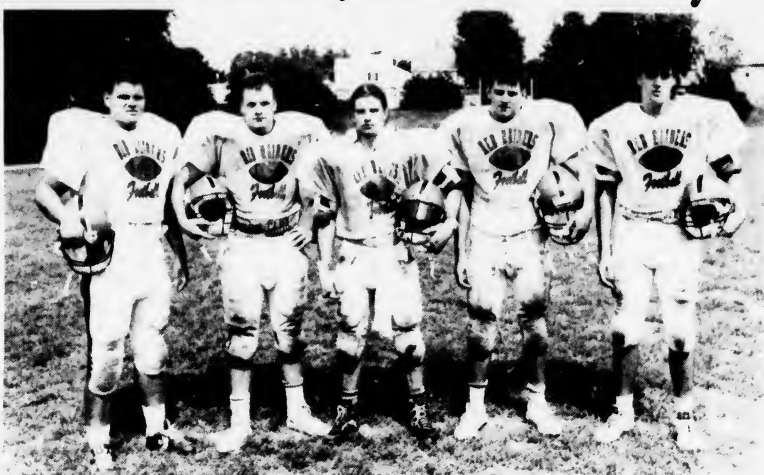

"Fumbles and interceptions hurt us," McPhee said. "We moved inside their 20 three times. We had two key fumbles and two pass interceptions. Bellot had another fine game and made some great catches."

"Defensively we did pretty well. They have a very speedy team. Adam Strout was just outstanding both ways and Jason April and Tony Licciardi played strong defense. Also, our secondary did a good job. We tackled poorly in the first half when they took a 10-0 lead and they had several long gainers. Donny Anderson had a fine game for us."

Falmouth (2-0) took a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter when, on second and 10, Pat MacDonald raced 56 yards after apparently being stopped. Bill Castro kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter Castro kicked a 27-yard field goal to make it 10-0 at halftime, capping a 71-yard march.

In the third quarter

NORTH QUINCY'S defensive lineman played well last week despite the Raiders' loss to Falmouth. Left to right, Evan Kiley, Matt Swierk, Mike Oliva, Adam Strout and Mark Taylor.

MacDonald threw a screen pass to Castro for Falmouth's final points.

Chris MacCallum recovered a fumble on North's 22 to set up North's only scoring drive. Taylor had several completions in the 78-yard drive and hit Bellot with a 17-yarder for the score. His pass for the two-point conversion failed.

MacDonald had a big game for the Cape team as he completed six of 17 passes for 117 yards and carried 10 times for 116 of his team's 179 rushing yards.

North JV's Roll Over Somerset, 33-0

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team rolled over Somerset, 33-0, scoring three minutes into the game.

The North jayvees will play at Plymouth Monday at 3:30 p.m.

A North pass for a touchdown at the two-minute mark was nullified by a penalty but the Raiders came right back to score with Liam Higgins hitting Pat Shea for the touchdown. The same pair teamed up for the two-point conversion.

Somerset failed to do anything offensively as the North defense was outstanding.

Midway in the second quarter the running of Mark

Sinclair and pass receiving of Shea put North on Somerset's 26 and Sinclair raced around left end for the second score. A Higgins to Paul Kerr pass was good for the two points and North had a 16-0 lead.

A booming kickoff put Somerset in a hole and NQ forced a fumble in the end zone for a safety.

Shea returned the second half kickoff 83 yards for a touchdown.

The Somerset punter fumbled and North recovered on the Somerset 20. Keith Lentini and Mike Sweeney carried to the five from where Lentini scored the final points.

Somerset failed to get beyond the North 37 and coaches Tom Carter and Peter Chrisom cleared the bench.

Sean Herron and Erik Kane sparked defensively in the last quarter and Matt Walsh and Brian Toland did some fine running.

The coaches praised Sean Moran, Brian Raftery, Scott Kohlar, Chris Campbell and Jamie O'Connell for their defensive efforts.

The North freshmen didn't fare as well and dropped a 22-6 decision to Falmouth.

Danny Duncan passed to Jeremy Gott in the third period to set up the lone North score and Duncan scored from the one.

The young Raiders will play at Plymouth Friday at 3:30 p.m.

the football team.

North Girls Make It Four In A Row

The North Quincy girls' volleyball team is off and running in its first Old Colony League season and takes a 4-0 record into the game today (Thursday) at Barnstable.

North Quincy will be at Weymouth Monday and next Wednesday will be at Quincy for a 7 p.m. match.

North won its fourth in a row Monday when it defeated Brockton, 2-0.

In its previous match North defeated Dennis-Yarmouth, 2-0 (15-6, 15-11) with the setting of Brenda Hayduk and the defense of Cheryl Kelly leading the way.

Earlier North handed Durfee (4-1) its first defeat of the season, 2-0.

North had opened its season with a 2-0 (15-0, 15-5) victory over Falmouth.

Only five Old Colony League schools, Quincy,

North Quincy, Weymouth, Falmouth and Barnstable, have volleyball and the North girls face a strong non-league schedule.

North Quincy, which won the state championship three years ago, tied Quincy for the Suburban League title two years ago and made the tournament again last year with a 15-5 record. The team has a mixture of youth and experience this year and coach Jim Rendle feels the team should do well.

Experience made the difference in the opener with seniors Kara Sullivan, Shana Cobban and Jill Haynes having strong games. North also received help from Joanna Rugnetta, Meredith Rossi, Tristen Mastrogiacomo, Kim Trout and Maria Kalantzis.

Junior setter Brenda Hayduk lead the offense and Cheryl Kelly leads the defense. Younger players who will play a major role in North's future are sophomore hitter Regina Murphy, sophomore middle blockers Heather Rendle and Joanne Currei and freshman utility player Maureen McCarthy.

The North junior varsity also started on the right foot with a 2-0 (15-5, 15-2) win over Falmouth.

Leading the way were Tara Guarnieri, Tracy Linehan, Jean Manning, Amy Wong, and Lara Rines. Adding depth are Jenny White, Melinda Roberts, Tristie Wergin, Nicole Sapienza and freshman Meghan Barry.

North's freshmen team is made up of Wendy Sweetser, Heather Simmons, Kim Chiu, Mary Ellen Eddy, Phoung Tu, Cam Ngoyen, Amy Grasso and Jennifer Kaduck.

Quincy Girls Win 3rd Straight

The Quincy girls' volleyball team is off to a fast start in its first Old Colony League season and takes a 3-0 record into the game today (Thursday) at Dennis-Yarmouth.

Next Wednesday the Quincy girls will host North Quincy at 7 p.m.

Quincy improved to 3-0 Monday when it defeated Medway, 2-1.

Quincy had opened its season with an easy 2-0 (15-2, 15-2) win over Falmouth.

Leading the way were Lori Novak who had five aces, and Chris Barrett, with seven kills.

Quincy next defeated Weymouth, 2-0, with Jennifer Richmond having five kills and Julie McCloskey showing alert net play and converting five kills.

Coach Tom Henderson's team last year just missed winning its fourth state championship, losing to Case High of Swansea in a grueling five-game match in the finals. Quincy went 18-0 in winning another Suburban League title and was 22-0 going into the finals against Case.

Since only league members Quincy, North Quincy, Weymouth, Falmouth and Barnstable have volleyball, the Quincy girls face several outstanding teams in non-league matches. These include Brockton, Medway, Dennis-Yarmouth, Durfee, Milford, Lincoln-Sudbury and Westminster, Fla.

The Florida girls are going to visit Quincy and play the Quincy and North Quincy girls and tour the city.

"We have five returning starters which gives us a good nucleus," said Henderson. "They are Christine Barrett, Jennifer Richmond, Lori Novak, Melanie Sullivan and Erin Doherty."

Others who will contribute are seniors Julie McCloskey and Rhonda Gaura, junior Susan McCole and sophomore Liz Noble.

"Seven returning seniors provide great experience," said Henderson. "New people will fill roles and if they stay healthy, they should do well. A new league and several non-league matches should create added enthusiasm."

11 Champions Crowned In City Tennis Tourney

The 12th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Granite Bank came to a close last Sunday with 11 champions crowned in eight events.

Tournament action was over a three week period.

Defending Men's singles champion Oscar Jara defeated Tom Savoie 6-1, 6-4.

Jara will retain the Lionel "Shine" Buckley Cup, presented to themen's single city champions.

The Women's singles saw a newcomer to the Quincy Tennis Tournament scene. The U.S. Opener had 14-year old Jennifer Capriati and the Quincy Tournament had a 14 year old Pamela Trafton who defeated Louise Durante, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

She then teamed up with her mother Gail Trafton, to win the women's doubles crown over the always tough team of Louise Durante and Hildy Gillis, 6-4, 6-4. This match was highlighted by great net play throughout the match.

Two of Quincy's finest young players faced each other in the Boy's 16 and under singles finals. Kevin Murphy and Christian Ciavaro played two hard fought sets with Murphy winning 6-1, 6-3.

The Men's 35 and over singles draw received some bad news this year: Wayne Chatterton had turned 35. Champion in the open men's singles, Chatterton took the men's 35 title 6-1, 6-1 over Chanapual Akathaporn.

The Men's B singles saw two close friends and doubles partners play for the single crown. Robert Palermo brought a steady baseline game to the final and defeated Peter DiGiosa, 6-1, 6-4.

In the final match for the William F. Ryan Cup, the mixed doubles final placed Steve Durante and Alison Sughrue against the experienced team of Joe Ryan and Hildy Gillis. In the end the strong net play of Durante and great service return of Sughrue proved too much for Gillis and Ryan, as they won 6-3, 6-4.

Recreation Director Barry Walch, who presented awards to the city champions, said he was pleased with the success of this year's tournament. Walch praised co-sponsor Granite Bank for its community awareness and tournament directors John Franceschini and longtime assistant Steve Durante.

'Music And Politics' At First Parish Sept. 30

The first of a unique series of cultural programs will be held Sept. 30 at 3 p.m. at United First Parish Church, "Church of the Presidents."

As a tribute to the world's quest for freedom, the program is being sponsored by a partnership of First Parish Church and the Quincy Historical Society to encourage the spirit of community and enrich its cultural life.

This first program, "Music and Politics of the 18th Century," will feature chamber music performed by the Scarborough Chamber Players combined with historical narrative by Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, pastor.

Connecting music with the rise of democracy, the program will journey with the Adams family as they worked to secure freedom for our new nation. Dr. Bennett will talk about the music the Adams family both heard and played here in Massachusetts and in the courts of Europe.

As the Adams family traveled for freedom, musical masters spread their artistic influence by performing in these very cities. Dr. Bennett will talk about how music expressed and inspired the spirit of our new age and how that spirit also led to the democratization of music itself.

This remarkable program is made possible through the collaboration of the Scarborough Chamber Players, First Parish Church, and the Quincy Historical Society. Besides combining talents and resources and reducing expenses, the partnership enabled Scarborough to apply as a representative of three organizations for partial funding by the Quincy Arts Lottery Council. Such local collaboration is especially significant at a time of economic distress.

The Scarborough Chamber Players, soprano, flute, violin, viola, cello, harp, harpsichord and piano will perform works of Handel, C.P.E. Bach, Quantz, Mozart, Krumpoltz and Glinka. Under the artistic direction of Virginia Sindelar and based in Quincy since 1982, Scarborough has performed throughout the United States, in South America and the Orient.

Scarborough also has produced a series of programs for television featuring American composers. Committed to educating young audiences, Scarborough players have performed for over 60,000 children in Massachusetts.

Historically, First Parish Church has served as a community meeting house since Colonial times, and has long supported the ideals of democratic and just society, as exemplified by such of its past members as the Adams presidents.

Dr. Bennett says the church today is sponsoring this ongoing series of cultural events both to support the arts and inspire the principles of community. Future programs will include music of minority composers and a program featuring music of Eastern Europe in tribute to the struggle for freedom by these peoples.

"Music and Politics of the 18th Century" is a delightful program to surprise and entertain listeners of all ages. Admission is $5 at the door or tickets may be purchased in advance at the Quincy Historical Society, 773-1144, or United First Parish Church, 773-1290.

Survey Finds

46.2% Of Homes On South Shore Priced At Or Below $150,000

A study of the residential real estate market by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) shows that 46.2 percent of the condominiums and single-family homes on the market on the South Shore are priced at or below $150,000.

Additionally, the study indicates that nearly one-fifth of the homes are for sale for $125,000 or less and 9.4 percent of those same properties are priced at or below $100,000.

Completed during the month of August, the MAR study details the availability of single-family properties listed through Realtor-affiliated multiple listing services (MLS) in Massachusetts. The report on the South Shore covers the 60 cities and towns which lie within the jurisdictions of the Attleboro Area, Greater Brockton, North Bristol County, Plymouth County, and Quincy-South Shore Boards of Realtors.

In actual numbers, the study found that 2,555 of the 5,528 single-family homes and condominiums on the market on the South Shore are priced at or below $150,000. Of these properties, 1,082 (19.6 percent) are listed for $125,000 or less and 521 are listed for $100,000 or less.

"We're very pleased with what the numbers show," observed Lorraine Troup-Walsh, south shore region vice president for the Massachusetts Association of Realtors. "Some people certainly will be surprised by the actual percentages, however this report merely provides evidence that the local housing market is full of many quality homes not just at the upper end of the market but at the lower end as well.

From a statewide perspective, the Realtors' study reveals that 21,102 of the 50,861 single-family properties currently on the market in the Bay State are for sale for $150,000 or less. Additionally, 12,184 (24 percent) of the 50,861 condos and single-family homes for sale are priced at or below $125,000 and 6,153 of those homes are listed for $100,000 or less.

"The fact that there are so many single-family homes currently on the market for $150,000 or less demonstrates that there is a real opportunity for first-time buyers to get into the market now," said MAR President J. Thomas Marquis. "The current high inventory of homes, as well as price reductions which have led to a five percent decline in the statewide average selling price during the past year, have truly made this one of the best buyers markets in years."

At 46.2 percent, the South Shore ranked fourth among the seven regions of the state in terms of the highest percentage of single-family MLS property for sale for $150,000. Among other areas, the percentages were: Southeast Region-59.5 percent; Western Region-57.5 percent; Central Region-52.6 percent; Cape Cod-45.8 percent; and the Northeast Region-29 percent.

"The findings of this study are significant because they depict a housing market which is filled with thousands of homes priced within reach of the first-time home buyer," Marquis stated. "While housing may remain too expensive for some in certain locations, it is not the case everywhere. Hopefully, this study will dispel the myth that there is no affordably priced housing in Massachusetts."

In terms of estimated costs, home buyers who obtain a 30-year fixed rate mortgages at a 10% interest rate can expect monthly payments on a $150,000 home of $1,053.10 with 20% down, $1,184.74 with 10% down and $1,250.56 with 5% down.

On a $125,000 home with similar terms, the monthly payments would be $877.58 at 20% down, $987.58 at 10% down and $1,024.14 with 5% down. On a $100,000 house, the monthly payments would be $702.06, $789.82 and $833.70 at 20%, 10% and 5% down respectively.

Marquis said on an annual basis actual housing costs would be lower due to the savings a homeowner would realize from federal tax deductions on mortgage interest. He also encouraged first-time buyers to inquire about low-interest mortgage funds from the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency and to contact area banks regarding down-payment assistance programs and other plans which offer reduced rates or relief on closing costs.

"While some prospective home buyers have been reluctant to act during this uncertain economic time, this buyers market can't last forever. It would be foolish not to take advantage of the lower home prices, reasonable interest rates, and the tremendous selection of housing inventory and first-time buyer mortgage programs available today," Marquis said.

The MAR study detailing the availability of homes for first-time buyers was conducted as part of the Association's summer-long "Yes You Can Buy a Home in Massachusetts" public awareness campaign.

Organized in 1924, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors is a voluntary trade group with more than 17,000 members. The term Realtor is registered as the exclusive trademark of members of the National Association of Realtors who subscribe to a strict code of ethics.

Lawrence Linskey Completes Air Traffic Controller Course

Lawrence Linskey, son of James Linskey Sr. of Quincy, recently completed the Federal Aviation Administration's nine-week air traffic controller basic course at the FAA Academy in Oklahoma City.

Before coming to the Mike Monroney Aeronautical Center in Oklahoma, Linskey passed written and physical examinations under civil service.

Only 60 percent of students usually complete the course, which teaches air traffic procedures and handling of large and small aircraft in the nation's airspace system.

Completion of the screening program gives Linskey a civil service rating of GS-9. Most graduates stay for additional training before entering an apprenticeship.

Upon reporting for duty in FAA's New England region, Linskey will work toward the air traffic control journeyman classification.

YOU'VE BEEN THINKING ABOUT IT? YOU'VE BEEN TALKING ABOUT IT? NOW, DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

This is the time to buy. The selection of homes has NEVER been better! Interest rates are stable. What are you waiting for?

situation wasn't so difficult. I don't think hiring firefighters would have made me happy."

O'Connell, who said his family supports his decision, said he doesn't believe he will ever want to be chief again.

"I don't believe so. I don't regret the 18 months. It was a great experience. I learned a lot. I met a lot of nice and cooperative people.

"I tried but it wasn't for me. I had it right the first time when I turned down the job."

February, 1989 by former Mayor Francis X. McCauley. Ironically, O'Connell did not want the chief's job at first. With the chief's job vacant, created by the retirement of former Chief Carl Valenti in June 1988, O'Connell was the only candidate to pass the Civil Service exam and qualify for the job.

However, he declined, citing family reasons. As a result, McCauley appointed Gorman acting chief.

Then, in February, 1989, O'Connell notified McCauley that he wanted to be considered for the job. He told the mayor that after much more thought and discussion with his family, he had "a change of heart" and believed he was ready for the job.

As chief, O'Connell earned $66,793. As deputy, he'll receive an annual salary of $55,357.

A decorated Vietnam veteran, O'Connell joined the department as a firefighter in June, 1973. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1978, captain in November, 1984 and deputy chief in January, 1987.

Gorman, is a 27-year veteran of the department. O'Connell told Sheets about his decision in a letter next Tuesday. After accepting his request, the mayor asked Deputy Joseph Jackson, the senior deputy on the force, if he wanted to be acting chief.

Jackson declined, Sheets said. The mayor then asked Gorman, the next ranking deputy, Gorman told Sheets he would serve as acting chief until a successor is appointed.

Sheets has called for a civil service examination from which a list of candidates will be compiled. The mayor said he will appoint from within the department as long as a Quincy officer qualifies.

Although the details of the test have not been set, Sheets said the exam will be taken next March.

Once the list is compiled, Sheets said he expects he'll make an appointment within two to four weeks.

9-Hole Golf Course Planned At Marina Bay

Plans for a proposed nine-hole public golf course at Marina Bay will be publicly unveiled at a special general meeting of the Squantum Community Association tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at the Squantum Community Center, 136 Standish Ave.

The public is invited to attend.

Walter Hannon of the Boston Harbor Marina Company will present the company's proposal.

The City Council will hold a public hearing on the planned golf course Monday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. inside the Council Chambers of City Hall.

The course would be situated on approximately 15 acres between Victory Rd. and O'Connell Way in the Marina Bay area. The land is part of the old Squantum Naval air strip.

According to Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, the proposal calls for a par three course larger than a "pitch and putt" but smaller than other area courses such as the Rockland Golf Course. The course might include a par four hole.

According to the plan, lengths of the holes would range from less than 100 yards to about 130 yards.

The proposal also calls for a small clubhouse measuring 32 feet by 52 feet. Nutley emphasized the plan does not call for food or alcohol to be served.

The clubhouse would have a small pro shop, vending machines with soft drinks and an area for golfers to congregate.

Council: Flag Desecration A Crime

In a patriotic stand, the City Council resolved to endorse any and all actions which make desecration of the American flag a crime at its meeting Monday night.

Introduced by Councillors Peter Kolson, Thomas Nutley and Council President Ted DeCristofaro, resolution was approved by an 8-0 vote. Councillor Patricia Toland did not attend the meeting.

The resolution, which will be forwarded to President George Bush and the state's congressional and senatorial delegations, reads, "Be it resolved that the City Council of the City of Quincy respectfully forward to the President of the United States of America a resolution for support in respectfully disagreeing with those who are in opposition and who refuse to accept our standard bearer of peace, "Our American Flag," a resolution in which we wholeheartedly endorse any and all actions which make such desecration of the flag a crime."

Robert LaFleur, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, thanked the council for the resolution. "I do appreciate the council for putting this resolution through," he said.

Curbside Collection Begins Oct. 15 Leaf Composting Plan Could Save City $220,000

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A leaf composting program which officials say has the potential to save Quincy up to $220,000 in waste disposal costs this fiscal year was unveiled at Monday's City Council meeting.

The program will begin Monday, Oct. 15 and continue for six weeks through the end of November. Browning-Ferris Industries, the city's trash hauler, will collect the leaves weekly on the same days rubbish is collected in the city's neighborhoods.

The leaf collection is part of the city's recycling agreement with BFI. Quincy is paying BFI $249,000 this year to collect paper, glass and plastics weekly as well as leaves for six weeks this fall.

If residents maintain an 80 percent participation rate, the recycling program could save Quincy $250,000. If 3000 tons of leaves are collected, Quincy would save another $220,000 in trash hauling fees.

For every ton diverted from the city's solid waste stream, $74 is saved. If 1,500 tons of leaves are collected, $111,000 will be saved. If 3,000 tons of leaves are collected, $222,000 will be saved.

The city's cost to fund the recycling program is $4,788 a week.

Unlike in Weymouth, BFI is not supplying large paper bags for leaf collection in Quincy. Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro asked Public Works Commissioner David Colton why the city is not receiving the bags.

Colton said the city pursued the bags but BFI did not want the bags included in its recycling contract with Quincy. Colton said the paper bags, which stand about three feet high, did not fare well in Weymouth.

Ward 1 Councillor Peter Kolson said the city will look into acquiring paper bags in the spring.

Colton said BFI prefers residents to collect leaves in a container such as a barrel or large paper bags which can be purchased at local supermarkets. Leaves in plastic bags will be accepted but they will be emptied at the curb and left behind, Colton said.

According to Planner Michael Wheelwright, collected leaves will be piled in a two and a half acre composting site near the Public Works garage on Sea St. behind the Broad Meadows Middle School.

There will be a 10-foot access road to the site which will be surrounded by a seven and a half foot chain link fence.

Councillors Thomas Nutley and Charles Phelan expressed concern over youngsters getting into the composting area.

"The site is very secure," Colton said, adding, DPW employees will watch the site.

Leaves will be stockpiled and covered with a tarp. Wheelwright said. After some decomposing, the leaves will be arranged into wind rows and eventually turned.

"The attempt here is to get as much material on the two and a half acre site and reduce it through the composting process and then get it off site so the process can start over again," Wheelwright told the council.

He projected between 1,500 and 3,000 tons of leaves will be collected. The compost will be marketed and used throughout the city.

Councillors commended Colton, Wheelwright, Mayor James A. Sheets and Chretien who is the city's Recycling Chairman for their work on the recycling effort.

"The city of Quincy can be justifiably proud because of its high participation rates," Kolson said. Phelan added the city's recycling program is "well on track."

Chretien said statistics show leaves represent 10 percent of the solid waste stream. He also noted that the state plans to ban leaves from landfills and incinerators by 1992.

Pointing out recycling helps save the environment and has the potential to save the city thousands of dollars in these fiscally strapping times, Chretien said, "I encourage people who are recycling to continue and those who aren't to think about the environment and recycling's fiscal benefits."

Meeting on Leaf Composting Thursday

The public is invited to attend an informational meeting on the city's new leaf composting program tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room of City Hall.

The meeting is being sponsored by Mayor James A. Sheets, Ward 3 Councillor

Lawrence Chretien and the Public Works.

The first half hour will be an open discussion to determine what is needed to maintain and improve the level of success of the city's recycling program.

Details of Quincy's fast-approaching leaf composting program will then be discussed. Officials hope the leaf collection begins in Quincy Oct. 15. The composting program has the potential to save Quincy more than $220,000.

Citizens with questions about composting or recycling are encouraged to call the hotline 770-BINS.

First Half 1991 Real Estate Bills Due Nov. 1

The first half fiscal 1991 real estate tax bills were mailed by last Friday, City Treasurer/Collector Dana Childs announces.

Bills were issued as preliminary bills calculated at one half of the fiscal 1990 total because the tax rate has not been set.

A total of 24,075 bills were mailed and are due on or before Nov. 1. All payments received after the due date will be charged interest at 14 percent computed back to Oct. 1, 1990. The collector reminds taxpayers that payment is considered late if received after Nov. 1 regardless of the postmark date.

Taxpayers who do not receive their bill by Friday,

Oct. 5 should contact the collector's office at 773-1380 Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

New owners since Jan. 1, 1990 are advised that tax bills for 1991 will be issued in the name of the old owner. They should obtain a copy of the bill from the old owner or the tax office.

3 Quincy Agencies Receive $71,000 From Project Bread

Project Bread recently awarded $71,000 to be distributed to three Quincy and Wollaston-based agencies to help their hunger relief effort. Receiving the funds are Dove, Inc., the Quincy Crisis Center and the Quincy Community Action Programs. The funds, part of a record breaking $3 million in grants from Project Bread, were raised by a recent 20-mile Walk for Hunger. Some 40,000 walkers participated.

Shoshana Pakciarz, executive director for Project Bread, said the funding represents the success of an entire community coming together with a common goal — to raise funds to help feed the hungry.

"In light of the current fiscal crisis and downturn in the local economy, it is especially gratifying that so many thousands of individuals responded to the growing problem of hunger in Massachusetts — 40,000 walkers supported by over 400,000 sponsors raised an unprecedented $4 million in pledges," Pakciarz said.

"These are critical times for us," said Mary Brelsford, director of the Quincy Community Action Programs. "More and more working families come through our doors every day who cannot make ends meet." "Thanks to all the wonderful people who supported the Walk For Hunger this year, we will receive a grant from Project Bread which will enable us to help hundreds of individuals by providing food during their difficult times," she added.

Neighborhood Meeting Planned On Beer And Wine License Request

By JANE ARENA

The License Board Tuesday allowed Nicholas Forziati to withdraw without prejudice his request for a malt and wine license for La Cucina Caterers, 698 Hancock St.

Ward 5 Councilor Charles Phelan, in whose ward the business is located, told the board that, although neighbors have no problems with La Cucina, they do not want an alcoholic license of any kind in the area.

Phelan told the board he had spoken with Forziati on the request and had also talked with area residents and abutters. He brought with him a petition signed by several neighbors in opposition to the license.

Phelan said a neighborhood meeting is planned but has not yet been held due to scheduling problems. Forziati plans to meet with neighbors on the issue in the near future.

Forziati said his customers in La Cucina had requested the beer and wine license. He stressed that the business does not have a "barroom atmosphere" and is frequented mainly by senior citizens and adults.

He also said the establishment does not contribute to current traffic and parking problems in the neighborhood. He told the board he has always instructed his own customers to park on the main streets and not the residential side streets. He said that the addition of a beer and wine license would not likely impact the traffic.

Board chairman John Gillis suggested that the request be withdrawn until Forziati has a chance to hold a neighborhood meeting.

"If you can get the neighbors on your side," he said, "this board would have no problem with it."

Forziati will be able to reapply for the license after he holds the neighborhood meeting.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action during Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Boston Harbor Marina, Inc. Seaport, 100 Marina Drive, for a license to store 6,000 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars underground (in a garage) and 250 gallons of diesel fuel for an engine generator. There was no opposition to the request.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy Hockey Team to hold canning dates on Thursday through Saturday, Dec. 20, 21 and 22.

- Granted a request from the St. Ann's School PTA for a one-day liquor license for a fundraising dance to be held Saturday, Oct. 27, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

- Granted a request from Ann Barrett of Cafe Hawaii, 500 Victory Rd., Marina Bay, for a one-day extension of their liquor license for an Oktoberfest to be held Thursday (today) for the employees of Thompson & Thompson. The establishment has a license to sell alcohol but not to pour it.

- Granted a request from the Wollaston School PTO for a license to hold a "Pumpkin Day" on the school grounds on Friday, Oct. 13 from 9 a.m. to noon.

Pumpkins and baked goods will be sold to raise funds for the purpose of landscaping the school grounds.

- Granted a request for a transfer of the Common Victualer license at McDonalds, 473 Southern Artery, to Chuck Hamilton, the new franchise owner. No changes are planned at the establishment.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy Knights of Columbus, Order No. 2259, for a license to conduct their annual totisolee roll drive to raise funds for retarded and physically handicapped children to be held Oct. 4 through Oct. 7.

Quincy Hospital Begins Services Program Geared To Asian Community

Quincy Hospital has begun an outreach program geared toward making its services more accessible to the growing Asian population in Quincy.

The program's primary goals include increasing the number of Asian personnel on the hospital's staff, including physicians and social workers; making the hospital's information services, such as telephone system and signage, more accessible to Asian patients; and planning long-term to find resources for future services.

With these goals in mind, Quincy Hospital has recently installed an AT&T service known as "Language Line" which provides around-the-clock telephone translation services in more than 140 languages, including a wide range of Southeast Asian and Chinese languages and dialects. Key members of the hospital's departments have been trained to use the system. In addition, the hospital's automated telephone answering system will soon be modified to include a greeting message and information options in Cantonese as well as English.

The outreach effort will be coordinated by Ben Beres, the hospital's director of physician services, assisted by two Asian consultants who have initiated and managed community health services in Chinatown: Pancho Chang, former director of the South Cove Community Health Center, and Stephanie Fan, a Chinatown activist.

In addition, a city-wide flu clinic will be held Saturday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Quincy Health Department, 1120 Hancock St.

This year's flu shot contains the strains A/Taiwan, A/Shanghai and B/Yamagata to provide immunity against the types of flu which have been circulating in the past year and thought to be most likely to occur in the United States this winter.

Because the influenza vaccine contains only non-infectious viruses it cannot cause influenza.

Annual vaccination against influenza is recommended for:

• Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems.

• Residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities.

• Healthy people over age 65.

• People of any age who during the past year have regularly seen a doctor or have been admitted to a hospital for treatment for kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, anemia (low blood) or severe asthma.

• People who have a type of cancer or immunological disorder (or use certain type medicines) that lowers the body's normal resistance to infections after checking with their physician.

• Children and teenagers

(six months to 18 years) on long-term treatment with aspirin who, if they catch the flu, may be at risk of getting Reye Syndrome.

• Health care workers or others providing care to high risk persons.

• Anyone who wishes to reduce his/her chances of catching the flu.

Persons who would not be given the flu shot include those with an allergy to eggs or egg products that cause dangerous reactions if they eat eggs.

Anyone who has been paralyzed with Guillain-Barre Syndrome. Women who might be or are pregnant should seek advice from their physician about special risks that might exist in their cases. Persons who are ill and have a fever should delay vaccination until the fever and other temporary symptoms are gone.

Flu vaccine will only be given to Quincy residents 18 years old and older. All others are advised to check with family physicians.

Shut-ins should call the Quincy Health Nursing Department at 773-1380 ext. 238 to arrange a house visit by the public health nurse.

9-Hole Golf Course Proposed

Nutley said the maximum party size for any given hole would be four players. The proposal calls for 20 parking spaces.

The 60-acre area the golf course would be located on is zone Planned Unit Development. Nutley said the city's Conservation Commission will determine whether the site is located on wetlands. He also noted "clean fill" would be put on any moist ground. Nutley called the proposal "interesting" but did not say whether he supports or opposes it. "I really haven't had a chance to think about it."

Before forming an opinion, the councillor said he wants to hear what residents near the development think about the project. He also noted he plans on holding at least three hearings on the proposal, one each for the people living in Squantum, Marina Bay and the Atlantic neighborhood area.

Free Lectures On Signs Of Depression

In recognition of Mental Illness Awareness Week, Oct. 8-12, Quincy Hospital's Psychiatric Service and Quincy Psychiatric Associates are offering three free lectures Thursday, Oct. 11 that will focus on recognizing depression.

In addition, participants can complete a confidential self-evaluation questionnaire on depression and discuss the results individually with a mental health professional.

The half hour lectures will be held at the Quincy Hospital, 114 Whitwell St., at 2 p.m., 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. in the Education Center. Douglas Jacobs, M.D., a nationally recognized expert on suicide and one of the principals of Quincy Psychiatric Associates, will be the speaker.

Following the lectures, participants can complete a confidential questionnaire designed to help identify the signs of depression, and review their individual results with mental health professionals from Quincy Psychiatric Associates.

This program is not designed to diagnose depression, but rather to help people identify the signs and symptoms of depression and determine whether follow-up consultation with a mental health professional would be beneficial. Depression is much more than "a case of the blues" and is a disease that can be treated.

Great strides have been made in the mental health arena. Anyone wishing to participate in the free health education program should call the Quincy Hospital Public Relations Department 773-6100, ext. 4016 to register.

Communications Workshop At City Hall

Participants will explore the similarities and differences which exist within and between all racial and ethnic groups, by talking with each other.

A diverse group of participants, regardless of fluency in English, is welcome. Anyone able to provide translation into Vietnamese, Cantonese, Spanish, or any other language or knows of someone who will attend if translation is provided should contact Janet Ellis, equal opportunity administrator, at 773-1380, ext. 486.

YOU CAN NEVER SAVE ENOUGH FOR THESE KINDS OF RAINY DAYS!

Most people have observed changing weather patterns over the recent years. One phenomena that seems to be increasing is torrential rainfalls in certain parts of the country.

Unfortunate homeowners caught in such weather have now come to realize that flood insurance is not a luxury. And to new home buyers, be aware that under Federal law, flood insurance may be a requirement for your mortgage loan. Failure to maintain flood insurance may also jeopardize the terms and conditions of your mortgage. Be aware also that flood insurance coverage is not available under most homeowner policies.

The Federal government has created the National Flood Insurance Program to provide flood insurance protection at a reasonable cost. Check with your local agent today to get all the facts on this vital form of property protection. At a time when flooding can cause billions of dollars worth of damage, it is naive to presume it can't happen to you.

If you are considering protection get in touch with the insurance professionals at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Please visit our office at 1650 Hancock Street in Quincy or give us a call at 471-8206.

Bellotti And The Jinx

You might say that Frank Bellotti ran into an old Quincy gubernatorial jinx this year.

Down through the years, four Quincy men have run for governor and only one made it. The lone winner: Quincy born patriot John Hancock. But he was living in Boston at the time.

The other three Quincyites — all living in Quincy at the time they campaigned — ran a total of seven times and came away on the losing end seven times.

HANCOCK

John Quincy Adams, great grandson of the second President, grandson of the sixth president and son of Charles Francis Adams, minister to England, ran four times back when the governor's term was only one year. Alexander Bullock of Worcester whipped him in 1867. William Claflin of Newton handed him successive defeats in 1868 and 1869.

Adams seemed to be making progress, cutting Claflin's plurality from 68,000 to 23,000. But, in 1871, Greenfield's William Washburn delivered the fourth political kayo.

Five years later, his brother Charles Francis Adams, Jr. gave it the old family try. And lost to another Newton man, Alexander Rice.

For Bellotti and the Adams boys: seven up, seven down.

Hancock, the only Quincy winner, served 11 years as governor between 1780 and his death in 1793 with a two-year break in 1786-87.

Those one-year terms might not have been such a bad idea back then. They wouldn't work today in a faster moving era.

But do we really need four year terms? With the way things are now in "Massachusetts," we might be better off with two-year terms.

Being stuck with the wrong governor for four years is an awful long time.

WE WANT TO thank Mayor Jim Sheets for stepping in as a guest columnist while we were off on a little cruise.

We liked the theme "We're Together." Sheets certainly deserves a major share of the credit for bringing the city together during these most difficult economic times.

We don't get away that often but next time we do, we'd like His Honor to step in again. He has a nice sincere way of putting words together.

Like A Second Mother

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Several months ago I came to this area from Minnesota in charge of managing three other college students. We were employed by the Southwestern Company out of Nashville, Tenn. selling educational and home reference materials to help earn our college tuitions.

Our only contact on arrival was an area church, which tried to find us a good safe place to stay for the summer. One very kind lady opened her home to us when asked and cared for us like we were her own. Her name is Mrs. Judy Balzano, and she is a fantastic person! She fixed us home cooked meals, listened to our problems, gave us positive encouragement and even sat up in the hospital until 3 a.m. when one of our group was injured in a bicycle accident. She was like a second mother to us. Our own parents called and wrote to express their appreciation for the decent moral environment and loving care she gave us.

We know that Judy is running for state Representative in this area. We've seen her out campaigning for hours each evening after a hard day's work, but when she got home she still had time for us, always with a kind word and a smile. Words can't express our gratitude to Judy Balzano — "our second Mom". If Judy shows just half the care for the people who elect her as she's shown for four students a long way from home, the district will be in very good hands. Thank you, Judy!!!

Question 3 Just Goes Too Far

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Kudos to the Quincy Citizens for Quality Education for starting their public education campaign against Question 3.

If enough angry voters — and the aftermath of Primary Day verified the anger — believe the false promises of Barbara Anderson and Citizens for Limited Taxation that needed state, city and town services can continue by simply cutting out nebulous waste, the CLT-tax rollback will pass.

And that — for the poor, the elderly, the handicapped, motorists, school children and everybody else living in Massachusetts — will indeed be a sad day. The Bay State's economy will resemble Argentina's or Mexico's. The ability of the state to serve those in need will be shattered.

As a parent of a preschooler, I am very concerned about public education if Question 3 passes and as a state employee in the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health doing direct-patient care, I know from first-hand experience that current cuts are hurting people but if folks think these cuts are painful, they should start to think about the cuts mandated in Question 3. Today is a tea party in comparison.

Question 3 just goes too far.

Funding Approved For Asian Language Services

The City Council approved funding for Asian language services, new water meters, an out-of-state trip for the commissioner of Public Works and a small bridge in Ward I Monday night.

The four appropriations totaled $71,200.

By a 7-1 vote, the Council approved $27,500 from the UDAG account for Asian language services. Ward I Councillor Peter Kolson voted against the order.

Kolson said he supported $5,500 of the appropriation for emergency interpretation services but opposed $22,000 for more English classes for the community's Asian population. After the meeting, he said he thinks the city has spent enough money on the classes.

Kolson asked to separate the orders but was told he could not. He then withdrew his motion and voted no against the entire appropriation.

The council okayed $24,000 as the city's share for new water meters. The actual cost of the new meters is $48,000 but DPW Commissioner David Colton will apply for state funding to cover half the purchase.

Councillors Michael Cheney and Ted DeCristofaro said the new meters will help provide accurate water readings and bills.

An appropriation of $18,500 for a new bridge near Rockland St. in Ward I was approved. Colton said the present bridge needs new blocks to prevent erosion in the area. He said a good size storm this winter could "wipe it out."

Kolson, who said the present bridge is in deplorable condition, added, "We're out there playing without a net."

The Council also approved $1,200 which will allow Colton to attend and speak at a national roadway rehabilitation and maintenance conference in San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 5-7.

Besides speaking at the conference, Colton said he will gather important technical information which will be helpful to him and the city.

"I'm very pleased to have been asked. I'm honored," he told councillors.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Delcevere King Protests Lack Of Harvard Crimson

Delcevere King of Quincy (Harvard '98) protested to the Harvard Student Council against the use of colors other than Harvard crimson at the various class reunions.

It was embarrassing, he said, to attend his class dinner in June and find the colors most in evidence to be blue and white right after Yale had beaten Harvard in baseball.

King was fresh from an intensive campaign to introduce the word "scofflaw" into the English language to define someone who defied the American prohibition laws.

ZONING SURVEY UNDERWAY

President Scott of Technical Advisory Corp. of New York told the Quincy Planning Board that a field survey, the first step in the zoning of Quincy, had been finished and new maps made.

Scott said the preliminary survey had shown that the city was especially rich in playground areas, which he called a "most fortunate condition."

"I don't know who has been responsible," he said, "but it is an indication of most remarkable foresight on the part of some governing body."

SAFETY RECORD HAILED

The city of Quincy drew praise from the State department of Motor Vehicles for a highway safety record that showed only four auto deaths in 1924 compared to 11 in 1923.

"The record in Quincy is a remarkably good one," said DMV Statistician C.B. Hubbell. "Quincy is what may be called a 'through route' city, many thousands of tourists passing through it."

Nancy's Manicotti Easy To Make

One rainy afternoon while I was at the doctor's having some tests, our daughter Nancy surprised us with the most delicious dinner when my husband and I arrived home. She made manicotti from an old recipe of my mothers and couldn't believe how simple they were to prepare. And with only three main ingredients.

NANCY'S EASY TO MAKE

1 cup flour
2 eggs
1 cup water

Mix all ingredients together until smooth. Heat a small frying pan until hot. With a pastry brush, brush oil, and wait until that is hot. Measure a quarter cup or so of the mixture and spread it around with a spoon until the pan is covered with the liquid. Do not turn. In about a minute, it is done and slips out of the pan with a spatula. Line them up on waxed paper until they are all cooked and then filled with the following:

RICOTTA SPINACH FILLING

1 bag or 1 pkg. chopped spinach
1 Lb Ricotta
2 Tbsps seasoned bread crumbs

A couple sprigs fresh parsley chopped fine (or jarred equivalent) ¼ cup grated Romano cheese
1 egg
salt and pepper to taste
more grated cheese for topping

Cook the spinach and drain. Mix with all other ingredients. Fill each manicotti in the center and then roll and put rolled part on the bottom of the pan. Layer them in a slightly greased baking pan and cover with tomato sauce and grated cheese. Bake uncovered in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes or until hot.

If you make these ahead of time, don't put tomato sauce on the top until you are ready to bake them. You may also eliminate the spinach and just use the regular ricotta filling.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Preville's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

"THE MAIN REASON I LIKE NATURAL GAS IS SIMPLE. IT'S DEPENDABLE."

Daniel Shea
Retired Police Officer

"With gas, the supply is always there. I don't have to think about it."

"Because gas burns so cleanly, my heating equipment runs very efficiently."

"If I didn't have to worry about heat during the Blizzard of '78, I'll never have to worry."

BOSTON GAS: How long have you been using natural gas?

DANIEL SHEA: I switched to natural gas almost 20 years ago and I have never regretted it. With gas, the supply is always there. I don't have to think about it. It's very dependable.

BOSTON GAS: Do you use gas just for heating?

DANIEL SHEA: No. As a matter of fact I use gas for everything—heat, hot water, cooking, the clothes dryer—everything.

BOSTON GAS: How have they performed for you?

DANIEL SHEA: No problems at all. I like natural gas so much that I talked my sister-in-law into switching. Now everything in her house runs on gas.

BOSTON GAS: You switched all those appliances to gas just because it's dependable?

DANIEL SHEA: Dependable and cleaner. Because gas burns

DANIEL SHEA: If I didn't have to worry about heat during the Blizzard of '78, I'll never have to worry.

BOSTON GAS: Sounds as though you like gas so much, you should do an ad.

DANIEL SHEA: I think I just did.

Natural gas can solve many of your energy problems, too. From home heating to water heating, cooking and drying clothes, gas is clean, efficient and has a plentiful supply from right here in North America. And for a limited time, you still have an opportunity to order our Home Heating Service Plan which is like insurance for your heating equipment. For more information, call Boston Gas. To find out more about updating or replacing your heating equipment, contact your local heating and plumbing contractor or Boston Gas.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

D. Scott Deware

Fate seems sometimes to delight in making strange combinations among the pieces of the game it plays through the centuries ... Did you know that Queen Isabella of Spain and Christopher Columbus were born in the same year ... 1487 Queen Isabella was born on April 22 at Madrid de Las Alfas Torres and Columbus in Genoa between August and October ... It is also believed by some historians that Amerigo Vesputci was born in the same year.

Fate or coincidence? Who knows! But one thing we do know is that these three protagonists of the great oceanic adventure changed the face of the world ... the discoverer, his noble patron and man from whom the new world was to take its name were all born in the first year of the second half of the 15th century, which was to open a new period of history ...

Regional Democratic Campaign Headquarters Opens Here Friday

Quincy Democratic City Committee Chairman Daniel Raymondi announces the opening of a Regional Democratic Campaign Headquarters at 94 Washington St., Quincy. Area residents and all candidates are invited to attend the grand opening of the headquarters Friday, Oct. 5 at 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served. "This headquarters will not only provide a centralized area for all our Democratic candidates to make use of but will also be a focal point for the distribution of voter information to all residents," Raymondi said. Louise Brabazon will manage and coordinate the headquarters. A long time democrat in the city, she was secretary to the City Council before her retirement earlier this year.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE awaited faculty members of the Charles A. Bernazzani School as they returned this fall. Unbeknown to them, parent volunteers washed, painted and stenciled the walls of the teachers' room so that faculty members would have a more pleasant place to work in. Drapes and valences, baskets of flowers, pillows and decorations were chosen that coordinated the color scheme and stenciling. Volunteers pictured are from left, Margaret Mahoney, fourth grade teacher; parents Deborah Golden, Sheila Petrucci, Nancy Kelly, parent-teacher committee president; and Catherine Barrett, first grade teacher.

Thinking Of Getting A Dog To Protect Your Property?

Unquestionably, a dog in the house or in the yard deters an intruder. Whether you have a small dog with a loud bark or a large intimidating animal, a dog becomes an added risk factor for a thief. If you are at home, a dog's sensitive smell and hearing can give you extra warning time.

Dogs are fine for watching. They bark, they can be taught to attack an intruder, but there are many things they cannot be taught such as to distinguish between an intruder and your neighbor's five year old child or your visiting aunt. Dogs generally do not refuse any kind of food; a thief can offer poisoned or doped food to put the dog out of action.

Bear in mind that a dog is not infallible. Many burglars have a way with animals, and others are not afraid to harm an animal.

Attack Dogs:

An attack dog can be any large animal trained to be aggressive toward strangers and very protective of family members. Because such dogs can be terribly vicious, they can sometimes generate more problems than they resolve. One incident of severe aggression against an innocent party could conceivably involve the owner in a lawsuit that could be ruinous. Rather than an attack dog, choose a dog that can create a lot of noise. Noise that will scare away an intruder is what you really want from a watchdog.

Balzano Supports CLT Petition

Judy Balzano, Republican candidate for state representative in the Third Norfolk District, says she supports the "Citizens for Limited Taxation" petition to roll back taxes on the Nov. 6 ballot.

"It would have been possible not to have needed this initiative if our legislators had not been spending like drunken sailors for the past couple of years. But they wouldn't listen to our warnings, and as a result we face a crisis, which necessitates bitter medicine." Her opponents, incumbent Democrat Robert Cerasoli, and Independent Francis "Sandy" Eaton, have both announced they oppose the petition.

"I am the only candidate in this race who has been with Citizens for Limited Taxation from its beginning, contributing money and days of time to gather signature for Proposition 2½ and fight for fiscal sanity," Balzano said.

Although Barbara Anderson of CLT has endorsed Cerasoli, Balzano added, "I will work vigorously for the petition because it makes sense, and I will work within its limitations when elected."

"I hope the big, slick ads don't fool anyone about who the real conservative is in this race."

BEATING NAUSEA WITH THE BAND

There is a new treatment available for the miseries of morning sickness and motion sickness. The good news is that it is perfectly safe, has no side effects, and doesn't even involve taking a drug. You simply slide on a pair of elastic wristbands. A plastic button on each band exerts gentle pressure on an acupuncture point on the wrist called the Neiguan point. Pressure on this point has been shown to control nausea. In one study of pregnant women, at Belfast University in Ireland, up to 90 percent obtained relief from morning sickness while wearing the wrist bands. The wrist bands are also ideal for travelers because, unlike most anti-motion sickness drugs, they do not cause drowsiness and do not impair one's ability to operate a vehicle or steer a boat. Safe for people of all ages, they are sold in marine supply stores, travel agencies and pharmacies.

P.S. The bands may need to be shortened to be effective on children or anyone with thin arms.

Raiders Host Strong Barnstable Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team will try to even its record at 2-2 Friday night when it hosts Barnstable at 7 o'clock at Veterans Memorial Stadium after suffering a heartbreaking 9-6 loss to Plymouth last Friday night.

Plymouth freshman Justin Miller kicked a 22-yard field goal on the final play of the game to spoil a fine all-around performance by North.

The Raiders face another severe Old Colony League test Friday against a Barnstable team which defeated Plymouth and Bp. Stang and last week dropped a 13-9 decision to powerful Weymouth.

"We shouldn't be a 1-2 team, actually we should be 3-0," said North coach Ken McPhee. "We are a young team still making young mistakes every week, but tonight we made too many near the goal line."

"I said after our loss to Falmouth that we must establish a running game and we did that tonight, moving the ball well. On defense the kids played well but were hurt by some long gainers. We made two fine goal line stands on our five but the second one went for naught as Plymouth kicked the winning field goal."

North rushed for 140 yards

and added 69 on a nine for 16 passing night Mark Taylor. Plymouth rushed for 155 yards, mostly on long gainers, and completed only one pass, that for seven yards and a touchdown in seven attempts. North had 12 first downs to Plymouth's seven.

Chris Murray had a good night with 85 yards on 15 carries. Desmond Bellot, who stood out on defense with two open field tackles to prevent touchdowns, gained 15 yards on two pitchouts. Rich Brooks carried three times for 23 yards and Mark Cocozzo had 14 yards on six carries. Mark Kelleher had two receptions, one for the North touchdown.

"Adam Strout had another outstanding game both ways and Jason April had a fine defensive game," McPhee said.

Sophomore Liam Higgins barely missed a field goal attempt in the second quarter, the ball just falling short.

North stopped the Blue eagles cold after the opening kickoff after a 24-yard run by Tim Cherry. The Raiders moved the ball well, chalking up three first downs but Plymouth held.

Again the Raider defense held and they marched upfield again with three more first downs but the Blue Eagles again held, taking over on their 20 early in the second quarter.

Once again North's defense rose up and held and Plymouth punted to North's 48. A Taylor bomb was right on target but was dropped in the end zone. The Raiders had a good gain voided by a clipping penalty and the half ended scoreless.

North took the second half kickoff and consumed 7:09 as it took the lead. Murray did most of the ground gaining and Taylor hit Kelleher for 20 yards and a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

It didn't take the Blue eagles long to come back and tie it up. Cherry returned the kickoff all the way to North's 40 where he was stopped by Bellot's open field tackle. After quarterback Jason Bearce picked up 18 yards on a keeper, he passed to Kerry Maguire for the tying touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good.

A North Quincy pass was intercepted on North's 49 and Dave Durocher raced 45 yards to North's five, Bellot again making the stop. The Raiders held fast and took over but failed to gain and punted.

Again Plymouth had a first down on North's five. North held for three downs but, with 12 seconds left on the clock, young Miller kicked his field goal and it was all over.

The North Quincy cheerleaders entertained the crowd with a spirited show at halftime.

5 Score As North JV's Breeze By Falmouth

by PETE ZOIA

Five different players scored for the North Quincy junior varsity football team in a 26-0 victory over Falmouth.

Liam Higgins, sophomore quarterback, had a big day as he scored a touchdown, passed for two more and passed for a two-point conversion.

Chris Peck and Paul Kerr were the receivers on the two touchdown passes. Keith Lentini scored the other TD on a seven-yard run and Pat Shea caught a conversion pass.

Falmouth had only four first downs and was stymied by a strong North defense. It reached North's 20 once but was halted.

Matt Walsh of North had two pass interceptions, one being returned 22 yards to set up a score. Sergi Belcastro also intercepted a pass.

Coaches Tom Cater and Peter Chisom were pleased with the defense which hasn't allowed a point in two games. "Everyone played well," said Carter. Both coaches were impressed with the running of Mike Sweeney.

Outstanding for North Quincy were Chris Campbell, Scott Prouty, Mike Linnane, Mark Sinclair, Dave Reinhardt, Chris Galvin, Mark Makarewicz, Brendan O'Connell, Brian Toland, Scott Kolas, Steve Oakes, John O'Donnell, Mike Christopherson and Nick Mastrogiacomio.

The North freshmen weren't as fortunate as they lost to Plymouth, 20-8. Plymouth rocked the young Raiders by returning the game's opening kickoff for a touchdown. The lone North score came on a six-yard run by Mike Santoro on a quarterback option. George Wirtz added the two-point conversion.

Goalies Mike Manganaro and Tim Wassiege have combined for an impressive 0.50 goals against average.

Undefeated Presidents At Plymouth

The Quincy football team (2-0-1), following a 20-8 victory over Taunton, its first in the Old Colony League, will try to remain unbeaten Friday night when it plays at Plymouth at 7 o'clock.

The Blue Eagles, last year's Division 2 Super Bowl champions, dropped their first two games to Barnstable and Taunton, but last week pulled out a 9-6 win over North Quincy with a field goal on the final play of the game. "Our defense played its best game at Taunton and stopped their two big runners, who averaged over 100 yards a game in their previous two games," Quincy coach Jack Raymer said. "Bill Reardon had another great game with nine tackles and a fumble recovery, his third in two weeks, and Mark Bogan had another big night with seven tackles. Twice we stopped them inside our 10, once on the one-yard line."

Raymer had good words for Ally Sleiman, who replaced the injured Jason Anderson on defense in the second half. Anderson suffered a groin injury late in the first half.

He also praised Shawn Kennedy, Gary Collins, Dave Frye, Scott Buckmann, Mike Kavanagh and Graham Chevery for their outstanding defensive performances.

Bogan, Reardon, John O'Connor and sophomore Robby Kane excelled in the secondary. Kane, who has been outstanding in every game, stripped the ball from a Taunton ball carrier, setting up a score.

Offensively Bogan had his best game, carrying 22 times for 111 yards and scoring two touchdowns. Quarterback Mike Flavin was 7-for-14 for 148 yards and a touchdown and set up another. Chris Walker had four receptions for 96 yards and a touchdown and a two-point conversion.

Bob Crespi did a fine job replacing Anderson at fullback on offense and blocked well.

Also playing well on offense were Kavanagh, Dave Chapman, Keith Norris, sophomore Dwayne Holmes, who started; Pat Neil, Mike Tempesta, Chevy and Roy Byrne.

Bogan put Quincy on the board with 1:36 left in the first quarter, going over from the six-yard line.

In the second quarter

Flavin hit Walker with an eight-yard scoring pass and Anderson rushed for the two-point conversion.

Following a scoreless third quarter, Bogan scored on a 20-yard run in the final session.

Taunton averted a shutout with 3:37 left when Jeff Bartel passed to Eric DeMaura for 52 yards to the three. On third down Bartel scored and Matt Friary scored the two-point conversion on a pass.

By TOM SULLIVAN

DiBona Leads Quincy JV's To Win

Sophomore Noel DiBona scored 14 points to lead the Quincy junior varsity football team to a 28-0 victory over Taunton.

DiBona scored on a 40-yard pass interception return and a 36-yard run and kicked two extra points. He finished the day with three interceptions, 155 yards rushing and also had six tackles.

Quincy began its scoring when junior Joe Crespi fired a 30-yard touchdown pass to sophomore Sean McArdle.

DiBona then returned a Taunton pass 40 yards for his first score and kicked the extra point.

Sophomore Rob Kane raced 60 yards on a reverse for a touchdown and DiBona closed out the scoring with his 36-yard run.

The defense was outstanding, continually shutting down the Taunton attack. Claircent DeMesier, Ally Sleiman, Mark Nutley, Jason Kelly, Mark Zaborowski, Mike Gardner and Eric McFarland played strong defense.

Youth Football

Panthers Roll By Elks 34-To-18

The Quincy Point Panthers improved to 2-0-1 with a 34-18 victory over the West Quincy Elks last Sunday night in Quincy Youth Football League action at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Panthers got on the board early when Kevin Schneider scored and David Gunther rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers controlled the game for much of the first half and added two more scores early in the second quarter. Patrick Joyce ran straight up the middle for a touchdown but the try for the two-point conversion was stopped by the Elks' Ed Anderson.

The Elks tried to get some offense going on some strong running by quarterback Bill Morrissey, but the Panthers took over and struck again.

Mike Delaney hauled in a long pass from Jeff Russell, but the score was called back by a penalty. However, on the ensuing play, Jonathan Gangi scored and Joyce rushed for the two-point conversion and the Panthers led, 22-0.

Just before the half the Elks scored on a pass from Morrissey to John Dowd.

The Elks opened the second half when Morrissey threw a bomb to Mike Flagg, who raced in for the score. The Panthers battled back with another score by Tom Arcadipane.

After David Gunther intercepted a pass on the next Elks series, Arcadipane set up the final Panther score and quarterback Russell scored.

The Elks added a touchdown in the final quarter when Morrissey called his own number. The Panthers' Brad Smith stopped the try for the conversion.

Schneider, Gunther and Mike Caporale turned in solid two-way efforts for the Panthers who will play the Squantum Sailors this Sunday night at 7:30 at the stadium.

Quincy, North Girls Tune Up For Showdown

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams tuned up for their battle of the unbeaten last night (Wednesday) with their sixth straight victories on Monday.

The Quincy girls defeated Barnstable, 2-0, and North Quincy girls topped Weymouth, 2-1.

In their previous game the North girls defeated Barnstable, 2-1 (15-13, 11-15, 15-2).

After splitting the first two games, the North girls jumped off to a 12-3 lead in the deciding game. Barnstable came back strong to tie it at 12-12 but North scored the final three points.

North was sparked by Jill Hanyes' serving and Kara Sullivan's kill.

Quincy defeated Brockton, 2-0 (15-3, 15-10) as Chris Barrett had 11 kills and 10 service points, including three aces, and Melanie Sullivan had five kills.

Following their meetings tonight (Thursday) and Friday with the Westminister Academy team of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the Quincy girls will host Falmouth next Tuesday at 3:30 and North will be home to Medway Tuesday at 3:30.

Quincy, North Girls Host Florida Team

This is a big week for the Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams.

Not only were the undefeated cross-town rivals set to clash last night (Wednesday) for their first Old Colony League meeting, but they will host the Westminister Academy girls from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., tonight (Thursday) and Friday.

The North girls will face the Florida visitors tonight and the Quincy girls will be the hosts Friday night at the Vot-Tech gym. Both games are at 7 o'clock.

The Floridians arrived yesterday and were guests of the Quincy Public Schools Athletic Dept.

Today at 10 a.m. Mayor James Sheets is scheduled to greet the team and its chaperones at City Hall and the team will be escorted on a tour of Quincy's historic sites.

Lunch follows at the Center for Technical Education Culinary Arts Dept. at Quincy High.

The team is combining the athletic portion of its trip with a historical tour of Boston along with a foliage trip to New Hampshire and Maine. Coordinator of Athletics Martin Finnegan said, "Our kids are very excited about playing an out-of-state opponent."

In a note to Finnegan,

Westminister coach Bill Hood wrote, "We currently are 9-2, having lost only to last year's sectional champs and state runnersup. Our club is well balanced with seniors 6-2 Kristen Galuppi, 5-11 Carla Nicholson and 5-7 Gigi Gardner our main hitters."

"We have eight fine players we interchange and hope to give these fabulous Quincy teams at least some sort of a match. I feel like the Christian getting ready to go into the lion's den, because these Mass. teams are so prohibitively strong. Our girls are excited about the whole trip as none of them has ever seen Boston."

Continental Cablevision Helps Raise $6,770 For MDA

Continental Cablevision's two South Shore cable systems in Quincy and Norwell helped raise $6,770 for the Greater Boston Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association during their annual summer fundraising campaign.

For one month, Continental donated $10 to the MDA for every customer who signed up for cable service in Quincy, Milton, Randolph, Hingham, Hull, Cohasset, Scituate, Norwell and Hanover. New subscribers received installation at half price as part of the fundraising offer.

Continental completed 227 new installations, raising a total of $2,270.

The campaign began July 16 with an auction/party at the Ocean Terrace in Marina Bay, co-sponsored by Barrett Restaurants, which raised $4,500 for MDA. The auction was coordinated by Kathy Taraschi, Continental's marketing director in Quincy, and Audrey Trieschman of Continental's Norwell office.

More than 200 people attended, with each $10 admission donated to MDA. The balance was raised from the auction of goods and services donated by more than 50 Boston-area merchants and businesses.

"We were very pleased by the success of this campaign," said Taraschi. "On behalf of the MDA, we thank all the community volunteers, new Continental customers and the many local businesses who responded to our appeal to help in the crucial fight against neuromuscular disease."

Continental Cablevision, the largest cable operator in Massachusetts, serves more than 61,000 subscribers in its systems serving the nine towns in the Quincy and Norwell areas.

Signals New Era

Grand Opening For Presidents Place And The Galleria

With this Columbus Day weekend's official grand opening of Presidents Place and The Galleria at Presidents Place, the $60 million mixed-use development located in historic downtown Quincy, a new era in commercial and retail business for the City of Presidents has begun.

"What our official opening of Presidents Place means," said Dan DeMarco, project director for Presidents Place, "is the culmination of a five-year effort to bring a multi-use, first-class, development to Quincy. During the past few weeks, the fruits of the past five years are only beginning to be seen."

Those fruits will be highlighted at "The Beginning of a New Legacy," the theme of the official grand opening of Presidents Place and The Galleria at Presidents Place, and begins with a ribbon cutting ceremony Friday morning, Oct. 5, followed by a full slate of family-oriented activities through Saturday afternoon.

While the event is a celebration of the development's official opening, it is also highlighted by the fact that major retail tenants have selected The Galleria at Presidents Place retail mall as their new location in which to do business. Presidents Place has also enjoyed a steady influx of new commercial tenants.

"The Galleria at Presidents Place, with its 24-store retail mall, is the most vital and promising retail environment that has come to Quincy in the last two decades," said DeMarco. "Our retail tenants have made it a business to know what retail is all about and it says a lot about Presidents Place when they locate their business here. Commercial space users continually take advantage of the well-established retailers at The Galleria."

Recent lease activity at The Galleria at Presidents Place include the signing of Robert Lyons On and Off Broadway hairstyling salon and Stephen Leigh Jewelers, while on the commercial office space side, the law firm of Butler, Modestino & Shannon and New England Mechanical Contractors Association are the recent lease announcements.

"People are beginning to realize what they have here at Presidents Place," DeMarco said. "The overall completion of the project is coinciding nicely with the City of Quincy making a very sincere commitment to revitalizing its image. It is extremely impressive to see such dedication from a city and the work they have down in Quincy Center, from new traffic patterns, landscaping, improved walkways, and Washington-style lanterns."

Which makes the grand opening of Presidents Place so special. DeMarco said "The Beginning of a New Legacy" celebration is an opportunity to give something back to the City of Quincy and its residents, and an opportunity to celebrate Quincy's steady comeback as a office and retail mecca.

For example, the event begins with the official ribbon cutting ceremony 9:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 5, as Mayor James Sheets and special guest Ben Franklin begin the festivities. At 11 a.m., Harvard Community Health Plan opens its Nutrition Fair, featuring healthy wok cooking, demonstrations, food label reading, and body fat testing. Visitors can pick up free samples of healthy snacks, low-fat recipes, and a free copy of Cooking Light magazine. Guests may also enter a raffle to win an electric wok and cookbooks. At 5:30 p.m., there will be a free concert performed by The Fat City Band, a favorite South Shore band.

On Saturday morning, beginning at 8 a.m. until 10 a.m., families can enjoy a pancake breakfast served by Local Councils of The Massachusetts Knights of Columbus. The breakfast will also officially launch the Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll Drive to help handicapped children. At 11 a.m. adults and children of all ages will watch The Jetson's Star Special, featuring entertainment by George Jetson, his loyal companion Astro, and Fred Flintstone. Showtimes are on the hour from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Finally, visitors can stop by The Boston Five Cents Savings Bank branch at Presidents Place during normal business hours from Friday, Oct. 5 through Thursday, Oct. 11 and select a key that could unlock the Treasure Chest and make you $1,000 richer on the spot. Those who select a key that doesn't open the chest enter a raffle for the second-chance raffle.

"We want the people of Quincy to realize the benefit of Presidents Place," DeMarco concluded. "We have a stage and sound system to act as a perfect location for public events, such as debates, concerts, and other public events. We hope the people of Quincy take advantage of Presidents Place and The Galleria at Presidents with all it has to offer. And, we hope the grand opening ushers in "The Beginning of a New Legacy in Quincy."

"I have always believed in providing a quality haircut at a reasonable price," said Robert Lyons, who spent four years as the chairman of the state's Board of Registration of Hairdressing. "That's been our focus since I started this business, and it's been the key to its growth over the years."

Robert Lyons added he was excited about opening his newest store at The Galleria at Presidents Place, a development he called the "premium retail facility in Quincy."

"Presidents Place will draw many people for years to come," Lyons said. "It is truly a magnificent building with a tremendous future."

ENC Enrollment Third Highest In Its History

Enrollment for the 1990-91 school year at Eastern Nazarene College is the third highest in the school's history, announces William Nichols, ENC's director of enrollment management.

The increase in freshmen combined with an increase in the school's Graduate Studies Division has contributed to an overall increase of seven students over last year's enrollment figures.

The increase, Nichols notes, comes at a time when most private colleges are experiencing a decrease in enrollment figures.

According to ENC president Dr. Cecil R. Paul, the credit for the larger figures lies with the school's Enrollment Management Office. He also said that increased graduate enrollments are the result of earlier increases in undergraduate enrollment.

Raymondi Stresses Achievements In County Treasurer Re-election Bid

Norfolk County Treasurer Daniel G. Raymondi of Quincy is a candidate for re-election.

Raymondi was appointed treasurer in late 1985 following the resignation of former treasurer James M. Collins, who was involved in wrongdoing.

"The office was in complete turmoil," Raymondi said. "At that point, I promised to do two things: (1) to perform the functions of the county treasurer as efficiently and professionally as I possible could and (2) to bring about the restoration of public confidence and integrity to this critical office as quickly as possible. It would not longer be business as usual."

After being sworn in, Raymondi made immediate changes by expanding the work day, forming a private unpaid citizens advisory group and by ordering the removal of the solid wooden door that he said was symbolic of the secretive and inaccessible ways of the former treasurer.

"I opened the office up to public scrutiny to let the people of Norfolk County know that there had been a change, that the old mentality of seclusion no longer existed. It is my firm belief that when information is shared and the process of government is open, then corruption cannot breed."

Raymondi then initiated and implemented management and computerization studies by outside professionals. These landmark decisions shaped the treasurer's office along the lines of a professional, productive and efficient business. Obviously, sweeping changes were necessary in the area of personnel. Currently only one employee remains from the Collins term and Raymondi has hired an in-house auditor, a position that was noticeably lacking when public funds were stolen.

Raymondi continued the reform he said, by: (1) mandating yearly outside audits, (2) restructuring the county retirement system, (3) preparing monthly appropriation reports, trial balances and bank reconciliation statements, (4) consolidating bank accounts, (5) establishing policies for borrowing and investment of funds, (6) modernizing the accounts payable and payroll systems and (7) implementing security and record retention procedures. "These accounting improvements and anti-fraud measures insure that the abuses of the past will not be repeated," Raymondi said.

Raymondi noted the reforms produced "great dividends for the county."

"At a time when the state's bonds are rated the worst in the nation, Norfolk County enjoys the best rating possible (AAA), which saves the County thousands of dollars in interest payments."

Since he became treasurer, the assets of the county retirement system have more than doubled. Norfolk County has out-performed every other county retirement system on rate of return on investments and is currently ranked sixth out of 107 systems across the commonwealth, he said.

In addition to this investment success, Raymondi has developed a person to person communication system that is unique. The Norfolk Benefit, the official periodic informational newsletter of the Norfolk County Retirement System, the toll-free number and the community outreach meetings are services that are only enjoyed by members of the Norfolk County retirement System.

Raymondi credits his background as a graduate of Holy Cross College and Boston College Law School; his business and management experience; his involvement in local government and civic endeavors and his work as a prosecuting attorney as enabling him to bring reforms to the treasurer's office.

"The people of Norfolk County expect the person who sits in this office to be an honest and qualified individual who has a sense of public trust, a compassion for public employees and a commitment to protecting public funds. While others have resisted change, I have accomplished it," he said.

YOUNG EARS, MIDDLE-AGED HEARING

About seven years ago, an English auditory researcher began to notice that many of his university students had seemingly worse hearing than many of his older contemporaries. To see if these changes were the result of listening to loud music, he compared the hearing of young people with varying music-listening habits. One group consisted of 19 to 23-year old students who averaged 4,000 hours each. The last group consisted of 15 to 16-year old students who had averaged only 225 hours of listening to loud music. None studied had jobs or hobbies that exposed them to loud sounds. When each subject's "filtering ability" (the ability to pick out a sound amidst background noise) was measured, those who listened to the most loud music displayed a 10 to 20 percent deterioration in comparison to the others. HINT: In noisy cultures, it is not until middle age that people begin to experience difficulty in distinguishing speech in situations like cocktail parties. It doesn't matter how old you are. If you think you have a hearing problem, check it out. No one is immune from this type of impairment. The simplest way to find out is to be tested. You can have professional testing done at STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER. We won't give you the "hard" sell. Police Dept. Changes Hinge On Question 3

Mullen Sees Tight Money Top Challenge

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

When Quincy Police Chief Francis E. Mullen was appointed in early September by Mayor James Sheets, the mayor cited Mullen's experience and ability to make difficult decisions in tough financial times.

Mullen, 58, a former lieutenant and 33-year veteran of the force, will be put to the task soon.

In a recent interview with The Sun, Mullen said managing the department under tight fiscal constraints will be his biggest challenge. As for changes and reforms in the department, Mullen said much of the department's future hinges on the outcome of the tax rollback petition sponsored by the Citizens for Limited Taxation.

Once Question 3 on the Nov. 6th ballot is answered by the voters, Mullen says he'll begin making reforms such as manpower realignment and possible utilization of the city's auxiliary police.

"My biggest challenge will be the budget. You're talking about reduction of monies all the way along the line and I think this (the CLT petition) will certainly have an effect on everyone," he said.

"CLT will have an impact. If that happens, we'll certainly have to make many adjustments," he added while declining to be specific until after the election.

If approved, the CLT petition would cost Quincy approximately $5.75 million in local aid, according to the state Department of Revenue. Overall, the petition mandates the state to cut back $1.2 billion in spending during the 1991 calendar year, City Auditor Robert Foy said Tuesday.

Foy said the city's FY 91 budget of $121 million is funded with $34 million in local aid. That amount represents 28 percent of the total budget. A cutback of $5.75 million in aid would mean a 17 percent loss in the city's share of local aid.

The exact amount of aid Quincy would lose depends on what areas the legislature cuts, Foy said. "The state would have to make cuts where ever they see fit." Those areas could be local aid, education, social services or the state payroll.

Mayor James A. Sheets has instructed department heads to carefully watch spending. Thomas Koch, the mayor's Executive Secretary, said Sheets has instructed department heads to permit only essential overtime and has also reiterated his freeze on hiring.

Sheets was out of town this week and not available for comment.

Foy said Mullen and other department heads have reason to be concerned over the CLT petition. If it passes, Foy said, "It would be chaos in the city as far as providing education and public safety."

"They both would be hurt very drastically. (The petition) would mean substantial cuts in every department."

Whatever changes he has to make Mullen said he has a "tremendous advantage" since he knows the department virtually inside and out.

A lieutenant for 20 years, Mullen was sworn in as a patrolman on Dec. 31, 1956 shortly after the death of his father, Francis J. Mullen. His father, who had been a Quincy patrolman for 35

Golf Course Hearing Oct. 22

The Quincy Planning Board will hold a public hearing Monday, Oct. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council Chamber to consider a Planned Unit Development special permit for a proposed nine-hole golf course at Marina Bay in Squantum.

The application, filed by the O'Connell Development

Company on behalf of Boston Harbor Marina Company, calls for a recreation facility including a golf course with parking, utilities and accessory structures.

The project would be constructed on a 66-acre parcel adjacent to the southerly and easterly sideline of Seaport Dr. and the southerly sideline of Victoria Rd.

The land is located on assessor's plan no. 6076E, as plot 50 (Lot no. 23). The parcel of land is off Seaport Dr., formerly known as O'Connell Way at Marina Bay.

Willard St. Parking Complaints Filed

By JANE ARENA

After a hearing concerning complaints about an "extraordinary amount of cars" parked on Willard St. and California Ave. from the Biondi Service Station on Willard St., the License Board placed the matter on file and told the manager to "be careful about" the parking situation.

The board held the hearing on the request of Ward 4 Councillor Thomas Fabrizio who wrote to the board about the neighbors' complaints.

Valenti Biondi, manager of the service station, told the board he is not parking vehicles on Willard St. and said he understands the parking problem in the area.

Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey said he had seen cars without license plates parked on the streets in the past.

Biondi said he tows cars for the city and he occasionally has to park an abandoned car there for a short time.

Biondi said he has a parking lot for 15 cars behind his building.

Biondi holds a license to store two used cars on the premises.

In his letter to the board Fabrizio also said neighbors had "questions regarding a barbed wire fence on the property."

Biondi said he had contacted his lawyer about the barbed wire fence before he installed it and had been told that it was legal as long as the barbed wire is above six feet from the ground. The barbed wire on the fence is six feet, four inches from the ground, he said.

Building Commissioner Mulvey said the fence is legal. However, Mulvey noted that Biondi has "four or five signs," including political signs for Milton candidates, on his property without the proper building permits. Mulvey said the signs must come down.

Biondi said he was unaware that he needed permits and asked how to secure them.

For off-premises signs, Mulvey said, a public hearing with Zoning Board is required. For business signs, a permit from the Building Department is needed.

Board Chairman John Gillis told Biondi to "be careful" about the parking situation. The matter was placed on file.

Convenience Variety Store Planned In Downtown

The License Board Tuesday continued for one week a hearing on a request from Mot Van Tieu for a common victualer license to open the Long Phu Market at 1470 Hancock St., the former location of Sweets N' Things.

Through the aid of a spokesperson who helps Mot Van Tieu with his English, the board learned he wants to open a convenience variety store with a common victualer license to serve coffee only.

No fresh food will be prepared or sold at the store. The convenience store would also sell some Asian items, the spokesperson said. The original request was to have the store open 24 hours a day, but Police Chief Francis Mullen said that he does not agree with the request because it would be the only store in the area open 24 hours, and would be isolated.

Plans have been submitted to the Health Board and the spokesperson said that Mot Van Tieu is prepared and willing to comply with the Health Board directives.

Rubbish would be stored in back of the store in a trash compactor, she said.

Fire Chief Tom Gorman noted that the back alleyway in the area is already overcrowded with dumpsters and that rubbish has long been a problem behind Hancock St.

Richard Carriger, Manager of Pilgrim Restaurant, located next door to the location, asked the board about the possibility of the market expanding its common victualer license in the future to include take-out food.

Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey said that a stipulation could be placed on the license, if passed, to sell only coffee and no food.

Eileen Cohen of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association told the board that she had not heard about the request until she learned it was on the board's agenda for Tuesday. The QCBPA was scheduled to hold a board meeting on Wednesday morning and Cohen indicated the proposal would be discussed.

The board will take the matter under advisement for one week, during which time members will make a site visit to the proposed location.

By JANE ARENA

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action during Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St. for a license to hold its annual "Christmas in November Fair" on Saturday, Nov. 3 from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The board also granted a permit for a raffle.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School Football Boosters to hold a canning drive on Thursday, Oct. 25, Friday, Oct. 26 and Saturday, Oct. 27.

- Granted a request from Harold J. McDermott, Jr., manager of Lube Lab, 645 Washington St., to extend the closing hours on Thursday evenings from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. He said customers had requested the change. Ward Councillor Ted DeCristofaro had no objection to the extension.

5 Maple St., Quincy Sq. 472-3656

AFTER FIVE YEARS of planning and building, Presidents Place officially opened recently with a ribbon cutting. Officials participating in the ceremony are, from left, Ben Franklin (Bill Michael), Dan DeMarco, project director for Campanelli Corp.; Robert DeMarco president of Campanelli Corp.; City Council President Ted DeCristofaro, Peter Biampied, Boston Five Cents Savings Bank president; former Mayor Francis X. McCauley; Mayor James A. Sheets, and Allan Raymond, of Harvard Community Health.

MAYOR JAMES SHEETS speaks before several hundred people inside the atrium of Presidents Place during its recent grand opening. Sheets said the opening could be the beginning of a renaissance in Quincy Square.

Presidents Place Opening Ushers In New Downtown Era

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Presidents Place, the $60 million mixed-use development located in Quincy Square, officially opened its doors last Friday, ushering in what officials hope is the beginning of a renaissance in the historic downtown area.

Some 300 business people, community leaders, city officials and residents attended the festive grand opening ceremony held inside the complex's three-story glass and marble atrium. The atrium is located between one eight-story tower and one five-story tower.

The office and retail space complex, which took five years to plan and build, stands on the site of the former Bargain Center. The sprawling discount store affectionately known as "The Bargie," was a landmark in Quincy Square for many years before being demolished in the fall of 1987. Developers and officials say Presidents Place is a major improvement and should boost the city's redevelopment effort in the area.

"The Galleria at Presidents Place, with its 24-store retail mall, is the most vital and promising retail environment that has come to Quincy in the last two decades," said Project Director Dan DeMarco.

Major James A. Sheets called the opening of Presidents Place the beginning of a renaissance and a decade of positive change.

"When the history of the decade of the 90s on the downtown is written, I think historians will look back at this occasion to this opening and say that was the beginning of a renaissance," Sheets said, adding there is a new spirit of "cooperation and faith in the future even though these are not the best of times."

Continuing, Sheets said, "I'm fully convinced that this grand opening signals a beginning of a revival that's going to continue throughout this decade. I can tell you already that its impact has been felt." For example, the Mayor noted the pedestrian safety and traffic flow improvements are well underway in the square and the new historical lighting program, which has been well received.

"I'm looking forward to a decade of positive change, a decade of moving forward."

Sheets credited former Mayor Francis X. McCauley and his former Planning Director, James Lydon, for beginning the city's planning on the project. In his second inaugural address in 1984, McCauley mentioned that the Bargain Center area of the square was underutilized and some positive change should take place.

In 1985, the Ricciardi family joined Boston Five Cents Savings Bank and the Campanelli Family Trust in a venture to build the project.

Quincy spent $780,450 in state Community Development Action Grant Funds on street improvements directly related to the project. The money was used to close part of Faxon Ave., extend a new Faxon Ave. down to Coddington St. and improve Saville Ave. The construction of Presidents Place also coincided with the $650,000 project to improve traffic flow through Quincy Square. That project is now underway.

McCauley, who was asked to participate in the ribbon cutting by Sheets, said the project is "certainly a boon to downtown Quincy."

"The great work that Mayor Sheets' administration is doing in the downtown complements this project."

Council President Ted DeCristofaro said the difference between the Bargain Center and Presidents Place is "like night and day."

"The Bargain Center was a good place for a lot of reasons but aesthetically, there was nothing good about it. I think once all the roads are finished up here, the trees are planted and the lights are on, I think people are really going to realize what a beautiful city

Sheets To Discuss CLT Petition Impact On Quincy Oct. 18

Quincy Citizens for Quality Education and the Citywide Parents Organization will co-sponsor an open forum Thursday, Oct. 18 with Mayor James A. Sheets who will speak on the impact of the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition in Quincy.

The forum will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Quincy High School Method Center.

Although educational issues are the prime focus of both sponsoring groups, Sheets will also discuss the effects of CLT on public safety, on senior citizens and on social service programs. In essence, the mayor will discuss the petition's impact throughout Quincy if it is approved by voters Nov. 6.

A question and answer period will follow the mayor's address.

Question 3 Speakers At Hospital Oct. 23

The Inter-Agency Council of the South Shore will hold a meeting on the impact of Question 3 on the November ballot Tuesday, Oct. 23 at noon at the Quincy Hospital Conference Room.

Representatives from the Massachusetts Human Services Coalition and the Citizens for Limited Taxation will speak.

The officers and board of the council have voted to oppose Question 3. They believe if the petition passes, Question 3 would "recklessly inflict pain on our families and clients and break an already fragile state economy."

In order to provide an opportunity for the members of the Inter-Agency Council to hear the alternate views on Question 3 and have their questions answered, speakers from both sides of the issue have been invited to attend the informative and educational luncheon Oct. 23.

Special Ed Workshop

The Quincy Parent Advisory Council to Special Education will sponsor an Intermediate Workshop tonight (Thursday) from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The workshop, which will focus on assertiveness, communication and partnership building skills to equip parents and others to assist parents in their effort to secure special education services for their children will be held at North Quincy High School, Hancock St.

To register call the Federation for Children with Special Needs at 482-2915.

IF YOUR HOME IS FLOODED OUT... DON'T LOOK TO YOUR HOMEOWNERS POLICY!

Unfortunately, it's all too true. Most homeowners policies just do not cover losses due to flooding. And until the late 1980s, most property owners were unable to buy insurance to protect against flood damage.

Since there was the potential for catastrophic losses, insurance companies were unwilling to assume the financial risk alone. But the growing clamor by taxpayers for some kind of assistance compelled Congress in 1968 to create the National Flood Insurance Program. This federal program now provides flood insurance at a reasonable cost in exchange for the prudent management of flood-prone areas by local communities.

Now, you can protect your home against flood through the NFIP if your community is participating in the program. Call your local agent to find out more about flood insurance and whether your community is eligible. Be aware that there are various restrictions and special requirements, particularly that only a qualified flood insurance agent can advise. Don't delay if you live in flood-prone areas. There is a five-day waiting period on new policies. Get all the facts now.

For solid, intelligent advice on your insurance needs talk to the professionals at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Please call our office at 471-8200 or visit us at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Crossing Over

A big cross-over between political parties is expected in this year's state election Nov. 6.

It's already shaping up that way in Quincy.

Two elected officials — both Democrats — are telling friends they plan to vote for Republican William Weld. Both were staunch Frank Bellotti supporters.

It's not sour-grapes because John Silber brings a stunning upset on Bellotti to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Weld reportedly appeals to them because they feel he is more liberal than Silber.

And, for that same reason, many conservative Republicans appear to be moving toward the Silber camp.

Regardless of how many cross-over from one party to the other, local observers think the Silber-Weld showdown will be a close one.

Independents may make the final difference.

QUINCY MAY GAIN some 1000 new voters for the Nov. 6 election. City Clerk John Gillis reports that going into the final day for registration (Tuesday), approximately that number had registered since the Sept. 18 primaries.

GILLIS

But some of them may be Democrats switching to Republicans or vice-versa or some of both enrolling as Independents.

Regardless of how many new voters there will be, Democrats will still numerically control Quincy.

Last available official figures showed Quincy with 46,748 registered voters with 6,820 Republicans, 11,748 Independents and 27,952 Democrats.

FORMER Quincy Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson is assistant campaign manager for James Rappaport, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate.

ANDERSON

And, Daren McAuliffe of Quincy, is chauffeuring Rappaport during the campaign. McAuliffe was warming up for a run for the Ward 4 City Council seat in last year's city election but bowed out.

THE GUBERNATORIAL "Quincy jinx" Frank Bellotti ran into this year is really a little bigger than what we noted in last week's column.

We reported the only Quincy man to be elected governor was John Hancock who actually was a resident of Boston at the time. Which is so.

But, we also said that three other Quincy men — Bellotti, and two descendants of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams (John Quincy Adams and Charles Francis Adams) ran a total of seven times and lost.

Make that eight times, says reader Dan O'Sullivan of Elm Ave., Wollaston.

We had said Bellotti ran for governor twice — in 1964 and 1990.

"You're overlooking 1970," says O'Sullivan. "Bellotti ran then and lost, too."

O'Sullivan recalls that Maurice Donahue won the Democratic convention that year, and Kevin White won the primary. Republican Frank Sargent won the election.

O'Sullivan says he remembers it well. He was the Ward 15, Boston campaign chairman for Donahue.

Vote Yes On Question 3

Editor, The Quincy Sun,
I am writing to express my strong support of the CLT Proposal (Petition) Question 3 on the November ballot.
The opponents of Question 3 have waged a media campaign of fear and dishonesty in an effort to persuade the public to vote no on Question 3. One need only look at the major sources of funding for their campaign, the public-sector employees unions and the Massachusetts Teachers Association: to see why fear is an important element in their campaign to defeat Question 3.

The CLT Petition is not an end in itself, rather a start of government in Massachusetts. I am not mean-spirited, greedy or crazy for supporting Question 3. Rather, I am tired of a government that has grown and grown and grown totally out of control.

The problem of restoring fiscal responsibility to Massachusetts is not an impossible task. Passage of Question 3 along with the election of fiscally responsible individuals will put us on the road to fiscal recovery and economic growth.

On November 6th, vote for Massachusetts, vote for your future, vote Yes on Question 3.

We Have Obliterated Meaning Of Christmas

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In regard to Judith Brams letter of two weeks ago when she cited, as she thought, my lack of sensitivity to those who do not celebrate Christmas.

Is sensitivity to be the criterion of our activities and celebrations? My God, no matter what we do we will hurt someone's sensitivity. So, shall we sit upon the ground and tell sad stories of the death of kings? My sensitivity and perhaps 90% of Quincy-ites sensitivity is hurt. So whose sensitivity shall we consider? For over 22 years it has been a one-way street!

It is easy to see how to Judith Brams, Christmas is only another holiday, coinciding in time with Chanukah and New Year's Day. We have so obliterated its true meaning by a torrent of gift giving and merry-making that it has indeed become a holiday in outward appearance. What persons ignore who are not Christians, or are sadly underinformed Christians by ancestry, is that Christmas is a very solemn religious feast.

Trinitarian Christians believe that Jesus Christ was God incarnate, who assumed human form that by His torture and death He might redeem all men of good will from the consequences of sin. It is the start of the fact of redemption we celebrate, however unseemly the celebration, and it is salvation for all men of good will, regardless of their religious inclination or lack of it.

Consequently, Merry Christmas is in essence a prayer that the one to whom the greeting is addressed may by his life and action merit his share of the fact of salvation. Similarly when a community wishes Merry Christmas to its residents and those who travel its roads it is a prayer for the salvation of all. "May your Christmas be merry," and may its promise of salvation be realized by all who read the message.

It is entirely appropriate that the community also wish its members a Happy Hanukkah and a Happy New Year. It is not appropriate that these greetings be fused with Merry Christmas into the all-purpose greeting "Happy Holidays."

MOST BLESSED SACRAMENT CHURCH (1915-1990)

Blessed Sacrament 75th Anniversary Dinner Reunion Oct. 19

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Most Blessed Sacrament Church will close its 75th anniversary celebration with a parish dinner-dance reunion Friday, Oct. 19 at the Lantana in Randolph.

The observance opened April 26 with a concert by The Singing Priests. Then, on May 27, Cardinal Bernard Law celebrated an anniversary High Mass at the church.

The former summer parish of some 100 families was established in 1893 as a mission of St. John the Baptist in Quincy with the Rev. Francis A. Frugiglietti, OSF, first pastor. The original wooden mission church on Winthrop St. near Manet Ave., known as St. Francis-by-the-Sea, was named in honor of Mrs. Frances Tracy who donated the land. It was torn down in 1919 after completion of Most Blessed Sacrament Church.

The new Most Blessed Sacrament parish was named by William Cardinal O'Connell "in recognition of the feast of the Blessed Sacrament," the day it was dedicated in June, 1915, when it became a separate parish. The Rev. Mark E. Madden, first pastor, directed the construction of the new English village Gothic church on the corner of Sea and Darrow Sts.

A person who remembers clearly both churches and their 13 pastors is 92 year old Mary (McCabe) Shea (Mrs. Charles L. Shea of Morrissey Blvd.). She was an organist at St. Francis by-the-Sea, and the first organist at Most Blessed Sacrament Church. Her husband, the late Charles L. Shea, was founder and first president of The Lyceum, parish hall on Winthrop St. near the original church. They were parents of former State Rep. and former City Councilor Charles L. Shea who, with his wife, Cecelia, will represent her at the Oct. 19 reunion.

On July 31, 1955, the interior of Most Blessed Sacrament Church was destroyed almost completely during a devastating $500,000 fire. Granite walls and flooring were all that remained of the first structure. Contributions poured in from people of all faiths and all ages, both in Houghs Neck and Quincy to help in its rebuilding. During the reconstruction, Masses were celebrated in the auditorium of the nearby Atherton Hough School on Sea St.

When opened for Easter services in 1956, the only major change was an additional sacristy at the rear of the church. Rebuilding was directed by the late Rev. William A. O'Connor, pastor. He died while still pastor in 1958.

MARY (McCABE) SHEA

On June 30, 1958 Msgr. Edward F. Dowd, STD, a former assistant to the president at Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., became pastor at Most Blessed Sacrament Church. He remained ten years, during which the church celebrated its Golden anniversary in 1965. He initiated and saw to completion, the St. Thomas Aquinas Hall on Darrow St. Its cornerstone was laid in 1963.

Rev. James P. Hart became pastor in 1968, serving 20 years, longest term of the parish priests. He labored long during a difficult time to hold the parish together, many times alone without assistants. In 1988, having reached retirement age, Fr. Hart retired to St. Columbkil as Senior Priest in Residence.

Rev. Denis O'Driscoll succeeded him. Irish born and a former African Missionary who had served in Liberia for seven years, Fr. O'Driscoll in his one year as pastor, undertook many physical improvements to the church, and spiritual improvements in the parish. In December, 1989 he resigned for health reasons. Today's pastor is Rev. Charles D. Logue, a former chaplain with the U.S. Army, who served many years both in foreign countries and U.S. Army bases. A graduate of St. John's Seminary, he was ordained in 1948 by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing. He assumed his duties in Houghs Neck on Jan. 6, 1990.

At one time Most Blessed Sacrament parish included all of Houghs Neck and Germantown, and part of Adams Shore. In 1938 Our Lady of Good counsel became a separate parish, and in 1956 St. Boniface Parish was established in Germantown. These parishes each absorbed portions of the Most Blessed Sacrament parish. Population in the now year round community of Houghs Neck, however, has risen from a scattered 100 family summer parish to a community of more than 1500 families.

A 75th Anniversary booklet has been prepared commemorating the history of the church and its organizations and will be given out Oct. 19 at the reunion banquet.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Suit Proposed Over Dump Nuisance

City Food Inspector Clarence Edwards proposed that Quincy sue the city of Boston for maintaining garbage and refuse nuisances on Spectacle Island and in the Neponset dump.

"The city of Boston continually dumps rubbish at the Neponset dump and raw garbage at Spectacle Island," he told the Neponset Squantum Community Association.

Oct. 11-17

44 Years Ago

"When the dump is on fire, rats swim at ebb tide to North Quincy, causing much damage in that area. Rats from Spectacle Island also invade Squantum periodically and are a menace to health and property."

HOSPITAL BEEFS UP

Eight thousand pounds of prime 4-H beef, purchased by the city at 41 cents a pound on the hoof at an Omaha, Neb., auction to relieve the meat shortage at City Hospital, arrived in Boston en route to Quincy.

Meat supplies were so short in Quincy that Mayor Charles A. Ross established a system by which meat could be channeled to ailing residents through a doctor's prescription.

FIRST POLICEMAN

Mrs. Elsa R. Morgan of 42 Brunswick St., Squantum, a 30-year-old widow with two children, was named to become the first woman in the Quincy Police Department, effective Nov. 7.

Police Chief John J. Avery said Mrs. Morgan would be responsible directly to him for assignments, which probably would involve cases of juvenile delinquency, especially by young girls.

UNCLE KEN BORN

Kenneth J. Emerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Emerald of Bellevue Rd., Squantum, was born only a few hours before his niece, Donna Lee Emerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emerald of 13 Ash St., Atlantic. Kenneth and Richard were brothers.

Stuffed Filet Of Sole

Although we order fish entrees when we dine out, I sometimes feel guilty because I don't cook it enough at home. Today's recipe is for an easy way to stuff any type of fish. I used filet of sole, but any other will do.

STUFFED FILET OF SOLE

1 stalk of celery (chopped)
1 medium sized onion (chopped)
2 cups of stuffing mix
1 tsp fresh parsley
(or jar equivalent)
2 Tbsps grated cheese
1/4 Cup cooking sherry or white wine (optional)
2 Tbsps oil (or margarine)
1 Tbsp Bell's Seasoning
Juice of a fresh lemon
Water if needed
Extra seasoned bread crumbs if needed
Sauté the onions and celery in the oil or margarine. Add the soaked stuffing mix, the parsley, cheese, wine and Bell's seasoning. Cook until blended. Add a little water if stuffing seems dry and the seasoned bread crumbs if moist. Set aside.

Sprinkle the lemon juice over the fish filets. Spoon on stuffing mixture over half the slice of fish. Fold over gently and place on a slightly greased baking pan. Bake in a 350 degree preheated oven for about 5 minutes covered. Uncover and bake for another 5 to 10 minutes depending on the size of your slices. Serve with added lemon slices.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Ambler Calls On Edison For Edgar Health Study

State Rep. Robert Ambler (D-Weymouth) has called upon the Boston Edison Company to commission an independent study to review the health impact of any pollutants discharged by the proposed generating facility in North Weymouth near Quincy once it is operational.

In a strongly worded letter to Bernard Reznick, Boston Edison's president and chief operating officer, Ambler said if Edison refused he would submit legislation mandating they do so.

In the letter, Ambler said Edison's proposal to construct a 306 megawatt generating plant at its Edgar site in North Weymouth in the Fore River industrial basin "has raised serious concerns regarding the impact it will have on the health and safety of the residents of not only Weymouth, but also Quincy and Braintree."

"In response to these concerns Boston Edison has steadfastly refused to authorize a study to determine the health consequences of any pollutants discharged by the facility once it is operational. The company's stance that it is already in compliance with all state and local health codes is wholly unsatisfactory and an affront to these legitimate questions raised by area residents," Ambler said.

"The Massachusetts Department of Public Health does not possess the resources to undertake such a study. Accordingly, I would strongly urge Boston Edison to commission an independent health study to determine the effect of such pollutants."

In addition, Ambler said a study financed by the towns surrounding the site is not realistic since the communities are operating under fiscal constraints.

"Although the decision to authorize this endeavor rests with Boston Edison, should the company refuse to do so I will submit legislation as soon as the legislature convenes mandating that the study be undertaken. In doing so, I will also seek the support of the other area legislators," Ambler added.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

If you were asked, "What quality distinguishes a great man from a little man pretending to be great?" ... How would you answer? ... There are many reasonable answers to this question ... Truthfulness, Honesty, thoughtfulness are but a few.

"The instinct for revenge" also distinguishes the great men from the little men ... It is the unfailing mark of the little man as he spends his hours day-dreaming and plotting how to "get even" for real and fancied injuries ... Men of great stature and personality know the futility of spending time in this way.

Abe Lincoln was just such a man ... completely free from bitter malice and the urge to do his political adversaries "in." Contrary to all political practice, he put his political enemies in the cabinet - Edwin Stanton, William Seward, Salmon Chase, who had called Lincoln a "clown" and a "gorilla." He cared not what they thought of him, so long as they could do a good job in public service.

We are always most appreciative of any comments you might have on the articles presented here ...

Among the events and exhibits that Kelly highlights are the kickoff of the Union of Concerned Scientists "Billion Pound diet" campaign on global warming, plus exhibits on eliminating hazardous wastes in the home, tips on conserving water and energy, recycling information, demonstrations on energy and environmental cleanup, exhibits and demonstrations on many other related topics.

Rubbish Complaints Placed On File

The License Board Tuesday placed on file a hearing regarding neighbors' complaints about rubbish in the parking lot of Lappens Auto Supply, Liberty St.

The hearing was held after the board received a letter about the complaints from Ward 4 Councillor Thomas Fabrizio.

Ed Lappen, manager of the store, told the board he leaves the parking lot unfenced for the benefit of area residents who walk through it to an MBTA stop.

He said the rubbish in the parking lot is not generated from his business, but from pedestrians using the parking lot.

He also said he has employees police the lot every day and that he tries to keep it clean.

The Health Department had made a site visit, he said, and had agreed that the situation "wasn't that bad."

The board placed the matter on file and asked Lappen to "keep an eye" on the situation.

HAVE YOU HEARD

by Stephen Tobias

Board Certified Hearing Instrument Specialist

ONE OF MANY

Hearing impairment is a more pervasive problem than the average person might suspect. In fact, it is this country's most chronic and widespread disability. The latest statistics suggest that more than 24 million Americans have some degree of hearing impairment. That is a figure roughly equal to ten percent of this country's population.

Included in this figure are approximately two million people who are profoundly deaf. The number of hearing impaired people is expected to rise as our general population age and longevity increases. All of these statistics point to the fact that a person with a hearing impairment is not alone in his or her condition. Recognizing the problem puts one in a position to do something about it.

HINT: More than a third of the general population has a hearing impairment by the age of 65.

With the increased number of hearing impaired people comes the need for people to deal with this problem. Don't be fooled by "come on" advertisements. You need to trust someone who will be there for you even after the sale. You can come to STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER because here you'll find trained, educated people in the hearing field who will service all your needs. We'll even help you through your adjustment period. Come to us at 488 Quincy Ave. Tel. 770-3395 for an appt.

McCauley To Head Malone Campaign Here

Former Mayor Francis McCauley has been named chairman of the Quincy Citizens for Joseph Malone, Republican candidate for state treasurer.

McCauley, who served as mayor from 1982 to 1989, heads his own tax preparation and consulting business in Quincy Square.

"I look forward to working with Joe Malone," McCauley said. "He brings freshness to the campaign and he will bring great change to the office of state treasurer."

McCauley added, "Everyone I speak with is clearly up in arms about the state's financial condition and the failure of establishment politicians to get our house in order. What we need is change and someone who can see what's important and what's not important for the state to be doing."

"Joe Malone is that person."

McCauley, once considered a candidate for state treasurer, noted Malone has visited Quincy several times over the past few months and plans to return here Oct. 24 for a fundraising breakfast at Raffae's Restaurant.

"Joe is a dynamic guy with the ability to lead. He's from a middle-class background and he cares about people and their problems. He'll restore the people's faith in that branch of state government," McCauley said.

Continuing, McCauley said, "Joe's a fiscal conservative. He'll safeguard every taxpayer's dollar as if it were his own. These are difficult times and we need someone who wholeheartedly believes that reigning in state spending is step one in fixing the state's economy."

FRANCIS MCCAULEY

The former mayor also noted that in a year of negative political advertisements and mudslinging, Malone has conducted a positive campaign against Democrat William Galvin.

"Joe appeals to our hopes and dreams, to the better side in all of us. He'll carry that positive outlook into the treasurer's office and attract men and women whose upbeat attitudes and professionalism will enable them to creatively solve our most stubborn problems," McCauley said.

To volunteer in the Malone campaign call 471-6159 or 899-9393.

Barnstable 16, North Quincy 8 Raiders Can't Make Mistakes At Weymouth

by TOM SULLIVAN

It was the same old story for the North Quincy football team last Friday night as mistakes resulted in the Raiders' third straight loss after an opening night win to drop their record to 1-3.

North lost to Barnstable, 16-8.

North cannot afford to make mistakes Friday night when it goes to Weymouth to face the powerful Wildcats at 7 o'clock. Since the two Weymouth high schools, North and South, merged and Weymouth has one high school for the first time in 20 years, it has three impressive wins over Silver Lake, Barnstable and Taunton after a tough opening day loss to unbeaten Leonminster.

Two costly fumbles resulted in Barnstable scores, a field goal in the second quarter and a clinching touchdown in the third quarter.

"If we didn't fumble those times, it would have been a different story," said North coach Ken McPhee. "We are still making too many mistakes and they have cost us."

For the second game in a row North was the victim of excellent running quarterbacks. Last week it was Josh Conroy, who ran for over 100 yards and a touchdown. With Barnstable's wishbone attack working well (215 yards rushing), he threw only four passes, completing one for 20 yards.

Two weeks ago it was Plymouth quarterback John beare who led his team's running attack in the win over North.

North Quincy rushed for 117 yards and Mark Taylor, who had another good game, was 12 for 21 passing for 184 yards and a touchdown. He was sacked twice.

Desmond Bellet again was the top receiver with four receptions for 75 yards and his fourth touchdown. Donny Anderson had three for 30 yards and Mark Kelleher two for 40 yards.

North Quincy picked up 18 first downs to 12 for Barnstable in the battle of the rival Red Raiders.

Chris Murray rushed nine times for 54 yards and Mark Cocuzzo had his best game with 54 yards on nine carries.

Jason April stood out on defense and Mike Oliva had a fine game defensively. Adam Strout had another outstanding two-way game and Bellet and Taylor had big plays defensively.

North seemed confused by Barnstable's wishbone as the visitors drove 71 yards in 11 plays following the game's opening kickoff with Conroy scoring from the nine. Jesse Caprio kicked the extra point.

North Quincy came back and reached Barnstable's 20 as it picked up three first downs and Murray and Cocuzzo shared the ball carrying. Barnstable held and took over.

A North Quincy fumble gave Barnstable the ball on its 49 and eight plays later Caprio kicked a 27-yard field goal.

Midway in the third quarter another North fumble was recovered on North's 33 by John Rogers. Jamie Chase scored from the 13 to give Barnstable a 16-0 lead.

North drove 84 yards on eight plays, scoring on the first play of the last quarter. Taylor hit Anderson for 16 yards, Barnstable was penalized 16 yards and, after Taylor was sacked, Murray picked up two, Taylor hit Kelleher for 32 yards, North lost three and Taylor hit Bellet for a 30-yard scoring pass and then passed to Evan Kiley for the two-point conversion.

A quick kick pinned North back on its 15 and it again drove downfield on the passing of Taylor and a fine run by Cocuzzo. Taylor and Anderson teamed up for seven yards, Taylor hit Bellet for 18 but Barnstable held and North punted.

With 2:07 left North drove from its 39 as Taylor passed to Anderson for five yards and found Bellet for 10. Cocuzzo, with Murray throwing a key block, raced for 25 yards to Barnstable's 20.

On fourth down Bellet broke loose all alone in the end zone, but Barnstable's John McCartin came out of nowhere and batted the ball down and Barnstable ran out the clock.

North Jayvees Run Streak To 3 Over Plymouth

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team ran its undefeated and unscored-upon streak to three with a 22-0 victory over Plymouth last week.

In wins over Plymouth, Somerset and Falmouth, the Raider jayvees have outscored the opposition, 78-0.

Mike Sweeney, Mark Sinclair and Brendon O'Connell shared the ball carrying chores on North's first drive and Sweeney scored from the nine. Pat Shea rushed for the two-point conversion.

Shea returned a Plymouth punt late in the first quarter to the Plymouth 23 and Sinclair scored the second touchdown. Liam Higgins made it 16-0 circling his own left side for the two points.

The third quarter opened with North marching 60 yards to its final score. Sweeney and O'Connell did the heavy ball carrying, while Higgins passed to Shea for 16 yards, helping North reach the Blue Eagle 10. Sweeney carried for six and then the remaining four for the score.

Matt Walsh had two long gainers for North in the closing minutes of the third quarter.

Brian Toland and Keith

Letini ran well and Josh O'Connell, Scott Kohler and Steve Oakes played strong defense.

Coaches Peter Chrisom and Tom Carter again praised the entire team.

"What more can you ask of our defense, three shutouts to date certainly should be commended," said Chrisom.

"Our offense hasn't been stopped yet and the kids are performing very well," said Carter. "We have a good group of backs who have run and blocked very well. The offensive line has been consistent in providing openings for our backs to run through."

Panthers Take Top With Win Over Sailors

The Quincy Point Panthers took over sole possession of first place in the Quincy Youth Football League with a 28-0 victory over the Squantum Sailors last Sunday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the opening game the Houghs Neck Manets defeated defending champion North Quincy Apaches, 22-0. The Panthers (3-0-1) scored on their first series and never looked back.

Quarterback Jeff Russell passed to Mike Daley to set up the first score and Patrick Joyce took the handoff and ran 20 yards straight up the middle for the touchdown. Tom Arcadipane rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers scored again early in the second quarter when Jonathan Gangi ran 40 yards to give the Panthers a 14-0 halftime lead. The Sailors' Chris Klier knocked down the pass try for the conversion.

The Sailors' offense started to click in the third quarter, but on a third and 12 passing attempt, David Gunther was there for the stop and the Panthers took over.

The Panthers scored as Kevin Schneider raced down the sidelines for the touchdown. Arcadipane added the two-point conversion.

After another long Schneider run midway through the final quarter, Mike Delaney scored the final points of the game.

Schneider turned in an outstanding two-way performance, while Mike Caporale, Neil Kiley, Jimmy Smith and Paul Johnson led the defense. The Panther junior varsity saw service.

Klier was a two-way standout for the Sailors.

Presidents Face Test Against Medford

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy's football team (3-0-1), off to its best start in some time, will face one of its stiffest tests of the season Friday night when it hosts Medford at 7 o'clock at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Presidents played their best game of the season last Friday night when they defeated Plymouth, 29-7, at Plymouth to improve to 2-0-1 in their first Old Colony League season.

Medford of the Greater Boston League is 3-1, having defeated Woburn, Arlington and Somerville and losing to Waltham.

"We played the best first half of football since I have been here," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer after Quincy jumped off to a 29-0 halftime lead at Plymouth. "We have our most balanced offensive team ever and the opposition can't key on any one player as they have in the past."

Quincy rushed for 315 yards with Mark Bogan rushing for 156 yards on 22 carries and Jason Anderson having his best game with 113 yards on 11 carries.

"With our running game going so well, we stuck to the ground and Mike Flavin threw only two passes, both for touchdowns," Raymer said. "The two passes were for 80 yards."

"Plymouth had only one first down in the first half and I used the jayvees for most of the second half. They moved the ball well and once reached the Plymouth 10 but fumbled."

Mark Zaborowski rushed for 24 yards in the second half. Jason Eleuteri ran for 20 yards and Joe Crespi did well as backup quarterback.

Defensively Gary Collins, Ally Sleiman and Dave Chevy did well as did Shawn Kennedy and Bobby Crespi, who played well at defensive tackle. Raymer also praised Graham Chevy, Kavanagh, Bill Reardon, John O'Connor and Norris, who filled in at defensive tackle when Dave Frye was injured and will start there Friday night.

Quincy drove to its first score following the kickoff and Bogan raced 30 yards for the touchdown. He also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Later in the opening quarter Flavin hit Walker with a 60-yard scoring bomb and sophomore Noel DiBona kicked the first of his three extra points.

In the second quarter Chapman caught a 27-yard pass from Flavin for a touchdown and DiBona kicked the point.

Later in the first half Bogan capped Quincy's scoring with a 10-yard scoring run and DiBona again kicked the point.

Quincy's jayvees played the Blue Eagles on nearly even terms in the second half.

Plymouth scored its lone touchdown late in the game when quarterback Mike Shea hit Kerry Maguire with a three-yard pass and Judson Miller kicked the extra point.

Quincy-Medford Game Homecoming, Reunion Night

Friday night's Quincy-Medford football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium will be Homecoming and Reunion Night.

"We would like to see a large crowd of Quincy graduates going all the way back to Quincy High's first year," said Bob Meenan of the Quincy Parents Club.

"We would like to have them see the improvements we have made at the stadium. The locker rooms have been completely redone with new paint, new ceilings and new lighting. They are now something to be proud of.

And we have installed a sign over the concession stand welcoming the visiting teams to Quincy."

Pratt Honored At Fenway Park

Quincy's Mary Pratt, one of New England's outstanding athletes and long-time coach and physical education teacher in the Quincy school system, was one of four former players in the old All-American Girls Professional Baseball League, recently honored at Fenway Park.

The league operated in the Midwest from 1943 to 1954. Prior to the Red Sox-Milwaukee Brewers double-header, Pratt, Pat Brown of Winthrop, Maddie English of Everett and Pat Courtney of Everett were escorted onto the field and were introduced to the crowd by Sox public address announcer Sherm Feller. Dottie Green of Natick, who, along with English, played all 11 years in the league, was unable to attend.

Brown, the librarian at Suffolk University, threw out the first ball and was given the ball by Sox catcher Tony Pena.

"They put our pitchers on the large screen in center field and we got a big kick out of seeing ourselves," Pratt said.

Pratt and the other women are among the former All-American League players who were enshrined in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown in November 1988.

The league has a permanent exhibit, "Women in Baseball" which consists of artifacts, bats, baseballs, gloves, shoes, trophies, posters, scorecards and tickets. Pratt is one of the players with their pictures among a large league photo, the center of the display.

"Boston is the third major league city to recognize the league, which was organized by Chicago Cubs owner Phil Wrigley," Pratt said. "Yankee Stadium and Kansas City have also recognized it."

"This brought back fond memories as this was the first time I was on a major league field since I pitched for the Boston Olympets at old Braves Field (now Boston University's Nickerson Field) at the Mayor Maurice Tobin field day. I have a picture of the mayor asking me for my autograph."

Pratt played in the league in its first five years, 1943-47. She also pitched for several Massachusetts teams, including the Olympets and the North Quincy Raiderettes. The league will hold its fourth reunion in Oct. 1991 in Clearwater, Fla. The previous reunions were held in Chicago, Fort Wayne and Phoenix.

Kane to open the scoring in the opening quarter and then completed a 22-yarder to junior Mike Malvesti with 12 seconds left in the half to complete the scoring.

Quincy's defense was spectacular in shutting down the Plymouth attack. Jason Eleuteri, Dave Bogan, Mark Zaborowski and Noel DiBona led a strong defense.

Young Boys Show Heart But Bow To Falmouth

Although the young Quincy boys' soccer team fell to 0-10, it turned in its best effort of the season in losing to a powerful Falmouth team, 5-3.

Eddy Pineda scored two goals and Roberto Bagu the other for the Presidents.

"These kids have a lot of heart," said coach Ged Phelan. "Here's an 0-9 team losing to a really strong Falmouth team, 3-1, in the second half and they come back to tie the game with 17 minutes remaining. I think we used up our energy fighting our way back to even the score.

"Peneda is a very talented player and these were his first two goals, so maybe we finally broke the ice. Bagu leads the team with four goals. He is the only sophomore, but his strength is finishing off plays. He must have learned that from his dad, I hear he was quite a player."

Quincy will face North Quincy at the varsity field behind Veterans Memorial Stadium today (Thursday) at 3:30.

Quincy, North Girls Defeat Florida Guests

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams proved un hospitable hosts last week as both defeated the visiting Westminster Academy girls from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The North girls won, 2-1 (7-15, 15-4, 15-3) last Thursday night and the following night Quincy won, 2-0 (15-4, 15-1). Coming to Quincy, the visitors were 9-2 and had lost only to the state runnersup and the sectional champions.

Coach Bill Hood had written in a note to Quincy coordinator of athletics, "We hope to give these fabulous Quincy teams at least some sort of a match. The Mass. teams are so prohibitively strong."

The Quincy girls had little trouble against the bigger Floridians as Lori Novak led the offense with 12 service points and Chris Barrett had nine kills.

The North Quincy girls had their trouble in the opening game but rebounded behind the hitting of Kara Sullivan, the serving of Jill Haynes and the passing of Heather Rendle to win the next two games rather handily.

Prior to the Florida games, Quincy (8-0), defeated North Quincy (7-1), in the battle of the undefeated Old Colony League leaders, 2-0 (16-14, 15-2).

The overtime first game was close all the way but the more experienced Quincy girls had little trouble winning the second game.

"In the first game we got lucky and we didn't really deserve to win," said Quincy coach Tom Henderson. "North played a very intelligent, aggressive game and we didn't adjust to it."

"Our young team played very well in the first game," said North coach Jim Rendle. "When we didn't win that one, the bubble burst."

The Quincy girls play at Weymouth today (Thursday) and will host Dennis Yarmouth Monday. Both games are at 3:30.

The North girls host Dennis Yarmouth today and will be home to Barnstable next Wednesday, both games at 3:30.

NORTH QUINCY'S Brenda Hayduk, left, gets set to return a Westminster Academy shot in last week's game in which North defeated the Florida girls.

QUINCY'S Susan McCole returns a Westminster Academy shot as teammate Jennifer Richmond (11) moves in during last week's Quincy win over the Florida girls.

Cross Country

North Girls Split

The North Quincy girls' cross country team split its last two meets, edging Taunton 28-29, and losing to Silver Lake, 26-31, making its record 4-1.

At Taunton the girls hooked up in a real nail-biter. Suzanne Lewis was North's first finisher in second place with teammates Jenn Flynn third, Julie Tangney fourth and Ann Marie Montgomery fifth. Rookie Laurie Connolly's narrow 12th place finish clinched the win for North.

The Silver Lake meet pitted unbeaten teams and Silver Lake's experience proved the difference. The Lakers overtook pivotal places in the final 300 yards to win it. Sophomore Lewis won for North in 15:01, her best time ever and North's fastest time in three years. Senior Flynn, in her first year of cross country, finished third in 15:41, the third fastest time turned in by a North girl since Jeff Hennessy took over as coach.

Tangney, another first-year senior, placed sixth, but Silver Lake took the next three places to clinch the win. Senior Montgomery, who hasn't run cross country since the ninth grade, and freshman Melanie Gaziano finished 10th and 11th respectively.

"Our girls ran their hearts out, all doing personal best times, but our inexperience proved our undoing," said Hennessy. "We made rookie mistakes, like trying to lead too soon midway through the race and the Laker girls were there to capitalize. They just waited until the last minute to make their moves. A month ago they would have outclassed us, but a month from now, who knows? We match up well with them physically talentwise and we'll be ready for them in the league championships at Wompatuck Park in Hingham Oct. 30."

The North freshmen host Xaverian today (Thursday) and next Wednesday the North varsity will host powerful Weymouth and will run in the Brown University Invitational Saturday, Oct. 20.

The South Shore Hockey Association kicked off its ninth season with defending champion Sullivan Tire being upset by the Gold team, 2-0.

Gold jumped off to a 4-2 lead on goals by Kevin Morgan and Dan Bailey. Sullivan's Marty King scored in the second period and Sullivan tied it up in the middle of the third on Dan Beglin's goal. Bob Chouninard gave Gold the lead and Jamie Young scored an insurance goal two minutes later. Kevin McCann, the Gold's number one draft choice, had two assists.

Sports Emporium defeated the Purple team, 7-5, sparked by Dave Perdios' hat trick. John Kearney, Bill Shea, Marty Tolson and Fred Cobban also scored for Sports Emporium. Joe Fell had two Purple goals as did Ed Kelly and Larry Fell had the other. The goal of the game was scored by Shea when he skated the full length of the ice and fired a screaming wrist shot from the top of the circle to beat goalie Rick Swanson.

In the final game Bay State Auto and Roman Gardens battled to a scoreless tie with goalies Brian Decatis of Roman Gardens and Mark Selbert of Bay State making many spectacular saves.

Quincy's Response To AIDS 1990 On Ch. 3

It is believed in the next few years everyone will know someone who is affected by AIDS, either by infliction of the disease, or having friends, colleagues or relatives who will contract the virus.

In light of this stark reality, QCTV-3 will present "Quincy's Response to AIDS: 1990", a live, hour-long program which will look at all sides of the AIDS issue in hopes of sensitizing the community to AIDS victims and their families, dispelling some of the fears and myths surrounding the disease and to show what positive efforts are being made in Quincy.

"Quincy's Response to AIDS: 1990" will air on Channel 3, Wednesday Oct. 10 at 7 p.m. live from the QCTV-3 studio at Continental Cablevision in Quincy.

"Quincy's Response to AIDS" will rerun Thursday, Oct. 11 at 7 a.m. and Friday, Oct. 12 at 1 p.m.

In studio guests for the program will be Jane Gallahue, Quincy Public Health Commissioner, Carol Sheehan of the Quincy AIDS Consortium and Anthony Japour of Beth Israel Hospital.

"We wanted to bring this national problem close to home," stated Marie Diaz, producer of the program, "to show people what is being done about AIDS right here in Quincy."

While the program will highlight the latest statistics and testing information, "Quincy's Response" will examine the thoughts and feelings of the wide variety of people affected by AIDS. Interviews with Mayor James Sheets, local healthcare workers and educators will present the political and professional steps being taken to deal with AIDS in the family, the workplace and on our streets.

Long Term Health Care Forum On Ch. 3

Channel 3, the local programming channel for Continental Cablevision in Quincy, presents the "South Shore Long Term Care Forum" tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m.

The forum, sponsored by a wide range of local and national organizations, alerts people to the needs and necessities of long term care and addresses some of the inefficiencies of the current health care system. Organized by Michael Marcus and Susan Britt of Familie USA, a national foundation which seeks to empower seniors and their families to control their own lives, the event calls attention to the fact that each of us may be affected by health problems requiring long term care and that we as a nation need to find solutions to this problem.

Paula Golden moderated the forum which was held at Lantana's in Randolph Sept. 28. A panel of six care recipients matched with six caregivers spoke about the usefulness and necessity of certain long term care services, addressing issues such as AIDS, Multiple Sclerosis, mental illness and Alzheimer's Disease.

Guest speakers such as Al Norman, Executive Director of Mass Home Care and Jeff Kirsch, Program Director of the National Long Term Care Campaign, shared their personal experiences and hopes for the future of long term care locally and nationally.

The South Shore Long Term Care Forum will be rerun on Friday, Oct. 12 at 7 a.m. and Monday, Oct. 15 at 1 p.m.

Two QHS Seniors Spend Part Of Summer Abroad

Sarah Goodman and Elizabeth Flaherty, Quincy High School seniors enrolled in the Heritage Program, each spent part of the summer living abroad.

Miss Flaherty spent part of her seven weeks living with a family near Groningen, Holland as part of the American Field Service program. She also spent six days living on a barge on the Dutch canals, visited a former concentration camp, and also spent time traveling with 28 other AFS students. She felt that the opportunity to live away from home has prepared her for living at college, and the educational and cultural experiences have broadened her horizons. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Flaherty of 10 Bell St.

Sarah Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Goodman of 68 Sea Ave., lived with a Tokyo family in Japan for seven weeks as part of the Youth for Understanding program. She observed Geisha girls, who represent the old Japan, watched traditional Japanese singing programs on one of the ten television sets her host family owned, and traveled on the modern Japanese subway.

Miss Goodman made many friends in Japan, and she feels the opportunity of living in a different culture has added to her understanding of the world and its peoples.

Both girls plan to attend college next year.

years, died in June, 1956. Beginning as a patrolman, Mullen worked his way up to patrol sergeant and has since served as detective, juvenile officer, police prosecutor and director of planning and research. For the past seven years, he has been in charge of recruiting and training.

He also assumed many various responsibilities "from one time to another, depending on what was going on," he explained. For example, he was put on special assignments, such as riot control during the strikes at the former General Dynamics shipyard, and developed tactical patrol force to deal with crowds.

He said his six years as a police prosecutor at Quincy District Court was a "great responsibility."

"I made decisions for the city and the police department. You have to know what you're doing because if you didn't, you could end up in a mess."

With all this varied experience under his badge, Mullen said he is a better police officer.

"No question about it. I think this is what some police departments lack today. I think people in the management end should be moved in the sense to learn other people's roles because the police job has many roles, regardless of whether you're a patrolman, a sergeant, lieutenant or captain."

By moving about and taking special assignments, Mullen said that makes police officers "sensitive to other people's needs."

"As career people move up the ladder, I think they're a well-rounded officer if they touch all bases," he added.

Before Mullen was appointed to succeed former Chief Francis X. Finn, there was some debate about naming an officer inside or outside the Quincy force as the department's new chief.

The issue: who could make changes and chart the department's future course more effectively, an insider or outsider?

Personally, Mullen said he believes his promotion from within the department is a tremendous advantage for him as chief, to make decisions and changes.

He says that not because he's now sitting in the chief's chair looking down, but rather because he's worked his way up. He knows the officers, many of whom he helped hire, and he's dedicated to improving the 189-member department.

An example of his loyalty occurred several years ago. Mullen was offered the chief's job in Natick but he turned it down because he wanted to stay in Quincy.

"Here, I've worked so hard within the department and worked for the people of Quincy and I know Quincy and I know this department, and I hired a lot of these people."

"Yet, I think it's a tremendous advantage (being promoted from within) because as life goes on and time goes on, you have that knowledge (of the department)."

"I think if I were to go outside, that would be a great disadvantage, and I would just be relying on some other people telling me about things. Here I can make my own evaluations.

"My heart's in Quincy. I never knew this job was going to open. Nevertheless, I think I was going to be satisfied to go out a lieutenant here, instead of a chief somewhere else."

Not only is Mullen loyal to his police work, he's dedicated to one of his favorite activities: running. Mullen began running 25 years ago, long before the fitness craze, and hasn't stopped since.

He has completed 41 marathons including Boston, New York, Bermuda and Hawaii and hundreds of shorter road races. His best time came in 1983 when he finished the Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C. in three hours and one minute. His best Boston Marathon finish was 1984 when he crossed the line in three hours and two minutes.

A dedicated runner, he still runs five or six miles a day.

"When you're running, no one can run for you. You have to run for yourself. I think running, at least for me, has been a good part of my life because it makes you set your priorities and helps discipline yourself."

As for his goals as chief, Mullen replies, "I think my goal is to make this a smooth running agency and an agency that I hope will be looked upon by others, because I think we're fortunate to have very dedicated and talented members of the police department, from patrolmen up through the ranks as well as civilian people."

"I think with the type of people we have, I think we can go ahead, regardless of the tough times."

we do have," DeCristofaro said.

of Butler, Modestino and Shannon and the New England Mechanical Contractors Association Inc. have leased space on the eighth floor of the north tower.

Eight of the 24 retail spaces in the first floor retail mall have occupants. They include Hancock Tobacco, Tedeschi's, Stephen Leigh Jewelers, Harvard Community Health Plan Optical Service Shop, C.J. Pizza License Request Continued

After a 10-minute executive session, the License Board Tuesday continued for one week a request from James Palhete and Christina Spada for a transfer of a common victualer license to open Paradise Pizza at 294 Water St.

Board Chairman John Gillis said the executive session was called so that the board could discuss "personal issues" in private.

POISON PREVENTION

If you have young children at home, you already know that you need to be especially careful about dangerous substances such as household chemicals and medicines. However, many children each year are poisoned outside of their own homes, while visiting a relative, neighbor, or friend who may not have "child-proofed" the house. Grandparents are especially likely to have a number of prescription drugs, and they will probably not be in child-safe bottles. Cleaning supplies may be left under the sink within reach of a curious toddler. If your child is out of sight for just a minute, it is time enough to eat or drink something dangerous. Keep a bottle of syrup of Ipecac in the car's glove compartment, just in case disaster strikes while you are visiting or traveling. Remember, though, to call a doctor, poison control center, or hospital emergency room for advice.

P.S. Do not use Ipecac if corrosives such as lye, or petroleum distillates such as kerosene or cleaning fluid, have been swallowed.

Sun-MDA Photo Contest

Who Is The Most Beautiful

Is there a beautiful baby in your home?

Would you like to show him or her off a little to readers of The Quincy Sun while at the same time help to raise money to fight muscular dystrophy, that crippling disease which afflicts so many children?

The Quincy Sun is sponsoring its second annual Beautiful Baby Photo Contest to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Last year's contest raised over $4,000 for MDA.

The contest is open to babies from newborn to age 5 and there is no cost or obligation to enter.

All you have to do is send us your favorite current photo of your baby or youngster before Nov. 2. The photos can be either color or black and white, but should be no larger than 3x5 inch size. Send them or drop them by the Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

On the back of the photo, please include the following information, none of which will be used during the contest:

- The baby's name
- The baby's age
- Parents' first and last names and address

• A daytime and evening phone number

The names and address of the babies will not be used or given during the contest and are needed only for the purpose of record keeping.

The photos will be numbered and all voting will be done according to those assigned numbers.

Anyone can vote for a baby simply by making a $1 donation to MDA. You can vote as many times as you like. Every dollar donated to MDA represents a vote for the baby of your choice.

At the end of the contest, the baby who receives the most votes (donations) will be declared the winner.

Prizes awarded to the winner and runners up will be announced later.

All votes must be made by check, made payable to MDA. Cash will not be accepted. Votes may be dropped off at The Quincy Sun office, or they may also be mailed directly to MDA at 450 Washington St., PL-2, Dept. KT, Dedham 02026.

Voting will begin in mid-

November, when the entrants photos are published in The Sun.

All photos must be submitted to The Sun between now and Friday, Nov. 2.

For further information, call Karen Tocchio at MDA, 461-0310.

Kolson Wants Air Monitor At Edgar Station

Concerned about an increase in air pollution emissions due to the proposed reactivation of the Edgar power station in the Fore

River Industrial Basin, Ward 1 Councillor Peter Kolson has requested an air monitoring system be placed by the Department of Environmental Protection near the site.

Kolson has expressed concern that the quality of air not be affected by any potential emissions from the power station. He said he would like to have a reading in place prior to reactivation in order to have an accurate measurement should the plant be reopened.

The plant is located in North Weymouth along the Fore River across from Quincy Point.

Cahill Lone Dissenter Council Takes Stand Against Question 3

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

After nearly an hour of candid discussion Monday night the City Council voted 6-1 to oppose Question 3 on the Nov. 6 ballot and "respectfully urged" Quincy residents to do the same.

The discussion was sparked by a resolution introduced by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien. Since the Citizens for Limited Taxation would reduce state revenues by $1.3 billion in the second half of FY91 and possibly claim $5.7 million in local aid in Quincy, Chretien urged his colleagues and residents to vote against Question 3.

Joining Chretien in the stand against Question 3 are Council President Ted DeCristofaro, councillors Michael Cheney, Peter Kolson, Thomas Fabrizio and Thomas Nutley. Only councillor Timothy Cahill voted against the resolution.

Councillors Patricia Toland, whose husband John died several weeks ago, and Charles Phelan who is vacationing in Germany, did not attend Monday's meeting.

The seven councillors agreed the CLT petition would shake up state government and force legislators to cut government spending. However, the six who supported the resolution said Question 3 goes too far and would hurt the state's already fragile economy, lead to deep cuts in human services and impact the quality of life here.

In support Question 3, Cahill said he wants to send a message to Beacon Hill that government should be downsized. He also said he is angered that the state is "blackmailing" the city by threatening to withhold its local aid if Question 3 is approved.

Even if voters disapprove Question 3, Cahill said there is "no guarantees" local aid will not be cut.

"They've raised taxes the last two years and they still cut our local aid," Cahill said, referring to state legislators.

Jordan Marsh Center To Close Dec. 31

The Jordan Marsh distribution center in Squantum, a Quincy landmark and source of hundreds of jobs for 21 years, will likely close Dec. 31, Mayor James Sheets was informed by a company official Tuesday.

Sheets, who met with the company's legal counsel, Robert Teagen in his office, said, "It's a tremendous loss. We're a city that needs these types of employment opportunities for our people."

"To see a distribution center close is certainly a major loss," he added.

The closing effects 754 employees at the center, of which an estimated 150 to 175 are from Quincy. The mayor said the company will attempt to work out agreements whereby employees will be transferred to other Jordan Marsh facilities based on seniority.

The plant closing, which is permanent, will affect full and part-time employees around the board. Among the employees are two vice presidents, 18 managers, 18 supervisors, 132 sales associates, 263 processors, 120 credit associates and 239 clerical positions.

The expected Dec. 31 closing date may be extended in the event of unforeseen contingencies, in which event affected employees will be given as much advance notice as possible, the official federal closing notice stated.

Those Sidewalk Openings Are For Bricks

The long, narrow trenches in between the new sidewalks and streets in Quincy Square are not construction mistakes. The trenches will be filled with brick to accent the new sidewalks. Mayor James Sheets said Tuesday.

He said the bricks will begin being placed in a few weeks. New trees in the Quincy Square area will be planted perhaps in 10 days, the mayor added.

The work is part of the traffic improvement and beautification project.

Quincy Center Convenience Market Application Withdrawn

By JANE ARENA

The License Board Tuesday accepted a request from Mot Van Tieu to withdraw without prejudice application for a common victualer license to open the Long Phu Market at 1470 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., the former location of Sweets 'N Things.

The board told him that Quincy Square is not a suitable location for the convenience type store because of inadequate parking, ongoing problems with the congested dumpster area in the alleyway in back of Hancock St., and because the proposal is not in line with the city's plans to attract retail stores for the business district.

A common victualer license is required for the store only because Mot Van Tieu planned to sell coffee by the cup. No other fresh foods would be sold at the store.

He explained, through an interpreter, Carleen Valenti, that he hopes to attract Quincy's Asian community through offering Asian foods in the store, including frozen fish and fruits and vegetables. Typically, he said, Quincy's Asian residents go to Boston's China Town to shop. Board Chairman John Gillis said that he has "nothing against" the proposal, but said that he does not think it should be located in Quincy Square.

"I don't think it's good for downtown Quincy," he said. "There should be no more food (establishments) and no more beauty parlors in downtown Quincy."

Eileen Cohen, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, told the board the QCBPA was not in support of the license. Although she has no objection to the concept, she said she knows first-hand of the problems with rubbish, parking and the lack of security at night. Cohen was the owner of Sweets 'N Things which was located at 1470 Hancock St.

Gillis also said the market would likely draw more customers if it were located in the northern section of Quincy where there is a higher population of Asian citizens. Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey agreed, noting that the concept sounds like a "neighborhood market" and likely wouldn't attract enough customers in Quincy Center.

Police Chief Francis Mullen echoed these reservations and added he is also concerned about safety. If the store were to remain open late at night, he said, it would be the only downtown store open and there would be little security, he explained.

Valenti said Mot Van Tieu has already invested a sum of money into the location and that he has a strong desire to locate the store downtown.

Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue said it is important for applicants to seek the advice and approval of the license board and other city departments before investing any money in a location.

Gillis suggested the request be withdrawn without prejudice so that if a more suitable location is found the applicant can come back before the board without waiting. If the request were denied, he explained, the applicant would have to wait for two years before re-applying for a license.

Mot Van Tieu indicated he may opt not to serve coffee at the store thereby avoiding the requirement of a common victualer license from the board.

Mulvey said the store would still need to acquire the necessary city permits including a building permits and approval of the fire and health departments.

Mulvey said the store could open if the permits were granted, but cautioned against it because he feels the current climate of Quincy Center would not make it a financially sound location for the business.

Joint Council, Planning Board Hearings Oct. 22

The Quincy City Council and Planning Board will hold two joint public hearings beginning at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22 in the Council Chambers.

At 7 p.m., the Council and Planning Board will hear a proposal for a Planned Unit Development special permit for a congregate housing facility at Old Colony Ave. and St. Ann's Rd., Wollaston.

The application was filed by the Mass. State Carpenters Pension Fund Corp. and Echo Development Corp.

The proposal calls for 210 residential units for congregate elderly housing with parking at Old Colony Ave. and St. Ann's Rd.

At 7:30 p.m., the Council and Planning Board will hear a proposal for a nine-hole, par three golf course with parking, utilities and accessory structures at Marina Bay in Squantum.

The application was filed by O'Connell Development Co. on behalf of the Boston Harbor Marina Co.

The golf course would be located on a 66-acre parcel adjacent to the southerly and easterly sideline of Seaport Dr. and the southerly sideline of Victory Rd.

License Application Withdrawn

Board Frowns On Downtown Nightclub

By JANE ARENA

The License Board Tuesday accepted a request to withdraw a license and an application for a common victualer license and an entertainment license for The Melody Club proposed for 1509 Hancock St. in the largely vacant Atrium Building.

The Board expressed reservations about licensing a nightclub in Quincy Square because it goes against the efforts to attract retail stores to the business district.

The application was from Lan Phung (Helen) Mach.

Mach's attorney, Richard Bowen, told the board the club would be non-alcoholic and that no food would be prepared on the premises but that an arrangement would be made with a "nearby restaurant" to get take-out food for the patrons.

The unique attraction of The Melody Club, he said, would be the entertainment. Along with a disc jockey who would play music for dancing, the club would also offer a type of entertainment known as "karaoke."

Karaoke is a form of sing-along entertainment where patrons can sing along to commercially produced videos which have the lyrics of songs on the screen much like the old style movie sing alongs.

The applicant brought video equipment to Tuesday's meeting so that the board could see a sample of karaoke.

Bowen explained that karaoke has proven very popular in New York and Toronto and would be unique to the South Shore area.

A typical evening, Bowen said, would alternate between dancing and karaoke entertainment.

The Melody Club would have seating for 99 people, he said, and would draw between 50 and 100 patrons on any given evening.

The applicant proposed to open seven nights a week from 7 p.m. to an unspecified closing hour.

The club would target customers of all ages, Mach told the Board, from high school age and up.

There would be a cover charge and patrons would also be charged for soft drinks and food.

Bowen brought with him photographs of a similar club in Toronto for the board to review. The proposed Quincy club would be almost exactly modeled after the Toronto club, he said.

Although he applauded the general concept of The Melody Club, Board Chairman John Gillis said he would not vote for a nightclub of any sort in the downtown area.

"We're hoping to build up Quincy Square with clothing and retail stores," he said. "We're hoping to see Quincy Square come back."

Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey agreed.

"We're not looking to make Hancock St. the entertainment capital of the South Shore," he said.

Bowen said he understands the city's objective for Quincy Square, but argued that The Melody Club could offer "a positive contribution" to the plan. He also noted that the board has, in the past, granted entertainment licenses to downtown businesses.

"That's agreed," Gillis said, "but we might have overdone that ... there's nothing that will attract people to Quincy Square during the day ... we hope to get retail stores in the Square."

Gillis suggested that the request be withdrawn without prejudice and that the applicant find a more appropriate location.

Fall Foliage Nears Peak Here

Raymond Cattaneo, Executive Director, Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, reminds Quincy residents that they need not travel far to view scenic fall foliage.

The fall colors are expected to peak in Quincy this week and next, he said.

One of the locations which usually peaks the earliest in the Quincy area is the Mount Wollaston Cemetery which displays its many brilliant shades of foliage.

Merrymount Park, also located off Southern Artery, offers an outstanding view of the many trees with Black's Creek providing a backdrop for this picturesque scene, Cattaneo said. "The Conservation Nature Trail off Fenno St. to the marsh site on Quincy Shore Drive offers an excellent view of the foliage for walkers and joggers as well," he said.

Faxon Park, off Faxon Park Rd., will remain open until Nov. 2 to allow those wishing to view the foliage to drive up to the Observation Circle lookout where there is an excellent view over to Quincy Bay.

Another area that offers limited amount of foliage is Squaw Rock in Squantum where there is an excellent scenic view of the Boston Skyline and Harbor Islands, Cattaneo said.

Hospital Charter Change Would Help Recruit More Physicians

In an effort to help Quincy Hospital recruit more physicians, the City Council approved a request for a home-rule petition which would change the hospital's charter.

If approved by the state legislature, the change would allow the hospital to use operating funds to recruit physicians.

Hospital Director Ellen Zane told the council that the hospital cannot compete with other area hospitals in physician recruitment without the change.

At some point, Zane said the hospital will have to bond to fund the recruitment which she said would cost approximately $20,000 per physician. If the hospital defaults, the city would have to pay for those bonds.

"I don't consider this a gamble. I think you've made very good decisions," Councillor Michael Cheney told Zane.

The hospital's operations appears to be on the upswing. Zane noted that admissions are up the last four months compared to those same months last year. She said admissions were up six percent in June, 12 percent in July, 16 percent in August and four percent in September.

Hopes 'Happy Holidays' Will Remain In View

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Regarding the letters from Fr. John McMahon published in the Quincy sun, in the Readers Forum Sept. 20 and Oct. 11:

The word ecumenical, an adjective is defined as "universal, worldwide", and is inclusive, in my view, as is the noun, ecumenism. Both words are global in intent, and in this case I believe, pertain to the citizens of various religions who reside and worship in Quincy, namely Christians, Jews, Moslems, and religions that are followed in the Far East.

I trust, therefore, in the purest spirit of ecumenism, defined as a "movement seeking to achieve unity among religious through greater cooperation and improved understanding", the greeting Happy Holidays will always be practical, and remain obvious, and also in good view in Quincy Center during the holiday season.

Searching For Merchant Seaman Of WW II

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Forty-four years after World War II, the merchant seamen who carried war supplies to the armed forces through hazardous submarine infested waters, and also manned the ship's guns, were finally granted Veterans Status by the Department of Defense.

It is interesting to note that their death rate was similar to that of the United States Marine Corps.

The problem at this time is:
there is no list of surviving seafarers anywhere!

May I ask for your help to find some of these men by running a small notice in your newspaper headlined,

"Searching For Merchant Seamen of WW II".

The story should indicate that they have been granted Veterans Status by the D.O.D. because of a campaign by the Combat Merchant Mariners WW II and that benefits await them.

MIGRAINE MISERY

Migraine headaches are called vascular headaches because they originate in the blood vessels in and around the brain, specifically the cranial arteries. The arteries dilate and become enlarged, pressing on surrounding tissues and causing a throbbing ache, which later becomes a steady and severe pain as the arterial wall hardens in response to the continuing pressure. Migraines are accompanied by nausea and lack of appetite in most cases, and often by dizziness, weakness and runny eyes and nose. The typical migraine attack starts with visual disturbances, images of flashing lights or sensitivity to bright light. After a while, the pain begins, usually only on one side of the head. It can last for several hours or as long as several days.

Medication can constrict the distended artery and stop the headache, if taken at the first sign of symptoms.

P.S. Migraines are most common in people who are under stress, or who are anxious and tense.
Therapy often helps stop the headaches.

If you are experiencing any of the symptoms discussed in today's column, we suggest that you contact the appropriate physician. For

One More Time . . .

Things I wish I could see, do, or hear once more. (But not necessarily in this order.)

- Take in a movie at the Lincoln, Strand or Quincy Theater.

- Sit down to a 45-cent luncheon special at the Howard Johnson restaurant downstairs at the Granit Trust. (now SouthShore Bank).

- Order a Coke with a dash of lemon at the Alhambra Tea Room.

- Plunk a nickel in the jukebox and get Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Harry James or Jimmy Dorsey with Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell.

- Look at Munroe MacLean on one side and Jack Donahue on the other plotting strategy at the Quincy-North Quincy Thanksgiving Day football game.

- Hear former Mayor and Councillor Tom Burgin stand up and tell his colleagues: "It's time to fish or cut bait."

- Henry Praino at Point Junior High School
stressing: "Always give it (effort) that extra ounce."

- Percy Lane, punster, newspaperman and bachelor observing: "You don't have to be crazy to be a newspaperman, but it helps ... "Marriage is an institution but who wants to live in an institution?"

- Dorothy Lamour, at our second meeting 10 years later, pulling me down beside her at the Latin Quarter and kidding: "C'mon now, you're not a cub reporter anymore."

- Ruth Gordon, calling from her apartment in New York City or her home on Martha's Vineyard all excited about her latest movie or TV show and asking me to keep an eye on her birth certificate at City Hall.

- President-elect John Kennedy in his father, Joseph's, home in the Kennedy compound a few hours after his slim win over Richard Nixon pouring drinks for and chatting with the press. When asked to explain what he thought made the difference between victory and defeat, he replied: "He (Nixon) screwed around too long in the South." And confessing he was going to play some golf when he got to Florida. "But don't print that, they'll think I'm another Ike."

- Watch Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa walking through City Hall turning off unnecessary lights.

- Ride a street car from Quincy Point to Quincy Square -- and for only a nickel.

- See City Clerk John Gillis in a crew cut.

- Buy a suit or sport coat from Ray Josephine at Remick's.

- Or a TV set from Remo and Pete DeNicola.

- And a big band album from Jason Feldman at Jason's.

- Walk up the runway at Fenway Park and see Jimmie Foxx, Bobby Doerr, Joe Cronin and Ted Williams taking batting practice.

- Take a seat in the stands at Fore River Field and see Jay Desmond, Fran Desmond, Nick Malvesti, Clappy Wildridge, Joe Shapiro, etc. in action.

- Stop at the Quincy Arena to boo Ted Germaine or Tony Papalino.

- Get up at 4 a.m. for Quincy High School hockey practice at the Boston Arena. (I'm not so sure about doing that again.)

Chamber Board Opposes Question 3 for cuts and for the restructuring of state government," he added.

In explaining the board's vote, Zoolock said state revenues from all sources are expected to barely rise over the next two fiscal years. As a result, he projected the state will have a deficit of $500 million June 30, 1991.

"Setting aside the impact of the CLT petition (already some $700 million has been cut from this budget) at least $500 million more will have to be cut by June 30 of this (fiscal) year.

"Of course, we will continue to play a leading role in offering cuts and restructuring packages over the next few months," Zoolock added.

If voters approve the CLT petition, $1.2 billion will have to be cut out of state government over six months of this fiscal year and over $2 billion in fiscal 1992. If the state has a deficit of $500 million next June, a total of $1.7 million will have to be cut between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1990.

According to Zoolock, the state's $13.6 billion budget has only $2.65 billion in discretionary or cuttable funding in the second half of FY 91. When the fiscal year began July 1, he said there was $8 billion in non-discretionary funding. This funding includes dollars tied up via contracts the state has already signed, federally mandated programs, local aid and other committed spending.

The remaining $5.3 billion

Now Chief In Pelham, NH

'Quincy Has Been Very Good To Me,' Rowell Says

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

In a small corner of his Quincy home, David F. Rowell has hung on the wall many of his accomplishments while a member of the Quincy Police Department.

Besides his numerous graduation plaques, there are photos of his promotions, letters of commendation and citations. There's also a small wooden sign that reads "Captain."

That sign will have to be moved to make room for another that reads "Chief."

Rowell, a 36-year veteran of the Quincy police force and a captain since July, 1983, was sworn in as the chief of police in Pelham, N.H. Monday.

Appointed Quincy's chief of detectives in 1980, Rowell said he had been plotting a career move since the first of the year. Although he said being a police chief was not a career objective, Rowell said taking the reins of Pelham's 31-member department is a challenge he welcomes.

"This gives me the chance to implement my policies and principles and to share my knowledge and experience with law enforcement officers in another state and jurisdiction as I also learn from them," Rowell said.

"I was happy in my role as a captain but I think this opportunity came along and I thought it would be a good idea to apply for it and see what it was all about."

"I did and I liked it and I decided to embark on that journey."

Rowell became interested in the Pelham chief position after seeing an ad in the Boston Globe Aug. 22. One of 60 applicants from across the country, he was among six final candidates the screening committee interviewed.

The other five candidates were two New Hampshire State Police lieutenants, two Massachusetts State Police lieutenants and a lieutenant from Fresno, Calif.

Oct. 9, Rowell was interviewed by Pelham selectmen, town counsel and the selectmen's administrative assistant. After the interview, he was told the committee would be in touch within a few days.

DAVID ROWELL

Rowell left and arrived home in Quincy about 45 minutes later. A few moments after getting through the door, the phone rang.

The committee, impressed with his qualifications and presentation, called to offer Rowell the job. He accepted on the spot.

"The members of the board were very impressed with my presentation and with my responses to their questions," he explained, adding the board liked his plans for the department's role in the community as well as his policies on such issues as civil rights and youth offenders.

As for goals, Rowell replied, "I'm going up there with idea of trying to make that community an even better place than it is now."

"It's a great place now but I want to contribute to making it even greater and better if it's possible working with all those people."

Rowell acknowledges he feels some sadness leaving the Quincy Police Department. Born and raised in the city, he joined the force as a patrolman in June, 1954. He was promoted to sergeant in May, 1965, lieutenant in May, 1969 and captain in July, 1983.

In 1978, he was sworn in as a deputy sheriff by Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall and in 1984 was appointed a deputy U.S. marshal by U.S. Marshal James Roche.

"I was born and raised in this city and have worked here and raised my children here all my life. This city of Quincy and its police department have always been good to me and to us."

"I will never forget that."

In particular, Rowell said he'll miss working with his long-time friend Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt. He also said he'll miss his close association with another good friend, former Quincy Chief Francis Finn. He called both men "great sources of support."

Although he'll continue living in Quincy, Rowell said he'll see less of his friends and local law enforcement associates now that he's chief of police in Pelham, a small town with a population of 9,000 located north of Braintree and east of Nashua, N.H.

"Those kind of relationships are hard to come by. They just seem to somehow fade away when you're away or when you leave."

"No matter how hard you might try to keep all of those relationships you know you're not going to be able to because it's just not humanly possible to do it."

"But you never forget them."

Although he is leaving some close friends behind, Rowell takes with him many fond memories as a former Quincy police officer.

In fact, he says his appointment as commanding officer of the Norfolk County Drug Task Force by Delahunt in 1983 is his proudest moment. "It's been such a wonderful relationship with Bill and his staff. I could never replace that kind of relationship. We've done a lot of good work together."

Combating drugs has long been close to Rowell's heart. In 1967, Finn instructed Rowell to start the Quincy Police Drug Unit.

Finn, who was Rowell's sergeant when the latter first came on the force, said Quincy's drug unit is one of the finest in the state because of Rowell's work.

Calling Rowell one of the most outstanding detectives in New England and "one hell of a leader," Finn said, "We're losing David Rowell but we are not losing everything he has put into the detective unit."

"He's done some fantastic work."

Delahunt said, "David Rowell was an outstanding police officer in Quincy, an extraordinary detective and a quality individual who I've been honored to be associated with for more than two decades."

Another proud moment in Rowell's career came in 1981 when he and several other detectives were commended by the late Judge Henry Chmielinski Jr. for their effort in apprehending more than 30 suspects in a drug raid involving Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Rockland, Marshfield, South Boston, Dorchester, Brockton, Abington and Hanover.

Three kilos of cocaine worth a street value of $65,000 then and $200,000 in cash were among the items seized. Chmielinski issued the wiretapping and surveillance order which led to the arrests.

Besides his joy and sadness, Rowell said his new position leaves him feeling proud and humble. "I feel proud because the board made such a quick decision."

"On the other hand, I feel a deep sense of humility that of at least 60 applicants, they chose me. It's just overpowering."

A graduate of North Quincy High School, Suffolk University and Quincy Junior College, Rowell served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Rowell and his wife, Jeanne a registered nurse, live with their youngest son, David Jr. The five older children, Kenny, Jan, Mark, Nancy and Michael are married. Michael and his wife, Sharon (Troupe) Rowell are marching their first child in March.

The chief's mother, Dorothy, lives in Wollaston. She was present at his swearing in.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Incumbent Is Incumbent

Judge Reuben Lurie decided that City Clerk Donald P. Crane acted correctly when he ordered the names of incumbents printed first on the ballot along with the notation "candidate for reelection."

Judge Lurie ruled that a petition brought by Joseph P. McDonough, a candidate for the City Council, was without merit.

McDonough alleged that, since the form of government in Quincy was changing from Plan E to Plan A at the end of the year, the Plan E councillors could not claim to be incumbents under Plan A.

$53,000 SCHOOL ERROR

City Manager Edward T. Lewis and city officials were seeking to rectify an error in addition that resulted in a $53,000 underestimate of the cost of pilings for Atlantic Junior High School.

The contract was placed for 12,500 linear feet of pilings at a cost of $49,200 when the actual amount was 25,200 linear feet, which came to a price of $102,112.

A spokesman for the engineering firm conceded that the mistake was one of simple addition.

CITY SEEKS LABORERS

The city of Quincy was faced with a shortage of laborers that was underscored when three garbage trucks were immobilized because they were not enough men to man them.

When the call went out to 239 men on the Civil Service list only 20 responded and all were hired.

The shortage of workers was blamed on the fact that Quincy paid such low wages for laborers, who received $57.20 a week to start and worked up to $68.75 a week after five years of service.

WORK STARTS ON NUCLEAR SHIP

Production work was underway at Bethlehem Steel Co. Fore River Shipyard on the first nuclear-powered surface vessel, a guided missile cruiser. The keel was scheduled to be laid in the spring.

Mullen To Name Rowell's Successor

With Police Captain David F. Rowell's resignation as chief of detectives in Quincy, Chief Francis Mullen was expected to name Rowell's successor as director of the detective bureau this week. Mayor James Sheets said Tuesday.

Rowell, who had been on the Quincy force 36 years, resigned last week to become chief of police in Pelham, N.H. He was sworn in Monday.

As for whether he will fill the captain's vacancy caused by Rowell's departure, Sheets said he will wait for the outcome of the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition, Question 3 on the Nov. 6 ballot.

There is another captain's vacancy in the department but the mayor said he has "no intention of filling it at this time."

The mayor said Rowell has filed for retirement and is now technically on vacation from the department. Sheets noted Rowell has "five or six weeks vacation time which he hasn't used."

Rowell's retirement will take effect in December. At that time, the mayor said he will decide whether he will fill Rowell's captain vacancy.

Jordan Marsh Center To Close

According to the notice, the facility, which opened in 1969, is being closed due to "economic necessity."

"This became clear during our recent negotiations with Teamsters Locals 25 and 82 (which represent general warehouse, maintenance, and stock workroom and processing workers) which resulted in impasse, primarily over economic issues."

"Many functions hitherto performed in the distribution center are being transferred to other geographic locations, and some will be eliminated," the notice states.

After recent negotiations with Locals 25 and 82 of the Teamsters, the company had to re-evaluate the economic feasibility of continuing to operate the Squantum facility in the face of severe financial constraints.

"After a great deal of review, it became clear that it would not be possible for the company to continue to economically conduct its functions" at the Squantum facility, Company Chairman Richard Van Pelt and President Sam Simmons wrote in a letter dated Oct. 16.

The executives said the company will provide severance pay in accordance with company policy to any employee who is not placed in a position in the new locations. To qualify, employees must work through the last day the facility is operating or the day they are released from employment, whichever

A Vegetarian's Delight

Here is a recipe for a meatless meat loaf for those who are not watching their cholesterol or for those who can go off their diet once in a while. It's well worth this recipe for cheese loaf.

CHEESE LOAF

4 eggs (beaten)
1 Lb shredded cheddar cheese (4 cups)
1 1/2 cups chopped walnuts
1 cup cooked rice
1/2 cup quick cooking oats
1/2 cup fresh mushrooms (chopped)
1 medium onion (chopped)
1 clove garlic (chopped)
salt and pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients together in a large bowl until blended. Pack firmly in a greased loaf pan (9 x 5 x 3). Bake in a 350 degree oven for 55 minutes or until firm. Let stand for 10 minutes after removing it from the oven. Loosen around the edges and turn on to a serving dish. Cut and serve with the following mushroom sauce.

2 1/2 Tbsps butter or margerine
1 cup fresh mushrooms, cut
1 1/2 Tbsps flour
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup milk

Melt butter or margerine and saute the mushrooms. Add the flour, salt, pepper and milk. Cook until thick. Serve over cheese loaf.

Keeping Kids Safe

Would your child know what to do if:
He was lost in a shopping mall?
A nice, friendly stranger offered her a ride?
A babysitter wanted to play a secret game?
A friend dared him to hitchhike?

Start With The Basics:

1. Rehearse with your child his or her full name, address, and phone number, including area code and how to make emergency phone calls from home and public phones. Practice on an unplugged phone.

2. Teach your child to go to a store clerk or security guard and ask for help if you become separated in a store or shopping mall. Tell them never to go into the parking lot alone. And, when possible, accompany your child to the restroom.

3. Tell your child never to accept gifts or rides from someone he or she does not know well. Your child should never go anywhere with another adult, even one who says you have sent him or her. Adopt a family code word to be used if you have to ask a third party to pick up your child. And, make sure your child knows to never, ever hitchhike.

4. Teach your child that no one, not even someone they know, has the right to touch them in a way that makes them feel uncomfortable. Tell them they have the right to say "no" to an adult in this situation.

At School Or At Play:

Walk the neighborhood with your child. Pick out the safest route to school and friends' houses. Avoid danger spots like alleys and wooded areas. Identify safe places to go in an emergency, like a neighbors home, or an open store.

Encourage your child to walk and play with friends, not alone, and to stay in well-lighted, open areas where others can see them. Teach your child to walk confidently and stay alert to what's going on around them.

Don't hang a house key around your child's neck. It's a telltale sign that you won't be home when the child returns from school. Put the key inside a pocket or sock.

Encourage your child to look out for other kids' safety and to stay away from strangers who hang around playgrounds, public restrooms and empty buildings. A stranger is someone the child doesn't know well. Teach your child to remember and report to you the license numbers of people who offer rides, hang around playgrounds, or appear to follow them. If a stranger tries to grab your child, teach the child to scream "Stay away from me," or "This person is trying to hurt me," and to run to the nearest place where people are around.

NEXT WEEK: At Home Alone.

Marina Bay Taxi Service Won't Increase Rates

Marina Bay Taxi Service of Quincy announces it will not increase its taxi fares to Quincy's new rates.

"Due to the recent downward trend in our local economy the people that we normally service have been adversely affected," said Michael Condon, owner of Marina Bay Taxi.

"The elderly especially can least afford the increase. Their benefits are being cut, prices are rising and many depend on taxi service to get them back and forth from shopping, doctors appointments, etc. . . ."

Marina Bay Taxi Service is the only taxi service in Quincy not to implement the Oct. 1 increase.

McCauley Raises $4,180 For Jimmy Fund In 26-Mile Walk

Former Quincy Mayor Francis McCauley raised $4,180 in pledges for the Jimmy Fund on Saturday by walking the 26-mile Boston Marathon route from Hopkinton to Copley Square.

"Because I had the right shoes," the former Mayor credited the doubling of his last year's total in a mere six hours and 25 minutes, lowering his time also.

Funds raised through pledges by sponsors of the walk will go to the Jimmy Fund Cancer Research at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute on Binney St., Boston, which concentrates on children. The walk was sponsored also by the Polaroid Corp.

"We started between 7 and 8 a.m. from Hopkinton — part of the time it poured," McCauley said. "I want to commend Tony Siciliano, Chief of Quincy Auxiliary Police, and Joe Pearson, who were there. The walk was well-organized with many volunteers at rest and aid stations."

There were more than 1,000 advance registrations for the walk, McCauley stated, including a number of police from Hartford, Conn. and one walker from New Jersey who came specifically to walk. A second walk for 10 miles only started from the Pillar House in Newton and ended at Copley Square.

This is the second annual Jimmy Fund Marathon Walk McCauley has participated in and still —

"I didn't accomplish my goal," McCauley admitted.

"My goal was to finish in less than six hours, but I'm continuing working in the right direction — maybe next year if the rain doesn't come down."

Carol Speranzo of Second Sight, who started with McCauley, was forced by the heavy rain to drop out after 15 miles, "but she did a terrific job," McCauley stated. She raised $525 from her sponsors.

What today's pharmacists can do for you

Your pharmacist is truly a medication expert. He or she can:

- Tell you how to best take your medication.
- Explain what kinds of side effects you can expect from a drug. He or she may also be able to suggest ways of minimizing them.
- Maintain a "patient profile." This type of record contains a history of all your prescriptions, as well as notes about any drug allergies or health conditions you might have. An important tool, it serves to warn pharmacists about potential allergic reactions or drug interactions. If your pharmacist does maintain a profile — and most do — he or she will have access to information about prescriptions filled in that store only. So using one pharmacy is probably in your best interest.
- Answer your health and drug-related questions.
- Help you choose over-the-counter medications.
- Tell you how to store your medication.

And, by the way, how many other types of health professionals can you reach so easily?

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Someone once said, "It takes a great man to make a good listener."

Good listeners are hard to find. Why is this so? Probably because we all love to talk. Listening requires patience, attention, concentration and energy. It is something to be cultivated and the best place to start is with ourselves. Not only do we learn while we listen, but, by listening we pay a high complement to the person speaking. Few experiences give an individual more reassurance than to find someone who will listen sympathetically and intelligently to his problems.

The Roman philosopher Seneca once said, "Year after year anguished souls cry out ... For who listens to us in all the world, whether he be friend or teacher, brother, father, mother, sister, or neighbor, husband or wife ... Those who are dearest to us? ... To whom can a man say, here I am ... Listen to me ... for a moment ... Last I expire in my terrible wilderness, my lonely silence ... O, God, is there no one to listen?"

Today you may be the one who can best answer that desperate and lonely cry from someone in your home, in your neighborhood, among your friends, at your work or in your school ...

A Third Generation Continues Our Traditions.

Quincy has changed a great deal since Sweeney Funeral Home was established in 1917. But, it's nice to know some things will never change. Like the observance of traditional values and customs.

At Sweeney Funeral Homes, older residents are quick to notice the subtle reminders of yesteryear, such as the grey gloves our funeral director still wears. Like the characteristic top hat and tails that our founder, Dennis Sweeney, wore over 30 years ago, they reflect our Tradition. One that has been built on a dignified and instinctive concern for the city's bereaved families for three generations.

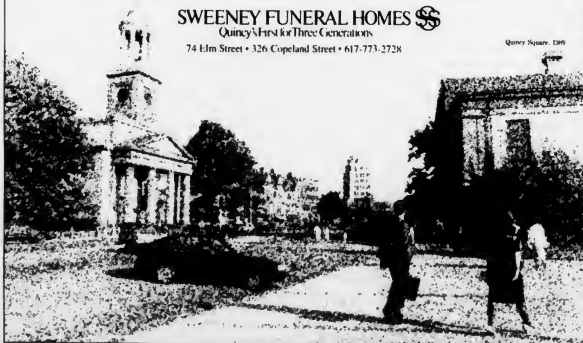

Today, our founder's grand-nephew, Dennis S. Sweeney has continued the family's philosophy of maintaining a beautiful, home-like atmosphere.

And like his namesake, who started pre-arrangements in the 1940s, Dennis believes in helping residents to plan for the future. Pre-planning means that this financial decision is not left for a family to decide while they are attempting to cope with a major personal loss. It's a difficult time, a time when family members are least able to make the wisest choice.

Sweeney Funeral Homes has been helping South Shore residents with difficult decisions for over 70 years. Call Dennis Sweeney at (617) 773-2728 for a free consultation. There's no time like the present.

Cheney Delays Money For New Tree Plantings

An appropriation for $21,690 to fund new tree plantings throughout the city was objected to by Councillor Michael Cheney Monday night.

Funding for the trees is tied into the city's historical lighting program. Cheney said he wants a list of the lighting contributors and a financial report for the program before he votes on the tree funding.

"We're on the heels of CLT," Cheney said, referring to the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition which is Question 3 on the Nov. 6 ballot. The petition, if approved, would mandate $1.3 billion in state spending cuts during the last six months of FY 91 which ends next June 30.

"I'm not just going to vote on $21,000 without a report," Cheney said, who then objected to the appropriation.

By objecting to an appropriation, debate ceases.

The order can be discussed again at a future Council meeting.

Last month, the council okayed $175,000 in the city's UDAG account to cover the cost of the first 42 historical lighting fixtures in Downtown Quincy. Of the money approved, $150,000 was earmarked for lighting and $25,000 for trees.

However, the lighting bid came in at $171,690, or $21,690 higher than expected. As a result, the tree funding already approved was put in the lighting account, leaving only $3,310 for trees. Monday's appropriation would have brought the tree funding account back up to $25,000.

The city will reimburse the UDAG account with money contributed by private citizens, businesses and groups participating in the lighting program.

Mayor James A. Sheets

asked the private sector to contribute by donating $2,500 for a light fixture. The mayor said he has sold all 42 fixtures for the first phase.

Of the $105,000 in private contributions needed for the first phase of the lighting program, Foy said the city has collected $65,000.

Councillors Peter Kolson and Timothy Cahill urged their colleagues to approve the funding. A delay would be "unjustified and undue," Kolson said. Cahill added the city may not have the finances to fund tree plantings next year.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley said he was displeased that tree requests in some wards, including his, were disproportionate.

Thomas Koch, the mayor's executive secretary, said fewer tree plantings are scheduled for Ward 6 because few trees have been taken down in that area of the city.

Claiming a Proposition 2½ override looms on the city's horizon, Cahill added he would rather pay his tax money to Quincy because "I have more faith in us and the mayor than in Beacon Hill."

"To me, voting to oppose this question says let's keep the status quo. If we are concerned about downsizing government, we have to vote yes on Question 3. It's as simple as that," Cahill told his colleagues.

In voicing his opposition to Question 3, Cheney said if CLT is approved, the state's economy will fall into a recession because many "spin-off" projects will be cut back. He also said fees in many communities will go up.

"It's unfortunate we depend on local aid but we don't have the ability to levy local taxes," Cheney said.

Cheney, who favors cuts in state consultants, added, "I'm mad too, but I'm not crazy. Vote no because this isn't the proposition that will correct the problem."

Chretien said he opposes CLT because it could lead to massive reductions in local aid. "I'm concerned about its effect on Quincy. This will change the quality of life in Quincy for decades. I agree with the slogan that Question 3 goes too far," Chretien said.

Kolson said he understands the frustration citizens feel toward state government.

"They have a bunch of bean bags running the state. When the government puts veterans administration services and zoos in the same (budget) category, it's just crazy."

Still, Kolson said CLT would eliminate competent state workers from the payroll, not the "incompetent hacks that everyone wants out."

As for the effectiveness of CLT, Kolson added, "It's like putting an elevator in an outhouse. It just doesn't fit."

Voicing his opposition to Question 3, Nutley said, "We're being held hostage with the fear that local aid will be cut."

DeCristofaro said he is concerned CLT will lead to drastic cuts in human services. "We weren't responsible for this mess but we're going to pay the price."

"If this passes, I'm sure people in Quincy and the state will feel a lot of pinches, a lot of painful pinches," he added.

Nutley and other councillors including Fabrizio said residents should carefully examine the CLT issue and make up their own minds.

"I think the people should decide. I think the people should make up their minds," Nutley said.

Council Lifts Restriction On Self-Service Stations

The City Council voted unanimously Monday to lift a restriction on self-service gas stations, thereby allowing stations to operate self-serve islands only between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Originally, self-service gas stations were allowed on a trial basis. In 1988, the Council voted to allow self-serve islands to exist in Quincy provided the station also operates a full-service island between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. With the council's vote Monday, the License Board is now authorized to grant self-service station permits only.

According to city ordinance, stations will not be prohibited from charging different prices for each level of service provided.

When the original order was passed two years ago, the Council decided to allow a reasonable period of time to elapse in order to determine whether the self-service arrangement was effective and efficient for the public.

Atty. Robert Fleming, representing Merit Oil Corporation on Hancock St. in North Quincy, told the council his client reported 94 percent of its fuel sales are at self-service islands and only six percent at full service island. "This only because customers move over to self-service because full service is too busy," he noted.

Fleming also pointed out that the majority of communities allow self-service without restrictions.

With the change, Fleming said he doubts there will be many all self-service gas stations in Quincy since state law requires gas stations to have attendants in order to assist handicapped and senior citizens.

Fleming and Councillor Michael Cheney agreed self-service stations are pro-consumer since self-serve gas prices are typically two to three cents a gallon below full-service facilities.

Self-service stations are also safer, Fleming noted, because the state mandates safety and equipment be required by self-service facilities.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley said he was concerned stations would exploit physically challenged people and senior citizens by designating a pump with higher prices than other self-service pumps.

Fleming said this is against the law. Cheney said owners who discriminate will be taken to the License Board and have their license revoked.

18% Sales Decline 5% Selling Price Decrease

The number of residential, commercial, and land sales in Massachusetts declined 18 percent while the average selling price for all property decreased 5 percent during the second quarter of 1990 as compared with the same period of one year ago, according to a report released by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR).

The sales statistics show that 8,572 property sales were recorded through realtor-affiliated multiple listing service systems (MLS) in the state during the second quarter of 1990, compared to 10,500 sales during the same period last year. The MLS sales figures include the sale of single and multi-family homes, condominiums, commercial property and raw land, and account for approximately 40-50 percent of all real estate sales in Massachusetts.

"The decline in second quarter sales activity reflects not only the natural correction occurring in the housing market, but also the dramatic impact the state and region's economic problems are having on the demand for property," said MAR President J. Thomas Marquis, of Brighton, MA.

"The decline in business growth locally has led to a rise in unemployment and a decrease in the number of home buyers relocating to the state to take new jobs," observed Marquis. "Furthermore, the recent decision to increase taxes to resolve the state budget crisis and the general perception of a credit crunch also have made consumers more fearful of entering the housing market," he said.

Property sales fell in each region of the state except Cape Cod, where the number of sales increased 37 percent over the second quarter of 1989.

"In addition to the effects caused by the slowdown in the economy, the housing market has suffered from its own self-inflicted wound of being overbuilt," Marquis said. "The supply of housing on the market has been much greater than the current demand, thereby creating tremendous opportunities for home buyers."

The number of listings was up 10 percent from the first to the second quarter of this year, making the 43,286 listings on the market from April to June 1990 the second highest quarterly total for listings recorded by the MAR. (The 1989 second quarter total of 44,148 listings is the greatest quarterly total recorded.)

"Many of today's home buyers do not feel a sense of urgency to buy because there is so much inventory to choose from, but they should understand that most of the homes currently on the market are occupied by many more prospective home buyers who are simply waiting for their own house to sell before purchasing another property," Marquis noted.

The realtor's figures also show that the statewide average selling price of all property sold over realtor MLS systems was $172,324 during the second quarter of this year, which represents a 5 percent decrease from the 1989 second quarter average price of $181,077 and a 3.8 percent decrease from the 1990 first quarter average price of $179,109.

"The decrease in the average selling price indicates that homes at the lower end of the market, particularly those priced below $150,000, are currently selling at a faster pace than those in the medium and upper price ranges," stated Marquis. "And, even more importantly, this modest price decline supports industry predictions that instead of experiencing an overall collapse in real estate prices we are merely witnessing the effects of properties being listed and sold at fair market prices."

"The bottom line is that despite all of the uncertainty surrounding the local economy, the second quarter brought slightly lower home prices and a decline in mortgage rates of approximately one-half of a percentage point, making this one of the best buyers markets in years," Marquis said.

The second quarter report generally reflects property transactions closed between February and April due to the standard 60-90 day closing period.

Organized in 1924, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors is a voluntary trade group with more than 16,500 members. The term Realtor is registered as the exclusive trademark of the National Association of Realtors who subscribe to a strict code of ethics.

Dr. Steven Viegas Associate

Professor Of Surgery At UTMB

Dr. Steven F. Viegas, a Quincy native now living in Texas, was recently promoted to associate professor of surgery at the University of Texas Medical Branch.

Dr. Viegas, who attended Quincy schools and graduated from Holy Cross College and Boston University Medical School, is one of only 10 surgeons in the nation using an advanced method of treatment for one of the most common hand problems afflicting American workers. He is the only physician west of the Mississippi performing a newly developed endoscopic procedure to correct carpal tunnel syndrome.

The procedure involves inserting a metal sleeve through the wrist into the carpal tunnel, an area where the bones joining the forearm to the hand for a U shape. A tight ligament covers this tunnel, and when fluid or tissue accumulates within this space because of injury or excessive use, stress is placed on the median nerve in the tunnel.

To relieve the stress, an endoscope is placed into the sleeve, so a physician can surgically release the ligament, relieving the pressure.

The procedure allows physicians like Dr. Viegas to see the tissue they are cutting, unlike other endoscopic procedures in which the knife cannot be viewed.

Presidents Host Powerful Weymouth Friday

The unbeaten (4-0-1) Quincy football team survived a major test last Friday night at Veterans Memorial stadium when it scored an impressive 21-6 victory over Medford in a foggy homecoming game.

The Presidents will face its biggest test of the season this Friday night at the stadium when it hosts powerful Weymouth (4-1) in a 7 o'clock Old Colony League game.

Friday's game will bring back memories of many unforgettable Quincy-Weymouth games prior to 1970 when Weymouth broke up into two schools, Weymouth North and Weymouth South.

For many years prior to breaking up Weymouth into two schools, Weymouth was one of Quincy's top rivals and they staged many memorable games which filled Veterans Stadium.

Interest waned dramatically with the two Weymouth schools but now that Weymouth is one school again, the biggest in the Old Colony League, interest in the Quincy-Weymouth meetings should increase again.

Both teams are unbeaten in the league. Weymouth, loser only to Central Mass. powerhouse Leominster, 6-0, in its opener, is 4-0 in the league with wins over Silver Lake, Barnstable, Taunton and North Quincy. Quincy is 2-0-1 in the league with wins over Taunton and Plymouth and a tie with Bridgewater-Raynham. The Presidents defeated Medford and Marshfield in non-league games.

"This should be a great game and I hope there will be a large crowd," Quincy coach Jack Raymer said. "Weymouth is an outstanding team with plenty of size and speed and a huge squad. (Weymouth had 75 players in uniform against North Quincy last week). My big worry is how healthy we will be for the game. We took our lumps against a physical Medford team and we may face Weymouth without some key players."

Mark Bogan, who had another great two-way game, was injured in the first half and played only on defense in the second half. He rushed nine times for 63 yards, caught two passes for 94 yards, scored his sixth and seventh touchdowns and defensively had nine unassisted tackles, four assists and intercepted a pass.

Jason Anderson, Quincy's number two runner, also was injured and taken to the hospital after rushing for 30 yards. Bill Reardon filled in well for him on offense.

"Our running game suffered after the injuries to Bogan and Anderson, but we still moved the ball well with our second backfield in there," Raymer said. "Mike Flavin was four for 12 passing for 118 yards and threw his seventh touchdown pass. Dave Chapman had two fine receptions for 32 yards."

Raymer once again was pleased with the Presidents' defense, which had just one touchdown during Medford's only scoring drive. He had good words for Gary Collins, Ally Sleiman, Dave Chevry, who filled in for injured sophomore Mike Kavanagh, who likely will miss the Weymouth game; Shawn Kennedy, also injured; Chapman, Bob Crespi, Keith Norris and Graham Chevry.

He also praised the defensive efforts of Reardon, Bogan, John O'Connor, Robby Kane and Chris Walker.

"The offensive line also did a fine job," said Raymer, who praised Scott Buckmann, Mike Tempesta, Graham Chevry, Pat Neil, sophomore Duane Holmes, who has been outstanding the past few weeks, Mike Malvesti, who filled in for Kavanagh; John Fahey and Walker.

Bogan put Quincy on the board first when he went 21 yards for the score in the opening quarter. He also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Medford (3-2) came back early in the second quarter and Ed Carnes, who rushed 13 times for 67 yards, scored from the nine. The conversion try failed and Quincy still led.

Later in the quarter Medford marched from its 44 to Quincy's 11 but, on fourth and two, the Presidents held and took over.

The Presidents struck quickly as Flavin and Bogan teamed up for a beautiful 84-yard touchdown pass, which saw Bogan race 45 yards for the score. The conversion try failed.

In the final quarter Medford reached Quincy's 24 but Bogan ended the threat with a pass interception on the five-yard line. With six minutes left Anderson capped a drive by scoring from the one and Noel DiBona kicked his sixth extra point of the season.

Quincy Jayvees Breeze By Medford

The Quincy junior varsity football team improved its record to 4-1 Monday with a 29-8 victory over Medford.

The Presidents will host undefeated Weymouth Monday at 3:30.

Junior Joe Crespi threw two touchdown passes and scored another touchdown himself as Quincy raced out to a 29-0 halftime lead and coasted from then on.

Sophomore Noel DiBona rushed for a touchdown and kicked three extra points.

Quincy's defense, led by linebackers Jason Eleuteri and David Bogan, was outstanding as it stopped Medford for most of the game. Also playing well defensively were Rich Buckley, Kevin Keane, Claircent Desmier, Mark Zaborowski, Pat Gallagher, Brian McNamara, John Wisnes, John Austin, Jason Kelly and Eric McPartlin.

Quincy opened the scoring on a 35-yard pass to sophomore Rob Kane. Eleuteri rushed for the two-point conversion.

DiBona raced 18 yards for the second score after Bogan interception. Crespi scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak and David Cahill scored on a 52-yard pass from Crespi.

Roman Gardens Blanks Gold, 4-0

Roman Gardens blanked the Gold team, 4-0, for its second straight shutout in South Shore Hockey Association action at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Goalie Brian DeAcitis was outstanding for Roman Gardens, Jack McCarthy, Frank Costa, Mike O'Keefe and Doug Half scored for Roman Gardens.

The Purple team topped Sullivan Tire, 6-2, as Ed Settimo had two goals and Dale Deacon, Jack Buonpane, John Davidson and Jimmy Clark one apiece for the Purple and Dan Begin and Marty King scored for Sullivan. The Purple exploded for four unanswered goals in the third period to break a 2-2 tie.

Sports Emporium defeated Bay State Auto, 4-2, with Dave Perdios scoring twice and Tom McLaughlin and Rick Cobban once each. For Bay State Dave Johnson and Bob Nihitler had the goals.

Weymouth 28, North Quincy 14 Raiders Hope To Get On Track At Fall River

It has been a frustrating season for the North Quincy football team and the Raiders (1-4) hope to snap a four-game losing streak Saturday when they travel to Fall River for a 1:30 game against Durfee.

Playing against terrific odds last Friday night, North staged a courageous performance at Weymouth but lost to the powerful Wildcats, 28-14, at Legion Field in Weymouth.

The Raiders had to face the big Weymouth squad (Weymouth is one school for the first time in 20 years and is now the biggest school in the Old Colony League) without three of their best backs and, following a dismal start, made an excellent comeback and became the first team to score two touchdowns against the 4-1 Wildcats.

Following a tough loss to unbeaten Central Mass. power Leominster, Weymouth has rolled over Silver Lake, Barnstable, Taunton and North Quincy in league games. Weymouth had 75 players in uniform against North.

Although Durfee, a member of the Big Three with Brockton and New Bedford after the realignment of leagues, is 0-5, McPhee is taking nothing for granted.

"I expect plenty of trouble from Durfee, especially if our three injured backs (Chris Murray, the team's leading rusher, Rich Brooks and Evan Kiley) are out of the lineup," North coach Ken McPhee said. "We started against Weymouth without Murray and Brooks and lost Kiley on the second play of the game. It is hard enough to face a powerhouse like Weymouth at full strength let alone without three of your best backs."

Weymouth had a 14-0 lead after only three minutes of play and led, 21-0, early in the second quarter. But the Raiders came back strong the rest of the game and gave the Wildcats all they could handle.

"These kids just won't quit, that's why I'm so proud of them," said McPhee. "They showed a lot of courage and we had them worried. You can't afford to fall behind by two touchdowns in the first three minutes against a team like that. We are young and still making mistakes. I had 17 underclassmen playing at Weymouth."

With Murray, Brooks and Kiley out of the lineup, junior varsity player Mike Sweeney was North's top runner and carried nine times for 36 yards and rushed for a two-point conversion. North was unable to mount a running game with the three players missing and went mostly with the pass.

Mark Taylor was 10 for 25 for 135 yards and two touchdowns, but was intercepted twice. Mark Cocuzzo carried six times for 24 yards.

Weymouth stuck mainly to the ground and rushed for 137 yards to North's 64. Quarterback J. J. Chella was two for six for 70 yards and a touchdown and had one pass intercepted. North had 11 first downs to seven for Weymouth.

"Desmond Bellott played another outstanding two-way game," McPhee said. "This kid is just great. He is an outstanding defensive player and you can't cover him on offense. He had an interception at Weymouth and caught another touchdown pass. Taylor had an excellent game as did Sweeney, Cocuzzo and, as usual, Adam Strout had a fine two-way game." John D'Angelo had a fine game, blocking well and catching a pass for a 19-yard gain.

Defensively McPhee praised Scott Prouty, Matt Swierk, Jason April, Pat Shea and Mike Picariello.

North was put in a hole at the very start as Lou Henrickson ran the opening kickoff back 65 yards for a score and Todd Kersissey kicked the first of his four extra points.

Three minutes later Kevin Shaw intercepted a pass and Chella passed to Keith Strusseri for 25 yards and another score.

Early in the second quarter Chella hit Strusseri for 50 yards and Chella scored from the one. Weymouth led, 21-0, and it looked like a breeze for the Wildcats.

North wouldn't quit and, after a scoreless third quarter, Taylor passed to Bellott for nine yards and Bellott's fifth touchdown.

Weymouth added its final score when Steve Gabriel raced 33 yards for a touchdown.

North scored its second touchdown on a two-yard pass from Taylor to Mark Kelleher and Sweeney rushed for a two-point conversion, his first varsity points.

North Jayvees Handed First Loss By Weymouth

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team suffered its first loss in five games and was scored upon for the first time Monday as undefeated Weymouth topped the Raiders, 14-9.

The North Jayvees will seek their fifth win Monday against Durfee at Fall River.

Both North Quincy and Weymouth were unbeaten and unscored upon going into Monday's game.

Weymouth scored early and had a 6-0 lead after a quarter. Early in the second quarter Weymouth scored on a 66-yard pass play and added the two-point conversion for a 14-0 lead.

North came out strong in the third quarter and drove 63 yards for its only touchdown. Keith Lentini, Brendon O'Connell, Mike Sweeney and Liam Higgins sparked the drive and Higgins scored from the eight and Chris Peck added the two-point conversion on a pass from Higgins.

A 59-yard punt set North back to its four-yard line. A pass from Higgins to Peck was good for 24 yards and got North out of a hole, but Weymouth held and took over.

Weymouth coach Kevin Cobban, a former North Quincy assistant, said, "We knew we were in a great game. North came back strong in the second half and were fortunate to stop them in the last quarter. I'm proud of my kids, this was the best team they have faced and they came through."

North coaches Tom Carter and Peter Chrisom were disappointed, but felt the team played well.

"We played better after we went behind and couldn't catch up in the last quarter," Carter said. "We played a great team and have nothing to be ashamed of. That 59-yard punt certainly hurt us."

Last week North ran its unbeaten and unscored-upon record to 4-0 with a 20-0 decision over Barnstable.

North scored the first time it had the ball. A 15-yard penalty against Barnstable put that ball on the Cape team's 24. After Mike Sweeney picked up two, Mark Sinclair raced 22 yards for a score.

Sweeney and Sinclair continued their fine running and North reached the Barnstable four from where Sweeney scored. A Higgins to Paul Kerr pass added the two points.

The final score came after Higgins hit Kerr for 17 yards to the 13. O'Connell carried to the four and Sinclair scored his second touchdown.

Reserves Matt Walsh,

Chris Galvin and Lentini came in for praise and Mike Christopherson, Dave Reinhart, Scott Kohlar and Chris Campbell were lauded for their steady performances.

Balzano Hits Human Service Cuts

Judy Balzano, Republican candidate for state representative in the Third Norfolk District, has assailed Massachusetts Democrats for the massive cuts in human services that are taking place.

"The Democrats in the legislature brought us to the crisis we're in because of years of wasteful spending under Mike Dukakis," she said "and now they intend to hold the truly needy hostage in their drive for higher taxes."

"It's a disgrace for them to threaten to close the Chelsea

Soldiers' Home, lay off hundreds of mental health workers, and cut off fuel assistance to the poor and elderly with winter coming on. The party which likes to say it's for the little man is now showing its true colors.

"They can afford Persian rugs and Belgian marble for their offices while deserting the disabled. They can afford a fancy new clock for the state house lobby, but abandon our veterans. As the widow of a disabled veteran, I find that particularly disgusting."

"They can load all their hack friends and relatives into soft agency jobs at high salaries, but have no real concern for the homeless," Balzano said.

"The Democratic strategy apparently is to frighten us by these inhumane cuts into accepting a continuation of their tax and spend policies. It won't work if we don't fall for it."

"This year the Republican party offers the best hope for the restoration of fiscal sanity to Massachusetts by turning the incumbent Democrats out of office," she added.

Dukakis described the recipients as "people who understand that it is an honor to serve the public."

Bradstreet-McGrail assists social workers, rehabilitation counselors and teachers with

More Review For License Board Residency Proposal

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A proposal to require members of the License Board to live in Quincy was sent back to the Ordinance Committee for more review by the City Council Monday.

After some discussion, Ordinance Committee Chairman Michael Cheney, one of the proposal's three sponsors, said the issue will be discussed again in a public forum by the council. Cheney said other issues surrounding the proposed change, such as residency requirements for proxy board members and the board's composition, will be examined. A final version of a home-rule petition will then be drafted.

Cheney, Ward 4 Councillor

Thomas Fabrizio and Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan have proposed that all members of the License Board be Quincy residents. Presently, only the city clerk is required to be from Quincy because his residency is required as city clerk.

The other four members, police chief, fire chief, building inspector and public health commissioner, do not have to live in Quincy to sit on the board.

Cheney said the change has been proposed because, for the first time in many years, only one resident was on the board. When Police Chief Francis Mullen of Hingham was appointed last month, that marked the first time in years that only one resident, City Clerk John Gillis, was on the board.

Other members were Building Inspector Matthias Mulvey of Weymouth, Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue of Hull, Fire Chief Paul O'Connell of Stoughton. O'Connell has since stepped down and has been replaced by Thomas Gorman of Quincy, who was appointed acting chief.

Since introducing the proposal in August, Cheney has maintained that board members should live in Quincy since their decisions typically have a lasting impact on city neighborhoods.

The board votes on all business licenses, including restaurant permits and permanent and temporary licenses to sell and serve alcohol. The board also monitors businesses which have received licenses.

City solicitor Stephen McGrath told councillors the residency requirement is legal. "It would survive a challenge," he said.

Council President Ted DeCristofaro asked whether the residency requirements would apply to substitute or proxy board members, such as an acting police or fire chief. Cheney said it would apply.

Councillor-at-Large Timothy Cahill said the council should study the board to determine whether other changes are necessary. He noted other city boards, such as the Zoning Board of Appeals, are made up of appointed residents with specific terms. He also pointed out some boards meet at night which is convenient for many members and residents.

The license board meets Tuesday mornings.

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien said he opposes a residency requirement. "As a ward councillor, I have never been disappointed with the way the present board has acted."

Chretien also asked the current members to submit written opinions on the issue.

As presently proposed, current members would be exempt from the residency clause.

Cuts, Layoffs, Transition

Sheets Paints Grim Picture If CLT Passes

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

For the City of Quincy, the CLT petition on the Nov. 6 ballot could stand for "cuts, layoffs and transition."

If the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition, Question 3, is approved by voters, Mayor James Sheets said the city will likely lose $10 million in local aid for FY 91 and FY 92. If that happens, Sheets projects massive reductions in education and public safety.

Specifically, the mayor sees some 120 teachers, 52 firefighters and 58 police officers losing their jobs, two or three fire stations closing and the other departments absorbing $1.8 million in cuts. If CLT passes, School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci said at least three of the city's 16 schools would probably close, perhaps a high school.

Sheets discussed the impact of CLT before 100 people last week at a forum sponsored by the City-Wide Parent-Teacher Council and Quincy Citizens for Quality Education. The forum was held at the Quincy High School media center.

"I wasn't speaking for or against CLT," the mayor said later, "but to provide these two groups who are concerned about the cuts in education with what I consider to be the best possible projection of cuts." The mayor said he will provide the data to any group that wants it.

Sheets' comments were based on information received Sept. 21 from the state Department of Appropriation and Taxation. The department indicated what cuts all 351 communities will face if CLT passes.

If approved, the CLT petition would mandate state spending be cut by $1.3 billion during the second half of FY 91. Over a three-year period, $6 billion in state spending would be cut.

CLT proponents say the petition sends a message to downsize state government. They note that during the last seven years, the Dukakis Administration increased state spending from $6.944 to $13.356 billion (92 percent), almost three times the rate of inflation.

Opponents argue the state's weakened economy will be devastated, with bond ratings dropping even lower and funding for children's education and human services dramatically reduced.

According to Sheets, if CLT passes, the city will have to cut approximately $5.7 million in the FY 91 budget as of January, 1991. The mayor said he would consider taking $1 million out of the city's $1.3 million reserve account to reduce the cut to $4.7 million.

Of the city's $121 million budget for FY 91, 54.5 percent or $66 million is discretionary

New Outside Lighting Oct. 30 At Adams Academy

Ten school children representing each of the city's elementary schools will pull a giant switch to turn on the new outside lighting at the Adams Academy, Quincy Center, Tuesday, Oct. 30.

The lighting ceremony will be held at 6 p.m., with a performance by the Eastern Nazarene A Capella Choir.

The subtle groundlighting at the historical Adams Academy — site of the birthplace of John Hancock and current home of the Quincy Historical Society — is the first of four such projects to be sponsored by the Quincy Partnership, Inc., a group of local business leaders which has raised nearly $15,000 in just the past few weeks to complete the project.

Future historic sites to be lighted include the Thomas Crane Public Library, the United First Parish Church and the old City Hall.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Charles Francis Adams and Thomas Boylston Adams, direct descendants of John Adams, and U.S. Deputy Secretary of the Interior Frank Bracken.

City Wins Right To Inspect MWRA Work

The city has won the right to inspect the work of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority which is presently constructing an interim sludge processing facility at the former General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy Point.

Quincy inspectors earned that right after Mayor James Sheets appeared before Judge A. David Mazzone in U.S. District Court in Boston Monday. Mazzone, who ordered the Boston Harbor cleanup several years ago, ordered the city to appear before him because the Sheets administration had failed to process sewer and water permits which the MWRA needs to construct the facility.

Mazzone ordered the city to release the permits and also granted Quincy the right to inspect the MWRA's work. Previously, only state inspectors were allowed to inspect state construction projects.

Sheets, who was accompanied by City Solicitor Stephen McGrath, Special Counsel Peter Koff and Special Consultant David Standley, said the court appearance proved successful.

"The MWRA has agreed city inspectors with accompanying state inspectors onto the site. The city can observe if there are any problems, such as noxious odors."

"If the state is not responsive to the problem, the city can bring (the problems) before the judge," Sheets said Tuesday.

"Our court appearance was successful. It gives the city access to the shipyard and to Judge Mazzone."

"From this point on, the city will be able to deal directly with the federal judge if we feel the state isn't doing it's job."

Another city lawsuit which attempts to stop the permanent sludge facility from beginning operations in 1996 is still pending.

TURN CLOCKS BACK ONE HOUR

Hearing Continued On Deli License Request

By JANE ARENA

The License Board Tuesday continued until Nov. 6 a hearing on a request from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Delgado and William Oliver for a common victualer license to open the Montclair Deli at 216-224 West Squantum St., North Quincy.

There would be no seating at the deli and the license would be for take-out only.

Although they had a petition signed by some 270 neighbors who supported the request and they also brought with them a letter from Ward Councillor Lawrence Chretien stating he was not opposed to it, there were several abutters present at the hearing who were opposed to the license.

Atty. Jeff Graber, representing those abutters, told the board that there are two major concerns about the license for the deli — increased traffic on the already congested West Squantum St., and a possible aggravation of odors and debris from the dumpster in the area, already a problem from an existing business in the building.

The building proposed for the site has three other stores vacant, Atty. Graber said, and the abutters have a scheduled hearing with the Zoning Board of Appeals for Nov. 13 in an effort to limit the type of use for the building. Graber asked that the board continue the hearing until after the Zoning Board hearing.

Board Chairman John Gillis, along with Building Commissioner Matthias Mulvey, said that the deli would be a fair use for the area in that it is take-out only.

Some months ago the board denied a request for a pizzeria at the same location, agreeing that traffic problems would have resulted.

Atty. Kevin Kerr, representing the landlord of the building, John Blathros, asked that the License Board not continue the hearing until mid-November for the sake of the applicants who are currently trying to settle financial matters to open the deli.

Health Board Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue said that she wants two weeks to monitor the dumpster situation to ascertain whether it is from construction or from the operating business.

Wollaston Elderly Housing Plan Gets Favorable Reaction

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A proposal to build 210 units of elderly congregate housing on land located at Old Colony Ave. and St. Ann's Rd. in Wollaston received mostly favorable reviews at a joint public hearing of the City Council and Planning Board Monday.

The application for the special PUD permit was filed by the Mass. State Carpenters Pension Fund Corp. and Echo Development Corporation.

During the one-hour hearing, five people spoke in favor of the project and another 13 signed in support.

Only Michael Heavey, who works at Granite Supply Co. at 153 Old Colony Ave., spoke out against the idea. Heavey said he was concerned about pedestrian safety, claiming motorists average 40 miles an hour in the area.

According to the proposal, 206 one-bedroom and four two-bedroom units would be constructed at the site of the old Howard Johnson facility in Wollaston. The five story building, which would be known as Daisy House, would be designed for the well elderly with their special needs in mind, said Paul Tortolani, president of the Echo Development Corp.

Units would include living room and dining room areas, kitchens with modern appliances and bathrooms with walk-in showers and seats, safety grab bars and hand-held shower nozzles.

Unit prices would range from $120,000 to $145,000 depending on the number of bedrooms and location in the facility.

To help finance services, amenities and programs, residents would be charged $750 per month. If two residents share a unit, the second resident would pay only $450 per month.

The fee would include all utilities except phone and cable subscriptions.

Among the amenities, programs and services which would be provided are:

On-site banking, beauty parlor/barber shop, library, laundry rooms, exercise classes, walking and fitness clubs, billiards, convenience stores operated by residents and cable hookups.

In addition, there would be health and wellness seminars, preschool and day care in conjunction with St. Ann's Church, weekly movie nights, arts and crafts, 24-hour security, monthly housekeeping, daily evening meal and health and transportation services.

Tortolani said his company hopes present area Wollaston area residents would choose to live in Daisy House and provide opportunities for first-time homebuyers to move into Quincy and continue to rejuvenate the community as well.

Those deciding to live in Daisy House would sell their homes and use part of the proceeds to purchase the right to occupy a unit. They would not own the unit as in a co-op or a condo.

Residents would own the right to occupy a unit until they die or chose to leave. When that occurs, the resident or the estate would receive 90 percent of their purchase price back, regardless of whether the unit is immediately resold. Tortolani said.

Residents would also be able to share in the resale margin of their unit if they reside in Daisy House for five years or more.

The complex would be constructed in three phases. Each phase would not begin until 35 of the 70 units in that phase are presold.

What today's pharmacists can do for you

Your pharmacist is truly a medication expert. He or she can:

- Tell you how to best take your medication.
 - Explain what kinds of side effects you can expect from a drug. He or she may also be able to suggest ways of minimizing them.
 - Maintain a "patient profile." This type of record contains a history of all your prescriptions, as well as notes about any drug allergies or health conditions you might have. An important tool, it serves to warn pharmacists about potential allergic reactions or drug interactions. If your pharmacist does maintain a profile — and most do — he or she will have access to information about prescriptions filled in that store only. So using one pharmacy is probably in your best interest.
 - Answer your health and drug-related questions.
 - Help you choose over-the-counter medications.
 - Tell you how to store your medication.
- And, by the way, how many other types of health professionals can you reach so easily?

Mixed Reaction To Proposed 9-Hole Golf Course

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Birds or birdies — that was the main issue at a public hearing Monday night regarding a proposed nine hole, par-three executive style golf course on an 11-acre site at Marina Bay.

At the joint hearing of the City Council and Quincy Planning Board, 16 people were recorded against the course proposed by the O'Connell Development Company. Six were recorded in support.

Those in favor said the course would enhance the area which is part of the former Squantum Naval Air base. However, opponents argued the course would destroy a bird sanctuary in the area.

The issue will be discussed before the Quincy Planning Board Nov. 14.

According to the plans, the course, known as Marina Hills, would serve the general public from mid-April through mid-October and be open from dawn until dusk. It would be located between Victory Road and Seaport Drive.

With all the necessary approvals, the O'Connell Development Company would accept 400,000 cubic yards of soil which is being removed from Deer Island to provide room for a waste water treatment plant. According to Development Director Walter Hannon, the soil has been tested and found to be clean, meaning it can be disposed off-site as unregulated soil in accordance with current Department of Environmental Protection and EPA criteria.

The soil would be barged from Deer Island to Marina Bay where it would be trucked to the site. Hannon said the truck route falls entirely within Marina Bay.

The surrounding roads, East Squantum St., Quincy Shore Dr., and Commander Shea Boulevard, would not be impacted at all by the soil moving operation, Hannon said. The process would probably take four to six months.

Once the soil is built up to the proper elevations the entire area would be hydro-seeded and planted with a mix of hardwood and conifer trees as designed by the landscape architect, M.A. Smith Associates of Quincy. Hannon said efforts would be made to replicate existing habitat and provide additional areas for the variety of birds and small animals that inhabit the area. He also said it is critically important that Marina Hills, once operational, enhance the natural living environment of existing species.

However, some residents expressed their concern that the course would displace many species of wildlife, including many birds and animals.

According to Quincy Animal League President John McDuff, the area is home to 100 species of birds and animals. Referring to Mayor James Sheets' effort for a cleaner, greener Quincy, McDuff said, "Green should be what nature has given us, not a golf course."

Environmentalist Clara Yoemans called the site a "precious natural area" and a "bird sanctuary full of natural vegetation."

Siding with Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, Yoemans added, "I will simply say that we should give it an awful lot of consideration," before moving forward.

Quincy Citizens Association Secretary Dorothy Kelly, who said she has visited the site on numerous occasions, read off a litany of birds that live in the area, including swallows, Eastern cardinals, woodpeckers and hummingbirds.

"We have to open our eyes and protect that bird sanctuary. What we really do to our environment is the greatest quality of life issue in Quincy," she said.

The exact impact of the course on wildlife in the area will be detailed in a report to be written by Dr. Eric Strauss from the University of Massachusetts at Boston. The report should be available before the city's Conservation Commission begins hearings on the project. No hearings have been scheduled yet.

Arlene Wilson, an environmental planner who has visited the site, said there appears to be a great deal of migratory birds but not many nests.

Other speakers who expressed concern over the project were State Rep. Michael Morrissey, representative candidates Susan Gallagher and Judith Balzano. Gallagher is trying to unseat Morrissey in the First Norfolk District which includes Squantum and Marina Bay.

Balzano is challenging Robert Cerasoli in the Third Norfolk District. He did not attend the hearing.

Squamut resident Gregory Galvin said he is concerned about the close proximity of the proposed eighth hole to nearby streets. He said he fears golf balls will be hit into oncoming traffic. He also said he is concerned where maintenance vehicles and supplies will be housed.

Atty. Dennis Harrington, representing the applicant, said no marsh area will be used nor will any marsh area be filled.

"This proposal is not to take a virgin piece of territory and develop it," Harrington said, noting the area is PUD and still contains old bunkers and runways. He also noted a "vast majority" of the site will remain open space.

The fill would be placed on top of the site and then landscaped. The highest point on the course would be 52 feet from the existing grade, said Landscape Architect Mary Smith who has designed all of

SECRETARY OF STATE Michael Connolly, left, and Mayor James Sheets, examine a map of the Southern Tide Mill on Southern Artery in the mayor's office. Connolly said he is certain a federal grant will be issued to survey and study the site and future uses.

Connolly Sees Federal Grant For Tide Mill

Secretary of State Michael Connolly visited Quincy Tuesday and delivered good news to Mayor James Sheets: he is certain a federal grant will be issued to survey and study the Southern Tide-Mill on Southern Artery.

In addition, Connolly said he is hopeful the grist mill which was constructed in 1854 can be restored and used perhaps as a visitor's center or for light industry.

"It's something that certainly ought to come back," said Connolly who is also chairman of the Massachusetts Historical Commission.

The size of the grant would be between $10,000 and $20,000. Connolly said he is confident the grant will be issued because the tide mill is considered one of the best historical renovation projects in the state.

"This is one of the projects that we ought to be doing next year. I'm hopeful reconstruction will take place next year," Connolly said.

The study would be conducted by the Massachusetts and Quincy Historical Commission and the city's planning board.

The tide mill consists of a grist mill building constructed in 1854, a granite block and earthen dam, a tidal gateway opening into the Quincy canal and a number of pilings and wooden sheathings. The complex is considered a representative of 19th century tidal mills, and contains significant structural, industrial and engineering information related to the tidal mill industry and Quincy canal system. It is also related to the city's roles as a shipbuilding and bulk products distribution center.

Now vacant, it is the oldest standing mill structure in the city, the older of two standing tide mills in Boston Bay, and one of the few in New England not adapted for other uses.

In 1873, the tide mill was converted into a lumber yard. After changing owners several times, the site was purchased by the Quincy Lumber Co. which operated the yard from 1912 to 1983.

The site is presently owned by Mrs. Edgar Cottle of Harvard.

The five acre site is zoned industry A (light industrial) and is assessed at $832,350. Historic preservation consultant Fannin Lehner has recommended the site for listing in the National Register of Historic Places.

Sheets said restoring the mill falls into his plans to boost Quincy's tourism. He noted that Quincy is second only to Boston in the number of historical sites but lags behind in tourism.

"I'm fully convinced the next industry (in Quincy) will be tourism," the mayor said.

As for the future use of the tide mill, Sheets said a visitors' center has some advantages, such as easy access for buses.

After the study is completed and options for the site are outlined, the city will then contact Mrs. Cottle.

funding, that which can be cut. Approximately $43.5 million or 81 percent of that $66 million is budgeted the fire, police and school departments. Nineteen percent of $12.5 million covers all other departments.

The $55 million in funding which cannot be cut in the FY 91 budget includes items such as $13.7 million in health insurance, $6.3 million in interest on debt service, $9.7 million for pensions and nearly $9 million for water and sewer fees.

Based on the FY91 budget, the school department would be cut by 63 percent or $2,436,682, fire by 18 percent or $696,195 and police by 19 percent or $734,872. The other city departments would absorb $907,250 in cuts.

Since approximately four percent of the total fire budget is expenses and the rest salaries, Sheets said most of the cuts would come from personal services. The mayor estimated 20 to 21 firefighters would be laid off. Since unemployment would cost the city $7,000 per person for a total of $140,000, another five positions would be eliminated. As a result, 25 or 26 positions would be cut.

As for the police budget, all but six percent is personal services. Sheets estimates 24 people being laid off. Unemployment would cost the city another $168,000, eliminating another five positions, for a total of 29.

School department cuts will be determined by the school committee upon recommendations from Ricci.

On Friday, Ricci said several reduction options are being considered, primarily involving grade restructuring and organization. Noting CLT could eliminate as many as 200 teachers, Ricci said, "We want to save as many positions as possible."

"If CLT passes, it's going to be a completely different (school) organization," Ricci said, adding that at least three schools would likely close.

The superintendent said he wants to keep all 10 elementary schools open. One option calls for one high school for grades 10 through 12 and one "big middle school" for grades six through nine. Another scenario has fewer elementary schools with grades pre-kindergarten to four, middle schools with grades five through eight and one high school with grades nine through 12.

A four day school week with longer days is also being considered, he noted.

"Our biggest concern is what will the middle school and high school systems look like. We're just talking in general terms about the possible scenarios."

With regard to the first round of cuts in January, Sheets said closing fire stations would save money, thereby reducing manpower cuts in that department. Also, some police positions could be saved if the department can be reorganized by January, he noted. Through reorganization and savings, the mayor said he hopes 10 firefighters and 10 police officers would be saved.

The second stage of the CLT mandated cuts would begin July 1, 1991 which is the first day of FY 92. According to Sheets, the city would lose $4.6 to $4.7 million in local aid for FY 92, meaning that amount would have to be cut from the FY 92 budget.

"We would be looking at about approximately the same number of people being cut in the fire and police departments," Sheets said.

As a result, the fire department would lose another 26 men for a total of 52. The present 217-member force would be reduced to 165 for FY 92.

The police department would lose another 29 men for a total of 58. The current 222-member force would be reduced to 164 men for FY 92.

The school department would have to cut another $2.5 million for a grand total of $5 million. The city's other departments would absorb another $907,250 in cuts for a grand total of $1.8 million.

If the CLT scenario turns into reality, the mayor said public safety, the quality of education and the ability to deliver other city services will be dramatically impacted.

"My role as mayor is to do everything humanly possible to reduce that impact, through reorganization of departments and any other cost saving measure that is humanly possible."

"Most of the reorganization that we'd have to go through has to be negotiated with unions. I just can't simply reorganize."

"It will have a dramatic impact, in my opinion, on the delivery of services in the city," Sheets added.

Despite the dramatic impact CLT could have on Quincy, Sheets said he understands why many citizens support it.

"The average citizen is angry with what they consider to be mispending at the state level and this is an opportunity for them to strike back and I understand that, because I feel that way myself, that there has been enormous mismanagement at the state level."

"I don't sense that the people are angry with the financial management of the city of Quincy. So I don't see the fact that people in the city of Quincy may well vote for CLT as their reacting to city government."

"They're reacting to the state and I understand. I think their anger toward the state is justified. The city's a victim."

"We're just a victim of the state's mismanagement so I fully understand and sympathize with the anger of the people. I'm angry too."

Sheets said Friday he still stands firmly behind a campaign promise not to support a Proposition 2½ override. "I don't think an override is the way to go."

As for supporting a referendum question on the city ballot to gauge public opinion on the issue, Sheets said he might try to measure that sentiment but not by a referendum.

Noting overrides are annualized usually for a specific purpose, the mayor said, "I just think the override is not a mechanism to deal with the financial needs of the city."

Quincy's Yesterdays Board Bans Comics, Paperbacks

The Quincy Literary Review Board moved to ban 15 crime comic books, four 25-cent paperback novels and the complete works of author Nelson Algren from newsstands in the city.

The four-member board was also examining closely several "slick" magazines containing pictorial layouts of a New York City brothel, a nudist colony and "suggestive cheesecake."

Already on the proscribed list were all the novels of Donald Henderson Clarke.

The review board was made up of the Rev. Joseph D. Parkman, chairman; newly appointed Police Chief Joseph F. Hughes, Mrs. Ida Classer, and Mrs. Katherine Quinn.

FENNO ST. SCHOOL PLANNED
The City Council passed an order to take by eminent domain 10 acres of land on Fenno St. for a new school as some 300 school officials and supportive parents packed the Chamber.

Public Works Commissioner Charles R. Herbert estimated the land damages at $6,512.

William D. Morrison, principal of the Massachusetts Fields School, told the Council that his school was so badly overcrowded that two of the classes had to attend the Francis W. Parker School.

POLICE COMMENDED
Six Quincy police officers were commended by Brintree Police Chief Edward D. Cahill for their assistance during a serious traffic accident on Granite St., Brintree.

Cited were Capt. William McIntyre, Lt. John E. Wuerth, Patrolmen Joseph Casagrande, William Crocker, Edward Gentile and Frederick Tighe.

DELAY BLAMED ON CITY
The Vara Construction Co. charged that the failure of the city of Quincy to move the old fire station was the big factor in the delay in completing the new fire station in Houghs Neck.

Mixed Reaction To Proposed Golf Course

the landscaping at Marina Bay.

Hannon said the project would cost between $1.5 and $2 million "which would be a 'manageable debt' regained by green fees."

Although the O'Connell Development Company does not own the site, Hannon said the course would be the first step in repurchasing some of the property at Marina Bay. The property was sold to another company earlier this year.

As proposed, the golf course would have sand traps, roughs, hills, bunkers and heavily forested area. The longest hole would be approximately 115 yards.

One structure, a pro shop and office measuring 27 by 23 feet, would be constructed and a parking area for 44 cars would be located just off Seaport Dr. No liquor would be served.

Green fees would be priced between $10 to $15.

In the off season, the course could be used as a nature area for people to walk as well as sledding and cross-country skiing in the winter.

Nutley said he is concerned about what parcels of land the O'Connell Development Company owns at the site. He also said he is concerned about the fill being barged to Squantum and how the course's hills may obscure the view and affect aesthetics.

"We have a long, long way to go," Nutley said, adding he plans to schedule and hold several "long and intensified" neighborhood meetings on the issue.

Among those speaking in support were Tim Reidy, president of the Squantum Community Council. He said the council supports the plans provided the city's conservation commission approves it.

Edward J. Keohane, president of Keohane Funeral Homes, Inc. and chairman of The Quincy Partnership, will preside at the ceremonies. Also present will be Mayor James Sheets and Historical Society President Joyce Baker.

The ceremonies will take place on the 255th anniversary of the birth of John Adams, the second president of the United States whose estate funded the prep school for boys in 1872 at the site of the birthplace of his longtime childhood friend. The Adams Academy closed its doors in 1907. Today the building is occupied by the Quincy Historical Society, which maintains a museum and research library in the old classrooms.

Funds for the project were raised through donations from the business community, including the South Shore Chamber of Commerce's Quincy Business Council headed by Mark Bertman of Roger's Jewelry.

The lighting equipment was provided at cost by Phyllis Godwin of the Granite City Electric Supply Co., Inc. of Quincy. Installation work has been donated by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The public is able to participate in the fundraising efforts through the purchase of a special "Light Quincy" lapel pin, designed and donated by Graham Communications of Quincy. The pins are available at $5 each at Roger's Jewelry in Quincy Center, the Quincy Historical Society at the Adams Academy, the Ink Spot at 673 Hancock St., and the Curry Hardware stores in West Quincy and Norfolk Downs. Members of The Quincy Partnership include Keohane, Baker, Bertman, Maryanne Peak of the Adams National Historic Site; Robert Curry of Curry Hardware; Thomas Galvin of Boston Gear; James Lydon of Urban Counsel, Inc.; Joseph Doran of Doran & Horrigan Insurance; James D. Asher of WJDA; Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Management; Maureen Rogers of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; Robert Galligan of O'Connell Management; Michael McFarland of Barry's Deli Restaurants; Tim Cahill of the Quincy City Council and Handshakes Restaurant; Charles Ryder of Ryder's of Quincy, and John R. Graham of Graham Communications.

For more information on The Quincy Partnership or the Historic Building Lighting Project, contact Edward Keohane at 773-3551.

Kerry Chamber Breakfast Speaker

U.S. Senator John Kerry will be the guest speaker at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce 7:44 a.m. breakfast on Tuesday, Oct. 30 at the Lantana in Randolph. Kerry, a Democrat, is being challenged by the November elections by Republican candidate James Rappaport. Tickets are $10 for members, $13.50 for non-members, $95 for a table of 10. For reservations, contact the Chamber of Commerce at 497-1111.

Baked Chicken With Veggies

Remember what it was like watching a one year old and how you have to be with them every minute?

Well, that happens at our home sometimes when our daughter Rita, a nurse goes off to work. We only watch her little girl for about 3 or 4 hours until her father picks her up, but it's during that time I am preparing dinner. Today's recipe includes chicken which was cooked all in one baking dish and so easy. I only used six pieces of chicken thighs, but it can be done with as many as you need. I skinned the chicken, but it is not necessary if you can handle the extra calories.

6 chicken thighs

2 large carrots

1 Pkg frozen broccoli spears

1 medium sized onion

Rosemary leaves

(enough to sprinkle over chicken)

1/4 cup of white wine

1/4 cup of water

salt and pepper to taste

grated Romano cheese

Place the chicken on the bottom of a baking dish. Cut the carrots in halves and then in pieces about 2 inches long. Cut the onion and spread over the chicken. Sprinkle the rosemary on each piece.

Place the frozen, uncooked broccoli over the top. Add the wine, water, salt, pepper and grated cheese.

Bake covered in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Then uncover, turn the chicken, separate the broccoli and add a little more water if dry and bake uncovered until done.

With that little one walking around, and with some short walks outside, I lost track of the exact time. I just checked until the carrots were tender and the chicken was done. It took about an hour or so and I served it with rice. Even little Emilia liked it!

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Illnesses Treatable By Acupuncture

When acupuncturists are asked which diseases respond well to treatment, they often say that they do not treat symptoms or diseases — they treat people.

They do concede, however, that there are certain ailments for which acupuncture has gained an especially good reputation. Usually, these are disorders with which conventional medicine is least able to deal with.

Eye Disorders: acute conjunctivitis, central retinitis, myopia in children, cataract without complications.

Gastrointestinal Disorders: spasms of esophagus and cardia, hiccup, gastroparesis, gastritis, gastric hyperacidity, duodenal ulcer, colitis, bacillary dysentery, constipation, paralytic ileus, diarrhea, "morning sickness".

Neurological and Musculoskeletal Disorders: headache, trigeminal neuralgia, facial palsy, paresis following stroke, peripheral neuropathies, sequelae of poliomyelitis, nocturnal enuresis, Meniere's disease, neurogenic bladder dysfunction, intercostal neuralgia, cervicobrachial syndrome, "frozen" shoulder, sciatica, "tennis elbow", low back pain, osteoarthritis, and asthma.

There are hundreds of diseases, and this list could be much longer. Some people may not be helped with acupuncture while other illnesses not on this list may respond well.

Since acupuncture is such an efficient body regulator, acupuncturists do not like to emphasize disorders for which treatment is reputedly effective. Most patients show a combination of symptoms (which are treated separately in western medicine). To the acupuncturist, a connection will often be obvious, and multiple illnesses can be treated together.

Pre-sterilized, disposable equipment is used. For more information contact Acupuncture Associates of the South Shore, 12 Dimmock St., Quincy.

Love Those Lunches!!

Once again, these brisk fall days bring the return of sweaters, school, and sandwiches.

Whether it's packing a Ninja Turtle lunchbox or a brown bag for work, sandwiches make their boring appearance. They can be nutritious if made with low-fat proteins like chicken, turkey or tuna on whole grain bread — but still boring! A nice alternative is whole wheat pita bread stuffed with the same low-fat protein and a handful of crisp, raw vegetables. To make it more interesting, include finger foods like stuffed celery, deviled eggs, and mini fruit kabobs made of pieces of fresh fruit skewered on toothpicks. Even better is a switch from sandwiches to salads. You can top a generous salad of your favorite vegetables with those same low-fat proteins, or some cold shrimp. Make zucchini or pumpkin muffins from your favorite recipe, but cut down on the sugar to keep it a healthy choice.

For even less sugar, bake these easy cookies:

- Diet Center
Apple Spice Drops
 1 egg, beaten
 2 Tbsp DC Protein Powder
 1½ tsp powdered milk
 ¼ tsp sweetener
 ¼ tsp baking soda
 ¼ tsp cinnamon
 ¼ tsp nutmeg
 ½ tsp vanilla
 1 apple, grated
 2 Tbsp unprocessed bran

Combine egg, protein powder, milk, sweetener, baking soda, spices, and vanilla. Beat well. Add apple and bran. Drop by teaspoonsful onto a cookie sheet sprayed with Pam or similar product.

Bake at 350 for 12 to 15 minutes.

You may be surprised to find that you will enjoy these nutritious foods. Many times, it is the way you present them that makes all the difference. Foods that look good also taste better, so use your imagination. And, best of all, compared to those sugar-filled snacks that leave you hungry shortly after lunch, the above foods are high in fiber and bulk, having what the Diet Center calls "staying power". Because these foods take longer to digest, you'll be satisfied and less tempted to seek out the candy machine at break-time.

If you're in Quincy Center at lunchtime, you'll find a variety of freshly made chicken salads available at The Diet Store. Made to Diet Center specification, they're a full meal for a dieter or for anyone who's looking for a tasty and nutritious lunch. Unusual flavors like raspberry, mint, dill, and curry make them both delicious and interesting. For dessert, there's a selection of cookies or muffins sweetened with fruit juices instead of sugar.

Whether you're fixing a bag lunch or eating out, be good to yourself and follow these nutritious guidelines.

Tips For Terrific Teeth And Gums

An invisible invader can turn smiles into frowns. The enemy? Plaque—a film of bacteria that forms continually on the surface of teeth. Plaque build-up can cause gingivitis, an early form of gum disease. If unchecked, gingivitis may lead to periodontitis—one of the primary causes of tooth loss in adults today.

The good news is: gingivitis is reversible. By taking the proper steps, its damaging effects on gums can be halted. Dr. Norton Ross, Director of Dental Affairs for Warner-Lambert Company, the makers of Listerine, suggests these five ways to help control plaque and gingivitis:

- Visit your dentist regularly.
- Eat a well-balanced diet and avoid sugary snacks.
- Brush your teeth at least twice a day.
- Floss daily to remove plaque from between your teeth.
- For extra protection, rinse with Listerine, twice a day for 80 seconds.

Chiropractic Update

Mark C. Jaehrig D.C.

SAVE YOUR BACK WHILE RAKING LEAVES

Once again the change of season is upon us; the summer vacation to New Hampshire or the Cape is just a memory, and we realize that soon enough we will be dealing with snow and ice. Autumn is, for many folks, the prettiest season of the year, but it is not without potential health risks to the back and spine. In my opinion, the two main culprits of the Fall season are the fallen leaves and the changing weather conditions.

It has been my experience that Fall's colder and occasionally damper weather can contribute to the aggravation of many back or neck problems, such as chronic sprains, strains or arthritic conditions. Secondly, the repetitive twisting and bending actions done by a person while raking leaves is a very common cause of lower back, mid back and/or shoulder problems.

If you are planning to clean up your yard and will be raking leaves, the following guidelines may be helpful:

- 1) Warm up prior to raking as you would do before exercising.
- 2) Switch sides when raking so that you are not always raking the leaves in the same direction.
- 3) Try to keep your back straight and, whenever possible, get down on your knees to rake under bushes or hedges, or when lifting leaves into a trash barrel.

If you have any questions or would like to make an appointment, please call Dr. Mark Jaehrig, a lifelong Quincy resident, at Quincy Chiropractic Office, 440 Hancock St., N. Quincy — 773-4400.

HAVE YOU HEARD

by Stephen Tobias

Board Certified Hearing Instrument Specialist

WHAT ALL THE NOISE IS ABOUT

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) estimates that up to nine million employees in this country are exposed to hazardous noise levels in the workplace. When noise is of sufficient intensity and duration, it can affect a hearing loss. Specifically gradual exposure to loud noise destroys sensitive "hair cells" of the inner ear. Once these hair cells degenerate, they are not replaced. It is the individual responsibility of each employee to ensure that his or her auditory well-being is being preserved at work. Because the Office of Noise Abatement within the Environmental Protection Agency was phased out in 1982, employees cannot expect the government to play an effective role in policing noise. Each worker must assess the level of noise in his or her environment and personally take preventive action.

Rep. Mike Morrissey Has Been A Strong And Independent Voice

To Control Taxes.

Rep. Mike Morrissey voted against the 1989 "temporary" income tax and he voted against the largest tax hike in Massachusetts history. Despite political pressure and threats to remove his committee chairmanship, Mike would not back away from his opposition to unfair tax increases. Mike never lost sight of who he was there to represent or who was footing the bill for state government.

Children At Home Alone

Millions of children are left home alone for at least part of each day.

The following suggestions may help to keep your child safe while home alone.

- Make sure your child can reach you by telephone, wherever you are.
- Have your child check in with you at work or with a neighbor when the child gets home from school or play.
- Caution your child about answering the phone and accidentally letting a stranger know he or she is alone. The child should say that parents are busy or taking a nap and can't come to the phone at this time.
- Tell your children never to open a door to a stranger when alone at home. If a stranger does come to the door the child should tell the stranger that his/her parents can't come to the door and to come back later. If the stranger will not leave the child should call "911" immediately and ask for a police officer to come to the home.
- Parents should post important phone numbers near all home phones.
- The list should include: Police; Fire; Emergency; Poison Control Center; Mom or Dad at Work; Neighbor.
- Agree on rules for having friends over or going to someone else's house when no adult is present.
- Work out an escape plan in case of fire.
- Teach your child how to work door and window locks and make sure they use them.
- Discuss fun ways to be home alone. For example, feed pets, read books, or write a letter to a friend or relative.

If you go over this list with your children every so often, they will be safer having this knowledge.

Leo Kelly Nominated For EPA 'Environmentalist Of The Year' Award

Former Ward 1 Councilor and environmentalist Leo Kelly has been nominated for the U.S. Environmental Agency "Environmentalist of the Year" award by Cong. Brian Donnelly.

"I can think of no individual who has worked harder and longer — or more effectively — for the environment than Leo; both as a public official and as a private citizen," Donnelly said in the letter to Julie Belaga, regional administrator for the EPA.

In his letter, Donnelly noted that Kelly was one of two Quincy city councilors who took it upon themselves, nearly 20 years ago, to publicize the polluted condition of Quincy Harbor to the public and "has worked tirelessly for improvement ever since."

Kelly has participated in many environmental causes. Through Donnelly's office, he initiated the EPA Region 1 study of Quincy Bay and has been a member of the MWRA's Advisory Board since its inception.

In addition, Kelly chaired the Council's Environmental Committee for 12 years and as a private citizen, he also chaired the Environmental Control Committee.

Recently, Kelly was appointed liaison/coordinator for preserving Quincy's granite quarries by Mayor James Sheets.

"In addition to these and other public positions, Leo has been the leader in the preservation of open space in Quincy, as well as being instrumental in protecting countless acres of endangered marshland," Donnelly said.

The congressman also noted Kelly is active with Quincy College in educating the public about dangers the environment faces and what can be done, along with training people for the many jobs that are being developed in the environmentally related fields. He is chairman and co-founder of the college's annual Environmental Fair, the largest such fair in the region which attracts more than 1,000 citizens each year.

Donnelly said Kelly has participated on the college's Career Education Advisory Committee as environmental representative and on the Environmental Curriculum Development Committee. When completed, the curriculum will be one of the few in the state that prepares students at the two-year college level for jobs in environmental industry.

Earlier this year, Kelly initiated field trips in which he took citizens to Deer and Nut Island and to other locations to see what is actually going on. Proceeds of the trips will go toward establishing an environmental scholarship at the college.

"(Kelly) is an activist who not only has a 20-year record toward protecting and improving our environment, but an intense ongoing commitment for same," Donnelly said, adding the prestigious award would "recognize his vital contributions to protecting the environment and raising public awareness on the South Shore."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

How often do you have doubts about your abilities or doubts about other people? It is healthy and wise to have doubts at times about certain things, but when doubts become chronic and cloud simple reasoning, when doubting has deteriorated to a sickness of skepticism.

We see men of power and severity; we see them with all the trappings of faith and dignity and we doubt whether these men ever have a doubt about anything. They seem so sure of themselves.

But they, too, have doubts at times because to doubt is only human. This was true from the days of the Psalmists to and through the days of Thomas and is true today. When we find ourselves gripped with uncertainty, we are bound to have doubts. But promiscuous doubting should not be.

Doubts torment us only because we have too little faith. This is true whether it applies to people, science, religion or anything else. Obviously then, the best way to reduce doubts is to increase faith. Sounds simple? It is ...

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

HALLOWEEN SAFETY

In order to make this Halloween a safe one, here is the following advice to parents.

- Make sure that your children can see at night. It is very important. If your children will be out after dark, they should wear costumes and carry a flashlight.
- Make sure that an older, responsible adult is with them.
- If an adult is not available to accompany them, have them in a group. There is safety in numbers.
- Plan the route the children will take. Make sure it is well lit.
- Go over safety rules with your children.
 - a) Cross only at corners
 - b) Never cross between parked cars
 - c) If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic
 - d) If the child is wearing a mask, have them remove it at the street
- Instruct your children to save all of their candy. Once at home you, the parent, can check the candy to make sure it may have been tampered with. If you find anything that has been tampered with, bring it to your local police.

Motorists must also be more alert on Halloween. Children may have thoughts, other than safety on their minds, and be very careful when driving in residential areas. This is the best time of year and they tend to be wet. This is a difficult time.

Residents can also help keep our little ghosts safe by having a porch light. This will help prevent our young people from getting themselves hurt.

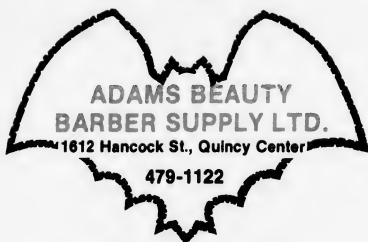

If we all follow these tips it can be a very safe Halloween.

Quincy Point Church Announces Church

School Attendance Awards

Beginning this Sunday, infants, children and young people can qualify for receiving church school award pins by achieving excellent church school attendance at Quincy Point Congregational Church.

This new program, sponsored by the Christian Education Board, will encourage students to participate in the church school which begins at 10 and ends at 11 each Sunday morning. The program allows for two unexcused absences and for signed certificates of attendance at worship or church school when students are away on Sundays. More information is available from the pastors, the Rev. Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon, by calling 773-6424.

The awards consist of jewelry pins indicating the number of years with near perfect attendance; a display board of the pins is available for viewing at the church.

Parents wishing to register their children in the church school may do so by going to church at 9:45 a.m. on any Sunday and speaking to the church school superintendent or secretary, or by calling the church office any Monday through Friday.

Church members, friends and visitors are invited to worship at the Quincy Point Congregational Church this Sunday at 10 a.m. The church is located at Washington St. and Southern Artery with off-street parking. Church school classes are offered for all ages, infants through grade 9, at the same hour as worship. The adult Bible study class is offered by the pastors from 9 to 9:45 a.m. Infant care is provided in the crib room with adult supervision and excellent cribs, playpens and play activities.

The Rev. Carol Atwood-Lyon will preach this Sunday. Dr. Herman Weiss, church organist and choir director, will play "In God, the Lord Most Just" and "A Mighty Fortress" by Scheidt. The chancel choir will sing a prayer response in memory of Leonard Bernstein, "Almighty Father," by Bernstein, the world famous composer and conductor who recently passed away. The choir will also sing "Wer Nur Den Gott Laest Walten" in German as translated by Jeff Spasato, bass section leader and soloist. Morning worship will conclude with an informal fellowship hour in the social hall. Church members and friends and residents of the area are reminded to call "The Daily Bible", a 24-hour three-minute devotional at 472-4434, day or night.

Presidents Look For Rebound At Falmouth

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy football team will try to bounce back from its first loss of the season, 15-13, to Weymouth last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium when it travels to Falmouth Friday night for a 7 o'clock Old Colony League game.

Hurt by a controversial call which gave Weymouth the ball after the officials ruled Quincy had recovered a fumble, the Presidents (4-1-1) face a Falmouth team which is 4-2 with wins over Dennis-Yarmouth, North Quincy, Silver Lake and Plymouth and losses to Bridgewater-Raynham and Taunton.

"The kids played their hearts out against Weymouth and that reversal call really took the starch out of them," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "But they fought back to score again. The referee told me it was their mistake and said it was a technical thing. But I can't blame the officials, we had plenty of chances to score but penalties and dropped passes proved costly. Give Weymouth credit, it played a fine game and took advantage of our mistakes."

The controversial call came in the fourth quarter when Weymouth (5-1) leading, 8-6, Wildcats' Keith Williams, who rushed 20 times for 141 yards, fumbled on Quincy's 24. Things looked bright for the Presidents as the officials ruled they had the ball. But they reversed the call and gave the ball back to Weymouth, which scored the winning touchdown three plays later.

Mark Bogan had another fine game for Quincy, rushing 16 times for 71 yards, catching two passes for 26 yards and doing another great job on defense.

Quarterback Mike Flavin's

Quincy Scoring

| | TD | PAT | Pts |
|----------|----|-----|-----|
| Bogan | 8 | 4 | 52 |
| Walker | 3 | 0 | 18 |
| Chapman | 3 | 0 | 18 |
| Anderson | 2 | 2 | 14 |
| DiBona | 0 | 7 | 7 |
| Reardon | 1 | 0 | 6 |
| Kane | 0 | 2 | 2 |
| Flavin | 0 | 2 | 2 |

figures are deceiving. Although he was only six for 18 for 81 yards and his eighth touchdown pass, several passes were dropped. Two in particular were dropped in the clear when touchdowns were certain. Another to Dave Chapman, who was all alone in the end zone, was overthrown by inches.

"Penalties also hurt us again," said Raymer. "Just when we were on the move, we were called for motion penalties."

"Bogan and Bill Reardon, playing in place of the injured Mike Kavanaugh, were outstanding both ways and Jason Anderson, still hurting, played well both ways. Chapman played the entire game on defense and stood out and Keith Norris, Joe Crespi, Dave and Graham Chevry, Chris Walker, John O'Connor and sophomore Robby Kane played excellent defense. Kane suffered a shoulder injury which might keep him out of the Falmouth game and Colin Kelly did a real fine job replacing him."

Offensively, Raymer praised Scott Buckmenn, Mike Tempesta, Graham Chevry, who blocked well, Pat Neil and sophomore Duane Holmes.

Quincy received to open the game and drove to Weymouth's 19 with Bogan leading the ground game and Flavin hitting Walker for 23 yards. Two penalties hurt Quincy and Weymouth took over on the 19.

A Weymouth drive was stopped when Kane recovered a fumble at the 50. A Flavin strike was dropped with a clear field ahead and Mike Malvesti kicked to Weymouth's 29.

Weymouth then drove 71 yards for a score. Twelve plays later, early in the second quarter Lou Hendrickson scored on a 13-yard run. The try for the extra point was no good but Quincy was called for a face mask penalty and Hendrickson scored the two-point.

Quincy drove to the Weymouth six-yard line but the Wildcats held and took over.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter Quincy scored on a nine-yard pass to Reardon but the try for the two-point conversion failed.

Following the controversial call, Williams went 20 yards for the winning TD and Todd Kerrissey kicked the extra point for a 15-6 lead.

Quincy wasn't through and marched 60 yards after the ensuing kickoff, two 15-yard penalties against Weymouth helping the Presidents. Bogan scored from the one and Noel DiBona kicked the extra point.

Quincy tried an on-side kick but it went out of bounds and Weymouth had the ball. With four seconds left Quincy got the ball back but a Flavin pass was incomplete and that was that.

Weymouth rushed for 203 yards to Quincy's 111. The Wildcats completed only one of five passes. Quincy had 12 first downs to six for Weymouth.

DiBona's Field Goal Gives Jayvees Win

Sophomore Noel DiBona kicked a 28-yard field goal with six seconds remaining to give the Quincy junior varsity football team a 23-20 victory over Weymouth Monday, improving its record to 5-1.

The Quincy game will travel to Falmouth Monday for a 3:30 game.

Mike Malvesti had an outstanding game at tight end with six pass receptions, three for touchdowns and one for a two-point conversion.

Weymouth opened the scoring on a 60-yard touchdown pass and two-point conversion but Quincy countered with a six-yard pass to Malvesti. The conversion try was no good.

Quincy turned a Dave Bogan fumble recovery into a touchdown on a 17-yard scoring pass.

Weymouth returned the second half kickoff 60 yards for a touchdown and a 14-12 lead. Weymouth widened its lead to 20-12 with a minute left in the third quarter on an 18-yard run. Quincy came back and scored twice in the final six minutes of the game. Joe Crespi threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to Malvesti and the two combined for the two-point conversion.

Quincy then drove 60 yards in 1:31 to set up the final game-winning field goal. Mark Zaborowski, Pat Gallagher, Chris MacLaughlin, Chris Iorio, Erik MacFarland, Crespi and Sean McArdle turned in outstanding performances.

Raiders Host Silver Lake Friday Night

The North Quincy football team, which had dropped four hard-fought decisions in a row, got back on track with a vengeance last Saturday, rolling over Durfee, 33-7, at Fall River to improve to 2-4.

The Raiders will face its second winless team in a row Friday night when it hosts Silver Lake at 7 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Lakers are having an off year with successive losses to Duxbury, Weymouth, Falmouth, New Bedford, Barnstable and Plymouth.

"We needed a game like this and I was happy to see both our running and passing games clicking," said North coach Ken McPhee. "The kids have been playing their hearts out and could easily have won those four games we lost. Maybe this game will give us some momentum for the rest of the season."

For the first time North was at full strength with Chris Murray, Rich Brooks and Evan Kiley, all of whom missed the Weymouth game, back in action.

The Raiders gained 331 yards overall, 184 rushing and 147 passing. Mark Cocuzzo had his best game as he rushed 11 times for 93 yards and scored his first two touchdowns of the season. Mark Taylor was nine for 15 and threw his seventh and eighth touchdown passes. Backup quarterback sophomore Liam Higgins had one

"Our offensive line played outstanding ball," said McPhee, who had good words for Matt Swierk, Mike Oliva, Adam Strout, Mark Zych, Pat Faherty, Kelleher and Kiley.

Line coach Peter Chrisom also praised reserves Adam Somerville, Chris Campbell, Scott Kohler, Mike Christopherson and Pete Licciardi for their work on offense.

Desmond Bellot had another outstanding game. He caught four passes for 73 yards, rushed once for 10, had a pass interception and knocked down two passes. Durfee failed to complete one of its five passes. Chris Peck also had an interception.

Playing excellent defense were Chris McCallum, Taylor, Mike Murray, Strout, Swierk, Scott Proury, Kelleher, Mike Picaniello and the secondary of Brooks, Kiley put the Raiders on the board in the opening quarter, scoring from the one. Higgins kicked the first of his three extra points.

In the second quarter

Cocuzzo scored from the two and Higgins again kicked the point. Later in the half Brooks took a one-yard pass from Taylor and North led, 20-0, at the half.

In the third quarter Pat Shea took a shovel pass from Taylor and raced 21 yards for the touchdown. The pass took Durfee completely by surprise.

Cocuzzo finished off the scoring in the final quarter with a 17-yard run and Higgins added the point.

McPhee cleared the bench and Durfee averted a shutout with two minutes left in the game. Paul Pires capped Durfee's only sustained drive by scoring from the six and also kicking the extra point.

Quincy, North Girls Qualify For Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

Once again both the Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams have qualified for the state tournament.

Quincy, which will be seeking its fourth state championship, improved its record to 14-0 Monday with a 2-0 victory over Durfee.

The Quincy girls have appeared in the state tournament many times. In addition to winning three state titles, they have reached the finals several other times, including last year when they lost a thrilling five-game match to Case High of Swansea in the title game. They won the state title two years ago.

The North girls, who improved to 11-2 last week with a 2-0 win over Weymouth, will be in the tourney for the fourth straight year. They won the state crown three years ago.

Last week Quincy defeated Barnstable, 2-0, with steady blocking from Chris Barrett and Melanie Sullivan. Lori Noval did some excellent setting and serving.

In last week's win over Weymouth (15-1, 15-5), North coach Jim Rendle used all 14 of his players. Capt. Kara Sullivan led the way with a fine two-way game. Tristen Mastrogiacombo also stood out.

In its previous match North upset Central Mass. power Milford, 2-0 (15-3, 15-1). Rendle, Brenda Hayduk and Jill Hayes all were outstanding.

Earlier North defeated Barnstable, 2-0 (15-7, 15-12) with Sullivan and Maureen McCarthy standing out.

Quincy and North will clash for the second time tonight (Thursday) at the North gym at 7 o'clock. Monday the Quincy girls will host Westwood at 3:30 and North will be at Notre Dame of Hingham at the same time.

A Tribute To 'Kelly' Tocci

By PETE ZOIA

I would be neglecting my duty as a friend, teammate and coach if I allowed the passing of Achille "Kelly" Tocci to go unnoticed.

Kelly was a unique person. He was of the old school that believed in giving 120 percent of himself, no matter what he did. He graduated from Quincy Trade School during the era when football was not as it is now, allowing Quincy Vocational students to be eligible for football at either North or Quincy High.

That didn't stop Kelly. He played for the South Quincy Bulldogs and later for the Quincy Alumni, Quincy Varsity Club and Quincy Manets. He concluded his playing days with North Quincy Alumni and coached them in 1953.

He was a self-made athlete. Kelly was a catcher in the Quincy Park League and played third base for championship Pneumatic Scale softball teams in the Industrial League.

Displaying his versatility, he played forward for Pneumatic Scale in the Industrial Basketball League. He was a great competitor no matter what the sport.

Kelly was a winner who played fair and square. Those who saw and knew him applauded his efforts. During the middle 1940s, Tocci was playing end both on offense and defense for the Varsity Club. The team journeyed to New Bedford to play the Murphy Club for the State semi-pro championship. The Murphy Club chose to receive the opening kickoff. Their star running back caught the ball and proceeded up his right side line. To his surprise and amazement, Tocci ran right up to him and took the football out of his hands and ran over 50 yards for a quick six-point lead that was never relinquished as the Varsity Club won.

There was the time when a strong Hingham Arsenal team played the Varsity Club at Veterans Memorial Stadium. During a timeout midway in the second period with the Varsity Club on the offense in mid field, Tocci mentioned he could beat the safety man on a deep down the middle pass. I informed him we were doing fine on the ground and besides, our passer had just gone out of the game injured. Who would throw the ball? Kelly answered "I'll throw it." If anyone could have pulled this off it would have been him. He was going to throw and catch the same pass.

I also had the privilege of being a co-worker with Kelly. He enjoyed everything he did and he did it well. It was a pleasure and an honor to be his friend and teammate.

Throughout his illness he showed the same good attitude and strength that he displayed all his life. Achille "Kelly" Tocci will be remembered by all as a great guy and a gentleman.

Quincy Rotary Benefit Pancake Breakfast Sunday

More than 100 members of the Quincy Rotary Club were recently instructed in the art of flipping flapjacks.

The "training session" took place in preparation for the club's annual pancake breakfast Sunday, Oct. 28 from 8 a.m. until 12 noon at the Lincoln-Hancock School, Water St.

"Good flapjack flipping requires extraordinary concentration," said a serious Michael MacFarland, owner of Barry's Deli restaurants in Wollaston and Quincy Center.

MacFarland, dressed in a chef's outfit, had club members practice various techniques for making certain their hundreds of pancakes will turn quickly and neatly. Club President James L. Chicino said the event is expected to raise $6,000 which will go toward the group's scholarships for graduating seniors from Quincy's high schools.

This past year, Quincy Rotarians donated more than $10,000 in scholarships.

"We want to do more for the young men and women of the city," said Chicino. "Rising education costs and a slower economy mean that our Quincy Rotary scholarships are more important than ever."

Chicino, a vice president of Quincy Savings Bank, said that with so much of the food for the breakfast being donated, "the scholarship fund will really do well."

The cost is $3 per person. Tickets will be available at the door.

"We expect to serve about 600 people," said Chicino. "Each year it keeps getting bigger."

Serving on the Pancake Breakfast Committee are Thomas J. Smyth of Central Protective Services, Inc., chairman; CPA Stephen D. Marini of Gerald T. Reilly & Co.; Paul Ricca of the South Coastal Career Development Center; MacFarland and Chicino.

Continental Videotaping Messages To Military In Gulf

Continental Cablevision is inviting local military families to its cable TV studio, where a Continental production crew will videotape their personal messages to loved ones serving in the Persian Gulf, as part of the company's "Operation Cablegram" initiative throughout New England.

Continental then will work closely with Armed Forces Radio and Television in Washington, D.C., and other military authorities to see that the family "cablegram" is delivered as quickly as possible to servicemen and women in Saudi Arabia and other posts supporting the United States' "Operation Desert Shield" mission in the Persian Gulf.

"We will produce a two to three-minute video message free of charge for any military family living in Quincy that makes an appointment to come to our studio" said Ed

Fiddler, Continental's Program Director.

"Letters from family members have always been a lifeline for American soldiers, sailors and Air Force personnel serving far from home. Now, taking advantage of Continental's cable TV resources, they'll have far more than words of love and family news from home," Fiddler said. "They also will be able to see the expression on their loved ones' faces; hear the emotion in their voices."

Continental's "Operation Cablegram" is also made possible by communications technology advantages in the U.S. Armed Forces. Just as soldiers are now using laptop computers in the field, ships in the Persian Gulf fleet have their own closed circuit television networks; VCRs and monitors are available at many ground command posts; and the military is establishing a low-power television "station" to transmit pictures and voices from one location to another in the Persian Gulf.

Continental and the military are still working out details on the best ways to get New England families' video messages to their relatives, but Armed Forces Radio and Television has agreed to edit and combine taped messages going to the same ships in the Persian Gulf fleet, so they can be played over closed-circuit TV systems.

Families of military personnel stationed in the Persian Gulf should contact Ed Fiddler at Continental Cablevision in Quincy at 471-3200 ext. 3026 for more information and to make appointments to visit the studio and have their "Operation Cablegram" message taped. They are asked to bring with them their relative's APO or FPO military address.

Quincy, South Shore Realtors Board Sponsoring 'Safety In Numbers' Program

The Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, and its member firms are sponsoring a "Safety in Numbers" program, designed to encourage Quincy home and building owners to post address numbers on their dwellings for easy identification.

The Quincy Fire Department urges each home and building owner to post their address in a conspicuous location to help reduce vital response time in an emergency situation.

To get free address numbers, interested homeowners should contact a realtor office within the board's jurisdiction which includes Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Weymouth and Hull. The program will be conducted during the month of October. Supply is limited and orders will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis. Or contact the Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors at 773-0770.

Local Realtors can be identified by the Realtor "R" logo in their advertising or on a firm sign. The term Realtor is a federally registered trademark and identifies real estate professionals who adhere to a strict code of ethics and are members of the National Association of Realtors.

DEPUTY FIRE CHIEF Joseph Walsh posts the number 10 on the Quincy South Shore Board of Realtors building during the board's Safety in Numbers program. Looking on are Marilyn Hanabury, chairman of the Realtors Community Service Committee, and Gerry Malone, Board of Realtors Executive Officer.

Presidential Wreath To Honor John Adams' 255th Birthday

A wreath from President George Bush will be placed on the tomb of John Adams Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 4:30 p.m. at United First Parish Church Unitarian, 1306 Hancock St., in Quincy Center, opposite City Hall. The ceremony will commemorate the 255th birthdate anniversary of President John Adams, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the 2nd President of the United States. President Adams was born on Oct. 30, 1735 here in Quincy (then part of Braintree).

The wreath will be presented on behalf of the White House by Capt. John G. Kuchinski, Jr., Commanding Officer of the South Weymouth Naval Air Station. He will be accompanied by a U.S. Navy Color Guard. Mayor James Sheets and Sen. Paul Harold will deliver brief remarks and Dr. Sheldon Bennett, minister of the United First Parish Church will also speak. The Eastern Nazarene College A Cappella Choir under the direction of Timothy Shetler will perform. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

The presenting of presidential wreaths at the tombs of former presidents on their birthdate anniversaries is an annual event begun in 1966 under President Lyndon Johnson.

Each year in Quincy, ceremonies are arranged by the U.S. Navy, United First Parish Church, and the City of Quincy, on the birthdates of the two presidents — John Adams on Oct. 30, and John Quincy Adams on July 11. Both Presidents were strong supporters of the U.S. Navy — John Adams established the present U.S. Navy and John Quincy Adams argued for the establishment of a national naval academy.

Federal Grant Gives Historical Park Big Step Forward

With the federal government's approval of a $250,000 planning grant for Quincy over the weekend, the city's goal to create a national historical park system has taken an important step forward.

"This is really the first step in a long road to having Quincy take its rightful place among the great historical cities in this country in terms of its contributions to the United States," Mayor James Sheets said Tuesday.

The grant will allow the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service to work with Quincy officials in studying the city's historical sites. Sheets said the groups will plan out a national historical park system which would be designed to incorporate all of Quincy's historical sites, whether they are part of the Park Service or not.

Sites now maintained and operated by the Park Service are the Adams Mansion, birthplaces of John Adams and John Quincy Adams, and part of the United First Parish Church.

The Adamses, along with their wives, are buried in the church basement.

Sheets said he hopes Quincy's other historical sites, such as the Thomas Crane Public Library, City Hall, Hancock Cemetery and the Adams Academy, will be included in the system.

"We're looking to link all the sites together in a meaningful pattern and to plan their relationship to each other in a way to facilitate their being visited by people from all over the world," the mayor said.

To accomplish that goal, Sheets said the study will examine:

Accessibility to the sites in terms of road infrastructure; a visitor's center, new signage, promotional programs and other programs which would integrate the meaning of the sites.

As an example, Sheets noted several events were held Tuesday in honor of John Adams' 255th birthday. A wreath from President Bush was placed on the tomb of the second president. Among the officials participating were Capt. John G. Kuchinski Jr., commanding officer of the South Weymouth Naval Air Station, Mayor Sheets, Senator Paul Harold and Dr. Sheldon Bennett, minister of the church.

The wreath laying was followed by the lighting of the Adams Academy. The subtle groundlighting at the Academy, site of the birthplace of John Hancock and home of the Quincy Historical Society, is the first of four such projects sponsored by the Quincy Partnership, Inc. The partnership is a group of local business leaders which has raised nearly $15,000 the last few weeks to complete the

Record Turnout Possible Nov. 6

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A modern day record for turnout could be set on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 6, when voters head to the polls to decide 11 state and local races and the fate of six referendum questions.

Noting a "great governor's" race between Democrat John Silber and Republican William Weld and the controversial CLT petition (Question 3), Gillis predicts 76 percent of the city's 49,486 registered voters will cast ballots. That would be the highest turnout in Quincy for a state election since 79.5 percent of the city's electorate turned out in 1970. The big race that year was the governor's race when Republican Francis Sargent defeated Democrat Kevin White.

If the weather is warm and pleasant, Gillis said turnout could reach the 80 percent mark.

Polls in Quincy will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Gillis said returns should be known by 11 p.m.

State-wide, there are six races: senator, governor and lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, treasurer and auditor. The governor and lieutenant governor contest is combined since candidates for those two offices run as a team.

In the race for U.S. Senate, incumbent Democrat John Kerry is being challenged by Republican Jim Rappaport.

The governor-lieutenant governor contest features three teams: Democrats John Silber and Marjorie Clapprood; Republicans William Weld and Paul Cellucci and Independent High Tech candidates Leonard Umina and Lawrence DeBerry.

In the race for attorney general, Democrat L. Scott Harshbarger is challenging Republican William C. Sawyer.

Incumbent Secretary of State Michael Connolly, a Democrat, is running against Republican Paul McCarthy and Independent High Tech candidate Barbara Ahearn.

Running for state treasurer are Democrat William Galvin, Republican Joseph Malone and Independent High Tech candidate C. David Nash.

In the race for auditor, incumbent Democrat Joseph DeNucci is challenged by Republican Douglas Murray and Independent High Tech candidate Steven Sherman.

Democrat Brian Donnelly is unopposed in the race for Congress in the 11th district. Democrat Peter Eleey is unopposed in the race for governor's council in the fourth district.

Locally, three of Quincy's four state legislators face opposition.

Senator Democrat Paul Harold of 66 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy, is challenged by Republican Paul Van Schaick of 51 Princess Eve Dr., Quincy, for senate in the Norfolk District.

Representative Democrat Michael Morrissey of 110 Lansdowne St., Quincy, is challenged by Republican Susan Gallagher of 21 Willow St., Quincy, for state representative in the First Norfolk District.

In the Third Norfolk District, there is a three-way race. Incumbent Democrat Robert Cerasoli of 54 Russell Park, Quincy; Republican Judith Balzano of 69 Edinboro Rd., Quincy and Independent Francis (Sandy) Eaton of 53 Quarry St., Quincy, are all vying for the seat.

Rep. Steve Tobin of 33 Virginia St., Quincy, who won both Democrat and Republican primaries in September, is unopposed in the Second Norfolk District. He is listed as a "Democrat-Republican."

In the race for Norfolk County treasurer, incumbent Democrat Daniel Raymond of 88 Elm St., Quincy, is challenged by Republican Robert Hall Jr. of 204 Hillcrest Rd., Needham.

In the Norfolk County commissioner contest, incumbent Democrat David Ahearn of Norwood is challenged by Bruce Olsen of Stoughton.

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt, a Democrat from Quincy, is unopposed.

Norfolk County Register of Probate Thomas Hughes, another Quincy Democrat, is also unopposed.

Malone Says He Would Be A 'Fiscal Watch Dog'

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

If elected, Republican state treasurer candidate Joseph Malone says he will be an "independent fiscal watch dog" and make his office a role model of efficiency in state government by implementing such programs as a council of privatization and fiscal recovery plan.

Malone, 35, of Watertown, also said during a recent campaign visit to The Quincy Sun that he would slash the treasurer's office budget by approximately $6 million the first year, try to increase the state lottery returns by eight percent and keep the public and business community informed of economic trends in Massachusetts.

In explaining his qualifications, the 1978 Harvard University graduate pointed out he was a member of the state Republican party which successfully fought a 33 percent pay raise legislators voted for several years ago.

"The most important qualification the next state treasurer has to have is an ability to stand up to the political machine up on Beacon Hill. I've shown a willingness to stand up to state government.

"That's what we need right now. We need a new independent fiscal watch dog in the state treasurer's office and that's what I will provide," Malone said.

Asked what his number one priority would be if elected treasurer, Malone replied, "To open up the books so that we are never again in the position where we find out after the fact that the state's checkbook is empty and there's no alternative but to raise taxes.

"I want to be that fiscal watch dog, that early warning system that says early in the year, 'look, we're spending money at a pace that is going to leave us broke by the end of the fiscal year.'"

Malone said he has been told by state treasurer workers that the state is going to run out of money two months before the end of fiscal year June 10, 1991. "Nobody's saying anything about it," he adds.

To keep state spending in line with revenues, Malone said he would institute at least quarterly reports and hold press conferences to discuss revenue and spending trends. He would also discuss other aspects of the state budget, including the number of employees and consultants on the state payroll and the number of automobiles the state is funding for its workers.

"That kind of information is critical so that the citizens can make informed decisions," Malone said.

Another goal is making the treasurer's office and state lottery an efficient model of state government. "I want to set an example for every other department in state government.

"I know we can cut our budgets in the state lottery and state treasury. I know that we can bring about a more open, honest and effective government and we can do that the first year and set a whole new tone."

Specifically, Malone said he would cut the present treasury budget of $61 million down to a "minimum of $55 million" for FY 92 which begins July 1, 1991. "There's a potential to streamline it even more," he added.

For example, he said the office could save $500,000 by eliminating 12 teller positions. Their "sole purpose of existing" according to Malone is to cash checks for politicians and for bureaucrats.

Malone said he would replace the tellers with one or several automatic teller machines (ATMs) by renting space to banks.

Another area of waste, Malone said, is at the state lottery where he said of the 550 employees, 220 have state-funded automobiles.

"That's outrageous. There are people who simply drive their car from home to the state lottery office (in Braintree) and don't do any field work," he said, adding maintenance costs and insurance are also paid by the state.

"We can no longer afford that kind of luxury."

Malone also views the state lottery as a means of increasing local aid to the state's 351 cities and towns. He said he would work toward increasing the state lottery returns from the current 34 percent to 42 percent which is the national average.

If successful, Malone said the state could send an additional $100 million back to cities and towns.

In an effort to streamline and consolidate state government, Malone advocates a council of privatization and a council to fight government waste.

The privatization council would consist of private citizens who would explore every aspect of state government. The uncompensated council members would identify and recommend state run management systems to be turned over to the private sector. State operations which Malone sees could be privatized include the Hynes Auditorium, hockey rinks, parking garages and landscaping services.

"Let's put these contracts out to bid and let the private sector run them and then you get a state government that's more focused on only those things that state government has to run."

A supporter of the Citizens for Limited Taxation rollback petition, Malone claims there is more than $1 billion of waste in state government. Consolidating, streamlining and privatizing would help tax payers and deliver state services more efficiently.

With a state budget of $13 billion, Malone said Massachusetts still has "overcrowded prisons, institutions for the mentally ill that rank among the worst in the country and we've got roads and bridges that are in terrible decay.

"So you ask yourself, 'where is all this money going to?' Most of it's going into all sorts of bureaucracy and that's what's got to change.

"We've got to become more streamlined and more efficient and bring about a 21st century approach to state government as opposed to the 1950s machine politics," Malone said.

The council to fight government waste would also consist of uncompensated private citizens. Malone said the board would ensure that tax money is not wasted and install a toll-free hotline that citizens and government employees could call to report any waste and make suggestions to make government run more efficiently.

Malone has also pledged to hire only competent individuals, not those "politically connected" to Beacon Hill. He would screen each applicant for their integrity, work ethic and intelligence on a case by case basis.

Braintree Police Called On Both Sides In License Transfer

By STEVE KAVANAGH

A decision regarding the transfer of the common victualer and all-alcoholic license for Brittany's Food & Spirits, 214 Washington St., was continued for two weeks Tuesday by the License Board. The board will request more information from the Braintree Police Department concerning past history of Steven D. Faber, manager of The Good Company Lounge, Braintree.

Faber is the proposed manager of Brittany's. The License Board agreed to request that Braintree Police provide a list of incidents, if any, at The Good Company Lounge in 1989-90. Faber has been manager of the Braintree bar since the spring of 1990 and has owned the bar for over four years.

Assistant City Solicitor James Timmons introduced four health violation reports against The Good Company Lounge. The violations occurred between July 1989 and June 1990. One of the reports resulted in the kitchen being closed for three days.

Quincy Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue said she is concerned with the consistency of problems at Faber's Braintree establishment.

"I am concerned about the pattern of violations," Gallahue said.

Gallahue said it is the duty of the license board to ensure the community is protected from possible food-borne illnesses.

Timmons produced witnesses, including Braintree police officers, in an effort to prove his contention that Faber is not fit to run Brittany's properly.

Faber's attorney, Kenneth Tatarian of Boston, introduced witnesses, including Braintree police officers, who testified on behalf of Faber's character and that Faber has been cooperative in dealing with police when needed.

The Good Company Lounge features live bands and has a capacity more than double that of Brittany's. Faber said that Brittany's will not be run as a cocktail lounge but rather as a full-service restaurant with a full menu.

Since assuming control of Brittany's, which is closed pending transfer of the license, Faber has complied with requests by the Health Department and has made renovations. The building had been vacant prior to Faber taking over and Gallahue said that a team inspection would still have to be done before issuing any licenses to Faber.

Brittany's has been closed since August 1989.

project. Other sites to be lighted include the Crane Library, the United First Parish Church and old City Hall.

Participating in the ceremony were Charles Francis Adams and Thomas Boylston Adams, direct descendants of John Adams, and U.S. Deputy Secretary of the Interior Frank Bracken.

After the lighting ceremony, a dinner was held at the Adams Mansion for those people who participated in the earlier events.

After the study is completed, Sheets said the city will apply for additional federal funding to help make specific changes along Quincy's Historical Trail. He said those grants typically range from $6 to $10 million.

The study should be complete by next October, perhaps as early as next April, Sheets said.

To help the study get underway, Sheets said he will probably travel to Washington, D.C. within the next two weeks to meet with Connie Harriman, assistant secretary of the Interior for Parks and Wildlife, and James Radenour, national director of Park Services.

The mayor also said White House aides Ronald Kaufman and Andrew Card, Congressman Brian Donnelly, Senator Ted Kennedy, Harriman and Councillor Tim Cahill helped the city secure the grant.

Advocates Needed For Children With Special Needs

Hundreds of Massachusetts children need concerned adults to help make decisions about their special education.

The Massachusetts Department of Education is seeking volunteers (aged 18 or older) to become educational advocates for children with special needs whose parents are unavailable. Upon completion of training, advocates need commit only 10 to 20 hours of their time a year to help develop and approve plans that meet these students' special educational needs.

By state and federal law, eligible children between the ages of 3 and 18 who may live in foster homes, private residential schools or group homes are entitled to representation by an educational advocate who stands in place of a parent who is unavailable to make special education decisions. Foster parents are encouraged, but not required, to become educational advocates for children with special needs in their homes.

Educational advocates are trained by the Department of Education and the Office for Children and then matched with a child according to location, language and cultural background. Advocates have all the rights and authority of parents to attend school meetings, review students' records, evaluations and progress reports, approve changes in individualized educational plans, or appeal school decisions, but they bear no financial responsibility for the children.

An orientation meeting for interested individuals to learn about the Educational Advocate Program will take place Monday, Nov. 5 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Department of Education office in Quincy Center. Call 770-7431 or 770-7468 for more information and to register.

Training is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 13 and Tuesday, Nov. 20 from 7-9:30 p.m. in the same location.

Manet Community Health Center Meeting Nov. 13

The Manet Community Health Center, Inc., will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. in the community room of the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

The meeting will include

The Switch Is On

There is a definite swing to political independence on the part of many voters throughout the state this year.

And in Quincy, too, despite the fact that this city is still a Democratic stronghold and will be for sometime to come.

Independents, however, are chipping away at both the Democrats and Republicans and maybe, some day in the future, they will numerically rule the city. Maybe.

"A lot of people are just plain fed up with party politics," says City Clerk John Gillis, a long-time Democrat. "They're tired of the way both parties are being run. They want to be independent."

Quincy's latest registration figures show 49,486 voters eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 state election.

This is the most registered voters Quincy has had since a record 52,380 in 1976.

"But this year's registration is a real healthy one," says Gillis. "If you take into consideration that back in 1976 there were 4,000 more residents in the city."

Today's population is 84,140 according to this year's preliminary U.S. census figures.

Of the present 49,486 total voters there are 28,038 Democrats, 6,995 Republicans and 14,408 Independents.

Democrats obviously are still in the political driver's seat.

But:

In July, Quincy had 46,748 registered voters. Of which 27,952 were Democrats, 6,820 Republicans and 11,748 Independents.

So, in three months, Quincy has gained 2,738 voters. But Democrats have a net gain of only 131 and Republicans a net gain of but 175.

Sign of tired blood?

The Independent column during that time shows a healthy gain of 2,660.

So, the city gains 2,738 new voters and Independents it would seem, got 2,660 of them.

That's not exactly correct. Independents didn't really get 2,660 brand new voters. They got a lot of switching from both the Democrat and Republican ranks.

Under the present two-party system Independents are somewhat second-class citizens when they have to declare themselves as a Republican or Democrat in order to vote in the primary elections.

By the way, why do they have to declare themselves? Why can't they go in and ask for either a Democrat or Republican ballot?

They are taxpayers just as much as Democrats and Republicans are. And, U.S. citizens.

If the big switch that is on right now continues — and there is enough anger out there to fuel it — Independents might become an official party of their own.

Both the Democrat and Republican parties are going to have to do things a lot better than they have ever seen the day when an "I" after a candidate's name will mean a lot more than a "D" or an "R."

'No' Vote On Question 3 The Wiser Course

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It is important for voters, while deciding how to vote on Question 3, to consider the following points:

1. Many voters may be inclined to go with Question 3 because Proposition 2½ worked out fairly well. This reasoning is faulty because Prop. 2½ was phased in while Question 3 is a large cut all at once. Furthermore, 2½ has worked largely due to increases in local aid since 1981. If Question 3 passes, local aid may be diminished, and consequently 2½ may be put in jeopardy.

2. Believe it or not, Massachusetts is not

"Taxachusetts". 2½ addressed the property tax problem when real estate levies were 70% above the national average. Now, the overall tax burden is roughly in the middle of the fifty states relative to personal income. In fact, the state tax burden is about a billion dollars below the CLT sponsored limit approved by voters in 1986 when the tax limitation statute passed.

3. People are really mad at the way taxes were raised, (sometimes in the dead of night), mad at Dukakis, mad at the hacks, and justifiably so. But does it make sense to create chaos, as opposed to giving the new governor and legislature a shot at orderly restructuring? Of course not.

4. I have called for large cuts in state taxes in the past. But the past is not now. In the past, the state enjoyed a surplus and a robust economy, so it made sense to cut taxes so new programs would not be created. But now, revenues are off, the economy sluggish. We can cut the budget, certainly, but it makes much more sense to do it gradually. The best analogy I can think of is a diet: you're supposed to lose weight gradually. Nobody who is responsible suggests you try to lose all the fat you need to lose all at once.

If you believe in the time-honored advice that haste makes waste, slow and steady wins the race, and Rome wasn't built in a day, then a "no" vote on Question 3 is the wiser course to take as we put a bunch of new people on Beacon Hill.

NIFB Supports CLT

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Contrary to media reports, the South Shore Chamber of Commerce does not speak for all businesses.

NIFB has over 9,000 small business members throughout the state, three times the size of any other major employer group. And we enthusiastically support the CLT tax rollback on Question 3.

Small business owners are sick and tired of state government that has ignored repeated calls for budget cuts and reorganization. NIFB and others have submitted recommendations totalling $1.8 billion in savings. But what happened? Business as usual!

The legislature raised taxes, and what that wasn't enough, they raised them again. And we haven't seen the end of it.

After the election, we're going

Urges 'No' Vote On Question 2

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a resident of Wollaston, a taxpayer in Massachusetts and an employee of a firm which provides engineering and architectural design services to a variety of state agencies and authorities in our state, I am writing to alert others about a concern of mine.

On the November ballot the citizens of Massachusetts will be asked to vote on Question 2 which is presented by the Massachusetts Organization of State Engineers and Scientists, "MOSES" as a means to "Minimize the Use of Consultants by the State." The reality is that passage of this question would promote unemployment in the private sector while increasing the state payroll at the same time.

Question 2, if passed, would virtually eliminate all hiring of consultants for any purpose by the state. The "consultants" that the referendum affects includes health care professionals to get socked with the 5 percent service tax and the second gas tax increase.

But the real slap in the face is that the Beacon Hill crowd continues to squander our money. While the average citizen has tightened his belt, government spending has increased by 92 percent over the last 8 years. Frankly, we're not getting our money's worth from state government.

And now, the Big Business-Big Government-Big Labor machine is spending $2 million to scare us from supporting the only tool we have to stop the mismanagement, waste and fraud.

We've had enough of business as usual. Independent business owners are voting Yes on Question 3.

serving the elderly and shut-ins, day care providers in privately licensed facilities, engineers designing bridges, roadways and water and sewer repairs, hazardous waste clean-up contractors working on emergency spills, among others. All this work, including some unfinished projects, would be required to be performed by state workers if Question 2 passes. Some 40,000 state workers would need to be permanently added to the state payroll with fringe benefits and pension provisions. This process is in contrast to the competitive selection process which are now used to select "consultants" on an as-needed basis.

These "consultants" include me and many of your friends and neighbors. MOSES would have you believe that you would be eliminating waste by passing this referendum. Don't be fooled VOTE NO on 2.

Urges 'No' Vote On Question 2

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a reader of your paper, a taxpayer in the Commonwealth, and an employee of an engineering and architectural design firm which provides services to various state agencies and authorities, I am writing to alert you and your readers to a serious problem confronting us on the November ballot — Question 2.

This referendum is sponsored by a labor union (unaffiliated with the AFL-CIO) known as the Massachusetts Organization of State Engineers and Scientists (MOSSES). Passage of this question would virtually eliminate the use of consultant services to the state and in its place would require the hiring of over 40,000 state employees to perform these same services.

The state employees union would have us believe that the "consultants" in question are high paid "hired guns" with political connections living off the fat in government. The truth is that the use of private industry to do essential services provides high quality results and stimulates the local economy. These services include health care, elderly services, bridge and roadway design, emergency hazardous waste clean-up, the Boston Harbor clean-up and Central Artery Depression designs, and numerous other projects and services now undertaken by private firms through competitive, cost-conscious selection criteria.

By eliminating the use of the private sector to provide part-time college teachers, human services professionals, health care providers, and engineers and architects, the work being done would stop while the state hires tens of thousands of new employees to take their place. At a time when there is widespread agreement that state government needs to be scaled back, does it make sense to add so many people to the Commonwealth's payroll? 40,000 new state employees would need to be hired on a permanent basis with salary, fringe benefits and pension provisions needed to support these professionals. And many critical services would be dangerously delayed or discontinued. It doesn't sound too smart.

I urge all your readers to join with me in voting against Question 2. Don't be stampeded into false understanding. Don't be fooled. Vote no on two.

Teachers Skip Pay In Money Crisis

Members of the Quincy Teachers Union agreed to work for one week in December without pay to help the School Department through its financial crisis, with the proviso they retain the right to collect later.

Creditor banks told Mayor Charles Ross and the School Committee that the 1934 school budget must not exceed $1.1 million or the city would not be able to renew temporary notes that are due in the current year.

The school budget for 1933 was $1,161,000. Mayor Ross figured the 1934 budget could be boosted to the required $1,186,000 by transferring $40,000 from other accounts, $21,000 in employee donations, and $25,000 in uncollected pay for a week.

HAVE YOU HEARD

by Stephen Tobias
Board Certified Hearing Instrument Specialist

BEHIND-THE-EAR HEARING AIDS

The popularity of in-the-ear and in-the-canal hearing aids has risen to the point where they combine to account for 77 percent of all the hearing aids sold in this country. While these tiny models do their part not to detract from a wearer's appearance, the advantages of behind-the-ear aids should not be overlooked.

Each of these units houses a small microphone and amplifier which sit discreetly behind the ear. Behind-the-ear aids are similar enough in size and shape to prawns to earn the nickname "shrimp" aids. Each is large enough to hold added circuitry which improves upon the sound delivered by smaller aids.

Sound travels through a clear plastic tube to an earpiece in the ear canal. Behind-the-ear aids generally offer larger volume control and longer-lasting batteries, as well. These advantages are enough to boost their market share to 21 percent.

HINT: Behind-the-ear aids are usually recommended for children because only the earpiece needs to be replaced as the child grows.

Oftentimes cosmetics takes over true practicality. When you are faced with this situation, consider what is best for your hearing first. The type of aid that suits your earpiece needs is what you should purchase. When you come to STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER you will receive professional testing at no charge, and complete information on the various types of hearing instruments. Trust your hearing to us. When you call 770-3395 for an appt., please tell us if you read and enjoy our weekly column. We're at 488 Quincy Ave.

Houghs Neck Council To Honor 3 Nov. 10

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Former Mayor Francis McCauley, Margaret Devine, and Jeff Craig will be honored at the Houghs Neck Community Council's annual Honor Awards and "Good Neighbor" Night Saturday, Nov. 10.

The event at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour. A roast beef dinner at 7 p.m. will be followed by presentation of awards.

McCauley, honored for civic contributions, was Ward 1 councillor (1964-1967), school committee member (1972-1977), and councillor-at-large (1978-1981) before serving as mayor from 1982-1989. He also served as a chairman of the Quincy Housing Authority.

He is a past president and life member of the Quincy Lions Club. Over the years he has contributed 57 pints of blood to the American Red Cross, and in early October walked the 26-mile Boston marathon route to raise $4,180 for the Jimmy Fund.

His parents, the late Hugh and Mary McCauley, were Houghs Neck residents, and he has lived there all his life. He is a graduate of Quincy schools, Boston College high school, Bentley College, and Indiana University Graduate School of Savings and Loan. He served in the U.S. Navy. He was president of the Great Hill PTA in 1961 and the Houghs Neck Community Council in 1968.

Before becoming mayor in 1982, he was president of the Presidential Cooperative Bank. Today he has his own income tax return business, and is also a financial consultant to a law firm.

Married to the former Sandra MacKinnon of Houghs Neck, their children are: Michael, who with his wife Elise and daughter Dawn, live in Squantum; Robert and wife Sharon of Natick; Melissa with husband Stephen Higgins and daughter Lindsay Higgins, live on Elcott Rd.; Julie, wife of John Tynanick and son Matthew, of Plymouth; and Jennifer, wife of David Logue, with son Bryan McCauley Logue, who live on Maxim Pl., Houghs Neck.

Margaret Devine, 1990 "Good Neighbor" of Nut Island Rd., with her late husband, Thomas, has been a resident since 1944. She was nominated for her kindness to neighborhood children over the years and her thoughtfulness to neighbors. In her 80's and with eyesight problems, she still works from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. four days a week in the office of Frizzell Ladder Co., owned by her son Gordon.

"Joe" Devine of Island Ave. She also has a son James Devine of Brownsville, Me. and eight grandchildren.

Jeff Craig of 21 Marine St. is honored as the 1990 "Houghs Neck Hero" for his rescue last summer of a drowning man off the coast of Long Island. En route to Florida from Quincy by boat, he and his companions unexpectedly changed their course, and within a short time came upon the man whose boat had sunk.

Educated in Quincy schools, he received his associate's degree from Franklin Institute, and a bachelor's degree from Northeastern University. He is a principal engineer at Polaroid, where he has worked 21 years. He is an active member of the Quincy Yacht Club.

He is the son of James A. Ruth Craig of Ratchford.

A lifelong Houghs Neck resident, he and his wife Lisa Craig, a head teacher with Headstart Program, have three daughters: Lisa Craig, 23, working as a student at Quincy College; Karen, 20, a student at Quincy College; and Stephanie, a freshman at Framingham State College.

Tickets to the Nov. 10 dinner at $8 each should be obtained in advance from Daniel Bythrow, 2000, chairman, or at the Houghs Neck Community Council from Patricia Rader, director. Joann Bythrow and Marty Gordon are co-chairmen for the event.

BEHIND-THE-EAR HEARING AIDS

The popularity of in-the-ear and in-the-canal hearing aids has risen to the point where they combine to account for 77 percent of all hearing aids sold in this country. While these tiny models do their part not to detract from a wearer's appearance, the advantages of behind-the-ear aids should not be overlooked.

Each of these units houses a small microphone and an amplifier which slip discreetly behind the ear. Behind-the-ear aids are similar enough in size and shape to prawns to earn the nickname "shrimp" aids. Each is large enough to hold added circuitry which improves upon the sound delivered by smaller aids. Sound travels through a clear plastic tube to an earpiece in the ear canal. Behind-the-ear aids generally offer larger volume control and longer-lasting batteries, as well. These advantages are enough to boost their market share to 21 percent.

HINT: Behind-the-ear aids are usually recommended for children because only the earpiece needs to be replaced as the child grows.

Oftentimes cosmetics takes over true practicality. When you are faced with this situation, consider what is best for your hearing first. The type of aid that suits your impairment is what you should purchase. When you come to STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER you will receive professional testing at no charge, and complete information on the various types of hearing instruments. Trust your hearing to us. When you call 770-3395 for an apt., please tell us if you read and enjoy our weekly column. We're at 488 Quincy Ave.

Kerry Campaigns Here

John Kerry Tuesday took his campaign to Quincy with stops at the Quincy Center T Station at 7 a.m., the Central Fire Station and the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

"The response I got from Quincy voters was tremendous," Kerry said. "Quincy is an important stop on the campaign trail for me and I am very grateful to the people of Quincy for their expression of support."

Kerry spoke to the Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast at the Lantana in Randolph. He spoke about his commitment to creating jobs in the state and his success in helping businesses across the state gain special grants, contracts and increase their export sales.

"It was especially gratifying for me to meet several fellow veterans as I campaigned in Quincy," Kerry said.

Throughout my work in public service, I have focused on helping veterans get the recognition and services they deserve for the help they gave their country and it is good to see some of those success stories in the Quincy area," he added.

Kerry noted he has helped keep veterans outreach centers open in the area and has fought for special disability payments for Vietnam veterans who have Agent Orange-related illnesses.

In the past few days, Kerry has crisscrossed the state discussing his record of helping cities and towns fight a real war on drugs and create new, affordable housing.

FIRST AID

The chances are pretty good that your medicine cabinet has a few first aid supplies, perhaps adhesive bandages and an antiseptic, a few gauze pads, some tape, maybe even a soothing ointment for burns. Would you know what to do with these items in an emergency? If a family member lost consciousness, stopped breathing, or choked on a piece of food, could you help? Malone Says He Would Be A 'Fiscal Watch Dog'

(Cont'd from Page 2)

To elevate the state's bond rating which is presently ranked the worst in the country, Malone said he would implement a tri-processed fiscal recovery plan.

Besides the quarterly reports, Malone said he would: Limit the state to issuing only 75 percent of the principle debt that was retired the previous year. That would mean "ratchet down" any debt, he said.

• Create a 15-member revenue projection board made up of the uncompensated private individuals including CEOs and economists. The board would meet six times a year to publicly address revenue projection.

Once in place, Malone said he would advocate allowing the state government to spend only 95 percent of the projected revenue. "If the projections are off, now you're not thrown into a deficit situation because you have a cushion."

Lastly, Malone is a firm supporter of limiting terms for state officials from governor to the speaker of the House and Senate president to eight years.

"I believe when someone stays in power too long, they start to forget why they got into public office in the first place."

Eaton Supports Reform Question

Calling for electoral reform, Francis (Sandy) Eaton, an independent running for state representative in the Third Norfolk District, says he supports Question 4 on the Nov. 6 ballot.

If approved, the referendum would change election laws in Massachusetts "so independent candidates will no longer be discriminated against," Eaton told a group of supporters recently.

"The way the law is written now, independent candidates have to collect four times as many signatures as Democrats and Republicans to get on the ballot.

"The two major parties have been cooperating to make it extremely difficult for people who are not part of their little circles to get their names on the ballot. That's why the choices we're offered are often so dissatisfying," Eaton said.

He also decried the "buying and selling of candidates like they were different brands of toothpaste. Nowadays too many politicians are more interested in representing large campaign contributors than they are in listening to their constituents."

The candidate said politicians should focus on people's problems and opinions while offering some of their own ideas.

"That's what I think politics should be about. Talking to people, and more importantly listening. That's how I've run my campaign and that's what kind of representative I'll be."

"If I'm elected the only campaign debt I'll have will be to the voters."

PAUL VAN SCHAIK

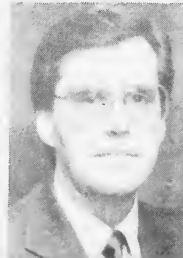

★ A NEW LEADER for STATE SENATOR ★

Van Schaick asks for your vote to give someone new a chance for just 2 years to change business as usual on Beacon Hill. Van Schaick has developed a plan for 1 billion dollars in cuts and restructuring of state government which doesn't affect necessary services. We know what we have does not work, we need a change!

The incumbent Sen. Harold has been there too long. While the incumbent Senator was out of the state campaigning for Dukakis he knew this state was falling apart. The Senator's only answer has been to increase state spending for items important to Senate President Bulger while voting to cut local aid and Elder Affairs rather than voting for the real restructuring of government. That is why he received one of the lowest ratings from the Foundation For Economic Research.

The incumbent Senator as well as other incumbents, just days before the election, are misrepresenting their voting records and are now calling themselves fiscal watchdogs -- We know better, don't we!

Referendum Questions

QUESTION 1

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and the Senate on December 17, 1987 by a vote of 180 to 6, and on June 11, 1990 by a vote of 186 to 6?

YES 104

NO 105

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment would repeal the constitutional provision that a state census be taken and used as the basis for determining state representative, senatorial and councillor districts. The proposed constitutional amendment would provide that the federal census shall be the basis for determining such districts.

QUESTION 2

LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, on which no vote was taken by the Senate or House of Representatives before May 2, 1990?

SUMMARY

The proposed law would place restrictions on the State's use of consultants. It would place various limits on the amount of profit, overhead charges and expenses that the State could pay consultants. It would limit the duration of consultant contracts to two years and any extension to one year, and it would limit the degree to which such contracts could be changed to require payments in excess of the original contract. The proposed law would limit to $100,000 the amount the State could pay on a consultant contract with an individual and would require all other consultant contracts in excess of $25,000 to be sought through competitive bidding. It would prohibit consultants from supervising State employees, and it would limit the use of consultants as substitutes for State employee positions.

YES 124

NO 125

In addition, the proposed law would place limits on the total amount of money State agencies, departments and Authorities could spend on consultants each year. Subsidiary provisions would also establish a method for these entities to gradually come into compliance with the new spending limits and would give authority to the State Secretary of Administration and Finance, on request, to permit some spending in excess of the new limits. The proposed law would also require State agencies, departments and Authorities as well as the Secretary of Administration and Finance to submit yearly reports concerning the State's consultant contracts to certain legislative committees and to the Inspector General.

(Cont'd on Page 17)

Finally, the proposed law provides that any of its provisions, if found by a court to be unconstitutional or otherwise unlawful, would be severed from the law and the remaining provisions would continue in effect.

QUESTION 3

LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, on which no vote was taken by the Senate or the House of Representatives before May 2, 1990?

SUMMARY

This proposed law would change the state income tax rate, affect language contained in certain tax provisions, and regulate the setting of fees by state agencies and authorities.

The proposed law would set the state income tax rate on Part B taxable income (in general, earned income) at 4.25% for 1991 and 4.625% for 1992, except for income from unemployment compensation, alimony, Massachusetts bank interest, rental income, pension and annuity income, and IRA/Keogh deductions, which would be taxed at 5%.

The proposed law also provides that the fee imposed by any state agency or authority shall be no more than the fee that was in effect on or before June 30, 1988. The state Secretary of Administration would determine the amount to be charged for any service, registration, regulation, license, fee, permit or other public function, except for the rates of tuition or fees at state colleges and universities or any fees or charges relative to the administration and operation of the state courts. Any increase or decrease in a fee, or the establishment of any new fee, would require the approval of the Legislature. Any increase in a fee would not apply to persons 65 years of age or older. No state agency or authority could collect any fee which exceeds the administrative costs directly incurred by the state agency or authority to produce and process the application for any license or permit. The Secretary of Administration must report information concerning fees to the Legislature on an annual basis.

The proposed law provides that for tax periods commencing on or after January 1, 1991, language in certain provisions of the Massachusetts general laws relating to taxes shall be the same as it was on August 2, 1989, or the effective date of the proposed law, whichever language yields less tax revenue. The tax provisions affected include sections relating to the surtax on business income, corporate excise taxes, S corporation taxes, taxes on security corporations, taxes on Part A income (in general, unearned income), bank taxes, excise taxes on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes, excise taxes on deeds, estate taxes, payments to the Commonwealth relating to horse and dog racing, payments to the Commonwealth relating to boxing and sparring matches, taxes on utility companies, gasoline taxes, taxes on insurance companies, excise taxes on motor vehicles, taxes on urban redevelopment corporations, sales tax, use tax, room occupancy excise tax, property taxes, and taxes on proceeds from raffles and bazaars.

The proposed law also contains a provision that if any sections of the law are held to be invalid, all other sections of the law are to remain in effect.

QUESTION 4

LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, on which no vote was taken by the Senate or House of Representatives before May 2, 1990?

SUMMARY

This proposed law would change the state election laws governing the establishment of political parties and the nomination of candidates.

The proposed law would allow voters to register under a political designation other than "Independent" and in addition to the two political parties previously recognized by law (Republican or Democrat), if at least fifty voters request to be permitted to do so. It would allow any group to qualify as a political party under Massachusetts law if at least one percent of the total number of registered voters register to vote using that group's political designation, or if at least three percent of the votes cast at the preceding election for any statewide office were cast for a candidate running under that group's political designation.

The proposed law would set the minimum number of signatures needed on independent or minor party nomination papers for state office at one-half of one percent (1/2%) of the entire vote cast in the previous state election for governor (as compared to 2% as of 1989), and would also establish this number of signatures as the upper limit needed for major party candidates. The proposed law would also permit voters to sign the nomination papers of any number of candidates for the same office, would require that all blank forms to be used for nomination papers and initiative and referendum petitions be no more than 8 1/2" by 14" in size, and would allow signatures to be collected on exact copies of those forms.

QUESTION 5

LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, on which no vote was taken by the Senate or the House of Representatives before May 2, 1990?

SUMMARY

This proposed law would regulate the distribution to cities and towns of the Local Aid Fund, which consists of at least 40% of the revenue generated by the state income, sales, and corporate taxes, as well as the balance of the State Lottery Fund.

Subject to appropriation by the legislature, the State Treasurer would distribute the Local Aid Fund to cities and towns on a quarterly basis, and each city or town would receive at least the same amount of local aid it received in the previous fiscal year unless the total Local Aid Fund decreases.

In fiscal year 1992, if there has been any increase over the fiscal year 1989 fund, half of the increase would be distributed in accordance with the distribution formula used for fiscal year 1989, and half would be distributed to each city and town in proportion to its population.

In each year after 1992, if the fund increases, the excess would be distributed through a formula devised by the state Secretary of Administration and Finance, with the advice and consent of the Local Government Advisory Committee. If the fund decreases after 1992, each town or city will have the amount it receives decreased by the same percentage.

This proposed law also requires that the Treasurer publish an annual report about the Local Aid Fund, that the state Auditor publish an annual audit of the Account, and that the Secretary of Administration and Finance issue to each city and town an estimate of funds it will receive from the Local Aid Fund.

Each city or town would be allowed to bring a lawsuit to force distribution of the account, and would be entitled to a late payment fee if distribution is not timely.

QUESTION 6

THIS QUESTION IS NOT BINDING

Shall radio and television broadcast outlets be required to give free and equal time to all certified candidates for public office in the commonwealth?

Besides the 11 contested races, there are six referendum questions on the ballot, including the CLT petition which is Question 3. The first five questions are laws proposed by initiative petition. Question 6 is non-binding.

Question 1 asks voters whether they approve adopting a constitutional amendment which would allow the state to abolish the state census. The federal census would be used instead.

A YES vote would change the state constitution to abolish the state census, and to substitute the federal census as the basis for federal redistricting.

A NO vote would leave the state census intact.

Question 2 asks voters whether they approve of a proposed law which would place restrictions on the state's use of consultants. Essentially, the law would place various limits on the amount of profit, overhead charges and expenses that the state could pay consultants.

A YES vote would establish the proposed restrictions on the state government's use of consultants.

A NO vote would not establish the proposed restrictions on the state government's use of consultants.

Question 3, which has been the most debated referendum this election season, is based on the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition. The proposed law would change the state income tax rate, affect language contained in certain tax provisions and regulate the setting of fees by state agencies and authorities.

A YES vote would mandate state spending be cut by $6 billion over three years, and rollback $1 billion already collected and spent.

A NO vote would not make the proposed changes in laws concerning state taxes and fees.

Question 4 would change the state election laws governing the establishment of political parties and the nomination of candidates. It would allow voters to register under a political designation other than "Independent", "Democrat" or "Republican", if at least 50 voters request to be permitted to do so.

A YES vote would change the legal requirements for establishing new political parties and for nominating certain candidates.

A NO vote would leave unchanged the legal requirements for establishing new political parties and for nominating candidates.

Question 5 would regulate the distribution to cities and towns of the local aid fund, which consists of at least 40 percent of the revenue generated by the state income, sales, and corporate taxes, as well as the balance of the state lottery fund. Subject to appropriation by the legislature, the state treasurer would distribute local aid on a quarterly basis, and each city and town would receive at least the same amount of aid it received the previous fiscal year unless the total fund decreases.

A YES vote would establish the proposed allocation of state aid to cities and towns.

A NO vote would not establish the proposed allocation of state aid to cities and towns.

Question 6 asks voters whether radio and television broadcast outlets should be required to give free and equal time to all qualified candidates for public office in the state.

The vote on this question is advisory and does not establish law nor bind the legislature.

A YES vote would advise that the voters favor requiring radio and television stations to give free and equal time to candidates.

A NO vote would advise that the voters do not favor requiring radio and television stations to give free and equal time to candidates.

Balzano Urges Term Limits To 8 Years

Judy Balzano, Republican candidate for state representative, has called for a limit on the number of years elected public officials may serve in one office.

"Elected officials who stay around too long come to regard their seats as being held by divine right, and their districts become their little kingdoms," she said. "They become so arrogant that they resent anyone having the nerve to run against them."

"My Democrat opponent has held his seat for 16 long years; that is eight terms. Another man in an adjacent district has been in the same seat for 28 years."

"When the colonists revolted against British tyranny in 1776, we got rid of royalty, but today we see politicians and their entourage of cronies who feel that they were born to rule."

"Holding elective office in America was never meant to be a lifetime career. Men and women should serve a few terms for the public betterment, and then get on with the rest of their lives in the private sector, not hang in there for their own enrichment and power," she said.

"I believe about eight years in one office should be enough. At that point, the person should either run for a higher office or get out and give others a chance. Public service is a public trust, not intended to be held forever in the clutches of a select few."

Shea Rink To Open For Public Nov. 18

Shea Rink in Quincy is one of seven MDC rinks which will open between Oct. 29 and Dec. 1, Metropolitan District Commissioner M. Ilyas Bhatti announces.

Exact date for the opening is still being worked out. The rink will be open only for youth hockey groups until Nov. 18, when the annual public skating season begins.

After Nov. 18, limited skating hours for the public will be available. Schedules will be announced prior to the opening of the public season.

The opening of the seven rinks and six other rinks between Oct. 22 and 24 are due to a return of approximately $3.9 million to the agency's operating budget, Bhatti said.

The commissioner is working with Environmental Affairs Secretary John DeVillars to pursue private ventures which will benefit the rinks. DeVillars and Bhatti continue to meet with Boston Bruins General Manager Harry Sinden, Coach Mike Milbury and senior Bruins officials to map out a strategy to support youth hockey and keep the rinks open.

North Quincy 26, Silver Lake 13 Raiders Face Test At Bridgewater-Raynham

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team rolled to its second straight win with a 26-13 decision over Silver Lake last Friday night in the rain and wind at Veterans Memorial stadium, but it was a costly win for the Raiders in their final home game until Thanksgiving.

Junior corner back-wide receiver Desmond Bellot, who has enjoyed an outstanding season both ways, suffered a broken leg late in the third quarter when tackled after catching a pass. He underwent surgery Saturday.

North (3-4), without Bellot, face a very tough test Saturday when it plays at Bridgewater-Raynham (3-1-2) in a 2 o'clock game.

B-R, which handed Weymouth its first Old Colony League loss last week, has also beaten Plymouth and Falmouth, tied Quincy and Barnstable and lost to Marshfield.

"Losing Bellot is a tough blow and I feel awfully sorry for him," said North coach Ken McPhee. "Not only was he one of our outstanding two-way players but a wonderful kid. But it is part of the game and he will be back next year better than ever."

Before being hurt, Bellot was having another fine game with 46 yards rushing, the pass receptions, his sixth touchdown and another excellent defensive game.

Mark Cocuzzo had another fine night running with 100 yards gained and a touchdown. Chris Murray ran for 42 yards and junior quarterback Mark Taylor, improving every week, rushed for 34 yards and scored twice.

North gained 380 yards overall, rushing for 256 and adding 124 passing as Taylor was eight for 12. Silver Lake had only 58 yards rushing but quarterback Steve Erickson was nine for 16 passing for 135 yards and both touchdowns.

North clicked off 20 first downs to seven for SL. "Mark Kelleher had a terrific two-way game (three pass receptions, nine tackles and seven assists)," said McPhee. "Evan Kiley, Chris McCallum, Taylor, and Pat Shea all played well."

"I'd like to give an awful lot of credit to our captains, Matt Swierk, Mike Oliva, Kiley and Rich Brooks, all of whom play both ways and are great leaders, keeping the team together."

Freshman Tony Liccardi continued to play outstanding ball.

Silver Lake, which looked like anything but an 0-7 team, caught North napping right at the start as it scored on the second play of the game on a 46-yard pass from Erickson to Geoff Uva, who was all alone.

Erickson kicked the extra point.

North came back quickly as it marched 66 yards in nine plays and Taylor ran 21 yards for the touchdown. The try for the two-point conversion failed and SL still led, 7-6.

The Raiders then drove to North's 18 but Shea intercepted a pass on the 15 and the game was all North the rest of the way.

The Raiders drove 85 yards in 14 plays, helped by a pass interference call against the Lakers. Cocuzzo did most of the ball carrying and Bellot scored from the six. Again the try for the two-point conversion was no good.

A few minutes later North took advantage of a terrible Laker punt and took over on the SL 43. Taylor capped the drive by scoring from the three and for the third time the two-point conversion try failed.

North stretched its lead to 26-7 in the third quarter as it drove from the kickoff to another score. Bellot broke off a 39-yard run. Taylor completed passes to Bellot and Kelleher and Doduzzo scored from the six. This time the conversion try was good on a Taylor to Murray pass.

For the second week in a row McPhee was able to clear his bench and more than a half dozen different players ran with the ball in the final quarter. With the second and third stringers playing, the Lakers scored with about two minutes left as Erickson again hit Uva on a 25-yard scoring pass.

North Jayvees Roll By Durfee, Silver Lake

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team improved to 6-1 with 36-6 victory over Durfee and an 18-0 decision over Silver Lake.

In the Durfee game Mark Sinclair scored twice on runs of 24 and 36 yards. Mike Sweeney, one of the most improved backs on the team, added an 11-yard touchdown run.

Brendon O'Connell had a 58-yard scoring run and Sean Herron ran back a pass interception 29 yards for the Raiders' other touchdown.

Quarterback Liam Higgins completed two conversion passes to Paul Kerr and Chris Peck and Sweeney rushed for another two-point conversion.

Durfee scored on a 40-yard pass but was held in check most of the game.

Coaches Tom Carter and Pete Chrisom had good words for Kerr, Scott Kohler, Matt Walsh, Mike Linnane, Matt Liccardi, Chris Campbell and Mike Christopherson.

Silver Lake came to Quincy with only 17 players and fought valiantly, holding North once on the two-yard line and holding North scoreless in the first quarter.

North scored first on a safety when the SL ball carrier was tackled in the end zone. Shortly after, Higgins passed to Kerr for 45 yards and a touchdown. Higgins passed to Peck for two points and North led, 10-0, at the half.

In the third quarter Will O'Donnell intercepted a pass on the SL 40. Sweeney got off a good run but the Lakers held. Dave Reinhart recovered a fumble on the SL 14, three rushes by Sweeney put the ball on the seven. Sinclair picked up five and Sweeney scored. Sinclair added the two-point conversion.

North's defense was outstanding. Kohler was a standout, making several tackles and recovering a fumble. Campbell, Sean Moran, Steve Oakes, Mark Makarewicz, Pete Liccardi and Serge Belcastro also sparkled.

O'Connell continued his hard running with runs of 14 and 16 yards, Keith Lentini had a good game returning punts and Josh O'Donnell was in on several tackles.

North Quincy will play at Bridgewater-Raynham Monday at 3:30.

Snaith Scores Hole-In-One

Quincy 36, Falmouth 14 President's Won't Take Silver Lake Lightly

Quincy's football team (5-1-1) enjoyed its best rushing game last week as it rolled over Falmouth, 36-14, and coach Jack Raymer hopes the Presidents don't suffer a letdown when it hosts winless Silver Lake Saturday in a 2 o'clock game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy rushed for 302 yards at Falmouth and quarterback Mike Flavin, throwing only seven times, completed five for 80 yards, including his ninth touchdown pass and also threw for a two-point conversion.

Silver Lake, young and building, has displayed some fine football but has nothing to show but successive losses to Duxbury, Weymouth, Falmouth, New Bedford, Barnstable, Taunton and last week North Quincy.

"We ran the ball really well at Falmouth and Mark Bogan had another outstanding game, rushing 23 times for 147 yards and scoring three touchdowns and a two-point conversion," Raymer said. "Jason Anderson rushed nine times for 73 yards and Bill Reardon, who had his best game, gained 57 yards on four rushes and scored a touchdown and a two-point conversion.

"Reardon has played outstanding two-way ball all season and at Falmouth, in addition to his 57 yards rushing, touchdown and conversion, he had two pass receptions and defensively had six tackles and eight assists."

Jason Eleuteri and sophomore Noel DiBona also ran well as Raymer used his reserves throughout most of the second half. DiBona had a 60-yard touchdown run nullified by a penalty.

On defense he had good words for Shawn Kennedy, who recovered two fumbles, Falmouth scored early in the final quarter on a 45-yard run by Anthony Ruberio and he also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Bogan scored Quincy's final touchdown on a seven-yard run and DiBona kicked his ninth extra point of the season.

Quincy Jayvees Win 6th At Falmouth

The Quincy junior varsity football team defeated Falmouth, 34-24, to improve its record to 6-1.

Sophomore Noel DiBona rushed for 110 yards and junior Jason Eleuteri for 75 for the Presidents. Quincy rolled to a 34-8 lead and the Cape team scored twice late in the game.

DiBona opened the scoring following a fumble recovery by Lee Dimco as DiBona went 15 yards to score. Eleuteri returned an interception 60 yards for a touchdown and a 13-0 Quincy lead. DiBona kicked the extra point.

Quincy's defense forced Falmouth to punt and Eleuteri returned the kick 65 yards to the Falmouth one. DiBona scored on the next play and rushed for the two-point conversion.

Falmouth responded by scoring on a long run to make the score 21-8 but Quincy then drove 60 yards with Eleuteri scoring for a 28-8 halftime lead.

Erik MacFarlane returned a pass interception 32 yards for the Presidents' final touchdown.

Joe Crespi, Steve Ferland, Dave Bogan and Mark Zaborowski had fine games.

Soccer

Quincy Ends Long Drought

The Quincy boys' soccer team, loser of 39 straight games, finally earned its first point last week when it tied Taunton, 2-2, in an Old Colony League game.

Eddy Pineda scored both goals and Dean Morris assisted on the game-tying goal with two minutes left. Pineda has scored six goals to lead the team in scoring.

"Morris has played his heart out all year at sweater back and is the backbone of this team," said coach Ged Phelan. "He just wouldn't let anyone quit out there. It has been a long road, but I told the boys nothing comes easy. They have never given up. They could have packed it in this late in the season, but they are still hungry."

The players recently chipped in and bought dinner and served it to all the guests at Father Bill's Place. The boys cleaned the outside, mowed the lawn and planted flowers out front.

"Quincy boys soccer cares about other people and they wanted to do this for the homeless," Phelan said. "It makes me proud to be associated with these kids."

Seniors, in addition to Pineda, who have given strong efforts are Yanars Kalaitzidis, Khien Phan, Bnu Tran and Louis Vasquez.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

FREEDOM'S RESPONSIBILITY

It was said of the ancient Athenians that when the freedom they wanted most was freedom from responsibility, they lost their freedom, never to be free again.

A question worth asking is whether we are, like the Athenians, seeking freedom from responsibility, thus endangering our freedom?

Is it freedom from responsibility we seek when less than 20 percent of the voters cast ballots in an election? Is it freedom from responsibility we seek when we refuse to participate in the election process?

Is it freedom from responsibility we seek when we ignore problems of state and local government? Is it freedom from responsibility we seek when we are too often content to complain but not concerned enough to participate?

Freedom carries with it responsibility. Those of us who live in a free society have a responsibility to protect and to preserve that freedom through the acceptance of our responsibilities as part of that society.

Let us think upon these thoughts and then on Election Day ... accept our responsibility and VOTE!

Crime Watch

Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

Child Abuse

At least 100,000 children are reported as victims of sexual abuse each year, and experts say the actual number is much higher.

It is especially difficult to detect abuse because the abuser is often a parent, a relative, a babysitter, or a close family friend. Children may not recognize it when it happens or know it is wrong.

Encourage your children to always talk with you when someone has abused them.

Be alert for physical and behavioral changes that might signal abuse. Some physical signs are bruises and scars, bedwetting, loss of appetite, nightmares, venereal disease, and pain or irritation around the genital area.

Behavioral symptoms may include refusing to go to school or to be alone, increased anxiety or immature behavior, artwork that depicts strange sexual or physical overtones, and a change in attitude toward a relative, neighbor, or babysitter.

If your child has been abused, report it to the police and child protective agency. You may save other children from being harmed. Seek counseling for your child from a community mental health, child welfare, or child abuse treatment center.

Tips on choosing Day Care Centers and Babysitters:

- Find out as much as you can about the caretaker's reputation and whether there have been any complaints in the past. Is the caretaker licensed or registered in any way? What are their qualifications? Have background checks been made? Have you asked for and checked references?

- Drop in unannounced, periodically, to ensure that the quality of care meets your standards. Observe how the children relate to the caretaker(s).

- Ask about the philosophy and practice of discipline. And then ask your child the same questions.

- Make sure there is ongoing parent involvement. Compare notes with other parents. And, most important, talk with your child daily about how things are going and investigate problems that worry you or become chronic.

A Few Words on FUNERAL SERVICE

A Testimonial on Pre-Planned Funerals.

Here's what we heard from a recent client:

"Jack's death was very difficult and I'm still learning to cope with his being gone. But there's one thing I'm grateful for. My husband cared enough to plan ahead. Because he made all his funeral arrangements in advance . . . what you call pre-planning . . . I wasn't forced to go through all those decisions.

Everyone was so supportive . . . I can't thank you enough."

Enough said!

19th Century Chamber Music & Romantic Illusions At First Parish Church Nov. 4

The First Parish Church (Presidents Church) will present "19th Century Chamber Music & Romantic Illusions" Sunday, Nov. 4 at 3 p.m.

Featured artists will be the Boston String Quartet performing works by Dvorak, Schubert and Ravel with accompanying talk by Dr. Sheldon Bennett.

The program is the second event in a continuing series honoring the world's quest for freedom. It combines chamber music with historical and political information to set the stage for enjoyment and discovery.

Tickets are $5. They are available at the door, the Quincy Historical Society, or the First Parish Church. For information call 773-1290 or 328-0677.

Dr. Sheldon Bennett, minister will talk on politics and music here in Massachusetts and in Europe between 1840 and 1910. Schubert, Ravel and Dvorak each had personal struggles, each has a unique style and all enjoy a permanent place in music repertoire.

Schubert was a man who possessed extraordinary natural talent, his teachers said he learned music from God yet his genius was not recognized until 40 years after his death.

Ravel, famous for his political struggles within the French musical traditions, was inspired by Schubert, American jazz and blues and the music of Spain. Dvorak, drawn to the unexciting Democratic ways of Americans, believed American music should evolve from plantation songs and the tribal music of the American Indian.

The Boston String Quartet has toured the United States presenting concerts of music from the 18th to 20th centuries. Acclaimed by the Cleveland Plain Dealer ... "The Boston Quartet brought its special virtues of smoothness and unforced lyrical sound to a fine performance."

Finalists in the 1989 Fischhoff Chamber Music Competition they had also been artists in residence at the Longy School of Music. In the 1990-91 season the young ensemble will present an ambitious series of programs in five Massachusetts communities, South Yarmouth, Cambridge, Lincoln, Boston, and Brookline. Members, Beth Welty and Julie McKenzie violins, Patrick Jordan, viola and Sandy-Jo Malmom, cello, originally from Cleveland, California, West Texas, and Milwaukee, Wisconsin perform in several local orchestras and teach in Greater Boston and Worcester.

WEEK OF: November 1

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are secretive by nature, passionate about your work. You're famous for forgiving but not forgetting. The next 12 months see you responding to career challenges, but it's important to give full attention to personal life as well. Balance is crucial.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Theme this week is to diversify; expand your interests both within and outside of the home. Remnants of a former relationship can finally be packed away.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

The solutions you're seeking may be much, much closer to home than imagined. Sources of inspiration are unlikely but noteworthy. Intuition is especially strong after Sunday.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

A friend may appear flippant but is likely more genuine than you realize. Look for new ways of relaxation. It's very easy to give yourself a little too hard right now.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Make an added effort to enjoy your creature comforts. You've been rather busy tending to others; now it's time to pamper yourself. At work, your productivity level is impressive.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

You qualify for a significant honor, thanks mainly to the hard work you've been expending. Imagination is especially vivid and can work to positive effect in professional environment.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

If planning a trip or a function, investigate various options before making any decision. Artistic streak surfaces; you'd be clever to keep your paints close to hand.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Partner may seem to be sending mixed signals; be sure you're receiving the intended signal. Relative may appear overbearing while co-worker or supervisor is unusually subtle.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Unusual questions may be posed through this week, but don't be shy about responding - you're a valuable source of information. Make an added effort to keep ahead of your work.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Workload may be increasing, but along the way your prestige is enhanced. Political events appeal to you, and this is a good week to involve yourself in a campaign.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Improvements are apparent at the workplace, but avoid a too-aggressive approach. Reunions are focused, with a surprise or two in the offing. Intuition is on your side.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Thursday-Sunday find you coming up with ingenious ideas that may ultimately lead to home improvements. Good week for embarking upon a commonsense health and fitness regimen.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Excellent week for creating special gifts for special friends. This is a mobile time that finds you venturing to different corners of town. Youngsters serve as fine role models.

New Energy Loan At Quincy Savings Bank

Quincy Savings Bank announces a new loan which will provide funds for people wishing to make their homes more energy efficient.

Called an Energy Loan, it provides funds for people to add insulation to their homes, replace old windows, purchase more efficient oil burners, or even convert from oil to gas heat. Industry experts agree that projects like these will virtually pay for themselves, generally in 5 years or less. Merely changing an old oil burner to one of the newer "flame retention burners" can reduce oil consumption by 17%, according to a recent New York Times article.

"Our Energy Loan is designed to provide funds for just about any project that will make a person's home more energy efficient," said William Berardi, vice president consumer lending.

"The loan can be in any amount from $1,500 to $15,000 and half of the amount borrowed must be used for energy saving home improvements. The term of the loan can be anywhere from 6 to 84 months—it's the borrower's choice. To help make it a little easier on people, the rate on our Energy Loan is only 11.25%, which is lower than any of the other consumer loan rates we're now offering. We're hoping these loans allow people to significantly reduce their fuel expenses."

"The loan will be processed in 24 to 48 hours from the time of application, so that people can get their projects started before the really cold weather arrives," added Berardi.

Interested consumers should call Quincy Savings Bank at 471-3500 for information and applications for an energy loan.

Hobytown, USA Signs Lease At Hancock Plaza

Hobytown, USA and Aicardi's Bakery recently signed leases at Hancock Plaza in Quincy Center, announces A&S Development Company, Inc. Spokesperson and Leasing Agent Fred Kiley, Jr.

"The signing of popular Hobytown with its exciting window display will be a decided plus for Hancock Plaza and the Quincy downtown," Kiley said.

Rudy Tonetti of Hobytown, USA, said "Quincy Center with its dramatic increase in leased office space and influx of new personnel to the downtown makes this a great site for our upscale operation. We expect to be open Nov. 1, and will be full swing for the Christmas season."

Kiley, pointing out Aicardi's Bakery recently opened, said, "With fresh baked goods delivered daily to the shop, the bakery is an excellent convenience to the tenants taking space at Hancock Plaza as well as the surrounding businesses."

"We have seen a substantial increase in tenant activity at Hancock Plaza that we attribute to us meeting each and every tenant's needs on a case by case basis," Kiley said. "For all intent and purposes, we have thrown out our pro forma and are putting forth tremendous lease deals for interested parties at the lowest prices for comparable space on the South Shore."

A&S Development Company, Inc., is a diversified, full service development and managing firm that is based at Hancock Plaza in Quincy Center.

Seamans In 59-Mile Run To Aid Homeless

Veteran marathoner Bob Seamans, 62, of Quincy, will again run in the annual WEEI 590 Fund 59-mile Run for the Homeless Saturday, Nov. 3, at the Boston Public Gardens. Runners can start any time from 7 a.m. to late afternoon and can register the day of the race at the gardens or call the 590 Fund at 242-5900 in advance for a sponsorship sheet. Anyone is welcome to run and no one has to match Seamans by running all 59 miles.

There will be special races for students and local businesses have donated cash prizes. Runners will also get T-shirts and other gifts.

Seamans, who has run in marathons for almost 25 years, is the originator of the 590 Fund Run for the Homeless. In 1987 he approached 590 Fund manager Jim Pansullo with a suggestion for a fund raiser. He wanted to run a 59-mile marathon and collect money from sponsors for it. Pansullo agreed it was a good idea and promoted the run on WEEI radio to see if anyone else was interested in making the run. Approximately 50 other people showed up, ranging from high school track team members to Boston policemen to Seamans.

Over the last few years the run has become a tradition in Boston, attracting hundreds of runners. Mayor Flynn and Police Commr. Mickey Roche have taken part and each year more and more people run and more money is donated. Last year almost $7,000 was raised.

Seamans is the only person to have run the full 59 miles and he has done it every year. He says he loves running and just "wanted to do my part to help raise money for the homeless."

Pansullo heralds Seamans as a community leader and commented, "Bob started a tradition that has become a great fundraiser for the 590 Fund. I can't thank him enough."

The WEEI 590 Fund for the Homeless was started 20 years ago as the "Penny-a-Month Club." Since then it has grown to be the largest non-profit organization of its kind in New England. The Fund sponsors several events throughout the year, such as the 59-mile run and Bruins and Celtics auctions. Last season the fund donated a half million dollars to 44 Massachusetts shelters.

Holiday Fair At Town Brook House

Residents of Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., will hold their annual Holiday Fair Saturday, Nov. 10, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the House.

The Fair will feature holiday items, children's gifts and toys, raffles, white elephant table, and home-baked goods. A light luncheon will be served.

All are invited to attend.

Republican William Weld was elected governor Tuesday in a see-saw political cliff-hanger but without help from long-time Democratic stronghold Quincy.

Dr. John Silber, the outspoken temperamental and colorful Boston University president making his first run for office, was the choice of Quincy where Democrats outnumber Republicans and Independents combined.

Silber conceded shortly before 1:30 a.m. Wednesday as Weld continued to pick up ground in late returns.

Quincy, however, joined the rest of the state in shooting down Question 2 which would have restricted the state's use of consultants and Question 3, the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition which would have cut state spending by $6 billion over three years and rollback $1 billion already collected and spent.

A total of 37,409 of the city's 49,486 voters or 75.5 percent turned out. City Clerk John Gillis had predicted 76 percent.

In the gubernatorial race, Silber and Lt. Governor candidate Marjorie Clappard received 18,626 or 51 percent in Quincy while Weld and running mate Paul Cellucci polled 16,602 or 45 percent. Independent High Tech ticket Leonard Umina and Lawrence DeBerry polled 1,054 or two percent.

Following the state trend, Quincy voters turned back Question 3 or the Citizens for Limited Taxation petition as well as Question 2 which would have placed restrictions on the use of state consultants.

In Quincy, Question 3 received 21,876 or 60 percent 'No' votes compared to 14,443 or 39 percent 'Yes' votes. Question 2 received 18,622 or 52 percent 'No' votes compared to 16,991 or 47 percent 'Yes' votes.

Locally, the three incumbent legislators who had opposition won easily to win another two-year term.

Senator Paul Harold, a Democrat, defeated GOP first-time candidate Paul Van Schaick. Harold received 23,675 votes or 67 percent while Van Schaick polled 11,280 or 32 percent.

In the closest local race, Democrat Michael Morrissey turned away a challenge from Republican Susan Gallagher in the First Norfolk District. Morrissey received 8,756 votes or 60 percent while Gallagher polled 5,791 or 39 percent.

Incumbent Democrat Robert Cerasoli appeared well on his way to winning another term in the Third Norfolk District which also includes part of Weymouth. In Quincy, Cerasoli received 4,502 votes or 61 percent while Republican challenger Judith Balzano took 2,138 or 29 percent and Independent Francis "Sandy" Eaton received 663 or nine percent.

In the two Norfolk County races, Democrat Incumbent Treasurer Daniel Raymond of Quincy and Democrat Incumbent County Commissioner David Ahearn of Norwood won Quincy and

$72,500 Donated For New Historical Lights

By JANE ARENA

The City Council Monday voted to accept gifts from various donors for the purchase of the city's historic lights for downtown Quincy, and after some discussion, also agreed that the money from the donors should be used to replenish the UDAG fund with which the lights were purchased.

Mayor James Sheets, in an effort to beautify the downtown area, has been soliciting funds from the private and business sectors of the city of $2,500 each to purchase historic lights. A total of 42 lights are planned to be in place downtown in time for the city's Christmas parade at the end of November.

Thomas Koch, Executive Secretary for the Mayor, told the Council that all 42 donations had been committed and that thus far 27 have been sent in for official acceptance by the Council.

The city had taken monies from the UDAG fund to purchase and install the lights and then planned to replenish the UDAG fund with donations from the public as they came in. Because the donations were not enough to cover the entire cost of the lighting project, the UDAG fund would be used to offset the cost.

Koch said that the Mayor's original intent with the project was to take the money from the city's UDAG fund for the purchase of the lights and then replenish that money with the donations from the public.

City Auditor Robert Foy noted that the UDAG fund has certain use restrictions, for example it cannot be used to offset a budget deficit for school, police and fire budgets, but stressed that the Mayor had specifically intended for the donations to be put in the fund.

Councillor Lawrence Chretien questioned whether the money could not somehow be used for the city's more pressing budget needs and put into another account which does not have the restrictions of the UDAG fund.

Councillor Thomas Fabrizio agreed, saying that the donations were made to the City of Quincy and would be going back to the City of Quincy whether they were placed in the UDAG fund or not.

Foy cautioned against the suggestion of putting the donations into the city's general treasury, warning that the city could find itself "in trouble" later in terms of federal funds.

"We'll have trouble enough explaining this transaction anyway," he said.

Other Councillors agreed that the money should be put back in the UDAG fund and not used for any other purpose, no matter how pressing.

Councillor Charles Phelan said that he is opposed to using the donations for any other purpose.

"People gave this money with the impression that it is going back to that fund," he said. "It is very important to protect the credibility of the city...if we don't put it back in the proper fund where it belongs, where are we putting ourselves two years down the line? It's asking for trouble...this money came from UDAG...if people had wanted to pay for city service, they would have paid for city service."

Councillor Michael Cheney echoed these thoughts.

"I congratulate Councillors Chretien and Fabrizio for their efforts of trying to get more money for the city's needs, but we have to live up to our end of the bargain."

Councillor Patricia Toland said she looked at the matter as a kind of loan which now has to be honored.

"The deal was that it was really a loan and now it must be returned to the UDAG fund," she said. "If that wasn't the original agreement then maybe some would have thought that it was not an appropriate use (for the UDAG money)."

Councillor Nutley agreed, noting that in the current political climate it would be unwise to send the wrong message to the public.

"I don't think we should send out any messages to the public that what was agreed on earlier is not what's being done," he said. "Let's not send out the general impression that we're playing political games here."

The Council voted to accept the gift donations and to return the money to the city's UDAG fund.

J.M. Cashman, Inc. and Derbes Bros., Inc. each donated $5,000 for two lights.

The following donated $2,500 for one light:

Peter F. O'Connell; Nelle E. Thomson; Grace L. Giunchiglia; South Quincy Bocce Club; Helen C. Cole; Eastern Nazarene College; Audrey J. Jerrick; Natalie Warner; Arthur and Shirley Tobin; Keohane Funeral Home; Quincy Municipal Credit Union; Flavin Realty; Sheila McIntyre; L. Antonelli Foundation; Quincy Hospital (private donations from Administrators); Richard N. Hart, Jr.; The Player Family; Campanelli Realty Trust; Campanelli Quincy Trust; Lincoln Property Company; South Shore Bank; Browning-Ferris Industries; national Fire Protection Association; Quirk Ford, Inc.; and College Courses, Inc.

The Council congratulated the Mayor and the Beautification Committee for their efforts on the project.

"The Mayor has done a great job in finding people to donate the money, Toland said, "and the city is certainly going to look better for it come Christmas...This shows goodwill on the part of the professional and business community."

Councillor Cheney suggested that the Council write a special letter of thanks to all of those individuals, businesses and professional organizations who contributed money to the project.

"This should be a special letter and should be signed by every member of the Council," he said. "This is an extraordinary contribution and it demonstrates their commitment to revitalize downtown to make sure that historic Quincy remains intact."

$2.5 Million For New Water Mains In Quincy Point

By JANE ARENA

Public Works Commissioner David Colton told the City Council Monday night that an appropriation for the laying of new, larger water mains in the area of Quincy Ave. and Washington St. should not be viewed as a help to the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority in the building of the sludge plant in Quincy Point, but as a way to help the residents in that area of the city in the event of a fire.

"Even without this," Colton said, "the MWRA has adequate water supply to run the sludge plant."

The appropriation of $2,515,000, which, in addition to the new water mains ($1.6 million), also includes $100,000 for new water meters, new fire hydrants, gate valves and a new truck for the department, was already passed unanimously by the Council at a special meeting held June 2, according to City Auditor Robert Foy.

However, because the passage did not allow the required amount of time to advertise, the appropriation had to come back before the council and be voted on again.

Councillor Michael Cheney said that, although he voted in favor of the appropriation in June, he had since read in an MWRA report that one of the problems in building the sludge plant in Quincy Point was water supply to the area.

"I don't want to give them an inch," he said. "If the people in Quincy Point knew that we had an opportunity to stop the sludge plant and we didn't take it, they'd be extremely upset."

Cheney suggested that the appropriation be reduced by $1.6 million so that all but the water main improvements could be executed.

Colton said that the water main improvements are "not intended to be installed for the sludge plant," and he noted that the rehabilitation is based on a 1985 report which was done before the MWRA existed.

"The report recommended this in 1948," he said. "The mains in that area are 100 years old or better and it's time, whether there's an MWRA or not, to replace them now."

Colton told the Council that the Quincy Point area is the last in the City which is scheduled to be upgraded in terms of water supply.

"This is to ensure that there are adequate flows of water for fighting fires in the Quincy Point area, which is far away from the source of supply," he said.

Council President Theodore DeCristofaro, whose ward includes the Quincy Point area, said that it is far more important that the Council consider the good the appropriation will do for the people of Quincy Point than the possible inadvertent benefit it could give the MWRA.

Councillor Tim Cahill agreed.

"The people of Quincy Point have been punched enough by having

Home Health Seminar At Hospital

As part of its "Wellness Wednesday" program, Quincy Hospital will offer a free seminar about home health care entitled "Someone To Watch Over You," Wednesday Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. in the McCauley Education Center, located on the 1st floor of the hospital.

Stephen Robbins, Priscilla Meriot and Denise Hajjar of the Quincy Visiting Nurse Association will talk about home health care, including hospice, and how it can be used to provide a less costly, more comfortable environment for recovery from illness while enhancing communication between the patient, the family and the health care professionals. Robbins and Meriot will describe what kinds of home health care are available, who can benefit by its use, and how to obtain needed services.

The seminar is part of the hospital's ongoing health education series, offered free to the public as a community service. For reservations, call the Quincy Hospital Public Relations Department at 773-6100, ext. 4016.

The Quincy Environmental Committee, a group of Quincy Health Department and city officials, will meet with Procter & Gamble plant and environmental managers tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at Fore River clubhouse.

"If the water supply to Quincy Point could have been used somehow to stop the sludge plant," Colton said, "then that would have been done...but (the current supply) is not bad enough to stop it."

In the end Councillor Cheney voted in favor of the appropriation but vowed to continue researching the matter in terms of water supply to the MWRA.

Where Are The Women?

Why aren't there more women in elective office in Quincy?

There are more women voters than men, but the latter still are well in control in the City Council and the School Committee not to mention the Mayor's office.

There has never been a woman mayor in the city's history although at least three — Rita Anderson (1971), Grace Saphir (1973) and Joanne Condon (1985) gave it a whirl.

Right now there is just one woman councillor — Patricia Toland — in the nine-member City Council.

TOLAND

The big reason, of course, is that more men are running than women.

But why aren't more women running? POWERS

Women for a number of years now have outnumbered men in the registered voter ranks in Quincy.

Latest figures show 27,878 female voters to 21,608 male.

That's 6,270 more women — more than the entire population of some Massachusetts towns.

If the women ever got together behind a mayoral candidate Quincy might have its first Her Honor at City Hall.

And more women with a voice in how the city's money is spent and how the schools are run. How about next year, ladies?

JOE DORAN of the Doran & Horrigan Insurance Agency in North Quincy has been around long enough to have seen a lot of good days and bad days.

He acknowledges that we are back to the bad days but he says we shouldn't toss in the towel and give up.

And, says he, we shouldn't panic and make things worse than they are. Which reminds him of that old story "The Man Who Sold Hot Dogs."

WHOOPIING IT UP

While the whooping crane may be virtually extinct, whooping cough, or pertussis, is still very much alive. The disease is caused by the bordetella pertussis bacterium, and is seen in patients of all ages, although rarely in young children due to the widespread use of DPT (diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus) vaccine. Immunity conferred by the vaccine gradually wears off, and the child is seldom protected past his tenth birthday. The cough develops after a week or two of nasal discharge. The patient will typically cough 5-10 times during a single breath, and follow it with a gasp and "whooping" sound as air rushes past the narrowed glottis. Vomiting may accompany the cough, and the patient may turn red or blue and even faint.

This stage may last for a month or more, and a less severe cough can linger after recovery. Whooping cough is highly contagious.

P.S. Whooping cough is exhausting, but seldom serious. Patients should be watched for secondary infections, such as strep.

If you are experiencing any of the symptoms discussed in today's column, we suggest that you contact the appropriate physician. If you want to discuss anything in today's column, feel free to call me at 472-2550, or visit us at 101 Adams Street, Suite 24 in Quincy. Hours are by appointment. HAVE YOU HEARD

GOVERNMENT GETS INTO THE ACT

The Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) is a piece of landmark legislation for all individuals with disabilities, including the hearing impaired. It guarantees some 43 million disabled Americans access to employment, transportation, public accommodations and telecommunications services. Within two years of its enactment, the ADA requires employers with 15 or more employees to make "reasonable" accommodation to disabled employees.

For the hearing impaired, this may mean being provided with telephone handset amplifiers, hearing aid compatible telephones, telecommunications devices for deaf persons, or sign-language interpreters.

This federal legislation shows a readiness by government to deal with limitations experienced by the hearing impaired, on equal footing with efforts already put forth by many individuals and hearing professionals.

HINT: With the ADA in place, hearing impaired individuals should be able to hear in any public place.

Now that the government is taking action to provide for the disabled, don't hold yourself back. Don't make your impairment more of a handicap than it is. Learn how to live with it and make the most of your life. You can start by being tested for a hearing loss at STEPHEN TOBIAS HEARING CENTER. We put you at ease from the start, and find the best hearing aid to help your loss. Hearing aids enhance the hearing you already have. When you stop in to 488 Quincy Ave. or call 770-3396 for an appt., please tell us if you read and enjoy our weekly column.

Friday Deadline For Sun Baby Photo Contest

The contest is open to babies from newborn to age 5 and there is no cost or obligation to enter.

All you have to do is send us your favorite current photo of your baby or youngster by Nov. 9. The photos can be either color or black and white, but should be no larger than 3x5 inch size. Send them or drop them by the Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

On the back of the photo, please include the following information, none of which will be used during the contest:

- The baby's name
- The baby's age
- Parents' first and last names and address
- A daytime and evening phone number

The names and address of the babies will not be used or given during the contest and are needed only for the purpose of record keeping.

The photos will be numbered and all voting will be done according to those assigned numbers.

Anyone can vote for a baby simply by making a $1 donation to MDA. You can vote as many times as you like. Every dollar donated to MDA represents a vote for the baby of your choice.

At the end of the contest, the baby who receives the most votes (donations) will be declared the winner.

Prizes awarded to the winner and runners up will be announced later.

All votes must be made by check, made payable to MDA. Cash will not be accepted. Votes may be dropped off at The Quincy Sun office, or they may also be mailed directly to MDA at 450 Washington St., PL-2, Dept. KT, Dedham 02026.

Voting will begin in mid-November, when the entrants photos are published in The Sun.

For further information, call Karen Tocchio at MDA, 461-0310.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Sea St., S.A. Crackdown Sought

A few hours after City Councillor William W. Jenness called for more rigid policing of the area, a pedestrian was killed and another was critically injured in separate auto accidents near the intersection of Sea St. and Southern Artery.

Nov. 8-14

51 Years Ago

Robert F. Sawyer, 67, of 17 Algonquin Rd., Merrymount, was struck and killed by a car on Sea St. near Samoset Ave. and Eugene Ciccone, 54, of Newton was hospitalized after being run down while crossing Southern Artery near Canal St.

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin said he plans to ask the electric light company to study the lighting on Sea St. as far as Norton St., including the possibility of installing sodium ray lights in an effort to check the alarming number of accidents.

Meanwhile, Inspector Alfred T. Little of the Quincy Registry office arrested 10 motorists on Sea St. at Samoset Ave. — seven for speeding, one for drunk driving, one for hit-and-run, and one for driving a car with defective lights.

ELECTION LINEUP SET

Results of the preliminary city election in Quincy left these candidates opposing each other in contests for ward councillors in the Dec. 5 general election.

Ward 1 - William W. Jenness vs. Earle S. Bates; Ward 2 - Louis A. George vs. James P. McGuinness; and Ward 4 - Christian A. Burkhard vs. Timothy P. Daly.

DISPUTE OVER QUARRIES

A group of West Quincy residents charged that Ward 4 City Councillor Christian A. Burkhard was making a "political football" out of their problem with the hazardous abandoned quarries in the area.

"He had two years in the City Council to do something to remedy the danger of the quarry holes in his ward and he has done absolutely nothing," they said. "Now, one week before election, he raises a loud cry about the danger which has existed all along."

"The fact that the majority of those who signed the statement against me are workers on the Daly Committee should convince anyone that protest is only a cheap political trick," retorted Burkhard.

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Stove Top Veal Or Chicken Cutlets Parmisan

Each time my mother would make veal cutlets when we were kids she would roll corn flakes with a rolling pin and bread the cutlets in that manner rather than bread crumbs.

And so it is with most of us in the family. Except we don't always have to roll our own. The flavor of corn flake crumbs surpasses cutlets made the conventional way, at least that is our consensus. For either chicken, veal or fish, they are delicious. Today's recipe is for an easy way to make veal or chicken parmisan.

Mix egg and milk together and add salt and pepper. Place corn flake crumbs on a piece of wax paper (for easy cleaning). Place the veal or chicken in the egg mixture and then in the corn flake crumbs. In about 1/4 cup of oil, saute the cutlets and drain on paper towel. In a large frying pan, put about a quarter cup of tomato sauce on the bottom. Then place the cutlets. On top of that put a little more tomato sauce and then the munster cheese.

Cook on top of the stove slowly until the cheese melts to your liking. Serve hot with grated cheese and a side of linguine, ziti or whatever. Note: we sometimes combine the corn flake crumbs with bread crumbs for a different coating.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Preville's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Petition Sent To Legislature Council Wants Fire Dept. Seniority Based On Rank

By JANE ARENA

Following a recommendation of the Public Safety Committee of the City Council Monday night, the Council voted unanimously to send to the State legislature a Home Rule Petition which would allow the City Fire Department to make reductions in rank based on seniority within that rank and not based on seniority within the department itself.

Fire Chief Tom Gorman was before the Public Safety Committee to argue in favor of the change.

He told the Committee that the Fire Department will often reduce the ranks of firefighters in the face of budget cuts rather than reduce the manpower in the department. With the uncertainty of the state and city budgets, he said, the department may be facing cuts.

Gorman explained that current Civil Service laws mandate that all reductions in rank be based on seniority in the department.

For example, he said, if a Captain had been in that rank for five years but in the department for only eight years, and another Captain had been in the department for ten years but promoted to Captain only last month, the first Captain would be the one reduced in rank.

During the last round of budget cuts in the department, he said, this method of reduction left "a lot of bitterness in the department."

"A lot of those wounds have never healed," he said. "People in high rank were reduced...it's demoralizing after holding a rank for a long time."

Although no one from the firefighters union was present at the meeting,

Gorman told the Committee that the union was in favor of the change.

Councillor Charles Phelan, Chairman of the Committee said that Joseph Ceurvels, President of the Union, had been notified of the meeting by letter and phone.

"The union is very much in favor of this," Phelan said.

Gorman said that the change in the general laws is "not uncommon" throughout the state, having been initiated already in the City of Springfield and the town of Pittsfield in Western Massachusetts.

Although this particular request would affect only the Fire Department, Gorman said that Civil Service laws cover all city employees and suggested that the Police Department as well as others should be at the meeting as well.

"This should be broadened to include them," he said, "but the Fire Department is looking out for themselves."

Councillor

Michael Cheney said he agrees with the change and added that he was surprised to learn that current Civil Service laws are "so antiquated."

"This is a benefit to employers too," he said.

"It's not prudent to reduce someone who's been in a certain rank for a long period of time...I am very much in favor of this."

Councillor Peter Kolson added that firefighters he had spoken with, of every rank, also seemed to be supportive of the change.

The Committee made a favorable recommendation on the issue and the full Council later voted unanimously to send the request to the state legislature.

Package Stores Won't Open On Sundays Before Christmas, New Year

By STEVE KAVANAGH

Package stores will not be allowed to open in Quincy on the Sundays before Christmas and New Year's Day.

The City License Board Tuesday voted not to approve the limited Sunday opening allowed by the State this year but agreed to consider the possibility next year.

Christmas and New Year's will each fall on a Tuesday.

The State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission has extended the option of Dec. 24 and 31 openings to package stores pending approval of the local licensing authorities. Sunday hours would be no earlier than noon and no later than 11 p.m.

City Clerk John Gillis said the benefit of the Sunday openings would be increased business for Quincy package store owners. Gillis noted that Boston has approved the Sunday openings for its stores which may impact North Quincy liquor stores.

Gillis also said that Weymouth and Braintree had voted against Sunday openings with the provision to reconsider if Quincy voted in favor of the measure.

Det. Sgt. Richard Laracy, the liquor inspector for the Quincy Police Department told the License Board that most package store owners he has spoken with are against Sunday openings in general.

Fire Chief Thomas Gorman suggested the board disallow the proposal this year but adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude with regard to next year.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

D. Scott Deware

All of us as we go through life experience failure at sometime or another. No one is immune to failure because no human being is perfect. Yes, failures come to all of us. It sometimes seems that no matter how hard we try, things will go wrong.

Let us remember that whatever we may look like to the world - whether it is hopelessly inefficient or brilliantly successful - most of us know that according to our own guide-posts - we have failed at some time or another.

Wilfred A. Peterson puts it this way: "He who hopes to avoid all failure and misfortune is trying to live in a fairyland; the wide man realistically accepts failures as part of life and builds a philosophy to meet them and make the most of them... He learns from the scientist who said, 'At best, research is about 99% failure and 1% success and the 1% is the only thing that counts.'"

User Fees Or Private Donations Council To Decide How To Fund Hazardous Waste Collection Day

By JANE ARENA

The Public Works Committee Monday night questioned whether a planned Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day should be paid for through use fees by those who participate in the event or through voluntary contributions from the private and business sectors.

The committee heard a brief overview of the event from Public Works Commissioner David Colton and members of the Collection Day Committee which was established by Mayor James Sheets in May of this year. That Committee is chaired by Deputy Director of Civil Defense, Tony Siciliano.

The Committee was established to interview hazardous waste disposal firms to operate the collection day, to set a date for the event, to initiate a public education program on household hazardous waste, and to address the issue of how to pay for the event.

Colton said that all of those charges have been met aside from the issue of payment.

The collection day is estimated to cost approximately $55,000, according to collection committee Chairman Tony Siciliano.

Colton said that he prefers the event "pay for itself" through user fees and said that the committee is currently looking at possible fee structures, perhaps charging users $5 per car.

There are no state funds available for the collection day, he said., although committee member Lt. John Menz, Hazardous Materials Officer for the Quincy Fire Department, told the Public Works Committee that a county grant may be available and that he would work to secure monies from that source.

Siciliano told the Public Works Committee that he believes people will pay a user fee to dispose of the materials. He said that the Civil Defense Office as well as the Fire Department have received calls from residents asking how and where to dispose of hazardous materials.

The public wants to do the right thing," he said, "and the longer we wait the more problems we're going to have...people have to dispose of these materials correctly."

When the City held its last collection day four years ago, he noted, it was so successful that it had to be shut down while people were still waiting in line. He said approximately 800 cars came for the last collection day.

Councillor Lawrence Chretien said that he doesn't think a user fee for the collection day is a good idea and suggested that Mayor Sheets try to get voluntary contributions to pay for the event in the same manner in which the historic lighting was paid for through donations.

"We should be providing an incentive for this," he said, "not a disincentive...we should go to the people in the city and ask for voluntary contributions and set up a special account for it...people may give $25 or more."

Chretien also suggested going to various businesses who sell the materials (such as painting supplies, turpentine, etc.) for contributions.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro agreed, suggesting that the public would be less likely to come to the collection day if they had to pay for it and that they may end up "dumping the stuff anywhere."

Councillor Michael Cheney, who is also Chairman of the Environmental Committee, suggested that an "environmental swap list" be established, whereby residents could alert the city that they have hazardous materials they want to dispose of and the city could establish a method so that other residents who may need these items could call a special phone number and be referred to where they could pick up these materials (such as paint and turpentine) for free.

"A lot of these materials are recyclable," he said, "and this might save some money and reduce the amount of toxics in the city...this is something we could do immediately."

Cheney suggested that such an "environmental swap list" could be maintained by the Fire Department and updated on a regular basis.

Lt. Menz said that the idea has potential and perhaps "could be worked out."

The Collection Day is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, May 4 although specific hours have not been set. The collection would be held at the DPW Building, operated by a licensed firm and overseen by city employees who would work to ensure that only Quincy residents participated.

A public education program is planned through the schools so that students will learn about hazardous household waste and bring the information to their parents.

The collection committee is also asking that the entire month of April be set aside as public awareness month during which the city could distribute informational materials on household hazardous waste.

The committee will continue meeting to discuss the issue of paying for the event and will report back to the Public Works Committee.

Public Works Committee Chairman encouraged fellow councillors to offer input on the issue.

Montclair Deli Gets License Board Approval With Conditions

By STEVE KAVANAGH

A new business will be open soon in Montclair.

The Montclair Deli, 218 West Squantum St., won approval of a common victualer license at Tuesday's City License Board meeting.

The license was granted provided that a number of conditions be met. Owners of the deli, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Delgado and William Oliver agreed that there would be no fryolator or grill on the premises.

The owners also agreed not to deviate from the operating hours of 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

There will be no seating in the establishment. All food will be for takeout only.

The owners will also provide their own dumpster and will equip it with a lock. The Delgados and Oliver also agreed to follow the recommendations of the City Health Department in regard to food disposal and sanitizing of the dumpster.

The license was also conditional in regard to conditions, which will be discussed by Building Inspector Matthias Mulvey and owner of the building (216-224 West Squantum St.) John Blatharas, concerning lighting and security of an underground parking garage at the site.

The License Board also agreed that Montclair Deli be the only business at the 216-224 W. Squantum St. location to be permitted a Common Victualer license.

A number of neighborhood residents attended the hearing and expressed concerns.

James Kelley of Vershire Street discussed the high traffic volume in the area and argued that cars frequently going in and out of the parking area would compound the existing traffic problems.

Roger Lyons of 211 W. Squantum St. complained about the bright lights shining out of the dry cleaning business at the site owned by Blatharas. He also questioned the viability of parking, snow removal and deliveries at the site.

Blatharas agreed to address concerns about the lighting problem and will work on securing the underground garage at night to prevent loitering and vandalism.

Board Chairman John Gillis sympathized with neighbors but said it would be unfair to penalize the Delgados and Oliver, longtime Montclair residents themselves, because of disagreements between neighbors and Blatharas.

Council Approves $15,000 For New Snow Equipment

The City is preparing for the winter.

The City Council Monday voted unanimously to appropriate the sum of $15,000 to the snow and ice budget from Capital Outlay.

Public Works Commissioner David Colton, who was before the Council Monday night, said that the money will be used to purchase two new sandbodies for the department's two 1974 snowfighters. He added that the department has already put out to bid for the equipment.

The snowfighters should last the City another ten years, he told the Council, and the requested appropriation will save the city from purchasing new snowfighter vehicles.

Colton said he could have the new sand bodies on the trucks by the this week with the appropriation.

Colton also told the Council that the Public Works Department has set up a new telephone number for residents to call this winter with questions and concerns about snow and ice removal.

The new SNOW LINE will be 770-0666 and will be in operation on nights and weekends. The number will be staffed by a clerical person who will log the calls as they come in and see that they are followed up on correctly.

Colton said that the SNOW LINE had previously been manned by the individual who had been in charge of deploying snow plows, but that he had been getting "inundated" with calls from both the public and the private contractors used by the city.

"This year we decided to move the public calls away from that desk," Colton said, "and away from that atmosphere of confusion."

Calls that come in during regular working hours will be forwarded to the Highway Department, Colton said.

Presidents Host Tough Barnstable Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

It wasn't a pretty start, but once it overcame numerous penalties and a stubborn Silver Lake defense, the Quincy football team rolled over the winless Lakers, 34-0, last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The wins improved Quincy's record to 6-1-1, making the annual Quincy Mothers Day a successful one.

The Presidents, enjoying their best season in sometime, will face a stern test Saturday at the stadium when they host Barnstable with the same record as Quincy, 6-1-1 overall and 4-1-1 in the Old Colony League at 1:30.

Barnstable's Red Raiders (Quincy will be facing Red Raiders in the next two games) have wins over Plymouth, Bp. Stang, North Quincy, Silver Lake, Taunton and Duxbury, a tie with Bridgewater-Raynham and a loss to Weymouth.

Quincy was penalized 45 yards in the first quarter against Silver Lake and had 95 yards in penalties overall to stop several promising drives and nullifying one touchdown.

"We must cut down on those penalties or we will be in deep trouble against a team like Barnstable," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "Once we got that break (a recovered fumble on a punt), we got going and the kids did a fine job after that."

"Our offense did what it had to do. They were stunting on defense and quarterback Mike Flavin came up with some big plays. He did a great job and got us out of some big holes."

Flavin was four for nine for 95 yards, including his 10th touchdown pass and came up with big third and fourth down plays. He scored one touchdown himself, his first of the year.

Mark Bogan had another big day, rushing for 105 yards on 16 carries and scoring his 12th touchdown. Jason Anderson ran for 34 yards and a touchdown and sophomore Noel DiBona had his best two-way game of the year.

DiBona rushed for 37 yards, scored his first touchdown, kicked four of five extra points (13 for the year) and again was outstanding on defense, having a pass interception.

Defensively Quincy held Silver Lake to just 32 yards rushing and eight yards on one pass completion in eight attempts. The Presidents put a lot of pressure on quarterback Steve Eriksson, who had a big game the previous week against North Quincy. He was sacked four times, once Graham Chevry and Shawn Kennedy, another time by Graham Chevry and once each by Dave Chevry and Dave Chapman.

Dave Chevry and Dave Frye each had six tackles and two assists.

Raymer used his jayvees much of the second half and was pleased with what he saw. Dave Cahill reeled off a sparkling 39-yard run, Jason Eleuteri ran well and backup quarterback Joe Crespi, who had an eight-yard pass completion, had a 46-yard TD pass to John Fahey nullified by a penalty.

In the line jayvees Steve Fernald, Chris McLaughlin and Erik MacFarlane played well.

Raymer had good words for DiBona, Chris Walker, Bill Reardon, Chapman, Duane Holmes, Pat Neil, Mike Tempesta and Graham Chevry on offense.

Defensively he praised DiBona, Ally Sleiman, the Chevry brothers, Frye, Keith Norris, Chapman, Kennedy, Bogan, Ray Byrne and Mike Malvesti, who filled in for the injured Mike Kavanaugh at tight end and continued to punt well.

"Our special teams played well, especially our kickoff team," said Raymer. "We again displayed good balance and our hard work is paying off."

Penalties kept Quincy at bay in the opening quarter but late in the quarter Malvesti's punt bounced off the SL receiver and Walker recovered on the Laker 17. On fourth down and 15, Flavin hit Dan Thackeray for 19 yards for a first down on the three and Bogan scored. DiBona kicked his first extra point.

Silver Lake drove to Quincy's 29 in the second quarter but on fourth down Erickson was sacked by Kennedy and Graham Chevry and the Presidents took over on their 40.

Six plays later Anderson scored after he won 14 yards and three yards and Bogan had runs of 21 and 11 yards. Again DiBona kicked the point.

Near the end of the half Quincy took over on its 48 after a Silver Lake punt. Flavin hit Bogan for 13 yards and on third down and 10, he connected with Chapman for 39 yards and a score. DiBona's kick made it 21-0 at the half.

The Presidents took the second half kickoff and drove 66 yards on 10 plays, highlighted by Bogan's 31-yard run. A 10-yard run by Reardon brought the ball to Silver Lake's 10 and on fourth down, Flavin couldn't find a receiver and scored himself from the four. Again DiBona kicked the extra point.

Penalties continued to plague Quincy and Crespi's 46-yard scoring pass to Fahey early in the fourth quarter was called back.

Quincy had the ball on its own 19 following a punt and the jayvees rolled to its final touchdown, featuring a 15-yard run by DiBona and Cahill's 39-yard scamper which put the ball on the eight from where DiBona scored.

Quincy had 14 first downs while holding Silver Lake to just three.

Helmetts are required for children age 5 and 6 and recommended for all beginners. Classes begin in late November. For registration dates and information call 965-4460.

Quincy Jayvees Roll

The Quincy junior varsity football team completed a clean sweep over Silver Lake with an 18-0 victory.

The varsity and freshman teams also topped the Lakers. It was the sixth straight win for the junior varsity, improving its record to 7-1.

Quincy will host Barnstable Monday at 3:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium, the final game before the annual game with equally strong North Quincy.

Quincy's defense held Silver Lake to three first downs and one big pass play. Junior Mark Zaborowski and sophomore Sean McArdle had eight tackles apiece.

Quincy opened the scoring with Joe Crespi scoring from the three-yard line. The Presidents increased their lead to 12-0 as junior Dave Cahill caught a 10-yard touchdown pass and sophomore Noel DiBona completed the scoring with a 45-yard run.

Juniors Chris McLaughlin, Gary Collins and Jason Kelly and sophomores Steve Fernald and Dave Bogan had excellent games.

Quincy Freshmen Rally To Defeat Silver Lake

The Quincy freshman football team came from behind in the final two minutes to edge Silver Lake, 8-6, driving 80 yards for the winning score.

Quarterback Walter Spadorcia directed the long drive, which included an excellent catch by Mike Aupperlee and a fine run by Mike Elder to the Laker two-yard line.

Mike Kane scored the tying touchdown behind the blocks of Ashley Davis, Rich Howard and Jack Sapienza. Kane also scored the winning two-point conversion.

Quincy halted a last-ditch Laker drive with a great play by defensive backs Sam Hanna and John Fraser.

Raiders To Have Work Cut Out At Taunton

After two easy victories, the North Quincy football team found Old Colony League leader Bridgewater-Raynham too much last Saturday as the Raiders (4-1-2 and 4-0-2 in the league) handed the Raiders (3-5) a 26-0 thumping at Bridgewater.

The Raiders hope to rebound Saturday but face another tough test when they play at Taunton in a 1:30 p.m. league game.

Taunton (4-4-0, 3-3-0 in the league) has wins over Plymouth, Falmouth, Silver Lake and Coyle-Cassidy and has lost to New Bedford, Weymouth, Quincy and Barnstable.

"We had some fine performances despite the score," said North coach Ken McPhee. "We moved the ball well, getting inside their 10 twice and inside their 30 five times, but just couldn't put it in. Bridgewater-Raynham is a real fine team and they just wore us down."

Crime, Vandalism, Litter Targets Mayor Forms City-Wide Task Force

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

An ambitious city-wide task force designed to target and reduce areas of vandalism, crime and litter throughout Quincy has been formed by Mayor James A. Sheets.

In announcing the task force Tuesday, Sheets said its mission will be to "determine ways to reduce vandalism, crime and pollution in all of Quincy" by identifying all the contributing factors.

Among the factors Sheets listed are the city's four MBTA stations, commercial and business districts, public parks and playgrounds, libraries, schools, cemeteries as well as barrooms, restaurants, fast-food and donut shops and convenience stores.

The task force will be divided into four sub-committees. Two or three residents will sit on each sub-committee; the other members will be professionals.

"This is not a citizens task force. It's a task force of specialists," the mayor said.

Approximately 40 to 45 people will sit on the task force. Sheets said he will announce the names of the chairman, sub-committee chairmen and members after they have been contacted.

All city councillors will be asked to serve on the task force, he noted.

Sheets said he will ask the committee to submit a final draft report by Jan. 15. The report will be an action plan and the task force will make specific recommendations to regulate and control

Quincy General Tells Veterans:

U.S. Must Maintain Its Vigilance To Remain Free

With President Bush preparing to send more American troops to the Persian Gulf, Quincy native Army Vice Chief of Staff Gordon R. Sullivan told some 200 veterans, city and state officials and residents Sunday that America must maintain its vigilance to stay free.

Sullivan, a four-star decorated general raised in the city's Lakin Square section, was the guest speaker at the city's Veterans Day ceremonies sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council. A parade and service were held in observance of the 72nd anniversary of the end of World War I.

With his mother, sister and wife's aunt looking on outside the Adams Academy, Sullivan said, "This is a particularly moving experience to return to my hometown."

Gen. GORDON SULLIVAN
His mother, Penue Sullivan, resides at 1000 Southern Artery.

"It's a big day for me. My family has lived here for over years," he told onlookers on a sunny but blustery cold morning.

Speaking outside the Adams Academy was significant, Sullivan said, because it was there that he registered for the draft in 1955. His military career began four years later after he graduated from Norwich University. In 1959, he entered the service as a second lieutenant and two years later, he served his first tour in Europe with the 40th Armor.

In 1962, he was sent to Vietnam as an advisor with the 21st Infantry Division. Before returning to the states in 1964, Sullivan also served with the Military Assistance Command, Vietnam.

Sullivan also commanded line units of the 3rd Armored and 1st Infantry Divisions. His many awards include the Distinguished Service Medal, Defense Superior Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

Looking at the Doughboy Statue outside the Adams Academy, Sullivan said, "He commemorates the 116,000 veterans who died in World War I.... That doughboy represents all of us. He represents all

Sheets To Speak At Historical Society

Mayor James Sheets will speak at the Quincy Historical Society, 8 Adams St., Quincy Center tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

His subject will be "The Revitalization of Historic Quincy."

The meeting is open to the public.

Since Mayor Sheets took office, there have been many developments in programs to improve the city's appearance and to encourage tourism. He has been involved in the drive to light historic buildings and streets and in the placement of new signs on Quincy's historic trail.

Sheets will address his plans and thoughts for the future of the city and his vision of the development and revitalization of Quincy's historic sites.

The Historical Society will conduct a brief business meeting prior to the talk by Mayor Sheets. Refreshments will be served following the evening's program.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action Tuesday:

- Granted a one-day liquor license for the Quincy Health Center, Presidents Place, 1250 Hancock St., for its opening celebration Nov. 15 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

- Continued until Dec. 11, a hearing for the KNC Quincy, Inc. (International House of Pancakes), 111 Washington St. requesting an extension of its closing hours from midnight to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings.

- Approved the withdrawal of an appeal regarding the denial of a transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic license from Fil's Inc. of Quincy (Brittany's Food & Spirits), 214 Washington St., to 214 Washington St. Corporation (Steven Faber, manager).

Chicken Restaurant License Hearing Continued

By STEVE KAVANAGH

A hearing regarding a proposed rotisserie-style chicken restaurant at 164 Parkway was continued for two weeks by the Quincy License Board at Tuesday's meeting.

Members of the board requested a chance to visit a similar restaurant.

Atty. Richard Barry, representing Martin Kelly and Lawrence Corbel, said the restaurant will be identical to the Boston Chicken franchises which are in operation in Boston, Randolph and Brookline. A similar establishment, Chicken Express is open in Norwell.

Barry said the eatery will offer roast chicken, chicken pies and salads. No fried foods are planned, he said. Hours of operation would be 11 a.m. - 9 p.m. The business would be primarily take-out, but seating for 14 is planned.

A traffic report was not favorable to the proposal. The report cited the proximity to the Ross Parking Garage and the proposed driveway and parking arrangements as negative factors.

Eileen Cohen of the Quincy Center Business and Professional association told the board that the QCBPA had met with Kelly and Corbel last week and favored approval of the restaurant.

However, Mayor James Sheets is opposed to the location of a fast food type restaurant in that area of downtown.

Bernice Mader, the mayor's administrative assistant, said Sheets is not opposed to the rotisserie chicken-style establishment, but feels it does not fit in with the image he is trying to create for downtown Quincy. Mader said Sheets would support the restaurant in a more appropriate location.

The mayor's office did not send a representative to the hearing.

Kelly, who will also manage the day-to-day operations, has gained experience at Durgin Park Restaurant in Boston and the Cork & Bull in South Boston which are owned by his family.

McGrath To Discuss City's Fight Against Sludge Facility

City Solicitor Stephen McGrath was scheduled to speak at the Quincy Citizens Association meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, Hunt St., North Quincy.

McGrath was expected to discuss the city's fight against a permanent sludge pelletizing plant at the former General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy Point. According to the MWRA, the $77 million plant will convert sludge into fertilizer pellets.

There is some question as to whether there is a market for the pellets.

Director Paul Levy has maintained a market exists but has not specifically named a buyer yet.

Without a market, QCA members fear huge pellet piles will be stored on the Fore River property and emit strong odors throughout the area before they can be brought to Walpole for disposal. Governor-elect William Weld has said he will not allow pellets to be dumped in Walpole.

In a letter to fellow members, QCA Secretary wrote, "It is up to the people of Quincy and our officials to do something before it is too late."

If Walpole can get an assurance from Governor Weld that their quality of life and environment will not be sacrificed, we in Quincy must stop the squandering of $77,000,000 on a useless process, before it is too late."

Members are reminded that a proposed nine-hole golf course at Marina Bay will be discussed Wednesday, Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Also, members attending Wednesday's meeting were asked to bring canned goods such as dried milk, beef stew, soup, chicken stew, spaghetti and spaghetti sauce, tuna fish and other spare cans. They will be donated to the Protestant Social Service Bureau, 776 Hancock St., Wollaston to help out the 160 families that come to the service bureau for food every month.

With a weak economy and unemployment up, these families and others will need food. Cans, baby food produces and cash are accepted.

For pickup or more information, call Bill Reardon at 328-5263.

Board Reverses Decision On Liquor Stores Holiday Sunday Openings

Following a request by the majority of package store owners in the city, the Quincy License Board voted to allow the stores to open the Sunday before Christmas (Dec. 23) and the Sunday before New Year's Day (Dec. 30).

Just last week the board had voted not to allow the stores the temporary Sunday opening dates.

Det. Sgt. Richard Laracy, the liquor inspector for the Quincy Police Dept., said he spoke with owners of the city's package stores who told him they favored the Sunday openings before Christmas and New Year's Day.

Laracy said that most of the owners are against year-round Sunday openings in the state.

Laracy said he supported the two Sunday dates. "Package stores in Quincy are well run, we have no problems with them. I believe they are the best run in the state," Laracy said.

Mulvey backed the opening dates and said it would help local stores compete with surrounding communities, such as Boston, which have approved the Sunday openings.

Last week the board had voted against the proposal but agreed to adopt a "wait and see" attitude.

Historical Light Fixtures Due To Arrive Monday

The first shipment of the city's new historical light fixtures should be delivered to Quincy by Monday, Nov. 19 and perhaps installed in time for the annual Quincy Christmas Festival Parade Sunday, Nov. 25.

Mayor James A. Sheets said 11 lights should be delivered by next Monday. Seven of the lights will be installed along Hancock St. from the Monroe Building to the garage entrance of Quincy Center Plaza near Granite St. The other four will be placed in front of the United First Parish Church, the mayor noted.

"The 11 lights should be in Monday but we don't know if they'll be lighted before the Christmas parade. If they're connected, they'll be turned on," Sheets said.

According to a city contract, the new lights must be delivered by Dec. 15. The mayor said the other 31 lights involved in the first lighting phase should be delivered the first week of December.

Once all the lights are installed, the city will hold a lighting ceremony. Sheets said a ceremony could be held around Dec. 15.

FLEEING THE FLU

Each year the Center for Disease Control issues a prediction regarding the type of types of influenza which can be expected to occur during the upcoming flu season. Manufacturers of influenza vaccines use this information to determine which kinds of vaccine will be needed.

Among those who should receive a flu shot each year are people with chronic illnesses, especially those with heart or lung problems such as coronary artery disease, asthma or emphysema.
Flu shots are generally recommended for those over 65, and for anyone of any age who would be badly affected by flu symptoms. Those who should not receive a flu shot include anyone who is known to be allergic to chicken or eggs, as the vaccine is made by culturing the influenza virus in egg albumen. Flu shots seldom have significant side effects.

P.S. If you fall into a high risk category for flu, ask your physician about the advisability of flu shots.

Raymondi Undeserving Victim

Norfolk County Dan Raymondi is a classic example of being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

The wrong place was this year's ballot and the wrong time — this year.

If there was one undeserving victim of last week's let's-knock-off-the-incumbent voter mood it had to be Raymondi.

RAYMONDI

The Quincy Democrat in five short years had restored respectability and credibility to an office that had been scandalized and left in a shambles by his predecessor.

A predecessor who had a laundry-list of indictments against him and was sentenced to 9 to 15 years for embezzling county funds.

Raymondi, who took over in 1985, quickly made a number of improvements to streamline, modernize and keep the operation humming with honesty.

He swiftly took steps to prevent anyone again from dipping into the county till.

Like: Quickly depositing in the bank funds collected in the office. Have all transactions made by check.
Doing away with the petty cash account.

And, he established the position of inside auditor to keep a day-to-day check on the taxpayers' money.

He computerized the office. He brought Norfolk County up to a Triple A bond rating — the best borrowing rate — while the state plunged the other way.

Under his administration, the Norfolk County retirement system has grown to fifth place out of 107.
He founded a newsletter to keep members of the system informed.

And, his reward last week was a stunning defeat at the polls.

He was an obvious victim of the anti-incumbent anger that swept the state this year.

Despite the fact he campaigned throughout the county while his opponent and Republican winner
Robert Hall of Needham did very little in comparison.

Hall got swept in on the anti-incumbent tide and Raymond got swept out.

"It was perfectly set up for disaster," observes Raymondi.

The ingredients for upset were all in place: The voter's anger. The William Weld-Paul Cellucci gubernatorial team, Jim Rappaport, Joseph Malone as well as the many Republicans on the ballot throughout the county who brought out a lot of Republican voters and Independents wanting change.

All that, plus the fact that the county treasurer's office is an administrative one with low visibility.

Few voters were aware of the good job Raymondi has done. Few voters, for that matter, are aware of just what each county office does. Usually in the past they have voted for the incumbent figuring he must have the experience because he is an incumbent.

But not this year.
"It just wasn't meant to be for me," says Raymondi.
"Not this year."

There also seemed to be an anti-city mood among county voters. Quincy is the only city in the county. And Raymondi in addition to living in Quincy is also the Quincy City Democratic Committee chairman. A true

Democrat — let's get him!

HUGHES

Observers are speculating how Dist. Atty. William Delahunt and Register of Probate Tom Hughes — both Quincy residents — would have fared if they had had Republican opposition this year.

"I'm glad I didn't have anyone running against me this year," says
Hughes quite candidly.

Hughes is another who has done a good job in Dedham but this year it may not have mattered much, as voters went after incumbent scalps.

Those who know Raymondi were shocked — and saddened — by his defeat. They know he has run a good ship but he ran into voter mutiny.

Robert Hall, the next treasurer, has a tough act to follow.

ONE DEMOCRAT INCUMBENT who didn't feel the voters' wrath was Senator Paul Harold. Harold scored one of the biggest victory margins in the county and among all incumbents running or re-election. He piled up 66 percent.

Harold credits James Boudreau of Wollaston, his 25-year old campaign manager — the youngest in the county.

Boudreau serves as Harold's legislative assistant but took a leave of absence last month to head up the campaign.

Boudreau received his master's degree in political science from UMass/Amherst in June and served as a delegate to the Democratic state convention the same week.

Boudreau, some observers think, is a hot prospect for a future elective office.

TOM GILMARTIN went out a winner in his swan song as a political forecaster in last week's election.

He correctly predicted victories for William Weld-Paul Cellucci, Scott Harshbarger, John Kerry and localities Paul Harold, Robert Cerasoli and Michael Morrissey.

But he stumbled on Question 3 predicting it would win 52-47 percent.

Now, do you think Gilmartin will really stay retired?

MAYOR James Sheets got a write-in vote in Higham for governor.

A RECEPTION FUNDRAISER for City Councillor Michael Cheney was set for last night (Wednesday) from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Common Market on Willard St., West Quincy.
Tickets $25.

That's getting next year's city election off to an early start.

A Thank You From Ahearn

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Through your letter column, I thank the voters of Norfolk County for their support of me as a Commissioner since 1978.
And for local voter approval as a state representative from 1964 to 1974.

We look to a future with changes made by the voters and sincerely wish the best to those who will serve in the times ahead.

All of us are proud of the rule of the majority, but some of us are, on occasion, naturally disappointed in the outcome.

Limitations of space and your reader's time preclude a wider discourse but, suffice to say, I have enjoyed my years in the public service, and will be forever grateful to my many loyal supporters and friends. It is they who have kept their faith in me, performed the tasks, and sought nothing in return!

And there is the knowledge that, without the responsibilities of office, I will be able to devote more time to family and the practice of law.
Many thanks!

Christopher Kennedy, John Sullivan Remembered At CP Awards Dinner

More than 100 guests gathered recently at the Quincy Neighborhood Club to honor the memories of John J. Sullivan Sr. and Christopher F. Kennedy.

Mary Kennedy and Mary Sullivan, on behalf of their husbands, accepted inscribed Paul Revere bowls from former Mayor Francis McCauley and Ward 1 Counselor

Peter Kolson.

Kennedy and Sullivan, both past presidents of Cerebral Palsy and past members of the Quincy School Committee, are the first recipients of the awards dinner which has been named in their memory.

Former School Committeeman Charles Sweeney and Mrs. Sheila McIntyre, wife of former Mayor James McIntyre, were master and mistress of ceremonies.

Referring to the negative campaigning present in some of this year's electoral races, Sweeney said, "Neither of these men ever had a negative word to say about anyone else. They always ran a positive campaign."

TIP ON MATSON BOY

An anonymous letter to Atty. Gen. Francis E. Kelly, signed by "One Who Knows," said that 4-year-old Danny Matson, missing since Jan. 19, 1951, "is now within a mile of the Quincy Police Station."

The City Council voted to appropriate $1,000 to drain Field and Wilde quarry near the boy's Cranch St. home. Also about a mile from the police station were Faulkner's and Skimp's quarries.

DEEGAN DENIES IMPROPRIETIES

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. denied rumors that favored relatives and friends of city officials were getting tips on coming sales of city-owned land that gave them an advantage on buying it.

"It is true," he said, "that I am proposing a change in the routine but I am making such a recommendation for the sole purpose of stimulating the sale of city-owned land so it can be converted into tax-yielding property."

Spaghetti Squash

I had heard of spaghetti squash, but had never prepared it myself until last week.

While my husband was doing some carpentry work in Scituate at the home of our daughter Rita, she was preparing the spaghetti squash. I got a chance to see for myself, just how easy it is. And of course, she and I are both on diets, so this was a good way to eat "spaghetti" with tomato sauce. Here is the recipe.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH

1 spaghetti squash
(found in most markets)
Tomato sauce
Parmesan or romano grated cheese
Boil the squash whole for about 30 to 45 minutes depending on the size. After it cools a bit, cut the squash in halves, scoop out the seeds and presto, it really looks like spaghetti. Just take a fork and lift it all out into a bowl. Pour tomato sauce over it and then grated cheese. This can be prepared early in the day and just heated either in the microwave or in a warming oven.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at Preville's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Quincy VNA Hospice Golf Tourney Raises $10,450

The second annual Quincy Visiting Nurse and Hospice Golf Tournament in memory of Arthur and Dorothy Bertoni was recently held at the Halifax Country Club.

The event was planned by Bill Shea of Bill Shea's The Formica Center.

The first place team, which scored a 61, consisted of Joe Beaton, John Connelly, Bernie Lavita and Jerry Cronin. The closest to the pin for $150 was won by Bill Shea, Jr. who missed the cup by three inches and a prize of a new Buick.

Tommy Maher assisted Bill Shea and served as the emcee of the luncheon. Bob Costello and Bob Fitzgerald of South Shore Buick and the many individuals and businesses throughout the South Shore supported the program.

The tournament was conceived of by Shea to help support the Hospice program and a way to memorialize his friends, Arthur and Dorothy Bertoni, who had received services from the Quincy VNA and Hospice.

The Hospice is a home health care program for the terminally ill. It provides support for the patient and family at home in a compassionate way and with dignity to the individual.

Next year's tournament is scheduled for Sept. 9 at the Halifax Country Club.

Stop And Shop Raises $1,700 For Quincy Crisis Center

A total of $1,700 was raised for the Quincy Crisis Center through a recent Stop and Shop "Food for Friends" fundraising event.

Executives of the Stop and Shop Supermarket Company joined company employees as they fired up the hot dog grills in front of Quincy Center Plaza. In an effort to raise money for the Quincy Crisis Center, Stop and Shop employees sponsored a hot dog, soda and ice cream sale.

With the sale's proceeds and matching funds from Stop and Shop, the event raised $1,700 for the Quincy Crisis Center.

Among the Stop and Shop executives on hand were Robert Tobin, president and chief operating officer; Richard Ponte, vice president of groceries and general merchandising; and William Vaughn, vice president of support services.

"Food for Friends" is a program designed to help feed the hungry in communities served by Stop and Shop. Each Stop and Shop and Super Stop and Shop has "adopted" a non-profit organization in its community which helps feed the hungry. Company employees volunteer to sponsor creative fundraisers on behalf of their selected organization.

Both Stop and Shop Supermarket Company and the Stop and Shop Foundation match a portion of the funds raised by each store.

Last year, the program with the help of shopper participation in store events enabled Stop and Shop to donate more than $190,000 to 118 non-profit organizations involved with feeding the hungry throughout Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

STOP AND SHOP President and Chief Operating Officer Robert Tobin serves a hot dog to Mary Sibilla during the company's recent "Foods For Friends" program fundraiser outside Quincy Center Plaza. Cancer Society Seeking Drivers

The American Cancer Society is appealing for volunteer drivers to take South Shore cancer patients to area hospitals for treatment.

The South Shore Unit of the ACS is located at Hersey House, Hingham and serves patients in Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Norwell, Scituate and Weymouth.

"We have had a noticeable increase in requests for transportation recently and our present volunteer drivers have been hard-pressed to respond," said Carolyn

Housman, chairman of the Service Committee. "We don't want to turn down any requests because many of the patients are required to go to hospitals daily as an essential part of their 5-7 week treatment programs."

Volunteers are asked to pledge one trip per month and are covered by blanket insurance and may be reimbursed on a mileage basis if necessary.

Last year, 39 drivers provided 339 rides for 45 patients. For more information call 749-2535 or 341-4210.

7th Win For Presidents

Quincy Holds On To Edge Barnstable 21-20

By TOM SULLIVAN

What started out to be an easy Quincy win turned into a seat squirm but the Presidents held on for a 21-20 victory over Barnstable Monday at wind-swept Veterans Memorial stadium and they will take a 7-1-1 record into the Thanksgiving Classic.

Quincy raced out to a 21-0 lead but Barnstable turned an intercepted pass and a fumble into two touchdowns but a rush for the winning points was stopped and Quincy had its win.

"They certainly made it interesting," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer, enjoying his best season since taking over as coach seven years ago. "Those two turnovers really hurt but the defense came up when it had to. Hard work is really paying off for us. This is an extremely hard working group."

Mark Bogan had one of his finest days as he rushed for 171 yards, giving him 1105 for the year. It is his second straight 1000 season. He scored all three touchdowns, caught three passes for 48 yards and turned in another excellent defensive game.

Jason Anderson, suffering from a stomach virus, rushed for 81 yards. He was taken out of the game, but insisted on returning.

"He was really feeling bad but he showed what he is made of by coming back. He's a great kid and has certainly helped our running game."

Quincy Scoring

| | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|---------|----|-----|------|
| Bogan | 15 | 6 | 96 |
| Chapman | 4 | 0 | 24 |
| DiBona | 1 | 16 | 22 |
| Walker | 3 | 0 | 18 |
| Reardon | 2 | 2 | 14 |
| Kane | 1 | 2 | 8 |
| Flavin | 1 | 2 | 8 |

said Raymer.

Quincy moved the ball well all day and had 19 first downs to 13 for Barnstable, which also ran the ball well. Tony James and Jamie Chase were particularly hard to stop.

Quincy received to open the game and proceeded to march to Barnstable's 17, clicking off five first downs. However, a screen pass was dropped in the open and Barnstable took over on the 17.

The Capeteam was stopped and punted to Quincy's 43. Here the Presidents staged another long drive which culminated with a score early in the second quarter on Bogan's six-yard run. Sophomore Noel DiBona kicked the first of his three extra points.

Chris Walker stopped a Barnstable drive with an interception of a deflected pass on his own 21. Quincy again drove downfield with a dazzling 39-yard run by Anderson, bringing the ball to the Rader 21 from where Bogan scored his second TD and DiBona again kicked the point.

It didn't take long for Quincy to make it 21-0 as it drove 80 yards in 11 plays following the second half kickoff. It was Bogan again from the 11 and DiBona kicked the point.

Things looked bright for Quincy, but Barnstable battled back and following the ensuing kickoff drove 61 yards with Chase scoring from the four and quarterback Josh Conroy rushing for the two-point conversion.

Early in the fourth quarter Chase intercepted a Mike Flavin pass and returned it 55 yards for a touchdown. The kick for the extra point was wide.

A few minutes later Barnstable recovered a fumble on its 34 and seven plays later Chase scored his second touchdown. Graham Chevry then came up with a game-saving play as he stopped the rush for the winning two-point conversion.

With a minute remaining Bogan, kicking in place of the ailing Mike Malvesti, bobbled the pass from center but somehow got the kick off and it rolled dead on Barnstable's nine.

A 14-yard run by Chase brought the ball to the 23 but three incomplete passes and a rush were stopped and Quincy had the win.

Sophomore Robbie Kane came up with two thrilling kickoff returns for Quincy, the first one for 40 yards to Barnstable's 40 and the second for 39 yards to the Barnstable 31.

4th Victory For Raiders North Rallies For 20-14 Win At Taunton

The North Quincy football team was hoping for a win Monday to rebound from a wallowing at Bridgewater-Raynham and the Raiders came from behind to take a 20-14 victory at windswept Taunton and will take a 4-5 record into THE GAME on Thanksgiving.

North trailed until the third quarter when it scored the winning touchdown.

"The boys did a fine job and our defense was outstanding against some fine running backs," said coach Ken McPhee. "Both their touchdowns came on screen passes."

"We staged three drives of 80 yards for our touchdowns and quarterback Mark Taylor had another fine game. Evan Kiley had his best game."

North Quincy Scoring

|----------|----|-----|------|
| Bellot | 6 | 2 | 38 |
| Cocuzzo | 3 | 0 | 18 |
| Kiley | 2 | 2 | 14 |
| Taylor | 2 | 0 | 12 |

| Buckley | 1 | 0 | 6 |
| Higgins | 0 | 4 | 4 |

Jason Buckley caught a 54-yard pass for the winning touchdown and Rich Brooks made an excellent pass reception off his shoe tops. Mark Kelliher and Pat Shea also had excellent games."

Taunton took the lead early in the game on a 23-yard screen pass to Jeff Bartel and Andy Vierra rushed for the two-point conversion.

Late in the first quarter Kiley scored on a seven-yard run but a rush for the two-point conversion failed.

In the second quarter Bartel took another screen pass for 13 yards and a touchdown, but a pass for the extra points failed.

North again came back in the same quarter and Brooks made his fine catch for a three-yard scoring play but a pass for the two-point conversion failed and the Raiders trailed, 14-12, at the half.

In the third quarter Taylor hit Buckley for a 54-yard scoring pass and Kiley rushed for the two-point conversion.

North Freshmen Run Over Taunton

The North Quincy freshman football team rolled over Taunton, 30-6, last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium with Mike McGregor scoring all four touchdowns.

The young Raiders wasted no time in scoring as Justin Dilks recovered a fumble on the Taunton 25 on the second play of the game and George Wirtz passed to McGregor for a touchdown, McGregor going 18 yards for the score. Wirtz rushed for the two-point conversion.

North had a good chance to score when a punt bounced off a Taunton player and North recovered on the Taunton 20. On the final play of the first quarter Wirtz passed to Mike Santoro to the 10 but Taunton held and took over.

A 68-yard run by Taunton resulted in the only score for the visitors but the rush for the two-point conversion was stopped.

In the second quarter McGregor picked up 24 yards and then caught a pass for 14 yards to the 10. Wirtz ran to the six and McGregor went the six yards for the touchdown. Nathan Gott rushed for the two-point conversion.

In the third quarter

McGregor continued his hard running, going for 26 yards and scoring from the five. Gott had gained seven previous to the score.

The fourth quarter was all North Quincy. Gott ran for 25 yards as did McGregor, who scored his fourth touchdown. Will Crosby got into the scoring column with his two-point, the final points of the game.

"We finally came together and played our best game," said coach Kevin Kelly. "My assistants, Dean Zlia and Jim Raines, did a fine job helping to get the boys ready for the game."

Bantam's B Increase Win Streak To Seven

Quincy's Bantam 'B' hockey team continues to dominate the Greater Boston League open division with a 7-0 record following a 6-1 victory over Hyde Park.

Kevin Flaherty scored two goals and Kevin Boylen, Eric Zimmerman, Kevin Barrett and Scott MacPherson one each.

Andrew Vermette had two assists and David Pacino, MacPherson, Barrett, Dennis Pateras and Boylen one apiece.

The Bantam 'B's have outscored the opposition, 60-7.

Dick Abbott Sun Football Contest Winner

Dick Abbott of 159 Standish Ave., Quincy, is this week's winner in The Quincy Sun Football Contest.

Abbott correctly picked nine out of 11 winners and came closest to the tie-breaker to win the weekly $25 cash prize from The Quincy Sun. The tie breaker was the total points scored in the New York Giants-L.A. Rams game. The Giants won, 31-7 for 38 points.

Abbott and three other readers had nine wins but Abbott picked 36 points for the tie-breakers. State Representative Steve Tobin had 41 points, Neil Hutchinson of Quincy had 42 points and Joseph Chepetsky of Quincy had 48 points.

If he had won, Tobin said he wanted the $25 cash prize donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Anyone can enter the contest. Just fill out the official entry form in this edition of The Quincy Sun. Forms can be mailed to the Sun office at 1372 Hancock St., Quincy, MA 02169, or dropped off at the above address.

Entries must be postmarked by Saturday or dropped off by 3:30 p.m. Saturday to be eligible.

Tom Benson Named NQ Hockey Coach

Tom Benson has been selected North Quincy hockey coach, succeeding Dave Peters, who resigned after one season to become an assistant coach at Kent State University.

Benson was approved by the school committee last week after being recommended by a screening committee which worked two months interviewing 17 applicants. This committee included the school committee, principal, assistant principal, Peters and athletic coordinator Martin Finnegan.

"We had some excellent candidates but we felt Tom was the best qualified," said Finnegan. "We were impressed with his background as a player and coach."

Benson played hockey at Boston College High and Norwich University. He was assistant coach at B.C. High the past two years and in his final season he led the junior varsity team to a 15-4-1 record.

"He did an outstanding job for us and I wish him the best," said B.C. High coach Joe McCabe. "I hate to lose him. He'll be tough to replace."

Peters, who succeeded Kevin Jago, who stepped down after seven years, got the Raiders off to a fine start last season with a 5-2 record against Greater Boston League opponents, but the team faltered and went 3-9-2 the rest of the season to finish at 8-9-2.

"I was very happy at North Quincy and was eagerly looking forward to the upcoming season, but I am looking forward to coaching on the college level and am delighted at the opportunity," he said.

Benson will be inheriting a good nucleus from last year's team with 12 returnees from the varsity and the entire junior varsity team.

"I wish Tom all the luck in the world and hope North makes the tournament," Peters said.

Jago had taken four of his seven North teams into the state tournament.

Volleyball

Quincy Girls Sweep To Division Title

The Quincy girls' volleyball team continued its quest for a fourth state championship by sweeping to the East Central Div. 1 title last week, roaring through three matches without losing a game.

Quincy (20-0) faced Milford, the West Central champ, last night (Wednesday) at Wilmington and all signs point to a repeat of last year's Quincy-Case final in which Case won an intense five-game match. Case, the South champion, met Chelmsford, the North titlist, last night.

The state championship game will be played Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Marlboro High School.

In the East Central title match last Saturday, Quincy swept by Brookline, the Bay State League winner and a former Suburban League foe, 15-11, 15-1, 15-7.

Before the match coach Tom Henderson reminded his players of the way Brookline had bounced back from a 2-0 deficit to defeat North Quincy.

"Momentum is a big thing in this game," Henderson said. "They played well for a while but we dominated down the stretch."

"The Quincy girls, just as they had done in their previous two matches, combined a furious attack with tenacious defense to dominate the match."

Melanie Sullivan and Chris Barrett excelled both at spiking and blocking. Jennifer Richmond did some strong hitting and serving and Laura Novak displayed precise setting skills.

"We needed to take the first game in order to have a chance," said Brookline coach Ellen Lewis. "They are a team that really prepares well and peaks at tournament time. They get stronger and stronger as a match goes on."

In the semifinals it was the same story as Quincy's unbeaten Old Colony League champions defeated Boston Tech, 15-4, 15-6, 15-6.

"Quincy has one of the best teams I have ever seen," said Tech coach Trudy Fisher.

Quincy had opened its state title quest with a 15-1, 15-2, 15-6 victory over Pope John.

"The girls knew coming in what they were up against," said Pope John coach Joe Regan. "Quincy will put up those numbers against a lot of teams."

Quincy's Sullivan, Novak, Erin Doherty, Jennifer and Christy Richmond, Barrett and Julie McCloskey all had an excellent tournament.

Lydon, Harold, Neponset Win

Lydon-Russell edged Purdy's Ice Cream, 2-1, in the Mike House League with Paul Burke and Matt Holt scoring the goals and John Sullivan, Kevin Mason and Jill McInnis having assists. Jim Parisi scored for Purdy's and Trent Sherwood and Stephanie Allen had assists.

The Sen. Paul Harold Club got by Samoset Pharmacy, 2-1, on goals by Joe Watson and Shawn Dooley. Andrew Nestor and Matt O'Malley had assists. Ryan Murray scored for Samoset and Matt Gibbons and Mark Gibbons had assists.

Neponset Valley Survey blanked Balducci's, 4-0, with goalie Brian Nolan recording the shutout. Chris Cullen had two goals and Kiva Tupe and Tom Hughes one each. Steve Goff, Tupe, Shawn Richardson, Cullen and Dom Papile had assists.

Pee Wee Bs Hot

Quincy's Pee Wee B hockey team remained undefeated in the Greater Boston League with a 9-0 romp over Westwood and a 4-3 victory over Hingham.

In the Westwood game Chris Grant scored two goals and Eric Oliva, Dan O'Donnell, Shawn McTomney, Jason Healy, Chris McArdle, Pat Tevenan and Tommy Moriarty one each. John Hassan had three assists, Tevenan, John Ryan and Moriarty two apiece and Oliva, John Healy, Jeff Coleman, Billy Barron and McArdle one each.

In the Hingham game goalie Tim Sheehan was outstanding and Grant scored two goals, including the winner. Moriarty and Healy scored a goal each and Healy, Manning and O'Donnell had assists.

Matt Jarnis, Michael O'Brien and David Doherty played strong defense and kept Hingham from tying the score in the final period after it had pulled its goalie.

Jean Matarazzo Babson Ski Team Co-Captain

Jean Matarazzo, a senior from Quincy, has been named co-captain of the women's skiing team at Babson College.

Three-Way Tie For First In Squirt House

Granite Auto Electric moved into a tie with Johnson Motor and New England Deli for first place in the Squirt House League with a 7-2 victory over Johnson.

Tom Wilson and Shawn Manning had two goals apiece and Eric Wood, Ryan Barrett and Jon Haddad one each. John Barron had two assists and Manning, John Masone, Dan Paluzzi, Tim Wood, Barrett and Eric Wood one each. North Girls' Bow

By TOM SULLIVAN

Another successful season for the North Quincy girls' volleyball team came to a disappointing end last week when it lost a two-game lead and was defeated by Brookline, 3-2, in the quarter-finals of the state tournament.

Jim Rendle's North girls, who finished second to Quincy in the Old Colony League with a 14-3 record, 8-2 in the league, started off well against Brookline in their fourth straight tournament appearance, winning the first two games, 15-10, 15-7. They had a 10-9 lead in the third game and needed just five more points to win the match in three straight games.

However, Brookline rallied to win the third game, 15-12, and took the next two games, 15-7, 15-2.

"It was very disappointing to lose that match and I'm surprised we couldn't win it," said Rendle. "I hope I didn't put too much pressure on them. We had the opportunity but we didn't perform in crunch time. Give Brookline a lot of credit, they were nice and loose in the fifth game."

North's only two losses in the league game at the hands of undefeated league champion Quincy. The other was at the hands of Medway.

Things look bright for the North girls, who won the state title three years ago, next season. Kara Sullivan is the only starter graduating and will be a real loss.

"Kara will really be missed as she could do everything," Rendle said.

"She was a real sparkplug for us this year."

Several other girls will graduate, but most were substitutes. They include Jill Haynes, who saw a good deal of varsity action; Shana Cobban, Joanna Rugnetta, Tristen Mastrogiacomo, Maria Kalantzia, Kim Trout and Meredith Rossi.

Starters coming back include Brenda Hayduk, Heather Rendle, Regina Murphy and Joanne Curreri. Another returnee will be freshman Maureen McCarthy, who started the last few games, and Sheryl Kelly is another who will be a key player next year.

"I expect some help from several junior varsity players," Rendle said.

The top finisher for North was senior Chris Ballum in third place. Greg Buck was fourth and Hugh Meighan ninth.

At the league-wide coaches meeting, Ballum, the team captain, was given the Old Colony League sportsmanship award by the coaches for his leadership and example. Ballum and Buck received all-star honorable mention.

Earlier the Raiders were defeated by Bridgewater-Raynham, 18-45, and was shut out for the only time this year by league champion Weymouth, 15-50.

Against B-R North put only three runners in the top 10 with Chris Ballum finishing third, Greg Buck ninth and Eric Torvi 10th.

In the Weymouth meet the Wildcats took the top eight places. Last year Weymouth South was the state division 3 champions and had 10 runners under 14 minutes.

Ballum ran his fastest time of 13:25 to place ninth and Buck continued to improve, placing 10th in 13:42. Most of the North boys ran personal best times.

Home Ownership Fair Nov. 17

The "Buy '90-Yes You Can" South Shore Homeownership Fair will be held Saturday, Nov. 17 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Sheraton Tara, Braintree.

The homeownership fair, part of the Buy '90 Homebuyers Campaign, brings realtors, builders and lenders together in one place to give interested homebuyers the chance to learn what is available in the current real estate market.

Potential homebuyers attending the fair will find homes selling for between $70,000 and $150,000; opportunities to buy with down payments as low as five percent; mortgages for qualified first-time homebuyers as low as 8.25 percent through the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency; and workshops on the steps involved in buying a home.

"In recent years, rising home prices have pushed more and more Massachusetts families out of the housing market, making homeownership an impossible dream for many," said Amy Anthony, secretary of Communities and Development.

"But market conditions are changing and prices are coming down, opening up new opportunities for interested buyers. These fairs offer young families and first-time homebuyers a one-stop shopping opportunity to learn about competitive financing that may help put homeownership within their reach," Anthony added.

More than 40 exhibitors, including local realtors, bankers and builders are expected to participate in the fair. Displays of available affordable properties, incentive financing packages, credit counseling assistance and information about state housing programs targeted for moderate income households will be featured.

According to Anthony, more than 3,000 consumers attended similar fairs this summer.

The fair is co-sponsored by the Executive Office of Communities and Development, Mass. Housing Partnership, Mass. Housing Finance Agency, Mass. Association of Realtors, Mass. Mortgage Bankers Association, Homebuilders Association of Massachusetts, Mass. Affordable Housing Alliance, Builders Association of Greater Boston, Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, Plymouth County Board of Realtors, Quincy Community Action Fair Housing and South Shore Chamber of Commerce.
